INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

A. INTRODUCTION

Indiana University (“the University”) has carefully reviewed and assessed the February 8, 2008 Notice of Allegations (“Notice”) regarding its men’s basketball program, former head men’s basketball coach Kelvin Sampson (“Sampson”), and former assistant men’s basketball coaches Rob Senderoff (“Senderoff”) and Jeff Meyer (“Meyer”). Based on the information, including documentary evidence and interview testimony, obtained from the thorough investigations conducted first by the University and then subsequently by the NCAA Enforcement Staff in cooperation with Indiana University, the University is in substantial agreement with the facts set forth in the Notice and concurs violations occurred, as set forth below in the response to each allegation.

The Notice is based on information discovered and self-reported by Indiana University as a result of monitoring by the University’s compliance staff and the University’s commitment to NCAA compliance, although some new information was developed during the NCAA Enforcement Staff’s investigation and the University’s continued review of phone records. As soon as the potential violations of the Committee on Infractions’ sanctions were discovered, the athletics department began an immediate and thorough review to determine the extent of any issues with the sanctions or NCAA rules violations, which evolved into the investigation detailed below. The University notified the NCAA as soon as issues with the sanctions and violations

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

were confirmed, submitted two reports to the NCAA based on a conservative approach of counting questionable calls as impermissible, and self-imposed significant sanctions.

Overview of the University's Response to the Allegations

In brief, the violations involved impermissible recruiting calls made by the then men's basketball coaching staff during an approximately one-year period when the men's basketball program was subject to sanctions, imposed by the NCAA Division I Committee on Infractions ("the Committee") in Infractions Report No. 250, as a result of violations that occurred when Sampson was the head men's basketball coach at the University of Oklahoma. These phone calls were impermissible because they were contrary to penalties imposed on the University's men's basketball coaching staff in Infractions Report No. 250 and/or NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2.

Allegation No. 1 concerns the phone calls that were contrary to the sanctions. Specifically, the University's response to Allegation No. 1 sets forth the calls that were contrary to Penalty L, which prohibited Sampson from being present when members of his staff made phone calls that related in any way to recruiting. These impermissible recruiting calls involved the use of three-way technology, speakerphone and phone passing to connect Sampson to recruiting calls that also included a then assistant men's basketball coach, most often Senderoff. Allegation No. 1 also includes a number of other phone calls placed by Senderoff (primarily) and Meyer (a limited number) that were contrary to Penalty E or Penalty F, which reduced by half the number of recruiting telephone calls that the University's men's basketball coaching staff could place. These calls were discovered by the University during its investigation, even though the vast majority had not been documented by the coaches or included in the University's

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

electronic recruiting monitoring system (“Cybersports”).¹ Further, many of these calls were placed from the then assistant coaches’ home phones even though the coaches reported on monthly forms that they only used their cell or office phones to make recruiting calls.

Allegation No. 2, which was self-reported by the University, concerns phone calls that violated NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 regarding the number of permissible calls that can be placed to prospects (or the prospect’s parents or legal guardians). As detailed in the response to this allegation, Indiana University believes this violation should be considered secondary in nature as it was isolated; provided a minimum, if any, recruiting, competitive or other advantage; and did not include any recruiting inducement or extra benefit. Case precedent also supports the classification of this violation as secondary. Further, because the University adopted a conservative approach of counting and reporting potentially questionable calls as improper, the number of calls that clearly violated NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 was actually lower than what is reported below.

Allegation Nos. 3 and 4 regarding the unethical conduct by Sampson and Senderoff, respectively, and for Sampson regarding the responsibilities of a head coach, are the most troubling and were the primary focus of the University’s review following the receipt of the Notice. Much of the information forming the basis for these allegations was developed during the interviews conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff. After careful and thorough analysis of the documentary evidence and interview statements, the University determined that it is ¹ Even when some calls were documented, other undocumented calls that were discovered during the investigation then caused some documented calls that had been considered permissible to become impermissible.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

reasonable to conclude there is sufficient information and evidence to support the majority of the specific information alleged, as well as the general charges regarding each individual.

Allegation No. 5 is unrelated to the phone calls that form the basis for the other allegations. The first part of the allegation is related to an impermissible recruiting contact by Sampson and Meyer with one prospect, which was self-reported by Indiana University after the NCAA Secondary Enforcement Staff alerted the University to the potential issue. The second part of the allegation addresses the provision of one or two T-shirts and drawstring backpacks to the prospect's coach by Meyer. The University believes these violations should be considered secondary in nature, as set forth below.

It is important to note at the outset of this response that the phone calls that are at the center of this case occurred despite the University's NCAA compliance monitoring and rules education systems, which are discussed more thoroughly below and in the October 3 report to the Committee. (See Attachment 1 and Attachments D and H of the October 3 report.) The compliance office regularly cross-referenced cell and office phone bills against handwritten phone logs and information documented in Cybersports that was provided by the coaches to monitor compliance with NCAA rules and the sanctions. The compliance office also checked the phone bills for other recruiting calls that might not have been documented. However, because the then assistant coaches who used their home phones for recruiting calls did not report such use and because they also failed to document all of their recruiting calls, the University was unable to detect the vast majority of the impermissible phone calls. In addition, the investigation revealed that some recruiting numbers were not listed by the coaches as recruiting numbers or were listed incorrectly. Even though a few of the impermissible calls could possibly have been detected earlier, their discovery would not have prevented the violations that resulted from the failure of the coaching staff to follow the University's procedures for documenting recruiting phone calls. It should also be noted, it would have been impossible for the compliance staff to have discovered the impermissible phone calls that involved speakerphones or phone passing, as these calls would have appeared as permissible calls, either between Senderoff and a prospect or between Senderoff and Sampson. Further, the three-way phone calls that triggered the investigation were difficult to detect as the three-way notation was connected to Sampson's home or cell phone numbers, which appeared as local calls on the assistant coaches' phone bills, and not to the prospects' numbers.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

The coaches were aware of the sanctions and of the procedures for monitoring recruiting phone calls. As detailed below, following an initial April 3, 2006 compliance meeting with the new men's basketball coaching staff, weekly compliance meetings with the director of basketball operations and other coaches specifically covered the penalties and included information regarding the use of handwritten phone logs and the recruitment monitoring database ("Cybersports") to monitor phone calls. (See Attachment 10 for a summary of the information covered during these meetings and Attachment D of the October 3 report for the agendas.) Indiana University reviewed the details of the penalties at a May 30, 2006 meeting with the men's basketball coaching staff, during which the coaches requested a number of clarifications regarding what would be permissible under some of the sanctions, including questions regarding the permissibility of three-way recruiting calls involving Sampson that received responses from the compliance staff and the Committee that such calls would not be permissible.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

The compliance staff monitored compliance with all of the sanctions, including recruiting phone calls, off-campus recruiting by the assistant coaches and off-campus appearances and speaking engagements by Sampson. The coaches, in fact, complied with the majority of the sanctions. In particular, the investigation and a thorough review of phone records revealed no recruiting phone calls initiated by Sampson during the time period of the sanction prohibiting such calls. Further, Sampson did not engage in off-campus recruiting activities during his one-year sanction, including not making any speeches or presentations or conducting his radio show where prospects might be in attendance.

Review of the Corrective Actions and Self-Imposed Sanctions

Indiana University remains deeply disappointed by these violations and by the fact that they occurred during a time when the men's basketball program should have had a heightened awareness of the need for absolute and total compliance with the spirit and the letter of NCAA rules. Accordingly, when the impermissible phone calls were confirmed, the University determined that significant sanctions were necessary and that these penalties should more than counter the number of phone calls that occurred as well as any positive impact they may have had on the men's basketball program's recruiting efforts. These penalties, which are detailed in Section D later in this response, were designed to directly impact the coaches involved as well as the men's basketball program as a whole by limiting permissible recruiting activities, including phone calls.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Since these penalties were imposed in mid-September, additional impermissible calls have been discovered and information has been developed regarding Sampson's and Senderoff's actions. In addition, all members of the University's then men's basketball coaching staff have been replaced. Following the receipt of the Notice, the University thus carefully reassessed the penalties that were initially imposed and determined these penalties were sufficient to respond to the violations that had occurred, even with the new information and violations taken into account. For example, Penalty 2-c, which reduces by half the number of permissible calls to prospects during their senior year of high school, results in a reduction of 700 calling opportunities plus an additional reduction of 350 calls for Sampson and the subsequent head coaches. Similarly, Penalty 2-d, which reduces the number of calls that Sampson (and the University's subsequent head coaches) could make to prospects during their junior year in high school, resulted in a reduction of approximately 885 calling opportunities. In contrast, the total number of impermissible calls that occurred was a fraction of the missed calling opportunities caused by the penalties.

Further, the University left these penalties largely intact despite the complete turnover in the coaching staff. When Senderoff resigned on October 29, 2007, the University transferred his penalty (Penalty 2-a) to another assistant coach. Similarly, when Sampson resigned on February 22, 2008, the subsequent two head coaches operated subject to Penalties 2-c and 2-d. All of the penalties regarding phone calls have remained intact.

In April 2008, the University determined, however, that it was necessary and appropriate to adjust two of its initial self-imposed penalties, which, because of the coaching staff changes,

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

were going to have far greater detrimental and harmful impacts than were anticipated upon their imposition last fall. Specifically, because the ten off-campus recruiting days allotted to Sampson in self-imposed Penalty 2-f have been used (six by Sampson and four by the interim head coach, Dan Dakich), the University determined that Tom Crean, the current head men's basketball coach, should be allowed 10 off-campus recruiting days through July 31, 2008. Further, because all six of the official visits permitted under self-imposed Penalty 2-g were used by the prior men's basketball coaching staff by the early signing period of November 2007, the University decided to allow the current men's basketball coaching staff to provide two additional official visits for the remainder of the current academic year.² It should be noted that these penalties were modified and not withdrawn; rather, penalties in these areas remain. Limiting the current head coach to 10 off-campus recruiting days through July 31, 2008 is still a penalty as the number of days a head coach may recruit off-campus is not normally limited other than the 130 person-day-limit for off-campus recruiting. Further, the modified limit of eight official visits is still below the NCAA limit of 12 and the University's four-year average of 9.25 visits. In addition, the University has added an additional penalty that reduces by two the number of recruiting days in July 2008 – one day during each evaluation segment – where none of the men's basketball coaches will be allowed to recruit off campus.

The University believes that, although these limited adjustments provide necessary relief for the current men's basketball coaching staff, all of whom were completely uninvolved in the violations, they do not alter the strength of the initial penalties in any material way, particularly ² This increase from six to eight official visits is consistent with the waiver available under NCAA Bylaw 13.6.2.7 that allows institutions to provide additional official visits after a new head coach is hired if the prior coach has used 75% or more of the permitted official visits.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

since the phone call restrictions remain intact. In addition, the four off-campus recruiting days used by the interim head coach had no impact and brought no benefit to the men's basketball program or the University. Further, in large part because the University carefully evaluated the need for these modifications, the men's basketball coaching staff missed 22 days of off-campus recruiting and the head coach was not able to recruit off-campus for 14 permissible recruiting days (i.e., this number does not include dead periods), until April 26, 2008.

Indiana University continues to view this matter very seriously and believes the significant self-imposed sanctions and corrective actions, which are set forth in Section D later in this response, remain appropriate and sufficient to respond to the violations that occurred and to send a strong message that complete commitment to NCAA compliance is expected and required of all coaches and staff.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

B. SUMMARY OF THE UNIVERSITY'S INVESTIGATION

As detailed below and in Attachment H of the October 3 report, the University conducted regular checks of phone records throughout the year. On July 10, 2007, during the course of the compliance staff's additional year-end review of recruiting logs and phone calls for all sports, the staff noticed that one men's basketball prospective student-athlete ([REDACTED]) had been called twice in one day. This was immediately brought to the attention of the assistant athletics director for compliance, who instructed the director of compliance to follow-up with specific searches of phone records. Upon further inspection of the phone records, the director of compliance confirmed that on January 29, 2007, there were two calls made by a then assistant men's basketball coach, Rob Senderoff ("Senderoff"), from his cell phone to the prospect on the same day³ and that both involved a three-way connection to a third phone number that was ultimately determined to be the home number for the then head men's basketball coach, Kelvin Sampson ("Sampson"). The director of compliance then searched the men's basketball coaching staff's cell and office phone records for other three-way calls.⁴

Upon the discovery of the three-way recruiting calls that included Sampson, which were contrary to one of the sanctions as discussed in more detail below, the compliance staff immediately informed the director of athletics and the senior woman administrator, and within 24 hours the faculty athletics representative, the general counsel and president also became involved. The president, faculty athletics representative and other senior officials at the

⁴ Each of the men's basketball coaches reported in writing on monthly forms that home phones were not used for making recruiting calls. (See Attachment G of the October 3 report.)

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

University received frequent updates throughout the remainder of the investigation, which immediately ensued. The University continued its review and analysis of phone and recruiting records and retained the services of the Ice Miller Collegiate Sports Practice, as outside counsel, for assistance in investigating and determining the full scope of any failure to comply with the Committee's sanctions and/or NCAA rules. On July 16, the first possible opportunity for an in-person meeting, the director of athletics and senior woman administrator met with Sampson and separately with Senderoff, who placed the majority of the three-way calls. On July 20, the University's general counsel, senior woman administrator and outside counsel interviewed these two coaches individually and the only other assistant coach, Ray McCallum ("McCallum"), who had made any three-way calls.⁵ The review and analysis of office and cell phone records from May 2006 through June 2007 continued and calls were placed to all ten of the known phone numbers involved in the three-way calls in an attempt to confirm the content and nature of the calls.⁶

⁵ Although McCallum placed 11 three-way calls, only four of those calls included Sampson and were thus potentially at issue. Of those four calls, three involved incoming calls from an unknown origin and it could not be determined if the calls involved recruiting (these calls are nonetheless included in the maximum total of impermissible calls set forth below). Neither Sampson nor McCallum recalled these calls. The remaining three-way call involving Sampson, which occurred on May 8, 2007, was not a recruiting call because the involved prospect had enrolled in summer school at the University, which began that day, and thus was no longer considered a prospective student-athlete per NCAA Bylaw 13.02.11-(c). The remaining seven three-way calls placed by McCallum included four calls to his own cell phone (perhaps his voicemail) and three other miscellaneous short calls not involving Sampson.

⁶ The University was able to reach only three individuals as many of the numbers had changed or been disconnected, despite repeated attempts (three to five times per number) to reach the remaining numbers. Of the 10 phone numbers called, only three resulted in interviews. The other calls either resulted in voicemail messages that were never returned, or confirmed that phone numbers had been reassigned without forwarding information. Due to the need to handle the investigation in a confidential manner, the University did not contact other NCAA institutions to try to gain access to their student-athletes, other than one university where a student-athlete who had received multiple three-way calls was enrolled. After an initial exchange of voicemails, an interview was not arranged when the departure of that university's athletics director left the university short staffed.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

It was determined at that time there were at least some three-way calls contrary to one of the sanctions and that this information should be included in the report the University was scheduled to submit to the Committee by August 31 regarding the monitoring of and compliance with the sanctions. Outside counsel contacted Shep Cooper, Director for the Committees on Infractions, on August 22 to apprise him of these issues and to request additional time to thoroughly review and investigate this matter and to complete the report to the Committee. This request was granted.

Although all of the assistant coaches had reported monthly, in writing, to the University that they only used their cell or office phones for recruiting and Sampson had reported monthly that he had not engaged in any recruiting calls (see Attachment G of the October 3 report), Indiana University requested that Sampson and Senderoff provide their home phone records for the time period of the sanctions to ensure a complete review of all known phones, to confirm no other three-way calls had occurred and to verify their veracity regarding the signed forms. Sampson provided his home phone records shortly thereafter. Outside counsel reviewed the home phone records for Sampson from June 2006⁷ through May 2007 and determined there were no three-way or recruiting phone calls during the time period of the sanctions. Outside counsel and the University then conducted follow-up interviews with Sampson and Senderoff⁸ on August

⁷ Sampson, who was hired by Indiana University on March 29, 2006, did not begin home phone service until June 2006.

⁸ An additional interview with McCallum and the review of his home phone records was deemed unnecessary at that time as his involvement in three-way recruiting calls was limited to at most three phone calls involving undetermined incoming phone calls, only one of which occurred after receipt of a June 13, 2006 email and memorandum clarifying the impermissibility of three-way calls (see Attachment 4, Item No. 8). An additional call that occurred on May 8, 2007 and that was initially at issue, was later determined not to be a recruiting call as noted above.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

23 to address outstanding issues and to obtain additional information regarding their recollections of the three-way calls.

In early September, after consulting with legal counsel, Senderoff provided his home phone records from June 2006 through July 2007.⁹ The review of these records revealed that, although there were no three-way calls, Senderoff had placed a significant number of recruiting calls from his home phone (approximately 75), even though he had not reported the use of this phone to Indiana University on the required monthly forms (see Attachment G of the October 3 report) or included these calls from home on the handwritten phone logs and with the required reporting that was entered into the compliance office's electronic recruiting monitoring system ("Cybersports"). Outside counsel documented the calls to known recruiting phone numbers (or numbers very close to recruiting numbers) and the University's compliance staff then cross-referenced these home calls against other recruiting calls (compiled from office and cell phones records) to determine whether any calls were contrary to the sanctions or NCAA rules. In addition, the compliance staff called unknown numbers that were similar to the phone numbers listed for a prospect to determine the identity of the individual called and whether the call was countable and permissible. Consistent with the University's conservative and strict approach in reviewing the records (i.e., assuming any questionable call was problematic), if the individual called could not be identified as permissible, the call was presumed to be impermissible. This review of recruiting calls made from Senderoff's home phone revealed that a number of calls

⁹ Senderoff started his employment at Indiana University on April 17, 2006 but did not have a home phone until June 2006.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

were contrary to the sanctions and NCAA rules and thus resulted in an expansion of the scope of the investigation.

The University immediately requested and received the home phone records of the two remaining then men's basketball coaches, McCallum and Jeff Meyer ("Meyer"), again despite the fact both coaches had reported on monthly forms that they only used their office or cell phones for recruiting. A review of the records revealed that Meyer placed ten recruiting calls from his home phone, several of which were contrary to the sanctions and one of which was contrary to NCAA rules. McCallum placed one recruiting call from his home phone, which was not contrary to the sanctions or to NCAA rules.

On September 12, outside counsel and the University conducted another interview with Senderoff to discuss the recruiting calls placed from his home phone. A similar interview with Meyer was held on October 1. In total, Sampson was interviewed three times, Senderoff four times and McCallum and Meyer one time each. During each interview, in addition to specific questions regarding the known phone call issues, the coaches were asked open-ended questions, such as whether there were any other impermissible calls or other information to report. The coaches did not report or provide information regarding any other impermissible calls.

After these interviews and the final cross-checking of phone records were completed, the University determined it had obtained information sufficient and complete enough to submit a report to the Committee on October 3, 2007, setting forth the calls discovered that were contrary to the sanctions, as well as outlining its monitoring and education regarding the Committee's

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

penalties. (See Attachment 1.) On October 25, 2007, the University submitted a report to the NCAA Enforcement Staff regarding the phone calls placed by Senderoff and Meyer that were in violation of NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2. (See Attachment 2.) On October 29, 2007, Senderoff resigned from his position at the University, effective immediately.

Upon the receipt of the reports, the NCAA Enforcement Staff began its review of the self-reported information. The University fully cooperated with the NCAA throughout its investigation, including providing information and assistance as requested. From late October 2007 through early February 2008, the NCAA Enforcement Staff conducted interviews with various prospects who were the subjects of the impermissible calls, some of whom were enrolled student-athletes at other NCAA institutions, as well as some of the prospects' relatives and coaches. In addition, the NCAA interviewed the four coaches referenced in the reports (Sampson, Senderoff, Meyer and McCallum), as well as the former director of basketball operations, Jerry Green. The University ensured its representatives were available to participate in any interviews where such involvement was permitted by the individuals interviewed.¹⁰ The University participated in approximately 13 interviews with prospects and their relatives and coaches, the interview with the former director of basketball operations, an interview with the assistant director for compliance (Jennifer Brinegar) and follow-up interviews with Sampson, McCallum and Meyer.

¹⁰ Approximately six individuals declined to allow Indiana University to attend the interviews conducted by the NCAA, including five prospects and Senderoff.

NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

During this phase of the investigation, new information surfaced in a number of interviews regarding additional potential impermissible recruiting phone calls with Sampson that were initiated by Senderoff and involved the use of a speakerphone or the passing of a phone. Specific information was also reported regarding the conversations with Sampson and Senderoff during a number of the impermissible phone calls included in the University's October reports.¹¹ On February 8, 2008, the NCAA issued its Notice of Allegations, which was based on the information self-reported by the University, as well as this new information. On February 15, 2008, the University's president directed the director of athletics to oversee an immediate investigation of the new allegations and to make an assessment as to whether they were credible and accurate. The director of athletics was assisted in his review by the University's general counsel, senior woman administrator, faculty athletics representative and outside counsel. On February 22, 2008, Sampson resigned from his position at the University, effective immediately.

During the assessment of the new allegations, the University evaluated transcript testimony and reviewed phone records and other documentary evidence to determine whether the new information regarding the impermissible phone calls could be supported. The University also continued to review telephone records (cell, home and office) to identify other potentially impermissible calls in response to the new information that was learned during the course of these interviews. As a result of the University's continued review, several additional impermissible phone calls were identified and included in this response. Although some of the numbers initially reported in October have changed, the general scope and extent of the impermissible calls have remained the same.

C. RESPONSE TO ALLEGED VIOLATIONS

1. [NCAA Bylaws 2.8.1, 2.8.3 and 19.01.4, and NCAA Infractions Report No. 250]

It is alleged that from March 29, 2006, through July 31, 2007, Indiana University, Bloomington (Indiana), and members of the men's basketball staff failed to comply with the penalties assessed by the NCAA Division I Committee on Infractions in Infractions Report No. 250 when Kelvin Sampson, head men's basketball coach; Jeff Meyer, assistant men's basketball coach; and Rob Senderoff, then assistant men's basketball coach, placed or participated in telephone calls that violated recruiting restrictions imposed on the institution, Sampson and the men's basketball staff as penalty for Sampson's prior involvement in violations of NCAA legislation. Specifically:

- a. Sampson and Senderoff engaged in multiple telephone calls that violated a recruiting restriction prohibiting Sampson from being present when members of his staff made telephone calls related in any way to recruiting (Penalty L of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250; as adopted by and transferred to Indiana).
- b. Senderoff and Meyer placed approximately 100 telephone calls that violated the following recruiting restrictions:
 - (1) Telephone calls were reduced from one call per month to one call every other month to prospective student-athletes, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s) on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school (Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250; as adopted by and transferred to Indiana).
 - (2) Telephone calls were reduced from two calls per week to one call per week to prospective student-athletes, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s) on or after August 1 of their senior year in high school (Penalty F of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250; as adopted by and transferred to Indiana).

Please indicate whether this information is substantially correct and whether the institution agrees that a violation of NCAA legislation occurred. Submit evidence to support your response.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Overview of the University's Position

The University agrees the information set forth in Allegation No. 1 is substantially correct, the conduct described was contrary to the listed sanctions imposed by the Committee on Infractions, and the University and the named individuals were all obligated to comply with these sanctions. Indiana University understands that the impermissible conduct referred to in this allegation includes: (1) three-way recruiting phone calls (involving three phone lines) that included Sampson; (2) use of a speakerphone or passing of the phone by Senderoff to include Sampson in recruiting calls (involving two phone lines – Senderoff's and a third party's, not Sampson's); and (3) phone calls, primarily by Senderoff but also by Meyer, that exceeded the number of phone calls allowed per prospect during the specified timeframes.

The University does not dispute that the sanctions imposed by the Committee became part of the rules and regulations of the NCAA for Indiana University, as well as its staff and coaches. Therefore, a violation of Constitution 2.8.1 occurred in that, as a result of the failure of the men's basketball staff to abide by the Committee's sanctions, the University did not "comply with all applicable rules and regulations of the Association in the conduct of its intercollegiate athletics programs" as required under the principle of rules compliance. However, the University questions whether there can be violations of NCAA Constitution 2.8.3 and Bylaw 19.01.4, which set forth the fact that an institution and individuals who violate NCAA rules or regulations are subject to disciplinary or corrective actions. Indiana University does not contest the relevance of these bylaws to the circumstances at hand but is not certain that they should be listed as legislation that was violated. Specifically, a failure to comply with penalties does not seem to violate provisions that merely codify the authority of the NCAA to impose disciplinary measures, rather than explicitly require compliance with penalties. When the University first confirmed the failure by the coaches to fully comply with the Committee's sanctions, it carefully evaluated whether noncompliance with penalties imposed by the Committee on Infractions, without any violation of NCAA bylaws, constituted a stand-alone violation of NCAA legislation. The University was unable to locate any applicable citations in the constitution or bylaws, but now recognizes that the first sentence of Constitution 2.8.1 applies. Understanding that these circumstances present a case of first impression, the University will defer to the judgment of the Committee as to whether noncompliance with some of the sanctions – standing alone – constitutes a violation of NCAA legislation.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Regardless of the outcome of this issue, Indiana University continues to believe that full compliance with sanctions should be an expectation and an obligation of NCAA member institutions, including all staff members and coaches, and that appropriate disciplinary measures, such as the self-imposed sanctions listed in Section D later in this response, should be imposed in the event of noncompliance.

Review of the Impermissible Three-Way Phone Calls (Allegation No. 1-a)

The impermissible phone calls generally referenced in Allegation No. 1-a included three-way recruiting calls involving Sampson and primarily Senderoff. These calls were self-reported by Indiana University in an October 3, 2007 report to the Committee on Infractions as being contrary to one of the sanctions imposed on the men's basketball coaching staff. (See Attachment 1.) No other three-way phone calls were discovered during the subsequent review of phone records by Indiana University or during the NCAA Enforcement Staff's investigation.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

As background, three-way phone calls, which involve connecting three phone lines, are permissible under NCAA rules and University policies, including recruiting calls when multiple coaches are connected on the phone. However, due to Penalty L of Infractions Report No. 250, which prohibited Sampson “from making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls” from May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, three-way recruiting calls involving Sampson were not permissible. Of the 27 three-way phone calls that occurred during the period of the sanctions, approximately 10 to 18 involved a then assistant men’s basketball coach connecting Sampson into a phone call with a prospective student-athlete or an individual involved in the recruitment of a prospective student-athlete (e.g., relative, coach). (See Attachment M for a summary of all three-way calls and Attachment N for those known to involve recruiting, both of the October 3 report.) Indiana University determined these calls were contrary to the intent of Penalty L as well as a June 12, 2006 clarification received from the Committee’s staff regarding the impermissibility of three-way calling. (See Attachment 3, for the letter received from the Committee, and Attachment 4, Item No. 8, for the University’s June 13, 2006 communication via email and memorandum providing this clarification to the men’s basketball coaching staff.)

Overview of the Three-Way Calls. Three-way calls occurred when a then assistant coach would either receive an incoming call or make an outgoing call and then connect the call to another number. Sampson did not place any of the three-way phone calls. Two of the three

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

then assistant men's basketball coaches (Senderoff and Ray McCallum "McCallum"¹²) made three-way calls, some of which were permissible, during the period when Sampson was prohibited from making any recruiting phone calls. All three-way calls placed by the assistant men's basketball coaches¹³ were reviewed to determine those that included Sampson and concerned recruiting. Indiana University contacted the phone companies on several occasions in an attempt to identify the phone numbers for the incoming calls, none of which were listed on the phone bills. The phone companies all reported they were unable to provide the phone numbers for the incoming calls. The University therefore focused the review on determining the individuals called during the outgoing calls and, taking a conservative and strict approach, assumed all of the incoming calls were related to recruiting, even though the identities of the callers remained unknown.

During the course of the University's investigation, it became clear that approximately 10 to 18 of the 27 three-way calls placed by the two then assistant coaches included Sampson and were thus contrary to the intent and terms of the sanction prohibiting Sampson from making any recruiting phone calls, and specifically the clarification received from the Committee on Infractions regarding three-way phone calls. (See Attachment M of the October 3 report for a summary of all three-way calls; and Attachments 3 and 4 for the clarification.) The lower number (10) represents all of the outgoing calls the assistant coaches placed to known recruiting numbers for prospective student-athletes and counts as one call, on two occasions, two calls (that occurred back-to-back due to a dropped call). (See Attachment N of the October 3 report for a summary of these recruiting three-way calls.) If these call-backs to the two dropped calls are counted separately, there are 12 known (outgoing) recruiting calls. As noted in Attachment M of the October 3 report, there are six additional three-way calls that included Sampson: five were incoming calls to an assistant coach where the caller could not be identified and one was an outgoing call to an unknown Detroit number.¹⁴ Erring on the side of caution, these six calls have nonetheless been presumed to be recruiting calls for the purpose of analyzing the extent to which the sanction was not complied and for assessing penalties.

¹³ The University also reviewed Sampson's phone records and confirmed he did not place any three-way phone calls.

The remaining nine three-way calls listed in Attachment M of the October 3 report were not contrary to Penalty L. One of these calls, placed by McCallum on May 8, 2007 to the coach of a prospective student-athlete, [REDACTED], was determined not to be a recruiting call because [REDACTED] was no longer a prospect, per NCAA Bylaw 13.02.11-(c), as he was enrolled in and attending the summer session at Indiana University, which began that day. The remaining eight three-way calls that occurred prior to the end of the sanction on May 24, 2007, did not involve Sampson, including: four occasions when McCallum patched into his own cell phone number for one minute, perhaps to his voicemail or perhaps by mistake; two calls that were unrelated to phone numbers for any prospect or Indiana coach; and the remaining two calls that involved McCallum, Senderoff and a third number.

The known impermissible 10 (or 12) recruiting three-way calls involved a total of six prospects, one of whom matriculated at Indiana University and one who signed with Indiana but was subsequently released from his National Letter of Intent (“NLI”) when Sampson resigned, as follows:

¹⁴ To determine the identify of the individual who uses that number, the compliance staff called the phone number but it had been disconnected and reassigned. After consultation with Senderoff, the University is fairly confident that the phone number was previously used by the AAU coach of a prospective student-athlete from Detroit. The call was therefore likely, and is assumed to be, a recruiting call.

Prospect	Recruiting Class	Institution Attending	Number of Three-Way Calls
DeJuan Blair	2007	Pittsburgh	4 (or 5)
Wil Buford	2008	Signed with Ohio State	1
Ayodele Coker	2007	St. John’s	1
Devin Ebanks	2008	Signed with Indiana (released from his NLI)	1
Yancy Gates	2008	Signed with Cincinnati	1

Senderoff initiated all 10 (or 12) of these known recruiting calls. Of the remaining six potentially impermissible three-way calls, all of which were unidentifiable numbers, three involved Senderoff and three involved McCallum.

These three-way calls were not noticed during the compliance staff’s regular and usual monitoring of phone calls during the course of the academic year for several reasons. Both manual and computerized searches, which were conducted by the compliance staff, targeted the declared recruiting phone numbers being called, as reported by the coaches and inputted into Cybersports, and the frequency of calls to these numbers, not other columns or information on the phone bills. In addition, because the three-way code that appeared on the bill was always on the same line as a local number on the phone bill (e.g., Sampson’s cell or home number), it was not detected in analyzing the calls to the declared recruiting numbers. (See Attachment 5 for a sample phone-bill page showing a three-way call.)

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Further, since the coaches had requested and received a clear interpretation from the Committee on Infractions in June 2006 that three-way calling with Sampson would not be permissible, three-way calls should not have been an issue. Following a May 30, 2006 meeting between the compliance staff, other athletics administrators and the men's basketball coaching staff to discuss the sanctions from Infractions Report No. 250, the University sought clarification from the Committee on Infractions regarding a number of questions about the application of the sanctions imposed on Sampson and the University's basketball program. (See Attachment 28 for the May 31, 2006 letter from the University to the Committee.) Specific to three-way recruiting phone calls, a member of the coaching staff asked whether an assistant coach could place a recruiting call and then add Sampson into the call by three-way technology. The compliance staff responded that this would not be permissible. The coaches did not challenge or question this interpretation of outgoing three-way calls, thereby indicating that they understood that these calls were impermissible. The coaches then asked whether Sampson could be added by three-way technology to an incoming recruiting call to an assistant coach, since Sampson could receive recruiting calls directly. The coaches were informed by the compliance staff that this was also likely to be impermissible and that, pending clarification from the Committee, such inclusion of Sampson should not occur. A response from the Committee on Infractions regarding several questions from the May 30 meeting, including the three-way question, was received on June 12, 2006. (See Attachment 3.) The next day, on June 13, the compliance staff communicated the Committee's clear responses to the men's basketball coaching staff via email and a written memorandum. (See Attachment 4, Item No. 8.) In the memorandum provided to the men's basketball staff, Item No. 8 specifically addressed three-way calling as follows:

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

If an AAU or HS coach calls one of the IU assistant coaches and then adds a prospect in on a 3-way call, can the assistant coach add in Coach Sampson at that time (since the original call was initiated by the AAU or HS coach and not by anyone at IU)? No.

Indiana University believes that this information clearly set forth that connecting Sampson into a recruiting call via a three-way call was not permissible for any of the 10 to 18 three-way recruiting phone calls. Although the scenario presented in the memorandum does not address the exact circumstances that occurred here, it should have been readily apparent that, as this memorandum addressed a more passive circumstance (i.e., a coach receiving a call and having a prospect added in), the more direct action of connecting Sampson on an outgoing recruiting call would also be impermissible, whether or not the assistant coach was an active participant on the call. In addition, the coaches were told in the May 30 meeting that outgoing three-way recruiting calls involving Sampson were impermissible. Further, Sampson readily admitted in his interviews that he knew that he could not participate in a three-way phone call with an assistant coach and, in his November 23, 2007 interview, conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by the University, even stated that he would have hung up had he realized Senderoff was on the phone.

Explanation Regarding Why the Impermissible Three-Way Recruiting Calls Occurred. According to Sampson, the three-way calls primarily occurred when there had been a dropped call involving Sampson, whereas Senderoff explained the calls generally occurred when a prospect (or other individual) informed Senderoff that they were frustrated in their inability to

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

contact Sampson or that they urgently needed to speak with him.¹⁵ McCallum did not recall making any three-way calls and was thus unable to provide any additional information regarding the calls. Sampson generally did not recall the specifics of most of the calls or their origin and consistently denied knowing that Senderoff or any other coach had initiated a three-way recruiting call. However, in his August 23 interview with the University, Sampson remembered one call involving DeJuan Blair (“Blair”) and stated that, although not 100% certain, he thought Senderoff had initiated the call.¹⁶ Sampson also stated in an October 30 telephonic press conference, when Indiana University released the October 25 report that had been submitted to the NCAA, that “[o]ther than one call, I was not aware that it was a three way call”. (See Attachment 6 for a transcript of the press conference at p. 2.) In contrast, in his November 13, 2007 interview conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Sampson said he did not know Senderoff had initiated any of the three-way calls, including the one to Blair. Sampson readily admitted in his various interviews, as set forth in more detail below, that he knew he could not participate in three-way recruiting calls with one of his assistant coaches. In his interviews, Sampson also stated he did not instruct the assistant coaches to connect him into the calls. Senderoff recalled the circumstances of approximately half of the outgoing calls. Attachment N of the October 3 report provides some context for those calls the coaches recalled, based on the information reported to Indiana University prior to submission of the October 3 report. None of the coaches disputed the fact that the three-way calls had occurred. Further, none of the coaches were able to recall the details of the six incoming calls, which is understandable as the callers are unknown.

There were some unique circumstances that made Sampson's ability to receive phone calls from prospects or other individuals more difficult than it might otherwise have been. All of the calls at issue here occurred in the evening and Sampson understandably did not generally provide his home phone number to prospective student-athletes, who may not receive a scholarship offer or choose to attend Indiana University, or the individuals involved in their recruitment. Instead he provided his cell phone number. Unfortunately, his cell phone reception was at best spotty at his home, which was located several miles outside Bloomington, resulting in many dropped calls. Thus, Sampson reported there were occasions when he would be on an incoming call with a prospect or an individual involved in the prospect's recruitment and the call would drop and he would have to wait for the individual to call him back, per the sanctions.¹⁷ He stated if the individual did not call back, he would text message¹⁸ or call one of the assistant coaches to have them remind the individual that he could not call them back, but they could call him. It was reported that some of the three-way calls at issue here may have occurred as a result of a dropped (permissible) call and then Senderoff helped the prospect or other individual reach Sampson by impermissibly patching Sampson into a call, even though the prospect or individual could have called back Sampson directly.

¹⁷ However, the prospects interviewed by the NCAA Enforcement Staff did not report such dropped calls.

¹⁸ NCAA rules at this time allowed text messaging.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

In other instances, Senderoff reported he would receive calls from prospects or other individuals who had trouble reaching Sampson (e.g., his cell phone would go straight to voicemail), at least in part due to the poor cell phone reception at his home. And it was reported there were occasions when a prospect or other individual stressed the urgency of the need to speak with Sampson immediately (e.g., to confirm Indiana's continued interest in the prospect or an upcoming visit to campus). However, the prospects interviewed by the NCAA Enforcement Staff did not offer these details to explain the circumstances of the three-way calls.

According to Senderoff, who placed all 10 (or 12) of the impermissible recruiting calls involving an initial outgoing call from him to a prospect or other individual, he would dial the first number, sometimes engage in a conversation with the individual, place that call on hold, dial Sampson's number and immediately while Sampson's phone was still ringing connect the other call. Senderoff stated he then remained on the line and did not say anything. By using this technique, Senderoff reported that he intended to serve only as an "operator" by allowing two people to have a conversation. Despite the interpretation from the compliance staff at the May 30 meeting regarding the impermissibility of outgoing three-way calls and the clarification obtained from the Committee regarding incoming three-way calls, Senderoff stated that he thought this was a "gray" area in regards to the Committee's sanction and that he never intended to put Sampson or the University in a difficult position.¹⁹ Similarly, he also noted that he used poor judgment and that he probably should have asked the compliance staff to clarify whether his actions were permissible (even though the compliance staff had clearly given the instructions

¹⁹ The compliance staff believed the coaches clearly understood upon leaving the meeting that outgoing three-way calls including Sampson were impermissible as there were no challenges or follow-up questions once this interpretation was given. Rather, the coaches turned their line of questioning to incoming three-way calls.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

that these calls were impermissible, as noted above). Senderoff further stated he did not think the spirit of the rule was broken because the individuals were trying to reach Sampson and wanted to speak with him.

Information Developed by The University Regarding Whether Three-Way Conversations Occurred. Neither Senderoff nor Sampson recalled Senderoff ever participating in a three-way conversation or introducing the third party to Sampson. However, two of the three individuals that Indiana University successfully contacted during its investigation from the list of known phone numbers used in the three-way recruiting calls, reported that Senderoff was involved in the respective conversations, as well as Sampson. The University was careful to clarify with both individuals – [REDACTED] (currently enrolled at Indiana University) and Yvonne Jackson (“Jackson”), the mother of Devin Ebanks (“Ebanks”), (who committed to Indiana University, but was subsequently released from his NLI) – that both coaches participated in the conversation at the same time as opposed to Senderoff speaking only during the first portion of the call and then remaining silent when Sampson was on the phone. In their separate conversations with the University, the two individuals were specific in their recollections that Senderoff was involved during the whole call and it should be noted that these calls were relatively close to their conversations with the University in the late summer of 2007. [REDACTED] received three-way calls, on January 29 and April 5, 2007; and Jackson received one call on May 1, 2007. The third individual contacted, Keith McClure (“McClure”), a coach for Wil Buford (“Buford”) did not recall ever speaking to Sampson.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

As noted in its October 3, 2007 report to the Committee, Indiana University determined the connection of Sampson into a recruiting call via a three-way call was contrary to the intent of the sanction each and every time such a three-way call occurred regardless of whether the assistant coach ever spoke while Sampson was on the call. The University thus counted all 18 possible recruiting calls in assessing the appropriate sanctions, as set forth in Section D later in this response, without regard to whether an assistant coach spoke on the call with Sampson and the third party.

Additional Information Regarding Three-Way Conversations Developed During NCAA Enforcement Staff Interviews. When the NCAA Enforcement Staff conducted a November 27, 2007 interview with Jackson,²⁰ she corroborated the information reported to the University that both Senderoff and Sampson had spoken with her during the same discussion, provided details about their conversation and stated she was very certain that a three-way conversation had occurred. The University has thus concluded there is no reason to question Jackson's clear recollections that a three-way conversation occurred during the three-way call.

In a January 29, 2008 interview conducted by the NCAA and attended by the University, ████████ did not recall a three-way conversation occurring with Sampson and Senderoff and did not recall the information he had previously provided to Indiana University regarding a three-way conversation occurring during a three-way call. However, as noted below in the response to another aspect of Allegation No. 1-a and to Allegation 3-a-(1), ████████ reported in his January ²⁰ Because the NCAA Enforcement Staff conducted this interview immediately upon making phone contact with Jackson, the University was not able to participate.

29 interview several instances when Senderoff would put Sampson on the phone. Because the University was not aware of these other calls and only knew about the three-way call when it questioned ██████ in the summer of 2007, his responses were interpreted as being related to the three-way call, when he might have been recalling the speakerphone conversation referenced below. Thus, the University believes that it is reasonable to conclude that ██████ was consistent in his recollection regarding a three-way conversation occurring, but that three-way conversation apparently did not occur during a three-way call.

In other interviews, the NCAA Enforcement Staff conducted after the submission of the University's October 2007 reports to the NCAA, several prospects recalled communications that would have alerted Sampson to the fact that Senderoff was on the line during the three-way calls. Specifically, although appearing confused as to the details and circumstances of specific telephone calls with Sampson and/or Senderoff, Blair reported during his December 11, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff,²¹ that he recalled speaking with both coaches on a phone call after he decided he did not want to take an official visit to Indiana University. He thought the call occurred on the day his official visit was supposed to have occurred. When questioned as to how certain he was that both coaches were involved on the phone at the same time, whether it was by speakerphone or a three-way call, Blair responded "They were both on the phone. I'm, they was both on the phone talking, we all was on the phone." (December 11, 2007 Blair Interview Transcript at p. 14, located on NCAA custodial website.) He recalls speaking with Sampson about rescheduling his visit for mid-October. This call corresponds to the October 4, 2006 four-minute three-way call to Blair on the date of his home visit with

NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Senderoff and shortly before his scheduled official visit. Blair's description of the substance of the conversation is consistent with the explanations provided by Sampson and Senderoff that Blair had cancelled his scheduled visit.²²

Further, another prospective student-athlete, Buford, remembered one phone call on his AAU coach's (McClure's) phone when they were driving in the car and when he spoke to the University's head and one assistant coach at the same time. Buford stated in his January 28, 2008 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff and in which the University participated, that the Indiana University assistant coach, whose name he did not recall, had called his coach's phone and then the assistant coach called the head coach (Sampson) and let him know that Buford was on the phone. Buford reported that he was "positive" the assistant coach had introduced him to the head coach but noted he did not remember the two coaches saying anything else to each other. Based on cell phone records, Indiana University believes that this call is consistent with the June 19, 2006 ten-minute three-way call Senderoff placed to McClure's phone. In addition, Buford's recollection provides context for why McClure did not recall speaking to Sampson when he spoke with the University in August 2007.²³

In addition, in a December 19, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff,²⁴ Demetri McCamey ("McCamey"), a current student-athlete at the University of Illinois, reported that he placed a call to Senderoff and that Senderoff then patched Sampson into a three-way call and introduced him by stating something to the effect of “we’ve got Demetri on the phone” or “here is Demetri”. (December 19, 2007 McCamey Interview Transcript at pp. 8 and 13, located on NCAA custodial website.) In an April 28, 2008 follow-up phone call with counsel for Sampson, the NCAA Enforcement Staff and counsel for the University, McCamey confirmed his recollection and clarified some of the details of the call. Although some information reported by McCamey could be interpreted as not completely consistent with other information, on balance, the University believes it is possible this call is one of the six so-far unidentified three-way incoming calls and, if so, it was likely to have been the May 31, 2006 seven-minute incoming call. (See Attachment M of the October 3 report.) Regardless of whether this call is tied to McCamey, the University has consistently assumed it to be a recruiting call and thus counted the call as impermissible.

²² It should also be noted, as detailed below in the next section and in the response to Allegation 3-a, Blair also recalled another conversation with Senderoff and Sampson on October 4 during his home visit by Senderoff. This phone call, which occurred via the speaker feature on Senderoff's cell phone, was admitted to by Senderoff. Although it is possible that Blair has confused the two calls, the University has determined it is reasonable to conclude that during at least one of the calls, if not both, Sampson and Senderoff were on the phone with Blair in the same conversation.

²⁴ McCamey declined to allow the University to participate in this interview.

Review of the Impermissible Use of a Speakerphone or Phone Passing
(Allegation No. 1-a)

Information regarding the involvement of Sampson in recruiting calls initiated by Senderoff, which were not three-way calls, was first reported during a December 7, 2007 interview with Ayodele Coker (“Coker”) conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by Indiana University. When Coker was questioned about his recollection of any phone calls with Senderoff where he also spoke with Sampson (in an attempt to garner more information regarding the circumstances of the October 4, 2006 three-way call identified in the phone records), Coker described an occasion when Senderoff visited him at his high school,

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA

called Sampson on his (Senderoff's) cell phone, and handed the phone to Coker so he could speak to Sampson.

This information, which was revealed during one of the early NCAA interviews, presented a new line of inquiry for the subsequent interviews. Following this interview, several other individuals reported information regarding other (not three-way technology) recruiting phone calls involving both Sampson and Senderoff that were contrary to Penalty L of Infractions Report No. 250.²⁵ Several current and former prospects, and in one instance the mother of a prospect, reported that Sampson participated in recruiting calls initiated by Senderoff. Some (██████████, Marcus Morris, Kenny Frease) recalled speaking with Sampson on a phone call after first having spoken with Senderoff during the same call. These instances were described as involving the use of a speakerphone or the passing of a phone from Senderoff to Sampson, who appeared to be in the same location. Others (Ayodele Coker, ██████████, Erica Mackey – mother of Jonathan “Bud” Mackey, and Blair) described occasions where Senderoff would be present with them, would use his cell phone to speak with Sampson and would then hand them the phone or use his cell phone's speaker function so they could talk to Sampson.

Following the receipt of the Notice of Allegations, Indiana University carefully reviewed the facts and circumstances of the information reported during each interview and then assessed whether these recollections could be confirmed with actual phone records or events where possible. The University's analysis regarding these calls is set forth in more detail in the response to Allegation Nos. 3-a-(1), (2), (3) and (4), and 4-a-(1), (2), (3) and (4) below, which relate to the conduct of Sampson and Senderoff. As a result of this analysis, the University determined that, although some information is more conclusive and credible than other, it is reasonable to conclude most if not all of these calls occurred, particularly given that some of the information was in fact corroborated. Moreover, the University gave consideration to the fact that testimony was received from several different, unrelated individuals who in separate interviews provided information and slightly differing accounts of similar incidents involving Senderoff initiating a recruiting call that Sampson joined. It seems unlikely all of these individuals would have fabricated or misremembered the circumstances of these phone calls, particularly since they would have had no reason to know such calls were the subject of the investigation as media accounts had focused on the three-way phone calls.

In general, the individuals reported the following:

- ██████ reported in his January 29, 2008 interview conducted by the NCAA and attended by the University that on several (more than five) occasions, Senderoff would call him, tell him to hold on and then Senderoff would say Coach is right here and Sampson would be on the phone. ██████ recalled at least one time where both Senderoff and Sampson were talking by speakerphone and Senderoff stated that he (Senderoff) was on speakerphone. ██████ also remembered that on two occasions when Senderoff was visiting him, Senderoff called Sampson and ██████ then spoke to Sampson on Senderoff's cell phone.
- Marcus Morris ("Morris") reported in his January 23, 2008 interview conducted by the NCAA and attended by the University that sometimes (approximately two or three times) when Senderoff called, Sampson was in the room with Senderoff and that he spoke to both coaches on the same call.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

- Kenny Frease (“Frease”) reported in his January 14, 2008 interview conducted by the NCAA and attended by the University that on at least two occasions, Senderoff called his high school coach and then had Sampson speak to Frease, who assumed Senderoff had just handed the phone to Sampson. This information was corroborated by Frease’s coach who also participated in the interview and in a follow-up interview on April 16, 2008.
- Coker recalled in his December 7, 2007 interview conducted by the NCAA and attended by the University that when Senderoff was visiting his high school, Senderoff called Sampson and handed Coker his phone so that Coker could speak with Sampson.
- Erica Mackey (“Erica”) the mother of Jonathan “Bud” Mackey, in a February 2, 2008 interview conducted by the NCAA described with particularity the circumstances of two phone calls when she talked with Sampson with the assistance of Senderoff. One of these calls was substantiated by phone records and other information. Regarding this call, Erica stated that it occurred after Bud’s team won the state championship, and she ran into Senderoff in the arena. Erica recalled that Senderoff was already on the phone as he approached her, that he handed her his cell phone and that Sampson was on the phone.
- Blair stated in his December 11, 2007 interview conducted by the NCAA that during Senderoff’s home visit, Senderoff called Sampson and used his cell phone’s speakerphone function so Blair’s family (including his mother, father, grandmother, sister and brother) could ask Sampson questions. Senderoff also recalled the circumstances of this phone call.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

In his January 31, 2008 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Senderoff reported for the first time that he recalled calling Sampson during his home visit with Blair's family and then placing his cell phone on speakerphone so the family could ask Sampson some questions. He also stated that he might have done that with Coker, although he thought Coker's coach had called Sampson in that instance, and that it was possible the same thing had happened with ██████ as well. Senderoff indicated he did not think these calls were impermissible. In his January 29, 2008 interview, Sampson stated he did not recall talking to any prospect via such methods.

These phone calls were not detectable by a review of phone records, which would only have revealed calls between Senderoff and Sampson or calls between Senderoff and prospects that at face value would have appeared permissible. As a result, these calls were not known to Indiana University prior to the December 7, 2007 interview with Coker and were not included in the October 3 or 25 reports submitted to the NCAA. Thus, following the discovery of these additional calls that were contrary to the sanctions, the University evaluated the penalties self-imposed in October to determine if any adjustments were warranted. In light of the fact that the University had decided to impose significant sanctions that more than compensated for the number of impermissible phone calls and any recruiting advantage that may have been gained, Indiana University determined these calls did not warrant the imposition of additional penalties. Further, since the University now has a new coaching staff that was not involved in any way with these phone calls (or the other allegations) and since this staff already has to serve the remainder of the self-imposed penalties, the University continues to believe additional penalties are unnecessary.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Review of the Impermissible Phone Calls that Exceed the Sanction Limits
(Allegation No. 1-b)

As noted above, during the review of the three-way calls in the summer of 2007, the University requested and received the home phone records of Sampson and Senderoff, even though there had been no information indicating the coaches were using their home phones. In addition, all of the coaches had reported on monthly forms that they did not use their home phones for recruiting. (See Attachment G of the October 3 report.) The University requested these home phone records to determine whether three-way calls had been placed from the home phones, to ensure the most complete review possible and to test the veracity of the coaches. Sampson's home phone records did not contain any recruiting (or three-way) calls during the time period of the sanctions. Senderoff's home phone records revealed a significant number of recruiting calls (approximately 75), none of which had been reported to the compliance office and a number of which were, or caused other phone calls to be, contrary to the sanctions. The home phone records of the two other men's basketball coaches, McCallum and Meyer, were immediately requested and reviewed for recruiting calls. Meyer placed ten recruiting calls from his home phone, three of which were contrary to the sanctions, and one of which was contrary to the sanctions and to NCAA rules. McCallum had one recruiting call from his home phone, which did not result in any issues with the sanctions or NCAA rules.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

The University determined that these calls raised issues under revised Penalties E and F of Infractions Report No. 250, which are summarized as follows:

- E. Reduced the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month concluding July 31, 2007.
- F. Reduced the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week concluding July 31, 2007.

Overview of Impermissible Calls. During its investigation, the University incorporated the recruiting calls made from the home phones of the three then assistant coaches into spread sheets, organized by prospective student-athlete, that included the other recruiting calls from cell and office phones. Indiana University carefully analyzed these calls to identify any issues with the sanctions or NCAA rules. Taking a conservative and strict approach that counted any potentially impermissible call, the University determined if an impermissible call occurred, it then rendered the ensuing calls impermissible until the requisite break (one month for juniors or one call per week for seniors) had occurred. Thus, a number of previously permissible calls were determined not to be permissible. For example, if there had previously been permissible phone calls in April and June to a junior prospect but it was then discovered that a coach had placed a call from his home phone to that prospect in May, the May and June calls were counted as impermissible, as well as any other calls that occurred until there was a month without a countable call. It should be noted, consistent with NCAA rules, only calls to the prospects or their relatives were counted in the impermissible calls as calls to coaches and other individuals did not fall within Penalties E and F. Further, unsuccessful attempts to reach a prospect or relative prior to a permissible call were not counted; however, once a permissible call with a prospect or relative had occurred, any subsequent attempts to reach that prospect or a relative in the relevant time period were counted as improper even if no contact was made. Following its conservative and strict approach, the University also counted questionable calls as impermissible (e.g., a call to an unknown number in the area code of a prospect, which was made around the time of another call to that prospect's listed numbers). Thus, the total number of impermissible phone calls is the maximum number of potentially impermissible calls and the actual number of impermissible calls may in fact be lower.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

The majority of the calls made from the then assistant coaches' home phones were permissible under NCAA rules. However, it was determined that a significant number of calls were contrary to, or resulted in other calls being contrary to, Sanctions E and F. Sometimes the calls made from the home phones were contrary to the sanctions or NCAA rules; sometimes they caused other, previously permissible, calls to become impermissible. Attachment 7 contains charts summarizing the impermissible calls for each prospect in alphabetical order. Question marks ("??") indicate a few unresolved issues, which were either irrelevant to the determination of whether the call was permissible or which triggered the call to be assumed impermissible.

Following the submission of the October 3 report to the Committee on Infractions, the University discovered a few inaccuracies that do not alter the overall substance of the information reported. Some of this information was corrected for the October 25 report submitted to the NCAA Enforcement Staff but Indiana University noticed a few other corrections as a result of the University's continued review of phone records. The information and data reported in this Response reflect the most current and accurate information. (Please see the response to subquestions 1-b and 2-b below for a summary of the information that has been added or modified.)

The phone calls made primarily by Senderoff, and to some degree by Meyer²⁶, from their home phones resulted in a total of 128 phone calls that were contrary to the sanctions or NCAA rules. Of these calls, 126 were contrary to the sanctions and 42 violated NCAA rules regarding phone calls (two involved only NCAA violations and were not contrary to the sanctions²⁷). One hundred and eleven (111) of the phone calls were made to junior prospects contrary to Sanction E and 15 of the calls were made to senior prospects contrary to Sanction F. The following chart summarizes the impermissible calls that occurred by coach:

Coach	Total Impermissible Calls	Contrary to Sanctions	NCAA Violations
Senderoff	112	110	36
Meyer	10	10	6
Sampson ²⁸	2	2	0
Undetermined	4	4	0
Total	128	126	42

The following chart summarizes this information for each prospect:

²⁶ As discussed in more detail in the response to Allegation No. 2, the University does not believe that Meyer should be named in any finding made by the Committee or in any individual records file (“pink file”) maintained at the NCAA office. Meyer’s involvement – 10 impermissible calls, most of which have extenuating circumstances – does not seem to rise to the level of a stand-alone major violation, even though the University agrees that Meyer should have reported and documented all of his recruiting calls. It should also be noted that the University is not contesting that these impermissible calls occurred or that the University should be held accountable for the calls.

²⁷ These two calls related to Yancy Gates, whose father is his AAU coach and assistant high school coach. The calls occurred prior to the first permissible phone call date (June 15 of his sophomore year). According to Senderoff, the calls in question were with the father, but recruiting was discussed. Thus, consistent with its conservative approach, the University determined these calls to be contrary to NCAA rules.

²⁹ The number of impermissible calls listed for Marcus and Markieff Morris, who are twins, may be greater than the actual number. As both prospects were recruited by the University, counting the calls and determining the impermissible calls was more complex than with the other prospects. Under NCAA rules, the limits on the number of phone calls apply to each brother individually and allow coaches to call each brother during the same time period. However, several of the calls were to the twins' mother and Senderoff did not record whether the call concerned one or both brothers. The University, consistent with its conservative and strict approach to err on the side of caution, determined that each call with the mother thus counted as a countable call for both brothers. As a result of this approach, there was a multiplier effect on the number of impermissible calls due to the phone calls to the mother. Specifically, a permissible call to the mother in April was counted for both Marcus and Markieff, thereby rendering all attempted or actual calls in May to be impermissible under the sanctions, even though Senderoff was under the impression that at least some of the calls were permissible because there were two prospects in the family. Calls in June and July also then became impermissible as there was no required month off for either brother. It should be noted that the NCAA Enforcement Staff contacted the NCAA Membership Services Staff for an interpretation on how to count these calls and the response received confirmed the University's general approach. (See Attachment 8 for March 13, 2008 email forwarding NCAA interpretation.)

³² These calls were identified after a December 7, 2007 interview with Coker where he reported that his uncle received recruiting calls from Senderoff. When the University realized in the preparation of this response, that the number Coker provided for his uncle had not been listed by the coaches as a recruiting number and thus had not been searched during the investigation, the University reviewed Senderoff's phone records and recently identified eight additional calls contrary to the sanctions, two of which were also in violation of Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2. The University reported these calls to the NCAA Enforcement Staff and accepts responsibility for them but notes that, due to the timing of their discovery, Senderoff has not had an opportunity to review or respond to the information.

There are two additional phone calls that were contrary to the sanctions reducing the number of calls for the men’s basketball staff. These calls were related to the three-way calls discussed above and not to the recruiting calls made from home phones. (See Attachments M and N of the October 3 report and Attachment 11 regarding the three-way calls.) Specifically, the return call to [REDACTED] on January 29, 2007 was not permissible according to an interpretation received from the Committee that did not allow the men’s basketball coaches to return any dropped countable calls. In addition, the May 1, 2007 phone call to Jackson, the mother of Ebanks, resulted in three phone calls to Ebanks or his relatives, one each in April, May and June, contrary to Sanction E.

³³ All six of these calls were recorded in Cybersports as “left message”. However, because the University determined during the investigation that a four-minute call on June 29, 2006, was a countable call because it exceeded three minutes even though it was also listed as “left message”, the University considered these six calls impermissible, five of which also violated Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2.

³⁴ These one or two minute phone calls were counted as impermissible calls because they occurred after a permissible call had occurred during the relevant time period. Nonetheless, it is worth noting, particularly given the fact that cell phone carriers begin timing the call while the phone is ringing and only report calls in whole minutes, it is likely that only a message was left and no conversation occurred during these calls.

Explanation Regarding Why the Impermissible Calls Occurred. The University's September 12, 2007 interview with Senderoff primarily concerned his unreported use of his home phone for recruiting phone calls. In that interview and in his November 16, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Senderoff did not deny the calls occurred but was unable to offer much of an explanation as to why he neither reported the use of his home phone for recruiting nor the actual recruiting calls he made from his home. He explained that when he reported information regarding his recruiting calls to be included in the compliance office's call-tracking system "Cybersports", he would scroll down the list of calls he made from his cell phone and list those related to recruiting. Senderoff used his cell phone for the vast majority of his recruiting calls. He made approximately 1300 calls from his cell phone each month and, in comparison, rarely used his home phone. Even though the phone log sheets included a column for the "phone number called from" (see Attachment 17), Senderoff reported he forgot to include the calls from his home phone since he submitted this information while in the office. Senderoff further stated that when submitting his monthly forms indicating the phones he used for recruiting, he forgot to include his home phone. (See Attachment G of the October 3 report for the forms completed by Senderoff.) He admitted this practice was sloppy and/or careless and he had obviously done a bad job in not logging all of his calls. In his November 16, 2007 interview with the NCAA, Senderoff provided some context for some of the impermissible calls, some of which Indiana University had previously taken into consideration and noted in several footnotes to its October 3 and 25 reports. Senderoff also indicated he was disputing approximately five of the calls Indiana University had reported.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

During his October 1, 2007 interview with the University, Meyer reported he primarily used his cell phone for recruiting calls and only occasionally made recruiting calls from his office or home phones. He stated he did not list his home phone on the monthly forms reporting the phones he used for recruiting purposes because he did not yet have a home phone when he initially completed the form the first few months of his employment. When asked why he did not include his home phone on later forms, Meyer stated he thought the forms were only a formality and thus did not change what he previously reported. He noted he had not realized at the time the importance of the monthly forms. (See Attachment G of the October 3 report for the forms completed by Meyer.) Meyer reported he initially tracked all of his recruiting calls in a notebook before submitting the information for inclusion in Cybersports. However, as he started to make more phone calls while traveling, he stopped recording the information in a notebook and relied on the call log in his cell phone to report his recruiting phone calls for monitoring purposes. Meyer also noted he used Vonage for his home phone and did not receive any details regarding his outgoing calls until the University requested his records during the course of this investigation. In his November 13 interview conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by the University, Meyer reported information consistent with his prior interview and provided additional context for some of the impermissible calls.

Some of the impermissible calls summarized above and detailed in Attachment 7 did not result from the home phone calls. The vast majority of these calls were not discovered

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

previously because they or other calls were not reported in Cybersports. In a few instances (three calls and a few voice “message calls” left for Robbie Hummel), the impermissible calls and the calls that triggered these few calls to be impermissible were documented in Cybersports but the academic year review of the recruiting and phone records did not identify these calls as problematic. Thus, issues regarding these calls were first identified when thousands of phone calls from actual phone records were reviewed and cross-checked several times during this investigation.

It should also be noted that some of the issues with the sanctions occurred during the transition period prior to the release of the Committee’s report in May 2006. Although Indiana University had adopted as its own the sanctions imposed by the University of Oklahoma, the assistant coaches stated that they were not aware there were recruiting phone call sanctions in effect prior to the Committee’s report. Senderoff and Meyer that recalled Sampson was limited in his off-campus recruiting but neither remembered being restricted in their phone calls during the time prior to the issuance of the Committee’s report. Thus, they made phone calls in April and May 2006 without regard to Sanctions E and F, which reduced the frequency of permissible recruiting phone calls. Nonetheless, on May 1, 2006, at least Senderoff was informed by email of the phone call sanctions. (See Attachment 9 for an email exchange between the assistant director of athletics for compliance and Senderoff.) Further, during a May 4, 2006 meeting with the compliance staff, the assistant coaches, the director of basketball operations and other members of the men's basketball staff were provided training on the use of Cybersports for recording and monitoring recruiting phone calls.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Indiana University is troubled by the disregard for University policies and procedures that is reflected by these impermissible calls, particularly as the assistant coaches' failure to notify the compliance office about the use of their home phones for recruiting calls and their failure to report the calls made from home prevented the compliance office from effectively monitoring these calls and identifying these issues earlier. These failures regarding the use of the home phone are even more disturbing because the director of basketball operations (Jerry Green) was specifically told on May 25, 2006, in response to a question he raised, that all records – for home, office or cell – would be required if the phone was used for recruiting. (See Attachment 10 for the compliance staff's notes from the May 25, 2006 meeting with Green.) As with other compliance information communicated to Green, this information was expected to be shared with the coaches. It should also be noted that, even though the recruiting phone logs included a column for recording the phone from which each call was made, the coaches did not list their home phones (or the calls made from home) when they completed the logs. (See Attachment 17.) The compliance office's ability to monitor recruiting calls was further hampered by the incomplete records submitted by the coaches for entry into Cybersports. The University's investigation revealed that the coaches were not documenting all of their calls, including some made on their cell phones as well as those from their home phones, and that these undocumented calls were then not entered into Cybersports. In addition, at least one phone number called by Senderoff but not reported to the University as a recruiting number – for the uncle of Coker – was identified during the investigation, and other phone numbers had not been correctly inputted into Cybersports by the men's basketball staff. Accordingly, the University imposed sanctions, as set forth below, that include reductions in the number of permissible calls by approximately seven to ten times the number of impermissible calls that occurred.

See Attachment 1 for the October 3, 2007 report and the bound volume of its attachments (A-O).

As a result of the continued review of issues related to the impermissible phone calls, the University discovered a few inaccuracies that do not alter the overall context or substance of the information reported. Thus, included in this response are 17 additional phone calls contrary to sanctions E or F and seven additional calls that violated NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, as compared to the information reported October 3. These numbers also account for calls incorrectly listed as contrary to the sanctions or NCAA rules in the October 3 report.

Following is a summary of these modifications, which are included in the information and attachments presented in this response:

- Due to a typo in Attachment O of the October 3 report, prospective student-athlete DeJuan Blair was mistakenly listed as a member of the class of 2008 when he is a member of the class of 2007. As a result, all 11 of the calls regarding him were counted as junior calls when in fact two calls occurred when he was a senior.
- Three calls (April 8, April 16 and July 17) to prospective student-athlete Jonathon "Bud" Mackey ("Mackey") were mistakenly counted as NCAA violations and listed as such in Attachment O. Per NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, the coaching staff could call Mackey once a month. As the April 8 call was the first call to Mackey for the month and as it was only two minutes long, it should have been considered a noncountable and permissible call. The April 16 call was thus the permissible call for the month of April under NCAA rules. The July 17 call was the first call of the month of July to Mackey and was thus also permissible under NCAA rules. [Note: The University still

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

considers these three calls to be contrary to the sanction restricting phone calls to juniors to every other month because other calls to Mackey occurred in March, May, and June.]

- In reviewing the number of phone calls Senderoff made from home it was noticed that calls to an unidentified number had not been included in the October reports and a subsequent call to this number confirmed that it belonged to the mother of prospective student-athlete Phillip Jurick (“Jurick”). Accordingly, there were three additional calls regarding Jurick that were contrary to the sanctions and that violated NCAA rules.
 - In reviewing phone records regarding Robbie Hummel prior to the NCAA Enforcement Staff’s interview with him, it was noticed that, although all of his calls in Cybersports were recorded as “left message”, several of those calls were three or more minutes in duration. As a result of the University’s decision to count any call three minutes or greater as a countable call – even if it was recorded as a message – six impermissible calls were identified, five of which were NCAA violations.
 - A typo in Attachment O regarding Kenny Frease (“Frease”) incorrectly listed as September 5 a phone call that occurred on October 11. [Note: There were no other changes to the information reported regarding Frease.]
 - Following further review of phone calls made to Marcus and Markeiff Morris, it was noticed that, due to the University’s conservative approach of counting any phone call to the mother as a call for both brothers, two additional impermissible calls to the mother had occurred on October 6 and 13, 2006 each for two minutes.
 - Eight additional impermissible calls for Ayodele Coker (“Coker”) were discovered after Coker confirmed during his December 7, 2007 interview that Senderoff had called his uncle. Coker provided that phone number, which had not been previously reported by the coaches as a recruiting number. Two of those eight calls were also NCAA violations.
 - Impermissible three-way phone calls to DeJuan Blair and Coker on October 4, 2006 had been incorrectly also included as impermissible calls under Penalty F and listed in Attachment O. Because these calls occurred on the date of an off-campus contact, they did not exceed the impermissible calls to the prospects, although they remain contrary to Penalty L as three-way recruiting calls involving Sampson.

NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

2. [NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2]

It was reported that from May 7, 2006, through July 17, 2007,³⁵ Jeff Meyer, assistant men's basketball coach, and Rob Senderoff, then assistant men's basketball coach, placed at least 25 impermissible telephone calls to multiple prospective student-athletes, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s). Specifically, it was reported that:

- a. From May 31, 2006, through June 7, 2006, Senderoff placed two impermissible telephone calls to prospective student-athlete Yancey Gates, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s), prior to June 15 of his sophomore year in high school.
- b. Senderoff made the following impermissible telephone calls after he had already made a permissible call to that individual during that month (one call per month permitted on or after June 15 of a prospective student-athlete's sophomore year in high school, through July 31 of his junior year in high school):
 - (1) On May 11, 2006, Senderoff placed an impermissible call to then prospective student-athlete Evan Turner, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s).
 - (2) During May 2006, Senderoff placed three impermissible calls to then prospective student-athlete Demetri McCamey, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s).
 - (3) On June 29, 2006, Senderoff placed an impermissible call to prospective student-athlete Markieff Morris, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s).
 - (4) During July 2006, Senderoff placed two impermissible calls to then prospective student-athlete DeJuan Blair, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s).
 - (5) From March 1 through July 17, 2007, Senderoff placed 22 impermissible calls to prospective student-athlete Jonathan "Bud" Mackey, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s).

³⁵ It is the University's understanding the NCAA Enforcement Staff intends to amend the allegation to change the ending date to June 27, 2007 in this stem paragraph and in paragraph 2-b-(5). The University concurs this revised date is accurate.

- (6) From March 26 through April 15, 2007, Senderoff placed three impermissible calls to prospective student-athlete Philip Jurick, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s).
- c. Meyer made the following impermissible telephone calls after he had already made a permissible call to that individual during that month (one call per month permitted on or after June 15 of a prospective student-athlete's sophomore year in high school, through July 31 of his junior year in high school):
- (1) On July 18, 2006, Meyer placed an impermissible call to then prospective student-athlete Scott Martin, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s).
- (2) From June 29 through July 17, 2006, Meyer placed six³⁶ impermissible calls to then prospective student-athlete Robbie Hummel, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s).

Overview of the University's Position

The University agrees the information set forth in Allegation No. 2 is substantially correct and a violation of NCAA legislation has occurred. For the reasons set forth below and in the October 25 report to the NCAA, the University believes this violation should be considered secondary in nature pursuant to NCAA Bylaw 19.02.2.1 in that it was isolated; provided at most a minimum, if any recruiting, competitive or other advantage; and did not include any recruiting ³⁶ It is the University's understanding that the NCAA Enforcement Staff intends to amend the allegation to change the number of impermissible calls from six to five. The University concurs that this revised number is accurate.

inducement or extra benefit. In addition, there is case precedent to support finding this violation to be secondary.³⁷

The NCAA Notice of Allegations indicates there were at least 25 impermissible telephone calls to multiple prospective student-athletes. As a result of the ongoing review of phone call records in this matter, the University initially reported in the October 3 report to the Committee that there were 35 calls in violation of NCAA rules, then revised that number to 32 in the October 25 report to the NCAA Enforcement Staff, and is now reporting that there were 42 impermissible calls. These numbers have changed in large part because as new information was reported by the prospects, the University received information not previously available and thus reviewed phone records with a different perspective that sometimes triggered new analysis. For example, following the December 7, 2007 interview with Coker, the University reviewed phone records for calls to his uncle at a phone number provided by Coker that had not been previously checked because the coaches had not reported it as a recruiting number and had not included the phone number in Cybersports. As a result, two additional calls were identified as contrary to NCAA rules.³⁸ Further, in conducting its investigation in the summer and fall of 2007, the University was mindful of the balance between submitting the report to the Committee that had been due on August 31, 2007 as close as possible to that date even though an extension of the deadline had been granted, while still ensuring a thorough and accurate review of information. It should be noted that as the University identified the additional calls, it notified the Enforcement Staff when the impermissibility of these calls was confirmed. Further, in determining that there ³⁷ As detailed below, in the event the Committee determines this violation to be major, the University wishes to note it does not believe that Meyer should be named individually or have an individual records file ("pink file") maintained in the NCAA office as a result of his limited involvement in this violation.

³⁸ These two calls also were contrary to Penalty E. Six other calls were contrary to Penalty F.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

were 42 impermissible calls under NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, the University erred on the side of caution and continued to count potentially questionable calls as improper. As detailed below, the number of calls that were clearly in violation of NCAA rules is actually lower than the 42 reported by the University.

Discussion

The University incorporates all of the relevant information included in the response to Allegation No. 1.

Summary of the Impermissible Calls. To determine which of the calls that were contrary to the Committee's penalties also violated NCAA rules and whether any other calls violated NCAA rules, the University analyzed spreadsheets that incorporated for each prospective student-athlete the recruiting calls made from the home phones of the three assistant coaches with the other recruiting calls made from men's basketball coaching staff's cell and office phones. The University in conjunction with Ice Miller carefully reviewed these calls to identify any calls that might be contrary to NCAA rules.

As noted above in the response to Allegation No. 1 and consistent with NCAA rules, only calls to the prospects or their relatives were counted in the impermissible calls, as calls to coaches and other individuals are not considered countable calls. Further, unsuccessful attempts to reach a prospect or relative prior to a permissible call were not counted; however, once a permissible call with a prospect or relative had occurred, any subsequent attempts to reach that prospect or a relative in the relevant time period were counted as improper even if no contact

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

was made. Following its conservative and strict approach, the University also counted questionable calls as impermissible (e.g., a call to an unknown number in the area code of a prospect, which was made around the time of another call to that prospect's listed numbers). In addition, on a number of occasions, the University counted as countable a call marked as a message because the time for the call was three minutes or greater.

Thus, the total number of impermissible phone calls reported below appears to be the maximum number of potentially impermissible calls and the actual number of impermissible calls may in fact be lower. Attachment 7 contains charts outlining the impermissible calls by prospect, with the calls violating NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 shaded in gray.

The following chart summarizes the total number of calls and their durations.

Length of Call Contrary to NCAA Rules	Number of Calls	Percentage of Calls
Total Calls	42	100%
1 or 2 minutes	24	57%
3-10 minutes	12	29%
11-20 minutes	5	12%
Over 20 minutes	0	0%
Unknown	1	2%

Of the 42 calls reported as an NCAA violation, 24 were only one or two minutes in duration and there is a good chance no conversation occurred. It is thus apparent that at most 18 phone calls resulted in a conversation of three or more minutes. The following chart summarizes this information for each prospect:

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
 RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
 NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Prospective Student-Athlete	Coach	Total NCAA Violations	3 Minutes or Longer
Yancy Gates	Senderoff	2	0
DeJuan Blair	Senderoff	2	0
Demetri McCamey	Senderoff	3	1
Marcus and Markieff Morris	Senderoff	1	1
Evan Turner	Senderoff	1	1
Phillip Jurick	Senderoff	3	1
Jonathon “Bud” Mackey	Senderoff	22	9
Scott Martin	Meyer	1	1
Ayodele Coker ³⁹	Senderoff	2	1
Robbie Hummel	Meyer	5	3

There are circumstances attached to the phone calls for three of the prospects – Yancy Gates (“Gates”), Robbie Hummel (“Hummel”) and DeJuan Blair (“Blair”) – that should be considered as the University’s decision to count questionable calls as impermissible caused at least eight calls to be reported as contrary to NCAA rules when it is possible that no violation occurred. Specifically, two calls to Gates (for 31 seconds and two minutes, respectively) were reported as impermissible even though the calls were under three minutes and were to his father who is also his AAU coach and assistant high school coach, Tony Dees (“Dees”), and thus the calls could have been considered permissible. (See Attachment 7, p. 4.) These two calls are unique as they are the only phone calls that occurred prior to the first permissible calling date (June 15 after a prospect’s sophomore year in high school) and they are the only phone calls that resulted in an NCAA violation without also being contrary to the Committee’s sanctions. The University reported them as a violation because Senderoff, in his September 12, 2007 interview with the University, stated recruiting was discussed. Subsequently, Senderoff explained to the University in informal discussions that he said recruiting was discussed because he had discussed ³⁹ See the discussion above and in footnote 32 regarding the discovery of these two calls involving Coker.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

more than one prospect on the father's team, not just Gates, similar to his conversations with other fathers who also were coaches and in contrast to conversations with fathers who were not coaches. The University carefully considered Senderoff's position on this issue prior to the submission of the October reports to the NCAA and ultimately determined it should err on the side of caution and report the two phone calls as a potential violation since Senderoff had stated recruiting was discussed.⁴⁰ During his November 16, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Senderoff explained he thought he could generally discuss recruiting with Dees as a coach. It should be noted that in a January 9, 2008 interview of Gates and Dees conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by the University, Dees stated he did not recall Senderoff discussing any other player besides Gates, although Senderoff did inquire as to when open gyms would be occurring. Nonetheless, the University would have no objection if the Committee determines there is insufficient information to determine that one or both of these two calls were impermissible.

In addition, as noted on Page 4 of Attachment 7, a four-minute (permissible) call to Hummel on June 17, 2006, which was recorded in Cybersports with a notation that a message was left, was considered a countable call under the University's stringent methodology of counting any call three minutes or longer even if only a message was left, despite the fact it is possible that no recruiting conversation occurred. As a result of this methodology regarding "message calls", at least four calls to Hummel were considered to be impermissible under NCAA rules that might actually have been permissible. One other "message call" to Hummel was eight ⁴⁰ A 34-second call on May 19, 2006 from Sampson's office to Dees' home was not deemed to be a violation because there was no information reported that recruiting was discussed and it is likely that, at most, only a message was left, given the short duration of the call.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

minutes in duration and the University believes, given the length of the call, it is more likely than not that a recruiting call occurred, although it is feasible there was no such recruiting conversation.⁴¹ Without these four (or five) calls, there would only be two (or one) call contrary to NCAA rules involving Meyer.

Similarly, due to this “message call” methodology, the University reported two other phone calls as impermissible, each lasting two minutes. These calls were placed by Senderoff to Blair on July 19 and 22, 2006 (see Attachment 7, p. 1) and were determined to be impermissible because a three-minute call earlier that month on July 18 was considered a countable call, even though a notation in Cybersports indicated only a message had been left. Although the calls on the 19th and 22nd could be considered permissible since they were only two minutes in duration and would have been permissible attempts if the initial three-minute call had been classified as a noncountable message, the University included the two subsequent calls in the reported violation consistent with its conservative approach of counting questionable calls as impermissible.

Explanation Regarding Why the Violation Is Secondary in Nature. The University, with the assistance of its outside counsel, concluded when it submitted the October 25, 2007 report that this violation was secondary in nature because it was isolated; provided at most a minimum, if any, recruiting, competitive or other advantage; and did not include any recruiting inducement or extra benefit. In addition, case precedent supported classifying the violation as secondary.

⁴¹ This call was placed from Meyer’s cell phone to Hummel’s cell phone and it should be noted that cell phone companies begin timing a call as soon as it is dialed and round up to the next minute to determine the duration of the call, and that voicemail messages can be lengthy, potentially resulting in message calls that exceed the length of a typical message call.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

It is understood that multiple secondary violations can be considered a major violation. However, the Notice classified this allegation as a stand-alone major violation. Such a finding would not be appropriate in this case for the reasons discussed below and based on case precedent where multiple incidents of similar violations were classified as secondary in nature. Specific to recruiting, Case Nos. 33572, 32041, 30418 and 30669 concerned repeated violations involving several prospects and were determined to be secondary in nature. (See Attachment 16.) Three of these cases involved repeated impermissible phone calls, 57 in Case No. 33572 (to 48 prospects), 24 in Case No. 32041 and 28 in No. 30418, and the other case (No. 30669) involved 57 prospects.⁴² The University also has analyzed the recent Committee on Infractions decision regarding Texas Christian University (“Texas Christian”) in which the Committee noted in the introduction of the report that:

Whether viewed as a continuation of a major violation that began in 2002 or standing alone, the [more than 20] impermissible calls after September 22, 2005, are a major violation that occurred within five years of the start of the penalties in Case No. M240. (February 28, 2008 Texas Christian University Public Infractions Report, Page No. 2.)

Recognizing the Committee may have deemed that 20 impermissible phone calls could constitute a major violation in that case, the University seriously reevaluated its determination that the violation at issue here should be classified as secondary. However, the University ultimately ⁴² See also Case Nos. 32391 and 27263 for two additional cases classified as secondary despite numerous violations that occurred over several years.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

concluded, due to the factors detailed below and the existing secondary case precedent, this violation should be considered secondary in nature.⁴³

The calls in this case were isolated as they involved only one sport and one bylaw. Moreover, the vast majority of the calls in this case (22) were between one coach and one prospect (Mackey) during a four-month period (from March through June 2007) and were not designed to solicit a commitment from the prospective student-athlete to attend Indiana University.⁴⁴ Of the remaining 20 calls to nine other prospects, only nine calls presumably resulted in a recruiting conversation of three minutes or longer.

The majority of phone calls at issue here were of limited duration, resulting in little, if any substantive conversation. Even though 42 calls were placed, it is probable that at most only 18 resulted in actual conversations. Almost 60% (24) of the phone calls lasted only one or two minutes, 86% (36) were ten minutes or less and there were no calls exceeding twenty minutes. The one or two minute phone calls were counted as impermissible calls because they were placed after a permissible call had occurred during the relevant time period. Nonetheless, it is worth noting, particularly given the fact that cell phone carriers begin timing the call while the phone is ringing and only report calls in whole minutes (rounded up), it is likely that at most a message was left and no conversation occurred during these one or two minute calls.

⁴³ The University also notes, although it is not privy to the details and context of the phone calls in the Texas Christian case and thus is unable to determine if as many were for such a short period of time (i.e., less than three minutes), the phone calls that comprised the University's violation are distinguishable from those in the Texas Christian case. For example, Texas Christian involved two bylaws, versus one in this case, and more calls to 24 prospects.

⁴⁴ The prospect had orally committed to the University in the fall of 2006. Senderoff reported the calls occurred because the prospect was not doing well in school and the prospective student-athlete's mother asked him to encourage the prospect with his academics.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

As noted above, over half (22) of the phone calls were to one prospective student-athlete, who the University ceased recruiting in September 2007. Further, of the 22 calls to this prospect, 13 were less than three minutes in duration and likely resulted in no discussion. In addition, none of the involved prospects committed to or are attending Indiana University. There was thus no recruiting advantage gained from these violations. Moreover, during the NCAA Enforcement Staff's interviews, none of the prospects, their parents or their coaches reported anything unusual or excessive about the recruiting calls from the University's men's basketball staff as compared to the coaches from other universities.

The University identified and self-reported all 42 phone calls discussed in this response and these calls likely constitute the maximum possible number of violations. Indiana University believes its conservative approach of reporting questionable calls in all likelihood has inflated the number of calls reported as violations. Therefore, the context of these calls should be evaluated rather than only the number of calls reported. For example, every apparently impermissible one or two minute call (24 calls) was counted as impermissible, even though it was likely no substantive conversation had occurred. In addition, as noted above, two calls to the father (Dees) of a prospect (Gates) were presumed to be impermissible because Senderoff reported recruiting was discussed during calls with the father, even though the calls could have been considered permissible because the father is also a high school and AAU coach.⁴⁵ Although it appears that no substantive conversation occurred during these two calls, which were 31 seconds and at most two minutes in duration, the University reported these calls as part of the violation consistent with its approach of counting as impermissible questionable calls. Also as noted above, the University's "message call" methodology resulted in a total of six or seven otherwise permissible calls to Hummel and Blair being considered impermissible. Further, the impermissible call reported regarding Marcus and Markieff Morris was a violation only because the University adopted a very conservative approach in counting any call to the mother as a call to both brothers, even though only one prospect might have been discussed in any individual call. Thus, the University could have reasonably reported significantly fewer violations.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Explanation Regarding Why the Impermissible Calls Occurred. The explanations provided by Senderoff and Meyer regarding the use of their home phones for recruiting phone calls and their failure to document all recruiting phone calls, as set forth above in the response to Allegation No. 1-b, also apply to the phone calls at issue in Allegation No. 2. In brief, Senderoff reported he forgot to include the calls from his home phone when he reported recruiting phone calls from his cell phone for inclusion into Cybersports since he submitted this information while in the office. Senderoff further stated when submitting his monthly forms indicating the phones ⁴⁵ It should be noted that Senderoff explained in informal conversations with the University prior to the submission of the October reports that when he reported in his interview that recruiting was discussed, it was because when conversations occurred with the father he had discussed more than one prospect on the father's team, not just the father's son. He further explained these conversations were consistent with the general nature of other conversations with fathers who were also coaches, and were in contrast to conversations with fathers who were not coaches. In his November 16, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, he stated he thought he could generally discuss recruiting with a coach. It should also be noted that in a January 9, 2008 interview, Dees stated he did not recall Senderoff discussing any other player besides his son.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

he used for recruiting, he forgot to include his home phone. He admitted this practice was sloppy and/or careless.

As to the majority of the calls that violated NCAA rules, Senderoff also explained that he had not been careful about tracking these calls because the prospect (Jonathon "Bud" Mackey) had orally committed in the fall of 2006. Further, regarding Gates, as noted above, he believed the calls to the father were permissible because the father was the prospect's coach. Senderoff also thought additional calls to the Morris twins were allowed as there were two prospects being recruited.⁴⁶ Despite these explanations, the University reported the calls as part of the violation.

Meyer stated that he did not list his home phone on the monthly forms reporting the phones he used for recruiting purposes because he did not yet have a home phone when he initially completed the form and did not include his home phone on later forms because he thought the forms were only a formality and thus did not change what he previously reported. Meyer reported that after initially tracking his recruiting calls in a notebook before submitting the information for inclusion in Cybersports, he began relying on the call log in his cell phone to report his recruiting phone calls for monitoring purposes after he started making more recruiting calls while traveling.

⁴⁶ In fact, under NCAA rules, the limits on the number of phone calls do apply to each brother individually and allow coaches to call each brother during the same time period. However, several of the calls were to the twins' mother and Senderoff did not record whether the call concerned one or both brothers. In a January 23, 2008 interview, the twins' mother stated that she thought Senderoff had discussed both brothers when he called her. The NCAA Membership Services Staff recently provided an interpretation that was consistent with the University's approach to err on the side of caution and count each call with the mother as a countable call for both brothers if both prospects were discussed. (See Attachment 8 for the March 13 email forwarding the interpretation.)

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

As detailed above, at least four, if not five, of the six NCAA violation calls involving Meyer were determined to be in violation because of the University's strict approach to count all "message calls" three minutes or longer as a countable call.⁴⁷ Further, the other impermissible call involving Meyer had extenuating circumstances. Meyer called a prospect's (Scott Martin's) home for nine minutes; however, he was on hold the majority of this time waiting for other family members to ask the prospect to come to the phone. He reported that, while waiting, he chatted briefly with the young man's mother before she told the coach the prospect was not home. Meyer ended the call and then called the prospect the next day, believing that the first call should not count.

As set forth above, the University believes this violation should be classified as secondary. However, in the event that the Committee disagrees with the University and determines that the violation is major, the University does not believe that Meyer should be named in any finding made by the Committee or in any individual records files ("pink files") maintained at the NCAA office. The University is not contesting that the phone calls involving Meyer occurred or that the University should be held accountable for his impermissible calls. However, Meyer made only six of the 42 impermissible calls and there are extenuating circumstances surrounding these calls, as noted above. Thus, the University believes, given the limited number of impermissible phone calls and the mitigating circumstances, Meyer's involvement should not be treated as a stand-alone major violation.

⁴⁷ See Page No. 2-7 for the discussion of the calls to Hummel.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Nonetheless, Indiana University remains troubled by the disregard for University policies and procedures, particularly as the assistant coaches' failure to notify the compliance office about the use of the home phones for recruiting, the failure to report the calls made from home and the failure to report all recruiting phone numbers prevented the compliance office from effectively monitoring these calls and identifying these issues earlier. Out of the 42 impermissible phone calls detailed in this allegation, only one phone call (to Demetri McCamey or "McCamey") and five "message calls" to Hummel were recorded in the University's recruiting database "Cybersports". Although the compliance office could have identified one of the violation calls to McCamey, it would not have known about the other two violation calls to him as they were not recorded in Cybersports. Further, since short voicemail messages are not considered countable calls in most circumstances, it is understandable that calls to Hummel with a message notation might not be questioned by the compliance staff, particularly given the thousands of calls reviewed. Regardless, even if these isolated calls had been identified, it would not have deterred the continuation of or resulted in earlier detection of the calls that were not recorded in Cybersports, particularly those that were made from the assistant coaches' home phones.

Procedures for the Monitoring of Recruiting Phone Calls. In addition, the University is disappointed the coaches did not show more attention to the policies and procedures for recording and monitoring recruiting phone calls and did not comply with the information provided during numerous rules education sessions. During the period of the sanctions, the University focused its monitoring of men's basketball recruiting records on phone calls and particularly the assistant coaches' phone logs and actual phone records. As set forth in the October 3 report, the compliance protocol for monitoring phone records was as follows:

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

- Coaches were required to keep handwritten logs of all countable recruiting calls on a weekly basis. [Note: Sampson did not have any phone logs as he was prohibited from making any recruiting phone calls.] These phone logs included a column for the coaches to indicate for each call the phone that was used. (See Attachment 17 for sample handwritten logs.)
- Each Monday morning, the director of basketball operations collected these handwritten logs and gave them to the men's basketball administrative assistant.
- The men's basketball administrative assistant entered each coach's countable recruiting phone calls into Cybersports after receiving the handwritten logs.
- A report was produced weekly by the men's basketball administrative assistant from the Cybersports data. (See Attachment F of the October 3 report for sample Cybersports recruiting phone call reports and Attachment 18 for a sample page from a report of recruiting phone calls generated by Cybersports.)
- The Cybersports reports as well as the coaches' handwritten logs were then forwarded to the compliance office on a weekly basis.
- The director of compliance checked the Cybersports reports and handwritten logs each week for compliance with NCAA regulations as well as the sanctions adopted and imposed by the Committee on Infractions.
- In addition, each member of the coaching staff signed monthly statements indicating what phone(s) (i.e., cell, office, home or other) he had utilized for recruiting purposes.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

(See Attachment G of the October 3 report for the monthly signed statements of phone usage for recruiting purposes from Sampson, the three assistant coaches and the director of basketball operations.)

- Each month, the director of compliance was then responsible for cross-referencing the calls listed on the phone bills for all phone lines the coaches reported using for recruiting with the Cybersports records to assure compliance with NCAA rules, as well as the sanctions. This review included checking phone records for phone calls to any known recruiting number. Initially, this entailed receiving electronic copies of office bills directly from the athletics business office each month, but having to collect hard copies of cell phone bills from the assistant coaches. However, by mid-fall 2006 the system was improved whereby the director of compliance was directly receiving electronic copies of both cell and office phone bills for all men's basketball coaches each month.
- Since Sampson was not permitted to make any recruiting phone calls and did not submit recruiting logs, the director of compliance was responsible for cross-referencing Sampson's office and cell phone lines against the recruiting information in the Cybersports database to ensure that no recruiting calls were made (regardless of whether they were countable or non-countable calls).

As should be expected, the record-checking system benefited from regular enhancements throughout the year as the director of compliance evaluated the most thorough yet efficient manner in which to conduct these checks. This culminated in the comprehensive protocol used to conduct the year-end phone record checks in May and June 2007. (See Attachment H of the

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

October 3 report for documentation of the evolution of this comprehensive protocol for monitoring men's basketball recruiting activities, focusing on phone calls. Sample e-mails concerning the review of phone records are also included.)

Further, information regarding the use of Cybersports for recruitment monitoring and the procedures for monitoring phone calls was regularly reviewed during compliance meetings with the men's basketball staff. Beginning as early as April 25, 2006, the compliance staff met with the director of basketball operations, Green, who was responsible for coordinating the collection of recruiting information from the coaches, to specifically discuss the process for tracking recruiting phone calls. Regular meetings continued, including the required weekly meetings with the director of basketball operations and other meetings with him and the assistant coaches as needed. At the weekly meetings, some of which were also attended by the assistant coaches, the compliance staff reviewed the specific penalties imposed and covered information regarding the use of handwritten phone logs and Cybersports to monitor phone calls. (See the October 3 report, Attachment 1, pp. 8-12 for a listing of the formal weekly meetings; Attachment D of the October 3 report for the agendas and materials reviewed; and Attachment 10 for the compliance staff's notes regarding these and other meetings with the coaching staff.) In addition, on several occasions, including May 25 and June 16, 2006, the potential use of home phones for recruiting was discussed with the director of basketball operations, including confirmation by the compliance staff on May 30 that home phone records would be required to be submitted if a home phone was used for recruiting. (See Attachment 10.) Moreover, the University reviewed the details of the Committee's penalties at a May 30, 2006 meeting with the men's basketball coaching staff, which resulted in the June 12, 2006 clarification from the

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Committee on Infractions in response to questions raised by the coaches during the meeting. (See Attachment 3.) Further, Green reported in his December 13, 2007 interview with the NCAA and attended by the University that the coaches were provided enough information to keep them from making a major mistake.

In light of the actions of the men's basketball coaches and the calls that were contrary to NCAA rules and to the University's monitoring procedures, the University imposed significant corrective actions and sanctions, as set forth in Section D later in this response. These penalties were designed to directly impact the coaches involved as well as the men's basketball program as a whole. In fact when Senderoff resigned at the end of October, the University transferred his penalty to another assistant coach and functioned without a director of basketball operations for the remainder of the season. The University believes the corrective actions and penalties send a strong message that complete commitment to NCAA compliance is expected and required of all coaches and staff. It should be noted that in evaluating the extent of the self-imposed sanctions, the University more than compensated for the total number of impermissible phone calls.

As a result of the continued review of issues related to the impermissible phone calls, the University has discovered a few inaccuracies that do not alter the overall context or substance of the information reported. Thus, included in this response there are ten additional phone calls that violated NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, as compared to the information reported October 25. This number also accounts for the calls that were incorrectly listed as contrary to NCAA rules in the October 25 report.

Following is a summary of these modifications regarding only the NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 violations, which are included in the information and attachments presented in this response:

- In reviewing the number of phone calls Senderoff made from home it was noticed that calls to an unidentified number had not been included in the October reports and a subsequent call to this number confirmed that it belonged to the mother of prospective student-athlete Phillip Jurick (“Jurick”). Accordingly, there were three additional calls regarding Jurick that were contrary to the sanctions and that violated NCAA rules.
 - In reviewing phone records regarding Robbie Hummel prior to the NCAA Enforcement Staff’s interview with him, it was noticed that, although all of his calls in Cybersports were recorded as “left message”, several of those calls were three or more minutes in duration. As a result of the University’s decision to count any call three minutes or greater as a countable call – even if it was recorded as a message – six impermissible calls were identified, five of which were NCAA violations.
 - Additional impermissible calls for Ayodele Coker (“Coker”) were discovered after Coker confirmed during his December 7, 2007 interview that Senderoff had called his uncle. Coker provided that phone number, which had not been previously reported by the coaches as a recruiting number. Two of the additional impermissible calls were also NCAA violations.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

As outlined above and set forth in the October 3 report to the Committee, Indiana University conducted weekly meetings with the men's basketball staff, consistent with its self-imposed sanction. These were generally standing meetings with the director of basketball operations, who was required to attend. Interim meetings were held as needed due to time-sensitive materials. The men's basketball coaches often attended these meetings as well, as noted below and in the October 3 report. In addition, during the preparation of this response, the University located in the files of the former director of compliance a record of his notes from these standing meetings, as well as other meetings that occurred. (For the full list of compliance rules education meetings with the men's basketball staff during the time period of the sanctions and the information covered see the October 3 report, pp. 8-12, Attachment 1 for a summary listing of the formal meetings; Attachment D of the October 3 report for agendas and other materials covered during these meetings; and Attachment 10 for the compliance staff's notes of these and other meetings with the basketball staff.)

As requested, the following list includes the rules education issues reviewed during these compliance meetings that specifically involved telephone contacts, beyond the customary and regular review of the Committee's sanctions and collection of forms, which occurred during the weekly meetings:

1. Meeting with Director of Basketball Operations to Discuss Recruiting Methodology and Issues from the Oklahoma Infractions Case (4/25/06). Attendees: Jerry Green (then director of basketball operations) and Christian Pope (then director of compliance).
2. Recruiting Methodology and Cybersports Meeting to Spot Check Progress in Using the Software (5/4/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
3. Cybersports Training Meeting (5/9/06). Attendees: Green, McCallum, Meyer, Senderoff, BJ McElroy and Beth McLaughlin (basketball staff responsible for entering information into Cybersports), and Pope.
4. Review of Phone Logs, Phone Usage (including Home Phones, as well as Cell and Office Phones), and the Need for Contact Numbers for All Prospects (5/25/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
5. Men's Basketball Administration and Compliance Staff Meeting to Review the Penalties (05/30/06). Attendees: Sampson; Green, Meyer, McCallum, Senderoff, Rick Greenspan (athletics director), Bruce Jaffee (faculty representative), Grace Calhoun (associate athletics director), Mary Ann Rohleder (associate athletics director), Tim Fitzpatrick (associate athletics director and liaison for the director of athletics to men's basketball), Jennifer Brinegar (assistant athletics director – compliance), and Pope. [NOTE: This was the meeting that precipitated the June 12, 2006 clarification from the Committee on Infractions in response to questions from the men's basketball staff, including one regarding three-way calls.]

6. Procedures for Data Collection and Compliance Statements regarding Recruiting Use of Home or Cell Phones (5/31/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
7. Review of Clarification from the Committee on Infractions (6/13/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
8. Review of Items Needed for Recruitment Tracking (6/16/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
9. Contact Restrictions and Recruiting Coordination Functions (07/18/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
10. Fall Contact Recruiting Rules Reminder and Telephone Call Rules Reminder (08/08/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
11. Fall Recruiting Period Reminders (8/29/06). Attendees: Sampson, Meyer, McCallum, Senderoff, Green, Brinegar, Pope.
12. Review of Accuracy of Entries Into Cybersports (9/20/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
13. Discussion of Communications from Director of Basketball Operations to Basketball Coaches (9/27/06). Attendees: Green, Calhoun, Brinegar and Pope.
14. Telephone Calls to Prospects During Competition-Related Activities Bylaw 13.1.7.2 (01/04/07). Attendees: Green and Pope.
15. Phone Calls and the Lifting of Sampson's Off-Campus and Calling Restrictions as of May 25, 2007 (05/17/07). Attendees: Meyer, Brinegar and Ian Rickerby (current director of compliance).

The men's basketball coaches also attended a Men's Basketball New Coaches Compliance Meeting on April 3, 2006. Those in attendance were: Sampson, Green, Meyer, McCallum, Brinegar and Pope. The three assistant coaches (Meyer, McCallum and Senderoff) also were present for the April 11, 2006 men's basketball spring compliance meeting with all of the returning student-athletes.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

In addition to the men's basketball-specific meetings, the men's basketball staff attended the monthly compliance meetings (for all coaches and sport-specific staff), received the monthly compliance newsletters that covered current and relevant NCAA and Big Ten rules and reminders, and received the compliance questions of the week that were sent out via email – again with timely and relevant information regarding NCAA rules. (See Attachment K of the October 3 report for sample monthly compliance newsletters and questions of the week.) In total, Indiana University believes that the men's basketball staff received a significant rules education opportunity specific to coaches approximately twice each week during the period of the sanctions.

Further, the coaches were required to attend all meetings that the compliance staff held with the men's basketball student-athletes. These meetings occurred in August, November, January, and April of the 2006-07 academic year. The first meeting covered all of the information in the 15-page NCAA Summary of Rules for Student-Athletes. The second meeting was specific to the sport of men's basketball and covered recruiting rules and expectations, publicity rules, agents, extra benefits and gambling. The January meeting contained a quiz on the rules education provided to date that academic year, both in team meetings and in the monthly Student-Athlete Newsletter. The April meeting covered more men's basketball specific issues, such as outside competition and other summer activities, employment, and again a review of agents, extra benefits and gambling.

d. An overview of the institution's compliance procedures for monitoring telephone calls to prospective student-athletes during the relevant time period of March 2006 through July 2007.

See the response to the Allegations above.

In addition to the monitoring of recruiting calls set forth above in the response to the Allegation, the University took significant steps to also monitor the off-campus recruiting activities of the assistant coaches and the off-campus appearances and speaking engagements by Sampson, as detailed in the October 3 report, Page Nos. 7-8, Attachment 1. In particular, the approval process, review of and monitoring of Sampson's off-campus public appearances and speaking engagements required regular and careful attention and accommodations to ensure that no prospects would be in attendance. (See Attachment I of the October 3 report for a chart summarizing all of Sampson's off-campus speaking engagements that occurred during the period of the sanctions, as well as samples of the compliance monitoring efforts that took place leading up to, during and after each event to ensure compliance with the sanction.) Throughout the year, the compliance staff also handled requests for clarification from the men's basketball coaching staff regarding the application of the sanctions and other NCAA rules. (See Attachment J of the October 3 report for a sampling of written reminders, clarifications and interpretations

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

3. [NCAA Bylaws 10.1, 10.1-(d) and 11.1.2.1]

It is alleged that (a) during the period of time beginning May 25, 2006, through May 24, 2007, Kelvin Sampson, head men's basketball coach, acted contrary to the NCAA principles of ethical conduct when he knowingly violated recruiting restrictions imposed by the NCAA Committee on Infractions, as penalty for Sampson's prior involvement in violations of NCAA legislation; (b) Sampson failed to deport himself in accordance with the generally recognized high standard of honesty normally associated with the conduct and administration of intercollegiate athletics by providing the institution and the NCAA enforcement staff false or misleading information; and (c) Sampson failed to promote an atmosphere for compliance within the men's basketball program and failed to monitor the activities regarding compliance of one or more of his assistant coaches. Specifically:

- a. Concerning Sampson's knowing violation of recruiting restrictions, on a number of occasions from May 25, 2006, through May 24, 2007, Sampson was present while a member of his coaching staff made telephone calls related to recruiting. Sampson was prohibited from doing so pursuant to penalty L, NCAA Infractions Report No. 250; as adopted by and transferred to Indiana University, Bloomington. [NCAA Bylaw 10.1]

Specifically, on a number of occasions from May 31, 2006, through May 1, 2007, Sampson knowingly participated in three-way telephone conversations between himself, then assistant men's basketball coach Rob Senderoff, and prospective student-athletes Yancey Gates and William Buford Jr. Sampson also participated in three-way conversations between himself, Senderoff, and then prospective student-athletes DeJuan Blair, Demetri McCamey and [REDACTED]. Furthermore, Sampson participated in three-way conversations between himself, Senderoff, and Yvonne Jackson, mother of prospective student-athlete Devin Ebanks. Sampson participated in the three-way telephone conversations despite being instructed not to do so by the institution's compliance staff and despite receiving specific clarification from the Committee on Infractions that three-way calls were prohibited.

Additionally, on a number of occasions from May 25, 2006, through May 24, 2007, Sampson participated in recruiting calls made by Senderoff in the following ways:

- (1) Sampson participated by speakerphone in recruiting calls placed by Senderoff to [REDACTED] and prospective student-athlete Marcus Morris.
- (2) Sampson was present during one or more recruiting calls placed by Senderoff to prospective student-athlete Kenny Frease. Senderoff then handed Sampson the phone and allowed Sampson to speak with Frease.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

- (3) While Senderoff was in the presence of then prospective student-athletes Blair, Ayodele Coker and [REDACTED], the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s) during off-campus recruiting contacts; Senderoff called Sampson and allowed Sampson to speak with the prospective-student athlete, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s).
- (4) Sampson spoke with Erica Mackey, mother of prospective student-athlete Jonathan "Bud" Mackey, via Senderoff's cell phone, while Senderoff was in the presence of Ms. Mackey.

Concerning Sampson's provision of false or misleading information, Sampson repeatedly provided the institution and the enforcement staff false information regarding his involvement in violations of the Committee on Infractions' recruiting restrictions. [NCAA Bylaw 10.1-(d)]

Specifically, during a November 13, 2007, interview with the institution and the enforcement staff, Sampson stated that at the time of the violations, he was unaware that Senderoff was using three-way calls to allow him to speak with prospective-student athletes the prospective student-athlete's parents, legal guardian(s) or coaches. Sampson further stated that he did not engage in three-way conversations with prospective student-athletes or their relatives during the period of recruiting restrictions. Additionally, Sampson stated that there was never an instance when he was on the phone with a prospective student-athlete when Senderoff also spoke. Finally, Sampson stated that he never spoke with Buford.

In fact, Sampson engaged in three-way telephone conversations with multiple prospective student-athletes, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s), as set forth in this allegation, including a June 19, 2006, three-way telephone conversation between himself, Senderoff and Buford. In addition, Sampson participated in speakerphone conversations involving himself, Senderoff and prospective student-athletes, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s), as set forth in this allegation.

- b. Concerning Sampson's failure to promote an atmosphere for compliance within the men's basketball program and failure to monitor the activities regarding compliance of one or more of his assistant coaches, Sampson (1) failed to promote compliance with the recruiting restrictions imposed by the Committee on Infractions, (2) failed to promote compliance with applicable NCAA legislation concerning telephone recruiting calls and (3) failed to monitor the documentation of recruiting calls by the men's basketball staff required to ensure compliance. [NCAA Bylaw 11.1.2.1]

Specifically, Sampson failed in these three regards, as evidenced by the facts and circumstances set forth in Allegation Nos. 1 and 2 of this notice.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Please indicate whether this information is substantially correct and whether the institution agrees that a violation of NCAA legislation occurred. Submit evidence to support your response.

Overview of the University's Position

The University agrees the information set forth in Allegation No. 3 is substantially correct, and a violation of NCAA legislation has occurred. As with most allegations of unethical conduct, the review of this allegation involves an assessment of credibility as well as documentary evidence. As detailed below, although the University was unable to confirm each aspect of the allegation with phone records or other concrete evidence, such corroboration was available in a number of instances. Further, the testimony of approximately ten individuals with detailed and specific recollections of recruiting calls with Sampson that were initiated by Senderoff and that included statements by Senderoff that would have alerted Sampson to his involvement in the calls, taken in totality, is difficult, if not impossible, to completely refute. It is recognized that some of this testimony will likely be challenged. Nonetheless, the University has concluded that, on balance, there is sufficient information and evidence to support the majority of the specific information alleged, as well as the general charges that Sampson:

- Knowingly violated recruiting restrictions imposed by the Committee on Infractions;
- Provided the University and NCAA Enforcement Staff with false or misleading information; and
- Failed to promote an atmosphere of compliance within the men's basketball program and failed to monitor the compliance activities of one or more of his assistant coaches.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

The University notes that most of the information, testimony and evidence supporting this allegation was developed as a result of the Enforcement Staff's ability to schedule and conduct a significant number of follow-up interviews with individuals mentioned in Indiana University's October 3 and 25 reports to the NCAA. Although Indiana University attempted to and did conduct a few such interviews, its ability to arrange more interviews was hampered by the need to submit a timely report to the Committee after receiving an extension to the report that was originally due August 31, as well as the fact that a number of the individuals ultimately interviewed were enrolled at other NCAA institutions.⁴⁸ Prior to the submission of the October reports to the NCAA, the University had evaluated some of these issues that are the subject of this allegation but there was insufficient evidence at that time to conclude that Sampson had acted contrary to the principles of ethical conduct or the responsibility of a head coach.

Review of Sampson's Knowing Violation of Recruiting Sanctions
(Allegation No. 3-a)

The University incorporates all of the relevant information included in the response to Allegation No. 1.

The University agrees, based on the totality of the information, evidence and testimony available, it is reasonable to conclude that, on a number of occasions Sampson knowingly violated Penalty L of Infractions Report No. 250, which prevented him from being present when ⁴⁸ Due to the need to keep the investigation confidential, the University did not contact other NCAA institutions other than one university where a prospect who had received multiple three-way calls was enrolled as a student-athlete. After an initial exchange of voicemails with that institution, an interview was unable to be arranged due to the University's tight timetable for the submission of the report.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

his assistant coaches made recruiting calls from May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007. These violations included knowing participation in at least some of the impermissible three-way recruiting calls, speakerphone calls, and “phone passing” calls initiated by Senderoff, which were referenced in Allegation No. 1-a and the University’s response above.

Knowing Participation in Impermissible Three-Way Recruiting Calls. Sampson participated in 10 (or 12) to 18 impermissible three-way phone calls, as described above in the response to Allegation No. 1 and as noted in Attachments M and N of the October 3 report and in Attachment 11. He admitted to knowing participation in at least one of these three-way calls and the University has determined it is reasonable to conclude that he knew at least three other calls were three-way calls that had been initiated by Senderoff.

October 4, 2006 Three-Way Call with DeJuan Blair. On a number of occasions, Sampson admitted to knowing that Senderoff had connected him into a three-way phone call with Blair. In his August 23, 2007, interview with Indiana University, Sampson recalled that Senderoff had connected him into the October 4, 2006 three-way call with Blair because earlier that day Blair had cancelled his scheduled official visit to the University and Senderoff called stating that Sampson needed to speak with Blair. (See Attachments M and N of the October 3 report and Attachment 11 for information regarding this three-way call.) Moreover, during the October 30, 2007 recorded telephonic press conference conducted by Indiana University regarding the reports submitted to the NCAA, Sampson commented, “[o]ther than one call, I was not aware that it was a three way call.” In response to a follow-up question regarding “what happened with the one call that [he was] aware was a three way call”, Sampson explained:

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

That was a situation where a kid had committed to come on campus for a visit. One of our assistant coaches, Coach Senderoff, was doing a home visit, some things were said . . . a kid was [canceling] his visit, the kid tried to call, couldn't get in touch, and the call was transferred and I tried to clear some matters for him.

(See Attachment 6 for a transcript of the press conference at p. 5.) It should also be noted, in regards to Sampson's comment that Blair had been trying to reach him, in his December 11, 2007 interview with the NCAA, Blair stated he never called Sampson. Further, Senderoff noted in his January 31, 2008 interview, he had trouble getting Blair to call Sampson directly (January 31, 2008 Senderoff Interview Transcript at p. 18, located on NCAA custodial website).

In addition, both Senderoff and Blair corroborated the circumstances surrounding this call. Although a bit uncertain as to whether this call occurred via three-way technology or a speakerphone, in his December 11, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Blair was sure that both Senderoff and Sampson were on the phone when he talked to Sampson after he had cancelled his official visit. When questioned as to how certain he was that both coaches were involved on the phone at the same time, whether it was by speakerphone or a three-way call, Blair responded "They both were on the phone. I'm, they was both on the phone talking, we all was on the phone." (December 11, 2007 Blair Interview Transcript at p. 14, located on NCAA custodial website.) In his interviews, Senderoff recalled the circumstances of the call and admitted to placing the three-way call to Sampson but consistently denied, or stated he did not recall, any actual three-way conversation.

Given this testimony and Sampson's own statements – despite his subsequent statement in his November 13, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, that he did not know

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

that Senderoff had initiated any three-way calls, including the one to Blair – the University has concluded Sampson knew that Senderoff initiated the October 4, 2006 three-way phone call with Blair.

May 1, 2007 Three-Way Call with Yvonne Jackson. In addition, on two separate occasions, Jackson, the mother of Devin Ebanks, reported that both Senderoff and Sampson participated in the conversation at the same time during the May 1, 2007 three-way call. (See Attachment N of the October 3 report and Attachment 11 for information regarding this three-way call.) In her conversation with the University during the late summer of 2007, Jackson was specific as to her recollection that Senderoff was involved throughout the call as opposed to speaking only during the first portion and then remaining silent when Sampson was on the phone. Similarly, in her November 27, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Jackson corroborated the information she had reported to the University, provided details about their conversation that accounted for the length of the call, and stated she was very certain that a three-way conversation had occurred. She also recalled that Senderoff let Sampson know that she was on the phone and that they all said good-bye at the end of the call. In their interviews, Sampson and Senderoff reported they did not recall an actual three-way conversation with Jackson. Sampson conceded she had no reason to not tell the truth but noted she might be confused by Senderoff's earlier participation in the call. Senderoff stated in his August 23, 2007 interview with the University that he would not refute her recollection. In light of Jackson's detailed and consistent testimony and the fact that at the time of these statements, her son was still planning to attend Indiana University (he has since been released from his NLI), the University has determined that it is reasonable to conclude an actual three-way conversation

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

occurred and that Sampson thus knew Senderoff had initiated the call, contrary to the Committee's penalty.

June 19, 2006 Three-Way Call with Wil Buford. In his January 29, 2008 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by Indiana University, Wil Buford ("Buford") reported that he recalled a phone call on his coach's (Keith McClure's) phone while they were driving in the car. Buford stated the assistant coach (Senderoff), whose name he did not remember, had called his coach's phone and then the assistant coach called the head coach (Sampson) and let him know that Buford was on the phone. Buford stated he was "positive" that the assistant coach had introduced him to Sampson, although he did not recall the two coaches saying anything else to each other. Further, Buford's recollection that the call lasted five to ten minutes matches the actual length of the ten-minute three-way call to McClure's phone on June 19, 2006. (See Attachments M and N of the October 3 report and Attachment 11 for information regarding this three-way call.) The fact that Buford offered McClure's name, when he was asked if the coach he was with was his high school coach (Leroy Bates), adds credibility to his statements and provides further evidence that this call was the June 19 three-way call on McClure's phone. Buford's statement provides context for why, when questioned by the University, McClure did not recall ever speaking to Sampson. When Buford's recollection of the call was shared with Senderoff during his January 31, 2008 interview with the NCAA, Senderoff responded that he guessed that is what happened, although he did not remember. He added he would not say that Buford was lying. Sampson reported in several interviews, including his November 14, 2007 and January 29, 2008 interviews with the NCAA and attended by the University, that he never talked to Buford. During his January interview, when told about

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Buford's account of the call, Sampson stated he did not recall any three-way conversations. Given the specificity of Buford's recollection and the fact that his account is supported by the phone records, the University determined that it is reasonable to conclude a three-way phone call with Buford occurred and that Sampson was aware of Senderoff's involvement in the call.

February 7, 2007 Three-Way Call with Yancy Gates. In his January 9, 2008 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by Indiana University, Yancy Gates ("Gates") recalled that both Sampson and Senderoff had participated in the three-way call at the same time. Gates explained Senderoff called him and they had a conversation, for about five to ten minutes, before Senderoff added Sampson to the call. Telephone records support this recollection as Senderoff connected Sampson into the call 16 minutes after he phoned Gates. Gates stated he heard the line click when Sampson was added and thought Senderoff introduced him to Sampson by stating "Coach Sampson Yancy's on the line" (Gates' January 9, 2008 Gates Interview Transcript at p. 9, located on NCAA custodial website). Gates then provided a fairly detailed account of the three-way conversation that ensued, noting that Senderoff would chime in with specifics of Gates's "game" when Sampson made a general comment. Sampson reiterated in his January 29, 2008 interview, his prior statements that he hardly recalled any conversation with Gates and did not remember any three-way conversation. When questioned about Gates's account of the call, Senderoff responded during his January 31, 2008 interview with the NCAA that he did not remember that, but he would not say it did not happen or that Gates was wrong. The University has determined that it is reasonable to conclude Sampson would have been aware of Senderoff's involvement in the three-way call, given the specificity of Gates's recollection of the conversation and the limited number of times Gates spoke to Sampson on the phone.⁴⁹

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Other Information Supporting Sampson's Knowing Involvement in Impermissible Three-Way Calls. In addition to these four calls that the University has determined Sampson knew were impermissible, there are at least two other calls where some, if not conclusive, evidence exists that Sampson knowingly participated in an impermissible three-way recruiting call. During the University's investigation, [REDACTED], a current student-athlete at Indiana University, reported that Senderoff was involved in the conversation with Sampson. (See Attachments M and N of the October 3 report and Attachment 11 for information on the January 29, 2007 and April 5, 2007 three-way calls with [REDACTED].) The University was careful to clarify that [REDACTED] recalled both coaches in the conversation at the same time, rather than Senderoff speaking only during part of the call and then remaining silent when Sampson was on the line. However, because the University was not aware at that time of several other instances when Senderoff would put Sampson on the phone with [REDACTED], as reported by [REDACTED] in his January 29, 2008 interview conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by the University, and only knew about the three-way call, his responses were interpreted as being related to the three-way call, when he might have been recalling the speakerphone conversation referenced below. Thus, the University believes that, when [REDACTED] did not recall during his January 29 interview a three-way call with Sampson and Senderoff and did not remember the information he had previously reported about a three-way conversation ⁴⁹ It should be noted that Gates recalled the phone call occurring in November (versus February) and in the afternoon (versus 9:28pm).

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

occurring during a three-way call, it is reasonable to conclude ██████ was consistent in his recollection regarding a three-way conversation occurring, because the three-way conversation he recalled was apparently not during the three-way call. Rather, it occurred during the speakerphone conversation discussed below. It is also possible that the various conversations have become intermingled in ██████'s memory. Nonetheless, the University notes ██████'s initial recollection was closer to the occurrence of the phone calls and thus a presumably fresher memory. Neither Senderoff nor Sampson recalled a three-way conversation with ██████.

Similarly, Demetri McCamey ("McCamey") reported in his December 19, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff detailed and specific information regarding two phone calls that involved both Sampson and Senderoff, although these specifics tended to get jumbled together as he explained the calls in that interview. In an April 28 follow-up phone interview with counsel for Sampson, the NCAA Enforcement Staff and counsel for the University, McCamey clarified the circumstances of the two calls. McCamey reported that he placed a phone call to Senderoff who then patched Sampson into a three-way call and that this phone call occurred while he was at home, a couple of weeks after the King James tournament and prior to his unofficial visit. McCamey recalled Senderoff mentioning to Sampson that he (Demetri) was on the phone and that there was a "regular three-way conversation" about the type of food he likes to eat, Sampson having just built his house and the barbecue pit that Sampson was going to have in his backyard. McCamey stated he was certain Sampson was talking to Senderoff while he was on the phone. McCamey also described a second call that involved both Sampson and Senderoff and occurred the day of his unofficial visit (June 15, 2006). He recalled calling Senderoff's cell phone to say he was on his way and that Senderoff passed the phone to

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Sampson who appeared to be in the office.⁵⁰ In his January 31, 2008 interview with the NCAA, Senderoff stated he did not remember a three-way call with McCamey, but if that is how McCamey remembered it, he was not going to say he was wrong. Sampson, in his January 29, 2008 interview, recalled talking to McCamey with his AAU coach but did not remember any three-way calls involving Senderoff.

Although some of the information reported by McCamey is not completely consistent with other information, he provided specifics, including when the phone calls occurred, the fact the three-way call happened following his participation in a tournament (King James Classic, which was April 28-30, 2006) and prior to his unofficial visit (June 15), the involvement of Senderoff and Sampson in the conversations, and the substance of the conversations. He appeared to genuinely recall these conversations. It is possible one of these phone calls was the unidentified seven-minute three-way phone call that occurred on May 31, 2006 (see Attachment M of the October 3 report), particularly since the night before at 11:23 p.m. and 11:24 p.m., Senderoff attempted to reach McCamey, placing two one-minute calls to his home and cell phone numbers, respectively. It is also possible the calls involved phone passing or the use of a speakerphone rather than the use of three-way technology. In short, although the University is unable to conclusively prove that the calls described by McCamey occurred, it believes the detailed nature of his testimony regarding Senderoff's and Sampson's joint participation in two conversations, plus the pattern of calls noted in the response to this allegation, provide support that some type of impermissible recruiting call occurred.

⁵⁰ McCamey's unofficial visit was recorded as having occurred on June 15, 2006. On that date, there were no phone calls from Senderoff to McCamey. The only incoming calls to Senderoff's cell phone during the day ranged from one to three minutes. There were two calls in the evening that lasted for four and seven minutes, but would have been presumably after the unofficial visit.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Sampson's Knowledge that His Involvement in Three-Way Recruiting Calls was Impermissible. There is no that dispute the three-way recruiting calls initiated by Senderoff and involving Sampson were impermissible under Penalty L of Infractions Report No. 250 and that the coaches knew these calls would be impermissible. As a result of questions and issues raised during a May 30, 2006 meeting between the men's basketball coaching staff and the compliance staff, the University sought and obtained a number of clarifications from the Committee regarding the application of the sanctions. In response to a question asked after the compliance staff informed the coaches that connecting Sampson by three-way technology into a recruiting call placed by an assistant coach would not be permissible, one of these requests specifically related to the permissibility of three-way recruiting phone calls and whether an assistant coach could add Sampson to a call that was initiated by a high school or AAU coach who then included a prospect via three-way call. The response from the Committee, which was received on June 12 and communicated to the coaching staff on June 13 by email and memorandum, was that such a call would not be permissible. (See Attachments 3 and 4.)

The compliance staff has reported that the coaches were told at the conclusion of the May 30 meeting to assume incoming three-way recruiting calls involving Sampson were impermissible and therefore should not be made, pending a response from the Committee. Nonetheless, on May 31, the day after the meeting, an incoming three-way phone call occurred when Senderoff received an unknown call and connected Sampson to the call. As noted above, it is possible this call involved McCamey. Regardless of who the call was from, it is troubling that this apparently impermissible call was not reported to the compliance office once the interpretation prohibiting incoming three-way calls involving Sampson was received from the Committee. More troubling, however, is the fact that the majority of the impermissible three-way calls occurred after the Committee's clarification was distributed on June 13, 2006.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

It is undisputed Sampson was aware, at least by June 13, 2006, that he could not participate in three-way phone recruiting calls involving his assistant coaches. In fact Sampson readily admitted in each of his interviews he knew he could not participate in three-way calls. For example, on July 16, 2007, in the first meeting with athletics department officials regarding the three-way calls, Sampson stated he would have told an assistant coach he was not able to accept a three-way call should they have attempted to connect him. Similarly, in his July 20, 2007 interview conducted by Ice Miller and attended by representatives of Indiana University, Sampson said he understood that an assistant coach could not patch him into a call with a prospect, coach or family member, even if that individual made the request. Further, in his November 13, 2007 interview conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by Indiana University, Sampson stated, "I knew I could not accept a three-way call. If I had thought that was a three-way call I would have hung up and reported it." (November 13, 2007 Sampson Interview Transcript at p. 30, located on NCAA custodial website.)

Nonetheless, despite these statements and his knowledge that his involvement in three-way recruiting calls with an assistant coach was impermissible, Sampson did not stop or report to compliance the one such call to Blair he admitted he knew Senderoff had initiated.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Knowing Participation in Impermissible Speakerphone Recruiting Calls (Allegation No. 3-a-(1)). The University has determined it is reasonable to conclude Sampson participated in two phone calls initiated by Senderoff in which he and Senderoff talked to a prospect via speakerphone.

██████████. As noted above, when ██████████ was interviewed on January 29, 2008, although he did not appear to recall a three-way phone call, he provided information regarding several phone calls where Senderoff arranged for Sampson to participate. In regards to this allegation, he recalled one phone call when Senderoff called him and told him he was on speakerphone with Sampson. ██████████ stated it was a conversation like they normally talked, where one coach talked, then the other. In his January 31, 2008 interview with the NCAA, Senderoff stated he did not remember using a speakerphone with anyone. Sampson, in his January 29, 2008 interview also did not recall any such conversation. The University finds the testimony from ██████████ regarding this phone call to be credible, particularly given that ██████████ was and is an Indiana University student-athlete with no reason to provide such information if it were not true. Thus, the University has concluded that Sampson was involved in a recruiting call with Senderoff and ██████████ and that he would have been aware this phone call was impermissible due to Senderoff's involvement, as evidenced by the conversation that ██████████ recalled.

Marcus Morris. In addition, it is reasonable to conclude Sampson participated by speakerphone in at least one other recruiting phone call initiated by Senderoff. This call involved Marcus Morris ("Marcus"), one of two twins Indiana University was recruiting, and the brother who generally handled more of the recruiting calls. In his January 23, 2008 interview conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by the University, Marcus reported there were approximately two or three times when he spoke to both Sampson and Senderoff at the same time by speakerphone. He recalled that when he mentioned to Senderoff that he wanted to speak with Sampson, Senderoff would state Sampson's right here and he wants to speak with you. Marcus reported that the coaches were both on speakerphone. When asked how certain he was that both coaches were on the phone at the same time, Marcus replied "100%". (January 23, 2008 Marcus Morris Interview Transcript at p. 8, located on NCAA custodial website.) When provided a description of Marcus's statement, during their respective January 29 and 31, 2008 interviews, neither Sampson nor Senderoff recalled such phone calls occurring.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Knowing Participation in Impermissible Phone Passing (Allegation No. 3-a-(2)). On one or two occasions, Sampson was present when Senderoff called a prospect through his coach and then handed the telephone to Sampson so he could speak with the prospect. In his January 14, 2008 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by Indiana University, Kenny Frease ("Frease") reported that on at least two occasions Senderoff phoned his high school coach and then had Sampson speak to Frease, who assumed Senderoff had handed the phone to Sampson since only about five seconds had elapsed. Frease and his coach, Rob Toth ("Toth"), were specific in their recollections of the phone calls (e.g., that to get better reception they had to change floors and one time Frease had to lay down) that they believed likely occurred in the fall of 2006, since Frease committed to another institution in March 2007. Frease noted that he spoke to one coach at a time, which is consistent with his understanding the phone was passed from Senderoff to Sampson. In a follow-up interview with Toth on April 16, 2008,

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

he confirmed that, although he never heard Sampson speak to Frease, he was present when Frease spoke to Sampson on these calls and that Frease told him when he got off the phone that he had spoken to Sampson. Toth stated Frease liked Sampson and he would not lie about speaking to him. It should also be noted, Senderoff's cell phone records contain several phone calls to Toth's phone number, which could be the calls in question, including an eight-minute call on October 23, 2006 at 7:04 p.m. and a 17-minute call on January 29, 2007 at 6:58 p.m., as well as a three-minute call on September, 11, 2006 at 11:43 a.m. When provided a description of Frease's and Toth's statements, during their respective January 29 and 31, 2008 interviews, neither Sampson nor Senderoff recalled such phone calls occurring. Given the specific information provided by Frease and Toth and the fact that Senderoff's cell phone records show several phone calls to Toth, it is reasonable to conclude that one or more of these calls occurred and that Sampson would have been aware Senderoff had initiated his involvement in the call.

Knowing Participation in Impermissible Recruiting Calls Placed by Senderoff (Allegation Nos. 3-a-(3) and (4)). Sampson participated in several impermissible phone calls in which Senderoff was present with a prospect or the relatives of a prospect, called Sampson, and then handed the phone to the prospect or mother so they could speak with Sampson. The University has determined, based on the information and testimony provided by the prospects and the mother of a prospect, some of which was corroborated by phone records or other independent evidence, it is reasonable to conclude that these calls occurred and that Sampson knew of Senderoff's involvement.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Ayodele Coker. In his December 7, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by the University, Ayodele Coker (“Coker”), when questioned about his recollection of any phone calls with Senderoff where he also spoke with Sampson (in an attempt to garner more information regarding the circumstances of an October 4, 2006 three-way call identified in the phone records), described an occasion when Senderoff visited him at his high school, called Sampson on his (Senderoff’s) cell phone, and handed the phone to Coker so he could speak to Sampson. Coker recalled that after class his coach told him the Indiana University coach (Senderoff) was coming to see him and that when Senderoff arrived, they talked and Senderoff mentioned he wanted Sampson to say hi. Coker was specific as to the details in that he remembered the call was during the day, after class, and Sampson mentioned he would cook chicken for Coker when he made his visit as he liked cooking chicken. Coker thought the call lasted approximately two or three minutes. A review of Senderoff’s cell phone records revealed several phone calls to Sampson’s cell phone or the basketball office on two days when Senderoff had an off-campus evaluation or contact with Coker. On September 18, 2006, a day where Senderoff reported an evaluation for Coker, there is a 2:01 p.m. four-minute call to the basketball office and a 5:30 p.m. three-minute call to Sampson’s cell. On September 27, 2006, a day listed with a contact for Coker, there is an 8:01 a.m. five-minute call and a nine-minute 5:25 p.m. call, both to Sampson’s cell phone. Any of these phone calls could have been the call Coker described, although the 8:01 a.m. call would appear to be too early. In his January 29, 2008 interview, Sampson did not recall an occasion when Senderoff was visiting Coker and called Sampson to let him speak to Coker. In his January 31, 2008 interview, Senderoff reported he thought Coker’s coach called Sampson from his office phone and Coker then spoke to Sampson. It is possible the call occurred as Senderoff recalled, but as incoming phone numbers are not listed on his cell phone records, it is impossible to confirm Senderoff's statement. Thus, in the absence of any evidence to the contrary and with evidence supporting that Senderoff placed the calls, and particularly since Senderoff appears to recall at least some call with Sampson when he was visiting Coker, the University has determined it is reasonable to conclude that this call occurred, consistent with Coker's recollection, and that Sampson would have known about Senderoff's presence and involvement in the recruiting call.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

██████████. In his January 29, 2008 interview, ██████████ also reported, in addition to the speakerphone call set forth above, that on approximately two separate occasions, when Senderoff visited him at school, Senderoff called Sampson and then allowed ██████████ to use his phone to speak to Sampson. ██████████ reported he and his roommate spoke to Sampson on the phone for approximately five to ten minutes. ██████████ recalled they were in the hallway of his junior college gym when the calls occurred. A review of Senderoff's cell phone records reveals several phone calls to Sampson on days in which he visited ██████████ at his junior college. On October 7, 2006, the date of an evaluation, there were three consecutive attempts to reach Sampson on his cell phone for one-minute each at 3:01 p.m. and then two attempts at 3:02 p.m., followed by a four-minute call to Sampson's home at 3:03 p.m. and a six-minute call, also to his home at 3:20 p.m. Either of these two latter calls could have been one of the phone calls described by ██████████. In addition, on October 18, 2006, the date of another evaluation, there was an eight-minute call to the men's basketball office at 1:24 p.m. from Senderoff's cell phone. Further, on April 5, 2007, the date of a contact, there was an eight-minute call at 2:53 p.m. and then two consecutive nine-minute and five-minute calls at 7:16 p.m. and 7:25 p.m., all to Sampson's cell phone. Any of these calls could have been the calls ██████████ describes,

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

particularly the ones in the afternoon. When Sampson was asked during his January 29, 2008, interview about calls with [REDACTED], he noted that Senderoff would visit the junior college to make sure his and his roommate's grades were in order and that Sampson would talk to [REDACTED] when his junior college coach called Sampson. Senderoff stated in his January 31, 2008 interview that, although he did not remember doing so, he might have been in the coach's office when the coach used the coach's phone to call Sampson. Given that it is not possible to confirm Senderoff's statement that the junior college coach might have placed the calls, as incoming phone numbers are not listed on his cell phone records, and given that Senderoff's cell phone records support [REDACTED]'s recollections that calls to Sampson occurred on the dates of two of Senderoff's visits to the junior college, the University believes it is reasonable to conclude these calls occurred and Sampson knew of Senderoff's involvement.

Erica Mackey. In a February 2, 2008 interview of her son, Jonathan "Bud" Mackey ("Bud"), which was conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Erica Mackey ("Erica") provided a very detailed account of an occasion where Senderoff was present and handed her his cell phone so she could speak to Sampson. Erica recalled that Senderoff was present for the Kentucky "sweet sixteen"/state basketball championship and that she ran into him after the championship game, which Bud's team won. Erica stated that as she was going down the steps from the area where the parents sit, Senderoff was coming up talking on his cell phone. She reported that Senderoff said congratulations and noted "coach" was on the phone and he wanted to congratulate her too. Erica said that Senderoff handed her his cell phone and she spoke with someone who she believed to be Sampson. She stated he said congratulations and "our boy did it. You know, I heard it was a great game. You know, blah, blah, blah." (February 2, 2008

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Mackey Interview Transcript at p. 19, located on NCAA custodial website.) She then handed the phone back to Senderoff and proceeded down to find Bud. The University confirmed the 2007 Kentucky Boys' Sweet Sixteen State Basketball Tournament was conducted on March 23 and 24, with the semifinals and final games played on March 24. From the bracket, the championship game, which was scheduled to begin at 8 p.m., would have likely ended sometime after 10 p.m. (See Attachment 19.) Senderoff's cell phone records for March 24 include a six-minute call to Sampson's home phone at 10:34 p.m. Further, Cybersports lists an evaluation for Mackey on March 24, 2007 by Senderoff in Lexington, KY. (See Attachment 20 for Cybersports printout.) Because this interview with Erica occurred after the last interviews with Sampson and Senderoff, they have not, as of the date of this response, had an opportunity to address her recollections. Nonetheless, given Erica's detailed recollection of this special evening in her son's basketball career, and the fact that there is independent evidence and phone records that confirm her account, the University has determined it is reasonable to believe that this call occurred and that Sampson would have known that Senderoff handed the phone to Erica.

DeJuan Blair. In his December 11, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Blair reported that during a home visit by Senderoff, he and his family (mother, father, brother, sister and grandmother) were gathered around the kitchen table and Senderoff called Sampson and placed his cell phone on speaker so that they could talk with Sampson. Blair recalled Sampson mentioning how good a player he was and thought the conversation lasted 45 minutes to one hour. Although Blair recalled this visit occurred after the basketball season, records indicate that Senderoff made a home visit on October 4, 2006 and that a 12-minute phone call was placed from his cell phone to Sampson's cell at 8:03 p.m. Further, in his January 31, 2008

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

interview when asked about any calls Senderoff might have made in the presence of a prospect where he used his cell phone's speaker function so Sampson could speak to the prospect, Senderoff reported that he was pretty sure he had called Sampson at the end of his home visit with Blair's family so they could ask Sampson some questions. Senderoff did not think this call was impermissible as he had done that before when he made home visits and the head coach was not present. In his January 29, 2008 interview, Sampson did not recall speaking to Blair or his family by speakerphone and noted he had so many calls that individual calls did not stand out for him. Although Blair's testimony had some inconsistencies when compared to the phone records, given Senderoff's admission that this call likely occurred, the University has concluded Sampson would have known that Senderoff had placed the call during this home visit. It should also be noted that it appears this call occurred just under two hours prior to an impermissible three-way call with Blair.

Discussion of Allegation Regarding Sampson's
Provision of False and Misleading Information
(Allegation No. 3-b)

The University incorporates all of the relevant information included in the response to Allegation No. 1 and Allegation No. 3-a. The University agrees Sampson provided false and misleading information to Indiana University as demonstrated by the numerous inconsistencies found in his five interviews in which the University participated and conducted, as well as his direct contradiction of credible statements by individuals who had no motivation to provide inaccurate information regarding the impermissible calls described in Allegation Nos. 1 and 3-a.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Specifically, Sampson stated on several occasions during his various interviews he never knowingly participated in any violation of NCAA sanctions. Further, on July 16, 2007, during his first meeting with University personnel regarding the three-way calls he stated he did not participate on three-way calls and all phone call activity due to recruitment was always initiated by the prospect, family or coach calling him. Then during his July 20, 2007 interview with the University, Sampson stated the only time he recalled three-way calling happening, he knew the prospect had been trying to reach him or a call had been dropped. In fact, little, if any corroboration regarding dropped calls was developed during the review of phone records or the interviews with various prospects. Further, only a few prospects indicated they called Sampson.

Following these earlier denials, in his August 23, 2007 interview with the University, Sampson admitted to recalling one three-way call with Blair where Senderoff connected the call. During an October 30, 2007 telephonic press conference he again admitted to remembering one three-way call. (See Attachment 6 for the transcript of the press conference.) However, in his November 13, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff and the University, just after commenting that he recalled talking to Blair, Sampson stated he did not engage in a three-way conversation and did not know Senderoff was connecting him into three-way calls:

MN⁵¹: It's my understanding that you said that you did not know that these were three-way phone calls?

KS: Absolutely.

MN: I wanna be specific about this. Is that, by that statement do you mean that you did not engage in a three-way phone conversation or you had no knowledge that Senderoff was connecting you to a prospect or connecting a prospect to you via a three-way call?

KS: Both. My first knowledge of the three-way call was in July, uh, when I went into, uh, Mr. Greenspan's office.

⁵¹ MN refers to Mark Neyland, NCAA assistant director of enforcement.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

(November 13, 2007 Sampson Interview Transcript, p. 29, located on NCAA custodial website.) These denials from his November 13 interview are not credible given the information and testimony outlined in the response to Allegation No. 3-a, they are also contrary to Sampson's own testimony.

Sampson also stated in the November 13 interview, that at no point would he have thought these were three-way calls because he knew he could not accept a three-way call and that if he had received a three-way call, he would have hung up and reported it. (November 13, 2007 Sampson Interview Transcript, p. 30, located on NCAA custodial website.) However, as detailed above, Sampson admitted to knowing about one three-way call and would have been aware of at least three other three-way calls. Yet he neither hung up the phone nor reported the calls. Sampson also did not take any known steps to ensure that such impermissible calls would not recur. And, in fact, the calls continued to occur.

In addition, Sampson consistently denied that he ever was on the phone with a prospect or any recruiting call when Senderoff spoke. In his July 20, 2007 interview with the University, he stated there was never any three-way talking on the patched-in calls. In the August 20, 2007 interview with the University, he did not recall any three-way conversations and did not recall Senderoff introducing the calls. Further, in his November 13, 2007 interview conducted by the NCAA and attended by Indiana University, Sampson stated "[b]ut there was never, there was never an instance where I was on the phone with a kid where Rob Senderoff talked." ((November 13, 2007 Sampson Interview Transcript, p. 26, located on NCAA custodial website.) He reiterated that position in his January 29, 2008 interview, stating on several occasions there were no three-way conversations and he had not been on a recruiting call when Senderoff talked. However, given the information, evidence and testimony set forth in the response to Allegation No. 3-a, specifically regarding the phone calls involving three-way conversations (e.g., ████████, Marcus, Jackson, Blair, Buford, Gates, Coker), these statements by Sampson that he was never on the phone when Senderoff also spoke are not plausible.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

In regards to his statements regarding Buford, as noted in the allegation, during Sampson's November 13, 2007 interview, he stated he never saw Buford, never talked to him, and only knew that he signed with Ohio State University. ((November 13, 2007 Sampson Interview Transcript, p. 34, located on NCAA custodial website.) In his January 29, 2008 interview, Sampson reiterated he never met Buford, but stated he did not recall speaking with Buford. (January 29, 2008 Sampson Interview Transcript, p. 9, located on NCAA custodial website.) However, as detailed in the response to Allegation No. 3-a, the evidence supports a conclusion that Sampson did, in fact, participate in a June 19, 2006 ten-minute three-way call with Buford, that was initiated by Senderoff to Buford's coach's phone.

Thus, after careful evaluation of the totality of the available evidence and information, Indiana University has concluded the repeated denials provided by Sampson are not credible or supported.

Discussion of Sampson's Failure to Promote an Atmosphere for Compliance or to Monitor Compliance
(Allegation No. 3-c)

The University incorporates all of the relevant information included in the response to Allegation Nos. 1, 2 and 3-a.

Failure to Promote Compliance with the Recruiting Penalties. The University agrees Sampson failed to promote compliance with the Committee's recruiting restrictions as evidenced by the information contained in Allegation Nos. 1 and 3-a regarding the occurrence of phone calls that were contrary to the Committee's sanctions. This failure is best illustrated by the fact that even though Sampson admittedly knew he had participated in a three-way recruiting call with Blair (on October 4, 2006), he did nothing to stop that call or to prevent other similar calls from occurring and he did not report the call to the compliance office. In fact, after this call, there were four or five other impermissible three-way calls, as well as a number of other calls that were contrary to the Committee's sanctions, as set forth above (e.g., those with [REDACTED], Erica Mackey, Frease).

Failure to Promote Compliance with NCAA Legislation. The fact the violations listed in Allegation No. 2 occurred, particularly during a time when the men's basketball staff should have been especially attentive to rules compliance is evidence of this failure to promote compliance with NCAA legislation. NCAA Bylaw 11.1.2.1 specifically requires a head coach to promote an atmosphere of compliance within the program supervised by the coach.⁵² The occurrence of the violations and the repeated failure of at least two assistant coaches to report the use of their home phones for recruiting and their failure to adequately document all of their recruiting calls further illustrates this failure. Instead of embracing the need for compliance during a time when the program was under NCAA sanctions, the two assistant coaches treated these forms as formalities. Further, former director of basketball operations, Green, reported in his December 13, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by the University that in his opinion he did not see how the issues with the sanctions could have occurred accidentally and that they had to have occurred purposely because the coaches had too much information. (December 13, 2007 Green Interview Transcript, p. 18, located on NCAA custodial website.)

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Perhaps the best example of how Sampson failed to accept responsibility for the actions of his assistant coaches and the need to promote an atmosphere of compliance is the following exchange from his November 13, 2007 interview:

MN: And again, uh, I guess the question becomes it's, in, in looking at that, the, the very first call on there is dated May 31, 2006. It is my understanding from talking to Ms. Brinegar that your assistant coaches were specifically told on May 30th, just one day before that three-way phone calls were impermissible yet the next day you begin impermissible three-way phone calls. So, did you --

KS: Not me.

MN: -- Did you call --

KS: Not me, them.

⁵² This bylaw was specifically addressed with coach Sampson on April 3, 2006, at the new men's basketball coaches' compliance meeting (see Attachment 12, referencing Attachment M at pp. 21-28).

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

(November 13, 2007 Sampson Interview Transcript, p. 27, located on NCAA custodial website.)

Failure to Monitor Documentation of Recruiting Calls. Sampson completely delegated to other members of the coaching staff, particularly his director of basketball operations and the basketball administrative staff, the responsibility for tracking and coordinating the documentation of recruiting calls, including the paperwork and data entry required for effective monitoring by the compliance office. Further, the occurrence of impermissible phone calls as detailed in Allegation Nos. 1-b and 2, which were contrary to NCAA sanctions and Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, provides further evidence that Sampson did not ensure that the men's basketball coaching staff maintained an appropriate level of and accurate documentation of recruiting phone calls. This failure included not supervising recruiting phone calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to be in a position to know and understand how his coaches made and recorded recruiting calls; not ensuring the assistant coaches properly reported the use of their home phones for recruiting purposes as well as all recruiting calls made; and not ensuring the assistant coaches reported any phone calls contrary to the sanctions or NCAA bylaws.

NCAA Bylaw 11.1.2.1 sets forth the expectation that head coaches are responsible for the control and monitoring of their programs. Thus, Sampson's hands-off approach during this time when there should have been a heightened attention and awareness regarding NCAA compliance – with NCAA rules and the Committee's sanctions – was not appropriate and not effective, as evidenced by the occurrence of phone calls that were contrary to the sanctions and/or in violation of NCAA rules, as set forth in the response to Allegation Nos. 1 and 2 above.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

4. [NCAA Bylaws 10.1 and 10.1-(d)]

It is alleged that (a) during the period of time beginning May 25, 2006, through May 24, 2007, Rob Senderoff, then assistant men's basketball coach, acted contrary to the NCAA principles of ethical conduct when he knowingly violated recruiting restrictions imposed by the NCAA Committee on Infractions, as penalty for head men's basketball coach Kelvin Sampson's prior involvement in violations of NCAA legislation; and (b) Senderoff failed to deport himself in accordance with the generally recognized high standard of honesty normally associated with the conduct and administration of intercollegiate athletics by providing the institution false or misleading information. Specifically:

- a. Concerning Senderoff's knowing violation of the Committee on Infractions' restrictions, on a number of occasions from May 25, 2006, through May 24, 2007, Senderoff placed telephone calls related to recruiting while in the presence of Sampson. Sampson was prohibited from being present while members of his staff placed telephone calls related to recruiting, pursuant to penalty L, Infractions Report No. 250; as adopted by and transferred to Indiana University, Bloomington. [NCAA Bylaw 10.1]

Specifically, on multiple occasions from May 31, 2006, through May 1, 2007, Senderoff knowingly used three-way telephone calls to connect Sampson to then prospective student-athletes DeJuan Blair, Ayodele Coker and [REDACTED], the prospective student-athlete's parents, legal guardian(s) or coaches; and to prospective student-athletes William Buford Jr., Devin Ebanks and Yancey Gates, the prospective student-athlete's parents, legal guardian(s) or coaches.

Additionally, on a number of occasions from May 31, 2006, through May 1, 2007, Senderoff knowingly participated in three-way telephone conversations between himself, Sampson, and Gates and Buford. Senderoff also participated in three-way conversations between himself, Sampson and then prospective student-athletes Blair, Demetri McCamey and [REDACTED]. Furthermore, Sampson participated in three-way conversations between himself, Sampson, and Yvonne Jackson, Ebanks' mother. Senderoff participated in the three-way telephone conversations despite being instructed not to do so by the institution's compliance staff and despite receiving specific clarification from the Committee on Infractions that three-way calls were prohibited.

Furthermore, on a number of occasions from May 25, 2006, through May 24, 2007, Sampson participated in the following recruiting calls made by Senderoff:

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

- (1) Senderoff allowed Sampson to participate by speakerphone in telephone calls he placed to prospective student-athlete Marcus Morris and [REDACTED].
 - (2) Senderoff placed one or more recruiting calls to prospective student-athlete Kenny Frease. Senderoff then handed Sampson the phone and allowed Sampson to speak with Frease.
 - (3) While in the presence of Blair, Coker and [REDACTED], the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s) during off-campus recruiting contacts, Senderoff called Sampson and allowed Sampson to speak with the prospective-student athletes, the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardian(s).
 - (4) While in the presence of Erica Mackey, mother of prospective student-athlete Jonathan "Bud" Mackey, Senderoff allowed Sampson to speak with Ms. Mackey via Senderoff's cell phone.
- b. Concerning Senderoff's provision of false or misleading information, on multiple occasions, Senderoff submitted false telephone recruiting call documentation to the institution's compliance staff. [NCAA Bylaw 10.1-(d)]

Specifically, Senderoff provided the institution with signed monthly statements indicating that he had not used his home telephone to place recruiting calls during the months of June, July and September 2006; and during the months of February through July 2007. Senderoff also provided the institution weekly recruiting logs corresponding with those same months, which also indicated that he had not used his home telephone to place recruiting calls. In fact, Senderoff placed at least one recruiting call from his home telephone in each of the months identified. The institution reported that Senderoff placed at least 30 telephone calls from his home phone that were violations of the recruiting restrictions imposed on the men's basketball staff by the Committee on Infractions, as set forth in Allegation No. 1; and at least 15 telephone calls placed from Senderoff's home phone that were violations of NCAA legislation, as set forth in Allegation No. 2.

Please indicate whether this information is substantially correct and whether the institution agrees that a violation of NCAA legislation occurred. Submit evidence to support your response.

Overview of the University's Position

The University agrees that the information set forth in Allegation No. 4 is substantially correct, and that a violation of NCAA legislation has occurred. Specifically, the University has concluded that Senderoff knowingly violated recruiting restrictions imposed by the Committee on Infractions and provided the University with false and misleading information.

Review of Senderoff's Knowing Violations of Recruiting Sanctions
(Allegation No. 4-a)

The University incorporates all of the relevant information included in the response to Allegation Nos. 1, 2 and 3, particularly the detailed information set forth in the response to Allegation No. 3-a. Because Allegation No. 4-a is almost identical to Allegation No. 3-a and involves the same information, testimony and evidence, in the interest of brevity, the University has not repeated the information presented above, which applies equally to this allegation.

As with most allegations of unethical conduct, the review of this allegation involves an assessment of credibility as well as documentary evidence. As detailed above in the response to Allegation No. 3-a, although the University was unable to confirm each aspect of the allegation with phone records or other concrete evidence, such corroboration was available in a number of instances. Further, the testimony of approximately ten individuals with detailed and specific recollections of recruiting calls with Sampson that were initiated by Senderoff, particularly when combined with Senderoff's various admissions, is difficult, if not impossible, to completely refute. It is recognized that some of this testimony will likely be challenged. Nonetheless, the

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

University has concluded that, on balance, there is sufficient information and evidence to support the majority of the specific information alleged against Senderoff.

Knowing Use of Impermissible Three-Way Recruiting Calls. (Allegation No. 4-a).

Given the evidence and testimony set forth in the responses to Allegation Nos. 1-a and 3-a and Senderoff's own testimony in several interviews, it is apparent that Senderoff knowingly used three-way telephone calls to impermissibly connect Sampson to Blair, Coker, ██████████, Buford, Jackson and Gates, and to some of the prospect's parents, legal guardian(s) or coaches, as set forth in Attachment M of the October 3 report and in Attachment 11. In his various interviews, Senderoff readily admitted to placing the three-way calls identified from a review of his phone records and to connecting Sampson so that he could speak to the prospects, their parents, legal guardian(s) or coaches. In his initial meeting with the University on July 16, 2007, Senderoff acknowledged that he made the three-way calls and that he knew the three-way phone calls were impermissible when he placed the calls.

In his July 20, 2007 interview with the University, he also stated that he would have received the June 13 memorandum clarifying that involving Sampson in a three-way phone call would be impermissible. Senderoff further explained that he thought this was a "gray area" and that as long as he was not a participant in the conversation, the call would be okay. He explained that in his mind he was the "operator" when an individual was trying to reach Sampson and he did not think at the time that he was putting Sampson in a bad spot. Even though the compliance staff had informed the coaches at the May 30, 2006 meeting that outgoing three-way recruiting calls that included Sampson would not be permissible, Senderoff stated he did not think to ask

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

the compliance staff for clarification as to this “gray area”. During his August 23, 2007 interview with the University, Senderoff reported that although there were some dropped calls with Sampson, he recalled that individuals wanting to reach Sampson was the primary reason for the three-way calls. When asked why, in light of the June 13, 2006 clarification received from the Committee concerning three-way recruiting phone calls, Senderoff would presume it would be permissible to connect Sampson into three-way calls, he responded that in retrospect it was “stupid” for him to not have checked with the compliance staff. He further noted that by remaining silent on the line he thought he was abiding by the spirit of the sanction.

During his November 16, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Senderoff again admitted that he received the June 13, 2006 clarification from the Committee regarding three-way recruiting phone calls with Sampson. In response to a question regarding why the majority of impermissible three-way calls occurred after receiving the email, Senderoff responded “That’s a good question. It’s a mistake I made.” (November 16, 2007 Senderoff Interview Transcript at p. 31, located on NCAA custodial website.) He further explained that when somebody was trying to reach Sampson and did not get him successfully or a call was dropped, Senderoff tried to help. Senderoff stated that he did not know if Sampson was aware that he was connecting him via three-way technology.

Knowing Participation in Impermissible Three-Way Telephone Conversations (Allegation No. 4-a). In light of the evidence and testimony set forth in the responses to Allegation Nos. 1-a and 3-a, it is apparent that Senderoff knowingly participated in impermissible three-way telephone conversations between himself, Sampson, prospects and their parents, legal guardian(s) or coaches, despite being instructed not to do so by the University's compliance staff and despite receiving specific clarification from the Committee on Infractions.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

In his July 16 initial meeting with the University regarding the three-way calls, Senderoff stated that he did not announce the calls and that he never participated in the conversations or made Sampson aware that he was on a call. In his July 20 interview with the University, Senderoff again reported that he could not recall anytime that anything he said would have alerted Sampson to his presence on the call. These unequivocal denials shifted slightly during his next interview with the University on August 23 when he stated that he had no recollection of ever participating in any of the three-way conversations and that he did not recall ever introducing the prospects. Although he was not 100% certain that he had never introduced Sampson onto a call, he said he did not believe he ever did. Senderoff also noted that he would not refute what others said, but that he would be surprised if their recollection differed from his own. Similarly, in his November 16, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Senderoff explained how he operated silently, sort of as an operator, but noted that if others recalled that they all communicated, he would not argue with them. In response to further questioning, Senderoff stated that he thought Sampson knew that Senderoff had transferred one call from Blair.

From the discussion of the testimony and evidence presented in the response to Allegation No. 3-a above, it is reasonable to conclude that despite these denials, Senderoff, in fact did participate in some of the three-way conversations and also introduced some of the

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

prospects to Sampson, in violation of Penalty L (Gates, Buford, Blair, Jackson, McCamey and [REDACTED]).

Knowing Participation in Impermissible Speakerphone Recruiting Calls (Allegation No. 4-a-(1)). Based on the information discussed above in response to Allegation No. 3-a-(1) and the testimony, information and evidence regarding the calls to Marcus and [REDACTED], the University has determined that it is reasonable to conclude that Senderoff knowingly participated in the calls.

Knowing Participation in Impermissible Phone Passing (Allegation No. 4-a-(2)). Based on the information discussed above in response to Allegation No. 3-a-(2) and the testimony, information and evidence regarding the calls to Frease, it is reasonable to conclude that one or more of these calls occurred and that Senderoff knew that passing the phone to Sampson so that he could speak to Frease was impermissible under Penalty L.

Knowing Participation in Impermissible Recruiting Call Placed by Senderoff (Allegation Nos. 4-a-(3) and (4)). The University has determined that based on the information discussed above in response to Allegation No. 3-a-(3) and (4), and the information and testimony provided by the prospects and the mother of a prospect, some of which was corroborated by phone records or other independent evidence, it is reasonable to conclude that Senderoff, when present with prospects or their relatives (Blair, Coker, [REDACTED] and Erica), called Sampson so that he could speak to the prospects and relatives. The University has also determined that it is reasonable to conclude that Senderoff knew that calling Sampson and allowing him to engage in the recruiting calls was impermissible under Penalty L.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Discussion of Allegation Regarding Senderoff's
Provision of False and Misleading Information
(Allegation No. 4-b)

The University incorporates all of the relevant information included in the response to Allegation No. 1 and 2 and Allegation No. 3-a.

The University agrees that Senderoff did not submit accurate documentation regarding the phones he used for recruiting on numerous occasions and that this failure constitutes a violation of the principles of ethical conduct in that he repeatedly furnished the University with false and misleading information. Specifically, Senderoff never reported the use of his home phone for recruiting on any of the monthly sheets that he submitted from April 2006 through May 2007, despite the fact that he made approximately 75 recruiting calls from home during that time frame and during most of those months. (See Attachment G of the October 3 report for these forms.) Further, he failed to then report the calls he made from home so that they could be entered into the athletics department recruiting database "Cybersports" for monitoring by the compliance staff. As a result, approximately 40 phone calls that were placed from his home phone were contrary to the sanctions and approximately 23 were in violation of NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2. (See Attachment 7.) In addition, these unrecorded calls from his home phone also triggered other, previously permissible calls to be counted as impermissible after the home calls were properly logged during the University's investigation.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

The University's September 12, 2007 interview with Senderoff primarily concerned his unreported use of his home phone for recruiting phone calls. In that interview and in his subsequent November 16, 2007 interview with the NCAA Enforcement Staff, Senderoff offered little explanation as to why he neither reported the use of his home phone for recruiting nor the actual recruiting calls that were made. He explained that when he reported information regarding his recruiting calls to be included in Cybersports, he would scroll down the list of calls he made from his cell phone and list those that were related to recruiting. Even though the phone log sheets included a column for recording the phone used for each recruiting call (see Attachment 17), Senderoff reported that he forgot to include the calls from his home phone since he submitted this information while in the office. Senderoff further stated that when submitting his monthly forms indicating the phones he used for recruiting he forgot to include his home phone. He admitted that this practice was sloppy and/or careless and that he had obviously done a bad job in not logging all of his calls.

Although Senderoff used his cell phone for the vast majority of his recruiting calls and the 1300 calls from his cell phone each month far exceeded the number of phone calls he made from home, it is apparent that the use of his home phone for unreported recruiting calls was problematic. In fact over half of the recruiting calls that he made from home were contrary to the Committee's sanctions or NCAA rules. Further, these calls from Senderoff's home phone account for over half of the phone calls that violated NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 and a significant percentage (approximately 30%) of the calls that were contrary to the sanctions. And that does not include the calls that triggered other previously permissible calls to now be counted as impermissible. Thus, had Senderoff properly reported all of his recruiting calls and the use of his home phone, many of the phone calls discussed in Allegation Nos. 1-b and 2 would not have occurred.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Also, please provide the following:

- a. A detailed description and explanation of all disciplinary actions taken against Senderoff based on his involvement in or knowledge of violations of the Committee on Infractions' restrictions, as determined by the institution and as detailed in this inquiry. In that regard, please provide an explanation as to the reasons the institution believes these actions were appropriate, indicate the dates that any disciplinary actions were taken and submit copies of all correspondence from the institution to Senderoff describing the disciplinary actions taken.

See the response to the Allegations above and Section D later in this response for information regarding the disciplinary actions taken.

When Senderoff resigned from his employment at the University, a letter of reprimand regarding his conduct was incomplete, was in draft form and was thus never finalized or transmitted to him.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

5. [NCAA Bylaws 13.12.1.3 and 13.2.2-(b)]

On June 30, 2007, Kelvin Sampson, head men's basketball coach, and Jeff Meyer, assistant men's basketball coach engaged in an impermissible recruiting contact with a prospective student-athlete. On July 1, 2007, Meyer provided the prospective student-athlete with an impermissible benefit.

- a. Concerning Sampson's and Meyer's impermissible recruiting contact, it was reported that Sampson and Meyer impermissibly recruited prospective student-athlete Derek Elston (Tipton, Indiana) during Elston's participation in the institution's two-day sports camp held June 30 and July 1, 2007. [NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3]

Specifically, on June 30, 2006, Meyer arranged a meeting between himself, Sampson, Elston and Elston's coach, Travis Daugherty, head boys' basketball coach at Tipton High School. The meeting took place on the evening of June 30 in the men's basketball coaches' locker room in Assembly Hall after Elston's team had finished competition for the day. During the meeting, Elston was told that he was the type of player they would like to have playing basketball at the institution. At the conclusion of the meeting, Meyer told Daugherty that the institution planned to offer Elston a scholarship at a later date. At the time of the meeting, Elston had not concluded all camp activities, and in fact, Elston participated in camp activities the following day, July 1, 2007.

- b. Concerning Meyer's provision of an impermissible benefit, it is alleged that Meyer provided Elston a gift of clothing and equipment prior to Elston's departure from this institutional camp. [NCAA Bylaw 13.2.2-(b)]

Specifically, after Elston had concluded camp activities July 1, 2007, but prior to Elston's departure from the institution's campus, Meyer again spoke with Elston and Daugherty. During the conversation, Meyer retrieved at least one drawstring backpack and at least one T-shirt from an area where Indiana University, Bloomington, merchandise was being sold. Meyer then handed the items to Daugherty while in the presence of Elston and made a statement indicating that Daugherty should give the items to Elston on their return home. On returning home, Daugherty gave the backpack and T-shirt to Elston.

Please indicate whether this information is substantially correct and whether the institution agrees that violations of NCAA legislation occurred. If the institution agrees that violations of NCAA legislation occurred, please indicate whether the institution believes that the violations are major or secondary violations. Submit evidence to support your response.

Overview of the University's Position

The University agrees the information set forth in Allegation No. 5 is substantially correct, and that violations of NCAA legislation have occurred. For the reasons set forth below and in an October 26 report to the NCAA, the University believes these violations should be considered secondary in nature pursuant to NCAA Bylaw 19.02.2.1 as they were each isolated; provided at most a minimum, if any recruiting, competitive or other advantage; and did not include any significant recruiting inducement or extra benefit.

Review of Impermissible Recruiting Contact
(Allegation No. 5-a)

The University reported the information that is the subject of Allegation No. 5-a in a December 18 secondary violation report and student-athlete reinstatement request, which revised some information previously reported in an October 26 report/request. (See Attachments 21 and 22 for the December 18 and October 26 secondary reports/reinstatement requests, respectively.) The context of the violation reported was modified due to the receipt of clarifying information from the involved prospect, his high school coach, Meyer and Sampson. Although some of the supporting information changed, the substance of the violation remained the same.

Specifically, a violation of NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3 occurred when prospective student-athlete Derek Elston ("Elston") was invited into the coaches' lockerroom for a recruiting meeting (i.e., an unofficial visit) on the evening of June 30, his first day of participation in a two-day

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

institutional camp. Because this recruiting meeting occurred during the time period that the camp was conducted, it was not permissible.

Facts of the Violation. The prospect's high school team participated in an institutional team camp on June 30 and July 1. Most of his team's games took place in the University's HPER gym on Saturday, June 30; however, his team's last game took place in Assembly Hall. After the last game, Elston stayed with a teammate who was getting treatment in Assembly Hall for an injury that was sustained during the last game. The rest of the team and one of the team's assistant coaches went back to their off-campus hotel. At some point that evening, Elston and his head coach, Travis Daugherty ("Daugherty"), went into the coaches' locker room in Assembly Hall to meet with Sampson and Meyer. They did not leave campus or Assembly Hall between the end of their game and this meeting. Further, the next day, Elston returned with his team to campus to participate in the second and final day of the two-day team camp; thereby rendering the meeting on June 30 contrary to Bylaw 13.12.1.3.

Meyer was the main organizer of the meeting. According to his statement and testimony, he realized the morning of June 30 that the coaches could not meet with the prospect following the camp's conclusion on July 1, as would have been permissible if the camp had occurred earlier in June, due to the impermissibility of unofficial visits during July. He reported he believed that NCAA rules would allow a meeting with the prospect if the prospect had been dismissed from the camp and team obligations at the end of the day on June 30. During the afternoon or evening of June 30, Meyer informed Daugherty that the University's coaches would like to meet with him and Elston but that the prospect had to be dismissed from camp prior to the meeting.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Meyer thought if he suggested that the prospect leave campus after the last game on June 30, because all camp activity for the day had been completed, this would constitute dismissal from the camp. He apparently did not understand that dismissal was not possible until the camp was over or the team had finished its participation. In trying to avoid an issue with the “no July unofficial visit rule” Meyer did not take enough care to ensure the accuracy of his understanding of what would be considered dismissal from camp. In retrospect, Meyer admitted he should have contacted the compliance office for an interpretation regarding what they could do. Sampson reported he believed this meeting was permissible based on the information Meyer shared with him regarding his incorrect understanding that Elston had been dismissed from the camp.

No scholarship was directly offered at the meeting on June 30. However, as they left the meeting, Daugherty asked Meyer if a scholarship had been offered. Meyer responded they could not make an offer while the prospect was on campus but that was what they planned to do. Elston reported in his January 17, 2008 interview conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by the University, that he was not aware of this conversation. It should be noted the statement that he submitted to the University (see Attachment 21), which does reference a scholarship offer, was drafted by Daugherty and that Elston stated several times in his interview that he did not recall a scholarship offer following the July 30 meeting.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Penalties and Corrective Actions. In response to this violation, the University limited the men's basketball staff to six recruiting opportunities for Elston during his junior year and six during his senior year, with only two of those for off-campus contacts. Meyer and Sampson were issued letters of reprimand. (See Attachment 15 for the letters issued to Sampson and Meyer.) The University also discussed the relevant legislation with Meyer in September and with Sampson in October. It was also reviewed with the entire men's basketball staff on October 23, 2007.

Review of Provision of T-Shirts and Drawstring Backpack
(Allegation No. 5-b)

During the January 17, 2008 interviews of Daugherty and Elston, which were conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by the University, both individuals reported that Meyer provided Daugherty with at least one drawstring backpack, containing at least one T-shirt. The University has determined the T-shirts would each be valued at $12 and the drawstring backpacks at $20. Thus, assuming that at most there were two backpacks and two T-shirts, the total value of the merchandise provided was at most $64.

Summary of Interview Testimony. Daugherty reported in his interview that on the second day of the camp on July 1, he recalled Meyer talking with him and Elston. He recounted that after Elston had noticed [REDACTED] keeping score at a nearby court and commented that he was tempted to get his autograph for his sister's boyfriend, Meyer joked that Elston might someday be better. Daugherty also stated that Meyer gave him two bags that he thought contained T-shirts, stating that Daugherty should give them to Elston when they returned home. Daugherty thought the intent was for the items to be given to Elston's sister and her boyfriend. Daugherty stated that when he subsequently became concerned that he had violated an Indiana High School Athletic Association (IHSAA) rule, he called Meyer and asked him if he could send him money to pay for the shirts and then sent him a $20 check. Daugherty reported that Meyer stated if he felt like that's what he needed to do, then he should do it.

RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

In his interview, which was conducted by the NCAA Enforcement Staff and attended by Indiana University and Daugherty, Elston provided information that corroborated Daugherty's statements. Specifically, he reported that as ██████ passed by and Elston commented about getting his autograph, Meyer commented that ██████ should be getting Elston's autograph. He also remembered Meyer handing Daugherty one bag and two shirts. Elston reported Meyer stated that Elston could not take the bag and shirt but that he was going to give them to Daugherty and that whatever Daugherty did with them was up to him. Elston said he received the bag and T-shirts when he returned to his school and gave them to his sister's boyfriend.

Meyer was consistent in reporting both in his written statement (see Attachment 21) and in his January 29, 2008 interview conducted by the NCAA and attended by the University, that he did not recall watching Elston play or meeting with him on Sunday. Further, Meyer reported in his interview that he did not remember providing Daugherty with the drawstring backpacks or T-shirts. In response to the information Daugherty reported regarding the conversation he had with Meyer about his concerns with IHSAA rules, Meyer recalled Daugherty raising the issue but stated he told Daugherty at that time he did not recall providing him with a backpack or T-

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

shirts. It was not clear from Meyer's interview whether he remembered telling Daugherty to do whatever he felt he needed to do in this subsequent conversation.

Discussion of the Bylaw Citation. The NCAA Enforcement Staff has cited NCAA Bylaw 13.2.2-(b), which specifically prohibits providing a prospect or a prospect's relatives or friends with gifts of clothing or equipment. If the T-shirts and drawstring backpack(s) were intended for Elston or his sister or her boyfriend, this citation is appropriate.

However, it is possible that Meyer intended to provide the items to Daugherty, which would be a violation of NCAA Bylaw 13.8.2, precluding an institution from providing the coach of a prospect with material benefits, including a gift such as a tangible item bearing the institution's insignia. It should also be noted Meyer and Daugherty have a pre-existing relationship as a result of Meyer's close relationship with Daugherty's father who was his college roommate and teammate.

The University raises this issue only to ensure that the appropriate bylaw is cited. The University believes a secondary violation occurred regardless of the bylaw citation and defers to the Committee regarding the determination of the appropriate citation.

Also, please provide the following:

- a. INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

D. CORRECTIVE ACTIONS AND PENALTIES.

The University remains troubled by the fact that the impermissible calls detailed in this response occurred and that they happened during a time when the men's basketball program, particularly the coaching staff, should have had a heightened awareness of and commitment to total compliance with NCAA rules and sanctions. Instead, in addition to the occurrence of impermissible three-way recruiting calls initiated by a then assistant coach and involving Sampson, the University's then assistant men's basketball coaches made recruiting calls from home, despite reporting on monthly forms that home phones were not used for recruiting. The fact these calls were then not reported and were not able to be monitored or reviewed by the compliance office caused concern as well. The University was also disappointed in the information discovered during its investigation and finds the new information revealed during the Enforcement Staff's investigation at least as troubling, including the additional impermissible calls and the unethical conduct.

It must be noted, however, of the 126 phone calls contrary to the sanctions, 59% (75 calls) were one or two minutes in duration.⁵³ Further, almost 80% (99 calls) were less than ten minutes and only five calls (4%) lasted more than 20 minutes.⁵⁴ Similarly, with the calls that resulted in NCAA violations, approximately 57% lasted one or two minutes, 86% were ten minutes or less and there were no calls longer than 20 minutes. In addition, as noted above, the University took a very conservative and strict approach to identify all potentially impermissible phone calls and include them in the determination of the appropriate sanctions. This methodology resulted in a multiplier effect as, for example, one phone call placed in an "off month" would then cause many previously permissible phone calls in the next month (including attempts to contact a prospect as well as the actual phone conversation) to become impermissible. The University recognized that this approach would increase the number of calls deemed contrary to the sanctions, but determined it was important to identify and present the maximum scope of the issues.

In light of the actions of the men's basketball coaches and the calls that were contrary to the sanctions and to NCAA rules, the University determined in mid-September 2007 that significant additional sanctions were necessary. These penalties were designed to directly impact the coaches involved as well as the men's basketball program as a whole. Following the receipt of the February 8, 2008 Notice of Allegations, the University carefully reassessed the penalties in light of the new information that had been developed during the NCAA Enforcement Staff's investigation. The University determined the penalties that were initially imposed were sufficient to respond to the violations that had occurred, even with the new information and violations. For example, Penalty 2-c below, which reduces by half the number of permissible calls to prospects during their senior year of high school, results in a reduction of 700 calling opportunities plus an additional reduction of 350 calls for Sampson and the subsequent head coaches.

⁵³ As noted above, these one or two minute calls, although impermissible, did not likely result in any substantive conversation, particularly given the fact that cell phone companies begin counting minutes while the phone is still ringing and round-up calls to the next minute (e.g., a one minute, ten second call counts as two minutes).

⁵⁴ Seven calls were for an unknown duration.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

Further, the University left its original penalties largely intact despite the complete turnover in the coaching staff. When Senderoff resigned on October 29, 2007, the University transferred Penalty 2-a to another assistant coach. Similarly, when Sampson resigned on February 22, 2008, the subsequent two head coaches operated subject to Penalties 2-c and 2-d. All of the penalties regarding phone calls have remained unchanged.

In April 2008, however, the University determined that it was necessary and appropriate to adjust two of its initial penalties, which, because of the coaching staff changes, were going to have far greater detrimental and harmful impacts than were anticipated upon their imposition last fall. The University thus made the modifications indicated below to Penalty 2-f that limited the off-campus recruiting days for Sampson and to Penalty 2-g that reduced the number of permissible official visits. It should be noted these penalties were modified and not withdrawn; thus, penalties in these areas remain. In addition, the University has added an additional penalty that reduces by two the number of recruiting days in July 2008 – one day during each evaluation segment – where none of the men’s basketball coaches will be allowed to recruit off campus.

The University believes, although these limited adjustments provide necessary relief for the current men’s basketball coaching staff, all of whom were completely uninvolved in the violations, they do not alter the strength of the initial penalties in any material way, particularly since the phone call restrictions remain intact. In addition, the four off-campus recruiting days used by the interim head coach had no impact and brought no benefit to the men’s basketball program or the University. Further, in large part because the University carefully evaluated the need for these modifications, the men’s basketball coaching staff missed 22 days of off-campus recruiting and the head coach was not able to recruit off-campus for 14 permissible recruiting days (i.e., this number does not include the dead periods), until April 26.

Indiana University took and continues to take this matter very seriously and understands the ban on Sampson making recruiting calls was intended to limit his and the basketball program’s ability to recruit prospects, as were the other sanctions reducing the number of permissible calls. Accordingly, Indiana University has designed the following sanctions to address any impact from the impermissible calls and to send a strong message that complete commitment to NCAA compliance continues to be expected and required of all coaches and staff.

1. Corrective Actions

- a. Sampson voluntarily agreed in September 2007 to forego, over the next twelve-month period, his scheduled $500,000 raise for this current contract year.
- b. Senderoff and Meyer were not entitled to any bonuses for the 2007-08 academic year and would not have been entitled to any salary increases for the 2008-09 academic year had they remained employed at the University.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

- c. Letters of reprimand were issued to Sampson and Meyer on November 1, 2007. (See Attachment 15.) [Note: Senderoff's letter of reprimand was never issued due to his resignation on October 29, 2007.]
- d. A letter was included in the personnel file for McCallum on November 1, 2007.
- e. Had he remained employed at the University, Senderoff would have been required to sign a form each month reminding him of these corrective actions and sanctions, and would have been required to submit his monthly home phone records for review, in addition to his cell and office phone records.
- f. The compliance office will conduct mandatory compliance meetings every other week for the full men's basketball coaching staff (i.e., head coach, assistant coaches, and director of basketball operations) for one year beginning September 17, 2007.
- g. Had they remained employed at the University, Sampson and Senderoff would have been required to attend at their own expense the same 2008 NCAA Regional Rules Seminar as a member of the University's compliance staff. Meyer and McCallum would also have been required to attend the seminar had they remained employed.
- h. The University ceased the recruitment of prospective student-athlete Jonathon "Bud" Mackey, the subject of the majority (22) of the NCAA violations.
- i. In response to the impermissible contact with a prospect, as set forth above in the response to Allegation No. 5-a, the University discussed the relevant legislation with Meyer in September 2007 and with Sampson in October 2007. The legislation was also reviewed with all of the then men's basketball staff on October 23, 2007.

2. Self-Imposed Sanctions

- a. The University, effective September 17, 2007, reduced the number of coaches allowed to be involved in recruiting by one through July 31, 2008. Specifically, Senderoff was prohibited from: (i) making ANY phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting (whether or not they are countable under NCAA rules); and (ii) engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. Upon Senderoff's resignation, another assistant coach is serving the remainder of this sanction.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

- b. The University will reduce by one the number of men's basketball financial aid awards for the 2008-09 academic year.
- c. The University will reduce the number of permissible calls to prospects on or after August 1 of their senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week from September 17, 2007, through the end of the regular National Letter of Intent signing period (May 21, 2008). Further, Sampson and the subsequent head coaches were only eligible to make every other one of these phone calls.

[Note: With approximately 20 senior recruits and a 35-week period, this sanction reduces calling opportunities by approximately 700 phone calls, including an additional reduction of 350 calls for Sampson and the subsequent head coaches].

- d. The University will reduce the number of phone calls Sampson and the subsequent head coaches are permitted to make to junior prospective student-athletes to every other one of the monthly calls to junior prospects beginning September 17, 2007, and ending July 31, 2008.

[Note: With approximately 177 junior recruits and a 10-month period, this sanction reduces Sampson's and the subsequent head coaches' calling opportunities by approximately 885 phone calls.]

- e. The University limited Sampson to four (4) off-campus recruiting contact days during the fall 2007 contact period.
- f. The University limited Sampson to no more than ten (10) additional off-campus recruiting days to be used from the conclusion of the fall contact period (October 5, 2007) through July 31, 2008.

[Note: Sampson's typical practice was to divide the off-campus recruiting person-days by the four coaches. Therefore, since there are 130 recruiting person-days during the academic year and 20 person-days by three coaches during the July recruiting period, his off-campus recruiting days were reduced from approximately 48 ($130 + (20 \times 3) = 190 \div 4 \text{ coaches} = 48$) to 14, a 71% reduction.]

April 2008 Revision. Because the ten off-campus recruiting days allotted to Sampson in this penalty were all used (six by Sampson and four by the interim head coach, Dan Dakich) prior to the hiring of Tom Crean, the current head men's basketball coach, the University determined that he should be allowed 10 off-campus recruiting days through July 31, 2008. Limiting the current head coach to 10 off-campus recruiting days through July 31, 2008 is still a penalty as the number of days a head coach may

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
RESPONSE TO THE NCAA
NOTICE OF ALLEGATIONS

recruit off-campus is not normally limited other than the 130 person-day-limit for off-campus recruiting. The University imposed this revised penalty even though it could have taken the position that the initial penalty was intended for Sampson personally and not for the position of head men's basketball coach.

- g. The University will reduce the number of permissible official paid visits from 12 to six (6) during the 2007-08 academic year.

April 2008 Revision. Because all six of the official visits permitted under this penalty were used by the prior men's basketball coaching staffs, the University decided to allow the current men's basketball coaching staff to award two additional official visits for the remainder of the current academic year.⁵⁵ This modified limit of eight official visits is still below the NCAA limit of 12 and the University's four-year average of 9.25.

- h. Indiana University will submit a report to the Committee on Infractions by September 30, 2008, documenting the University's compliance with these additional sanctions.

- i. Additional self-imposed penalty. The University will reduce by two the number of recruiting days allowed in July 2008 under NCAA Bylaw 30.10.1-(g) and (i), with one evaluation day being reduced in each evaluation segment. None of the men's basketball coaches will be allowed to recruit off campus on those two days.

- j. In response to the impermissible contact with a prospect, as set forth above in the response to Allegation No. 5-a, the University will limit the men's basketball staff to six recruiting opportunities for the prospect during his junior year and six during his senior year, instead of the permissible seven each year. In addition, the number of off-campus contacts allowed during his senior year will be reduced from three to two.

⁵⁵ This increase from six to eight official visits is consistent with the waiver available under NCAA Bylaw 13.6.2.7 that allows institutions to provide additional official visits after a new head coach is hired if the prior coach has used 75% or more of the permitted official visits.

E. REQUESTED INFORMATION

- 6. Please provide all information concerning other possible violations of NCAA legislation discovered by the institution as a result of its review of this matter. In this regard, please indicate the means by which the information was discovered and the institution's position regarding whether a violation of NCAA legislation occurred.

As discussed in the response to the Allegations above, during the investigation, additional impermissible phone calls were found by the University that were not included in its October 3, 2007 report to the Committee on Infractions. Also as set forth above, additional information regarding the violations was revealed during the NCAA Enforcement Staff's investigation.

- 7. Please provide a detailed description of any corrective or punitive actions implemented by the institution as a result of the violations acknowledged in this inquiry. In that regard, explain why the institution believes these actions to be appropriate and identify the violations on which the actions were based. Additionally, indicate the date(s) that any corrective or punitive actions were implemented.

See Section D above for the corrective actions and penalties self-imposed by the University.

- 8. Please provide a detailed description of all disciplinary actions taken against any current or former athletics department staff members as a result of violations acknowledged in this inquiry. In that regard, explain the reasons that the institution believes these actions to be appropriate and identify the violations on which the actions were based. Additionally, indicate the date that any disciplinary actions were taken and submit copies of all correspondence from the institution to each individual describing these disciplinary actions.

See Section D above for the disciplinary actions taken and Attachment 15 for the letters issued to the coaching staff.

If yes, identify the agency, individual or committee responsible for this review and describe the responsibilities and functions of each identified.

As can be seen on the attached organizational chart (See Attachment 26), the director of athletics has eight senior staff members who manage the daily operations of all facets of the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. Three of these senior staff members currently have supervisory responsibilities for the Olympic sports (Janet Kittell, Chris Reynolds, and Jack Garrett). This structure has been consistent for the past two years. For the two years prior, Olympic sports were supervised by Chris Reynolds and Mary Ann Rohleder, also part of the department's senior staff.

Director of Athletics Rick Greenspan supervises football and men's and women's basketball, and has done so since arriving at Indiana University four years ago. For the past two years, Senior Associate Athletic Director Tim Fitzpatrick has served as the liaison to these programs, coordinating sport operational and scheduling issues.

the hallmark of the Indiana University compliance program since the 1960's. As of 2008, the assistant athletic director for compliance and the director of compliance share equally in rules education responsibilities, with assistance by the director of eligibility and systems, the director of eligibility and program planning, the financial aid officer, and the initial eligibility officer.

The rules education program begins each year in August with a department-wide staff meeting where the institution's commitment to rules compliance is overviewed by the faculty athletics representative, and where all current departmental employees sign the Institutional Certification of Compliance form. Monthly compliance meetings are held throughout the regular academic year for all head and assistant coaches. In addition, operational area (e.g., ticket office, training room, academic support, etc.) or sport-specific compliance meetings are held annually, and additional meetings are scheduled as needed or prior to key events (e.g., recruiting periods, camps, winter and summer breaks, etc.) with coaches, administrators, and professional and clerical support personnel. Further, the compliance office sends out an email update weekly, and produces a monthly compliance newsletter, both distributed to all departmental employees.

- k. A review of the institution's obligations (contractual or otherwise) concerning live telecasts of contests during the next three seasons. These should include, but not be limited to, contractual agreements negotiated by the institution's conference and opponent, or through its sports network affiliations.

Effective July 1, 2007 through June 30, 2027, Big Ten Conference member institutions – including Indiana University – granted an Assignment of Rights for television to the conference, which includes the telecast rights to all games in all varsity sports – including men's basketball – worldwide, live and delayed, and in any and all forms of media and distribution technology. Thus, Indiana University's appearances on live telecasts are governed through the Big Ten Conference and specifically through the conference's contracts with CBS, ABC/ESPN and the Big Ten Network (BTN). Big Ten institutions are not permitted to decline or refuse the decision of ABC, ESPN, CBS or The Big Ten Network to produce and telecast a game. The CBS agreement lasts through the 2009-10 season, with an option for CBS to extend for three additional years through the 2012-13 season. The ABC/ESPN contract runs through 2016-17 and requires each men's basketball program to appear in at least one game each season, with a limit of eight or nine such appearances. The Big Ten Tournament is televised by CBS and ABC/ESPN.

All men's basketball games not telecast or distributed by ABC, ESPN or CBS will be produced and distributed by the Big Ten Network. Distribution of men's basketball games on the Big Ten Network may be through traditional television, internet or alternative media. The Big Ten Network will telecast over 100 men's basketball games next season. Thus, the University expects that similar to the 2007-08 season, most, if not all, of its games will be televised through one of these networks during the next three years.

Indiana University's known television commitments for the 2008-09 men's basketball season, beyond those covered generally by the Big Ten Conference are as follows:

November 24-26, EA Sports Maui Classic (3 games), ESPN
December 3, at Wake Forest (Big Ten/ACC Challenge), ESPN

I. Review of Penalties

A. Original Self-Imposed Penalties.

The University of Oklahoma self-imposed a number of penalties on its men's basketball program. Indiana University (or the "University") believes that when violations occur, regardless of the intent, appropriate penalties must follow. Therefore, Indiana University adopted those penalties that related directly to Head Men's Basketball Coach Kelvin Sampson ("Sampson") and placed additional requirements on the men's basketball program. The following are the original penalties the University imposed on Sampson and the men's basketball program:

1. The director of compliance will meet, on a weekly basis, with the head coach or the director of men's basketball operations to review men's basketball recruitment activities and documentation for the previous and upcoming weeks. Furthermore, Indiana University will file a written report with the NCAA not later than August 31, 2007¹, detailing the implementation and fulfillment of the penalties which were transferred to Coach Kelvin Sampson upon his employment at Indiana University.
2. Indiana University will reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
3. Indiana University will reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
4. Indiana University will restrict the number of days which Coach Kelvin Sampson may recruit off-campus to a maximum of four (4) during the period of March 29, 2006, through June 30, 2006. (Sampson used 15 of the 19 recruiting-person days he was permitted pursuant to the University of Oklahoma's self-imposed penalties while still employed at the University of Oklahoma).

meetings were in addition to the monthly all-sport compliance meetings regularly attended by all members of the men's basketball coaching staff.

The following topics were reviewed at each weekly compliance meeting with the basketball staff:

1. Review of sanctions.
2. Handwritten phone logs from each coach.
3. Recruiting database ("Cybersports") phone call reports signed by each coach.
4. Handwritten contact/evaluation logs from each coach.
5. Cybersports contact/evaluation reports signed by each coach.
6. Sampson's personal schedule for the current and subsequent months.
7. Rules education supplement.

These weekly meetings were informative, thorough, and provided a conduit for both the men's basketball coaching and office staffs and the compliance office staff to express concerns and voice questions for consideration by each staff. The director of basketball operations was charged with ensuring that all information covered in the weekly sessions was communicated to and understood by Sampson and the assistant coaches who were not in attendance. In addition, the director of basketball operations, in conjunction with the director of compliance, was charged with the creation of operating policies and administrative protocols for the men's basketball program to ensure full compliance with all sanctions.

(See Attachment D for copies of the agendas and other materials covered in the majority of these weekly compliance meetings.)

B. Monitoring of Recruiting Phone Calls.

The University focused its monitoring of men's basketball recruiting records on phone calls and particularly the assistant coaches' phone logs. Following is the compliance protocol used each month to collect and monitor phone records:

1. Coaches were required to keep handwritten logs of all countable recruiting calls made each week. (See Attachment E for a sample handwritten log from each assistant coach.) [NOTE: Sampson did not have any phone logs as he was prohibited from making any recruiting phone calls.]
2. Each Monday morning, the director of basketball operations collected these handwritten logs and gave them to the men's basketball administrative assistant.

3. Indiana University utilizes a recruiting software program ("Cybersports") to maintain its recruiting records. The men's basketball administrative assistant entered each coach's countable recruiting phone calls into Cybersports after receiving the handwritten logs.
4. A report was produced weekly by the men's basketball administrative assistant from the Cybersports data. (See Attachment F for sample Cybersports recruiting phone call reports.)
5. The Cybersports reports as well as the coaches' handwritten logs were then forwarded to the compliance office on a weekly basis.
6. The director of compliance checked the Cybersports reports and handwritten logs each week for compliance with NCAA regulations as well as the sanctions adopted and imposed by the Committee on Infractions.
7. In addition, each month each member of the coaching staff signed a statement indicating what phone(s) (i.e., cell, office, home or other) he had utilized for recruiting purposes. (See Attachment G for the monthly signed statements of phone usage for recruiting purposes from Sampson, the three assistant coaches and the director of basketball operations.)
8. The director of compliance was then responsible for cross-referencing phone bills for all phone lines the coaches reported using for recruiting with the Cybersports records to assure compliance with NCAA rules, as well as the current sanctions being imposed. Initially, this entailed receiving electronic copies of office bills directly from the athletics business office each month, but having to collect hard copies of cell phone bills from the assistant coaches. However, by mid-fall 2006 the system was improved whereby the director of compliance was directly receiving electronic copies of both cell and office phone bills for all men's basketball coaches each month.
9. Since Sampson was not permitted to make any recruiting phone calls, he did not submit recruiting logs. Therefore, the director of compliance was responsible for cross-referencing Sampson's office and cell phone lines against the recruiting information in the Cybersports database to ensure that no recruiting calls were made (regardless of whether they were countable or non-countable calls).

As should be expected, the record-checking system benefited from regular enhancements throughout the year as the director of compliance evaluated the most thorough yet efficient manner in which to conduct these checks. This culminated in the comprehensive protocol used to conduct the year-end phone record checks in May and June 2007. (See Attachment H for documentation of the evolution of this comprehensive protocol for monitoring men's basketball recruiting activities, focusing on phone calls. Sample e-mails concerning the review of phone records are also included.)

C. Monitoring of Off-Campus Recruiting by the Assistant Coaches.

Even though there were no sanctions regarding the off-campus recruiting of the assistant coaches, contact and evaluation logs were also a focus in the monitoring of recruiting data. Following is the compliance protocol used each month to monitor contacts and evaluations:

1. Each coach produced handwritten records of contacts and evaluations for the administrative assistant to input into the Cybersports software.
2. A Cybersports report was generated and signed by each coach monthly.
3. Both the handwritten records as well as the software reports were collected by the compliance office.
4. Those reports were reviewed by the compliance staff to assure compliance with NCAA rules.
5. Because Sampson was not permitted to recruit off-campus, his schedules were reviewed at the weekly compliance meetings with the basketball staff to ensure that no recruiting activities occurred at those events or that no individuals of prospect age would be in attendance. The next section describes this monitoring in more detail.

D. Monitoring of Off-Campus Appearances and Speaking Engagements by Sampson.

The compliance staff closely reviewed Sampson's off-campus appearances and speaking engagements to ensure full compliance with the Committee on Infractions sanction prohibiting Sampson from engaging in any off-campus recruiting, and particularly the clarification received from the Committee precluding attendance by prospects at such events. All of Sampson's off-campus appearances and speaking engagements had to be forwarded to the compliance office for approval prior to booking the appearance/engagement. In order for an event to be approved by the compliance staff, the following information was required:

1. The name of the event, function or outing.
2. The purpose of the event, function or outing.
3. The location of the event, function or outing.
4. The date of the event, function or outing.
5. Information from the event/function/outing organizers detailing how the organizer intended to ensure that no prospective-aged students attended the event.

It should be noted that the compliance staff closely reviewed each of the frequent speaking engagement and appearance requests received by Sampson. In addition, in a number of instances a member of the compliance staff actually attended the event, function or outing and monitored the registration area to ensure no prospect-aged individuals attempted to attend the event. (See Attachment I for a chart summarizing all of Sampson's off-campus speaking engagements that occurred during the period of the sanctions, as well as samples of the compliance monitoring efforts that took place leading up to, during, and after each event to ensure compliance with the sanctions.)

E. Other Communications Regarding Compliance with the Sanctions.

Any and all requests for clarification from the men's basketball coaching staff regarding the application of the sanctions precipitated further meetings during the week, both at the discretion of the compliance office as well as the men's basketball staff. Every effort was made to assure full and complete compliance on all levels. In-person and email communication throughout the period of the sanctions was voluminous. (See Attachment J for a sampling of written reminders, clarifications and interpretations specific to the men's basketball staff's compliance with the sanctions and other NCAA rules not necessarily related to the sanctions.)

III. Rules Education Program for the Men's Basketball Staff by Indiana University

A. Weekly Men's Basketball Compliance Meetings.

Indiana University conducted weekly meetings with the men's basketball staff, consistent with its self-imposed sanction. These were generally standing meetings with the director of basketball operations, who was required to attend. Interim meetings were held as needed due to time-sensitive materials. The men's basketball coaches often attended these meetings as well, as noted below.

Indiana University has taken and will continue to take advantage of each opportunity to educate thoroughly every coaching staff member. As this applied to the men's basketball staff, the weekly required meetings proved to be an opportune time to broach timely subjects in an effort to be proactive and avoid potential future infractions. Moreover, the meetings provided the opportunity to address supplemental data. This gave the basketball staff a chance to review and become familiar with new or relevant information and provided them the opportunity to ask questions and attempt follow-through on any items which may have needed clarification.

The following issues were reviewed during these weekly meetings² in addition to the other standing agenda items:

1. Men's Basketball Administration and Compliance Staff Meeting (05/30/06). Attendees: Kelvin Sampson (head coach), Jerry Green (director of basketball Operations), Jeff Meyer, Ray McCallum and Rob Senderoff (assistant coaches), Rick Greenspan (athletics director), Bruce Jaffee (faculty representative), Grace Calhoun (associate athletics director), Mary Ann Rohleder (associate athletics director), Tim Fitzpatrick (associate athletics director and liaison for the AD to MBB), Jennifer Brinegar (assistant athletics director – compliance), and Christian Pope (director of compliance).

2. Indiana University Official Visits procedures and NCAA regulations (06/07/06). Attendees: Green, Meyer, Senderoff, McCallum, Chip Armbruster (assistant compliance and eligibility officer) and Pope.
3. Camps and Media Activities (06/13/06). Attendees: Green, Sampson, Pope and Brinegar.
4. Camp Initial-Eligibility Education Component (06/20/06). Attendees: Green, Senderoff and Pope.
5. Camp Initial-Eligibility Education Component (06/27/06). Attendees: Sampson and Brinegar.
6. Noninstitutional/ Private Camps Restrictions (06/27/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
7. July Dead and Evaluation Periods (06/30/06). Attendees: Green, Meyer, Senderoff, McCallum, Armbruster and Pope.
8. Dead Periods and July Evaluation Clarifications (07/11/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
9. Contact Restrictions and Recruiting Coordination Functions (07/18/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
10. Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2 and July 24, 2006 Educational Column update (07/25/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
11. Bylaw 13.1.8.8 – Evaluation Days (08/01/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
12. Fall Contact Recruiting Rules Reminder and Telephone Call Rules Reminder (08/08/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
13. Competition Against Prospective Student-Athletes (8/22/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
14. IU Recruiting Policy and Institutional Procedures for Official Visits (8/28/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
15. Fall Recruiting Period Reminders (8/29/06). Attendees: Sampson, Meyers, McCallum, Senderoff, Green, Brinegar, Pope.

16. New Legislation: Bylaw 13.5.1 Transportation General Restrictions, 17.1.5.4 Required Day Off – Playing Season, and 17.1.5.4.7 Exceptions (09/07/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
17. Fall Contact Period Hot Topic (9/6/06 Educational Column) (09/13/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
18. Bylaw 13.4.1.1.1 and National Letter of Intent (9/20/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
19. Bylaw 16.5.2–(g) Nutritional Supplements (9/27/06). Attendees: Brinegar, Green, and Pope.
20. Bylaw 17.5.5.1.1 Qualifying Multi-Team Events (10/04/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
21. Cyber Web Usage (10/11/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
22. Bylaw 12.5.1.1 Promotional Activities and the IU Approval Process (10/18/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
23. Bylaw 17.1.5.4.7, 17.5.3 & 17.5.5.1.1 Review (10/25/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
24. Graduation Success Rate, APR Preliminary Data, Use of Initial Eligibility/Admissions Officer Position (10/26/06). Attendees: Sampson, McCallum, Meyer, Senderoff, Green, Brinegar, Calhoun, Massey, and Mooney.
25. NLI, Publicity & Dead Periods (11/01/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
26. Official Visit Specifics (11/08/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
27. Travel, Travel Expenses & Restrictions for Between Term Travel (11/15/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
28. Bylaw 13.1.8.8 & November through December Recruiting Calendars (11/21/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
29. Evaluation Period Legislation & Graduate Proposal (11/30/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
30. Legislative Proposals Regarding MBB (12/06/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
31. Initial Eligibility Specifics Figure 14-1 from NCAA Manual (12/13/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.
32. Voluntary Activities Bylaw 17.02.13 (12/20/06). Attendees: Green and Pope.

33. Telephone Calls to Prospects During Competition-Related Activities Bylaw 13.1.7.2 (01/04/07). Attendees: Green and Pope.
34. Evaluation Period for January and Bylaw 13.02 (01/11/07). Attendees: Green and Pope.
35. Official Visit Reminders (01/17/07). Attendees: Green and Pope.
36. February Recruiting Calendar & Counting Recruiting Days, Bylaws 30.7 and 17.32 (01/24/07). Attendees: Green, Brinegar, Calhoun and Pope.
37. Evaluating Tournaments, Electronic Communications & Contacts at Tournaments (01/31/07). Attendees: Green, Brinegar, Calhoun and Pope.
38. New Rule on Notecards – Effective August 1, 2007 (02/09/07). Attendees: Green, Brinegar and Calhoun.
39. New Proposals on Freshman Academic Requirements – Core Curriculum Time Limitations – Effective August 1, 2007 (02/16/07). Attendees: Green, Brinegar and Calhoun.
40. Admissions and Graduation Data, Banned Drug List, and Initial-Eligibility Standards (02/23/07). Attendees: Green and Brinegar.
41. Rules Regarding Summer School and Permissible Summer Conditioning for Prospects (03/01/07). Attendees: Green and Brinegar.
42. New Legislation and Donations/Fundraising (03/07/07). Attendees: Green and Brinegar.
43. Review of Upcoming Recruiting Calendar and Associated Rules (03/13/07). Attendees: Green, Brinegar and Ian Rickerby (director of compliance).
44. Review of Out of Season Athletically Related Activities (03/23/07). Attendees: Green, Brinegar and Rickerby.
45. Educational Column – Qualifying Regular-Season Multi-Team Event Bylaw 17.5.5.1.1 (03/28/07). Attendees: Green, Brinegar and Rickerby.
46. Review of Summer Activities and Contact Period Reminders; Review of 13.4.1.1 (04/04/07). Attendees: Sampson, McCallum, Meyer, Senderoff, Green, Brinegar and Rickerby.
47. Review of 13.4.1.1 (04/12/07). Attendees: Green, Brinegar and Rickerby.
48. Recruiting Person Days (04/20/07). Attendees: Green, Brinegar, Calhoun and Rickerby.

49. Medical Exams (04/26/07). Attendees: Green, Brinegar, Calhoun and Rickerby.
50. All-Star Games (05/03/07). Attendees: Meyer, Brinegar and Rickerby.
51. May Classic Reminders (05/10/07). Attendees: Meyer, Brinegar and Rickerby.
52. Phone Calls and the Lifting of Sampson's Off-Campus and Calling Restrictions as of May 25, 2007 (05/17/07). Attendees: Meyer, Brinegar and Rickerby.
53. Recruiting Rules Review and Summer Activities (5/23/07). Attendees: Sampson, McCallum, Meyer, Senderoff, Brinegar and Rickerby.

B. Other Regularly Occurring Rules Compliance Educational Opportunities.

The men's basketball coaches also attended a Men's Basketball New Coaches Compliance Meeting on April 3, 2006. Those in attendance were: Sampson, Green, Meyer, McCallum, Brinegar and Pope. The three assistant coaches (Myer, McCallum and Senderoff) also were present for the April 11, 2006 men's basketball spring compliance meeting with all of the returning student-athletes.

In addition to the men's basketball-specific meetings, the men's basketball staff attended the monthly compliance meetings (for all coaches and sport-specific staff), received the monthly compliance newsletters that covered current and relevant NCAA and Big Ten rules and reminders, and received the compliance questions of the week that were sent out via email – again with timely and relevant information regarding NCAA rules. (See Attachment K for sample monthly compliance newsletters and questions of the week.) In total, Indiana University believes that the men's basketball staff received a significant rules education opportunity specific to coaches approximately twice each week during the period of the sanctions.

Further, the coaches were required to attend all meetings that the compliance staff held with the men's basketball student-athletes. These meetings occurred in August, November, January, and April of the 2006-07 academic year. The first meeting covered all of the information in the 15-page NCAA Summary of Rules for Student-Athletes. The second meeting was specific to the sport of men's basketball and covered recruiting rules and expectations, publicity rules, agents, extra benefits and gambling. The January meeting contained a quiz on the rules education provided to date that academic year, both in team meetings and in the monthly Student-Athlete Newsletter. The April meeting covered more men's basketball specific issues, such as outside competition and other summer activities, employment, and again a review of agents, extra benefits and gambling.

C. NCAA Coaches' Certification Exam.

Finally, Sampson took and passed the NCAA coaches' certification exam on June 5, 2006, despite not being able to recruit off campus until May 24, 2007. All of the other coaches also took and passed the exam on June 5, 2006. The men's basketball staff averaged 38 points out of a possible 40 on the 2006-07 exam. This year, the men's basketball staff averaged 39 out of a possible 40 on the 2007-08 exam.

IV. Review of Issues Identified Regarding Phone Calls that were Contrary to the Sanctions.

As detailed above, Indiana University (or "the University") and the men's basketball coaching staff have fully complied with the majority of sanctions adopted and transferred by Indiana University and imposed by the Committee on Infractions ("Committee"). However, the athletics department compliance staff recently discovered a number of phone calls that the University has decided, after a careful and thorough review, are contrary to the sanctions regarding phone calls. These phone calls are described below in Sections IV-B and C.³

A. Chronology of the University's Investigation.

As described above, the University conducted regular checks of phone records throughout the year. On July 10, 2007, during the course of the compliance staff's additional year-end review of recruiting logs and phone calls for all sports, a compliance intern noticed that one men's basketball prospective student-athlete (██████████) had been called numerous times, all permissible under NCAA rules. Upon further inspection of the phone records, the Director of Compliance noticed that on January 29, 2007, there were two calls made by assistant men's basketball coach Rob Senderoff ("Senderoff") from his cell phone to the prospect on the same day⁴ and that both involved a three-way calling pattern to a number that was ultimately determined to be the home number for the head men's basketball coach, Kelvin Sampson ("Sampson"). The director of compliance then searched the men's basketball coaching staff's cell and office phone records for other three-way calls.⁵

Upon the discovery of the three-way recruiting calls that included Sampson, which were contrary to one of the sanctions as discussed in more detail below, the compliance staff immediately informed the Director of Athletics and the Senior Woman Administrator, and within 24 hours the Faculty Athletics Representative, the General Counsel and President also became involved. The President, Faculty Athletics Representative and other senior officials at the University received frequent updates throughout the remainder of the investigation. The University continued its review and analysis of phone and recruiting records and retained the services of the Ice Miller Collegiate Sports Practice, as outside counsel, for assistance in investigating and determining the full scope of any failure to comply with the Committee's sanctions and/or NCAA rules. On July 16, the first possible opportunity for an in-person

³ Some of these calls also resulted in NCAA violations, as set forth below. The University will submit a self-report regarding these violations to the NCAA for processing as secondary violations and in accordance with NCAA Bylaw 19.5.1.

⁵ Each of the men's basketball coaches reported monthly in writing that home phones would not be used for making recruiting calls. (See Attachment G.)

meeting, the Director of Athletics and Senior Woman Administrator met separately with Sampson and the assistant men's basketball coach, Senderoff, who placed the majority of the three-way calls. On July 20, the University's General Counsel, Senior Woman Administrator and outside counsel individually interviewed these two coaches and the only other assistant coach, Ray McCallum ("McCallum"), who had made any three-way calls.⁶ The review and analysis of office and cell phone records from May 2006 through June 2007 continued and calls were placed to all ten of the known phone numbers involved in the three-way calls in an attempt to confirm the content and nature of the calls. As of the date of this report, conversations occurred with only three individuals as many of the numbers had changed or been disconnected, despite repeated attempts (five or six times per number) to reach the remaining numbers.

It was determined at that time there were at least some three-way calls that were contrary to one of the sanctions and that this information should be included in this report, which was originally due to the Committee on August 31. Outside counsel contacted Shep Cooper, Director for the Committees on Infractions, on August 22 to apprise him of these issues and to request additional time to thoroughly review and investigate this matter and to complete this report. This request was granted.

Although all of the coaches had reported monthly, in writing, to the University that they did not use their home phones for recruiting (see Attachment G), Indiana University requested that Sampson and Senderoff provide their home phone records for the time period of the sanctions to verify their veracity and to ensure a complete review of all known phones, including that no other three-way calls had occurred. Sampson provided his home phone records shortly thereafter. Outside counsel reviewed the home phone records for Sampson from June 2006⁷ through May 2007 and determined there were no three-way or recruiting phone calls during the time period of the sanctions. Outside counsel and the University then conducted follow-up interviews with Sampson and Senderoff⁸ on August 23 to address outstanding issues and to obtain additional information regarding their recollections of the three-way calls.

In early September, after consulting with legal counsel, Senderoff provided his home phone records from June 2006 through July 2007.⁹ The review of these records revealed that, although there were no three-way calls, Senderoff had placed a significant number of recruiting

⁶ Although McCallum placed 11 three-way calls, only four of those calls included Sampson and were thus potentially at issue. Of those four calls, three involved incoming calls from an unknown origin and it could not be determined if the calls involved recruiting (these calls are nonetheless included in the maximum total of impermissible calls set forth below). Neither Sampson nor McCallum recalled these calls. The remaining three-way call involving Sampson, which occurred on May 8, 2007, was not a recruiting call because the involved prospect had enrolled in summer school at Indiana, which began that day, and thus was no longer considered a prospective student-athlete per NCAA Bylaw 13.02.11-(c). The remaining seven three-way calls placed by McCallum included four calls to his own cell phone (perhaps his voicemail) and three other miscellaneous short calls not involving Sampson.

⁷ Sampson, who was hired by Indiana University in March 2006, did not begin home phone service until June 2006.

⁹ Senderoff started his employment at Indiana University in April 2006 but did not have a home phone until June 2006.

calls from his home phone, even though he had not reported the use of this phone to Indiana University on the required monthly forms (see Attachment G) or included these calls with the required reporting that was entered into the compliance office's electronic recruiting monitoring system ("Cybersports"). Outside counsel documented the calls to recruiting phone numbers (or numbers very close to recruiting numbers) and the University's compliance staff then cross-referenced these home calls against other recruiting calls (from office and cell phones) to determine whether any calls were contrary to the sanctions or NCAA rules. In addition, the compliance staff called any unknown numbers that were similar to the phone numbers listed for a prospect to determine the identity of the individual called and whether the call was countable and permissible. Consistent with the University's conservative and strict approach in reviewing the records (i.e., assuming that any questionable call was problematic), if the individual called could not be identified, the call was presumed to be impermissible. This review revealed that a number of calls were contrary to the sanctions and NCAA rules and thus resulted in an expansion of the scope of the investigation.

The University immediately requested and received the home phone records of the two remaining men's basketball coaches, McCallum and Jeff Meyer ("Meyer"), again despite the fact that both coaches had reported monthly that they did not use their home phones for recruiting. A review of the records revealed that Meyer placed ten recruiting calls from his home phone, several of which were contrary to the sanctions and one of which was contrary to NCAA rules. McCallum placed one recruiting call from his home phone, which was not contrary to the sanctions or to NCAA rules.

On September 12, outside counsel and the University conducted another interview with Senderoff to discuss the recruiting calls placed from his home phone. A similar interview with Meyer was held on October 1. After these interviews and the final cross-checking of phone records occurred, the University determined that it had obtained sufficient and complete information to submit this report to the Committee. In addition, it should be noted that, throughout the investigation, the Athletics Director and General Counsel regularly met with senior executives at the University on the expanding nature of the investigation.

B. Review of Impermissible Three-Way Phone Calls that Included the Head Men's Basketball Coach:

Three-way phone calls are permissible under NCAA rules and University policies, including recruiting calls when multiple coaches are on the phone. However, due to Sanction 7 of the revised sanctions, which prohibited Sampson "from making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls" from May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, three-way recruiting calls involving Sampson were not permissible. Of the 27 three-way phone calls that occurred during the period of the sanctions, approximately 10 to 18 involved an assistant men's basketball coach connecting Sampson into a phone call with a prospective student-athlete or an individual involved in the recruitment of a prospective student-athlete (e.g., relative, coach). (See Attachment M for a summary of all three-way calls and Attachment N for those known to involve recruiting.) Indiana University has determined that these calls are contrary to the intent of Sanction 7 as well as a clarification received from the Committee's staff prior to June 13, 2006 regarding the impermissibility of three-way calling. (See Attachment L, Item No. 8 for the email and memorandum providing this clarification to the men's basketball coaching staff.) It should be noted that Sampson did not place any of the three-way phone calls.

Indiana University takes these transgressions very seriously and has imposed a number of additional sanctions, many of which are already in effect, on the basketball program and on individual coaches, as detailed below, to address any impact caused by the lack of total compliance with the sanctions and to send a clear message that absolute compliance is expected from all of its coaches and staff. The University is disappointed and does not condone the actions of the involved coaches, but it is important to place this issue in context. The men's basketball coaching staff is involved in over a thousand recruiting calls a month and the three-way calls at issue here total at most 18 over approximately eleven months, a fraction of one percent of all calls.

1. Overview of the Three-Way Calls.

Two of the three assistant coaches were involved in three-way calling during the period when Sampson was prohibited from making any recruiting phone calls. Three-way calls occurred when an assistant coach would either receive an incoming call or make an outgoing call and then connect the call to another number. All three-way calls placed by the assistant men's basketball coaches¹⁰ were reviewed to determine those that included Sampson and concerned recruiting. Indiana University contacted the phone companies on several occasions in an attempt to identify the phone numbers for the incoming calls, none of which were listed on the phone bills. The phone companies all reported they were unable to provide the phone numbers for the incoming calls. The University therefore focused the review on outgoing calls and, taking a conservative and strict approach, assumed all of the incoming calls were related to recruiting, as detailed below, even though the identities of the callers remain unknown.

During the course of the review, it became clear that approximately 10 to 18 of the 27 three-way calls placed by the two assistant coaches included Sampson and were thus contrary to the intent and terms of the sanction prohibiting Sampson from making any recruiting phone calls, and specifically the clarification received from the Committee on Infractions regarding three-way phone calls. (See Attachment M for a summary of all three-way calls; and Attachment L, Item No. 8 for the clarification.) The lower number (10) represents all of the outgoing calls the assistant coaches placed to known recruiting numbers for prospective student-athletes and counts as one call, on two occasions, two calls (that occurred back-to-back due to a dropped call). (See Attachment N for a summary of these recruiting three-way calls.) If these call-backs to the two dropped calls are counted separately, there are 12 known (outgoing) recruiting calls. There are six additional three-way calls that included Sampson: five were incoming calls to an assistant coach where the caller could not be identified and one was an outgoing call to an unknown Detroit number.¹¹ Erring on the side of caution, these six calls have nonetheless been presumed to be recruiting calls for the purpose of analyzing the extent to which the sanction was ¹⁰ The University also reviewed Sampson's phone records to confirm that he did not place any three-way phone calls.

¹¹ To determine the identity of the individual who uses that number, the compliance staff called the phone number but it had been disconnected and reassigned. After consultation with Senderoff, the University is fairly confident that the phone number was previously used by the AAU coach of a prospective student-athlete from Detroit. The call was therefore likely, and is assumed to be, a recruiting call.

not complied with and for assessing penalties. One other three-way call, placed by McCallum on May 8, 2007 to the coach of a prospective student-athlete, [REDACTED], was determined not to be a recruiting call because [REDACTED] was no longer a prospect, per NCAA Bylaw 13.02.11-(c), as he was enrolled in and attending the summer session at Indiana University, which began that day. The remaining eight three-way calls that occurred prior to the end of the sanction on May 24, 2007, did not involve Sampson, including: four occasions when McCallum patched into his own cell phone number for one minute, perhaps to his voicemail or perhaps by mistake; two calls that were unrelated to phone numbers for any prospect or Indiana coach; and the remaining two calls that involved McCallum, Senderoff and a third number.

The known impermissible 10 (or 12) recruiting three-way calls involved a total of six prospects, one of whom has matriculated at Indiana University and one who has committed as follows:

Prospect	Recruiting Class	Institution Attending	Number of Three-Way Calls
DeJuan Blair	2007	Pittsburgh	4 (or 5)
Wil Buford	2008	Committed to Ohio State	1
Ayodele Coker	2007	St. John's	1
Devin Ebanks	2008	Committed to Indiana	1
Yancy Gates	2008	Committed to Cincinnati	1
[REDACTED]	2007	Indiana	2 (or 3)

Senderoff initiated all 10 (or 12) of these calls. Of the remaining six potentially impermissible three-way calls, all of which were unidentifiable numbers, three involved Senderoff and three involved McCallum.

These three-way calls were not noticed during the compliance staff's regular and usual monitoring of phone calls during the course of the academic year as both manual and computerized searches focused on the declared recruiting phone numbers being called and the frequency of calls to these numbers, not other columns or information on the phone bills. In addition, because the three-way code was always attached to a local call on the phone bill, it was not detected in analyzing the calls to the declared recruiting numbers. Further, since the coaches had requested and received a clear interpretation from the Committee on Infractions in June 2006 that three-way calling with Sampson would not be permissible (see Item No. 8, Attachment L), three-way calls should not have been an issue.

2. Explanation Regarding Why the Three-Way Recruiting Calls Occurred.

The interviews with Sampson, Senderoff and McCallum were primarily focused on the circumstances and reasons surrounding the outgoing three-way calls that were tied to known recruiting numbers and individuals. Limited questioning occurred regarding specific incoming calls and why the assistant coach would then connect Sampson into the call, other than to ascertain that they did not recall the details, which is understandable as the caller is unknown. According to Senderoff and Sampson, the three-way calls primarily occurred when there had been a dropped call involving Sampson, or when a prospect (or other individual) informed Senderoff that they were frustrated in their inability to contact Sampson or that they urgently needed to speak with him. McCallum did not recall making any three-way calls and was thus unable to provide any additional information regarding the calls. Sampson generally did not recall the specifics of most of the calls or their origin, other than one call involving DeJuan Blair (“Blair”) and to which he stated that, although not 100% certain, he thought Senderoff had initiated the call.¹² Sampson also stated that he did not instruct the assistant coaches to connect him into the calls. Senderoff recalled the circumstances of approximately half of the outgoing calls. Attachment N provides some context for those calls the coaches recalled. None of the coaches disputed the fact that the three-way calls had occurred.

It must be noted that there are some unique circumstances that made Sampson’s ability to receive phone calls from prospects or other individuals more difficult than it might otherwise have been. All of the calls at issue here occurred in the evening and Sampson understandably does not generally provide his home phone number to prospective student-athletes, who may not receive a scholarship offer or choose to attend Indiana University, or the individuals involved in their recruitment. Instead he provides his cell phone number. Unfortunately, Sampson’s home is located several miles outside Bloomington and his cell phone reception is spotty, at best, resulting in many dropped calls. Thus, he reported that there were occasions when he would be on an incoming call with a prospect or an individual involved in the prospect’s recruitment and the call would drop and he would have to wait for the individual to call him back, per the sanctions. He stated that if the individual did not call back, he would text message¹³ or call one of the assistant coaches to have them remind the individual that he could not call them back, but that they could call him. It appears that some of the three-way calls at issue here may have occurred as a result of a dropped (permissible) call and then Senderoff helped the prospect or other individual reach Sampson by impermissibly patching Sampson into a call, even though the prospect or individual could have called back Sampson directly.

In other instances, Senderoff would receive calls from prospects or other individuals who had trouble reaching Sampson (e.g., his cell phone would go straight to voicemail), at least in part due to the poor cell phone reception at his home. And there were occasions when a prospect or other individual stressed the urgency of the need to speak with Sampson immediately (e.g., to confirm Indiana’s continued interest in the prospect or an upcoming visit to campus).

According to Senderoff, who placed all 10 (or 12) of the impermissible recruiting calls involving an initial outgoing call from him to a prospect or other individual, he would dial the first number, sometimes engage in a conversation with the individual, place that call on hold, dial Sampson’s number and immediately while Sampson’s phone was still ringing connect the other call. Senderoff stated that he then remained on the line and did not say anything. By using this technique, Senderoff reported that he intended to serve only as an “operator” by allowing two people to have a conversation. Senderoff stated that he thought this was a “gray” area in regards to the Committee’s sanction and that he never intended to put Sampson or the University in a difficult position. He also noted that he used poor judgment and that he probably should have asked the compliance staff to clarify whether his actions were permissible. Senderoff further stated that he did not think the spirit of the rule was broken because the individuals were trying to reach Sampson and wanted to speak with him. Neither Senderoff nor Sampson recall Senderoff ever participating in a three-way conversation or introducing the third party to Sampson. However, two of the three individuals that Indiana University successfully contacted from the list of known phone numbers used in the three-way recruiting calls, reported that Senderoff was involved in the respective conversations, as well as Sampson. The University was careful to clarify with both individuals – [REDACTED] (currently enrolled at Indiana University) and Yvonne Jackson (“Jackson”), the mother of Devin Ebanks (“Ebanks”), (who has committed to Indiana University) – that both coaches participated in the conversation at the same time as opposed to Senderoff speaking only during the first portion of the call and then remaining silent when Sampson was on the phone. The two individuals were specific in their recollections that Senderoff was involved during the whole call and it should be noted that these calls were relatively recent. Thomas received three-way calls, on January 29 and April 5, 2007; and Jackson received one call on May 1, 2007. The third individual contacted, Keith McClure, a coach for Wil Buford did not recall ever speaking to Sampson.

¹² Sampson’s recollection of this call, although better than his memory of other calls, was not very detailed. Generally, regarding the October 4, 2006 call with Blair, Sampson recalled that Blair was scheduled to come to Bloomington for a campus visit and then decided not to visit. Sampson remembered Senderoff explaining that Blair needed to speak with him. He noted that Blair never visited and Sampson never met him.

Indiana University has determined that the connection of Sampson into a recruiting call via a three-way call was contrary to the intent of the sanction each and every time such a three-way call occurred regardless of whether the assistant coach ever spoke while Sampson was on the call. The University has thus counted all 18 possible recruiting calls in assessing the appropriate sanctions, as set forth below, without regard to whether an assistant coach spoke on the call with Sampson and the third party.

Further, as referenced above, in response to a meeting between the compliance staff and the men’s basketball coaching staff on May 30, 2006, the University sought clarification from the Committee on Infractions regarding a number of questions about the application of the sanctions imposed on Sampson and the University’s basketball program. On June 13, 2006, the compliance staff communicated the Committee’s responses to the men’s basketball coaching staff via a written memorandum and at meetings with the men’s basketball coaching staff, as well as the weekly meetings with the men’s basketball director of basketball operations. (See Attachment L.) In this memorandum, Item No. 8 specifically addressed three-way calling as follows:

If an AAU or HS coach calls one of the IU assistant coaches and then adds a prospect in on a 3-way call, can the assistant coach add in Coach Sampson at that time (since the original call was initiated by the AAU or HS coach and not by anyone at IU)? No.

Indiana University believes that this information clearly set forth that connecting Sampson into a recruiting call via a three-way call was not permissible for any of the 10 to 18 three-way phone calls described above. Although the scenario presented in the memorandum does not address the exact circumstances that occurred here, it should have been readily apparent that, as this memorandum addressed a more passive circumstance (i.e., a coach receiving a call and having a prospect added in), the more direct action of connecting Sampson on an outgoing recruiting call would also be impermissible, whether or not the assistant coach was an active participant on the call.

C. Review of Other Phone Calls Contrary to the Sanctions

As noted above, during the review of the three-way calls, the University requested and received the home phone records of Sampson and Senderoff, even though all of the coaches had reported monthly that they did not use their home phones for recruiting. (See Attachment G.) The University requested these records to determine whether three-way calls had been placed from the home phones, to test the veracity of the coaches and to ensure the most complete review possible. Sampson's home phone records did not contain any recruiting (or three-way) calls during the time period of the sanctions. Senderoff's home phone records revealed a significant number of recruiting calls, none of which had been reported to the compliance office. The home phone records of the two other men's basketball coaches, McCallum and Meyer, were immediately requested and reviewed for recruiting calls. Meyer placed ten recruiting calls from his home phone, three of which were contrary to the sanctions and one of which to the sanctions and to NCAA rules. McCallum had one recruiting call from his home phone, which did not result in any issues with the sanctions or NCAA rules.

The University determined that these calls raised issues under revised Sanctions 3 and 4, which are summarized as follows:

3. Reduced the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month concluding July 31, 2007.
4. Reduced the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week concluding July 31, 2007.

1. Overview of Impermissible Calls.

The University incorporated the recruiting calls made from the home phones of the three assistant coaches into spread sheets, organized by prospective student-athlete, that included the other recruiting calls from cell and office phones. Indiana University carefully analyzed these calls to identify any issues with the sanctions or NCAA rules. Taking a conservative and strict approach that counted any potentially impermissible call, the University determined that if an impermissible call occurred, it then rendered the ensuing calls impermissible until the requisite break (one month for juniors or one call per week for seniors) had occurred. Thus, a number of previously permissible calls were determined not to be permissible. For example, if there had previously been permissible phone calls in April and June to a junior prospect but it was then discovered that a coach had placed a call from his home phone to that prospect in May, the May and June calls were counted as impermissible, as well as any other calls that occurred until there was a month without a countable call. It should be noted, that consistent with NCAA rules, only calls to the prospects or their relatives were counted in the impermissible calls as calls to coaches and other individuals do not fall within Sanctions 3 and 4. Further, unsuccessful attempts to reach a prospect or relative prior to a permissible call were not counted; however, once a permissible call with a prospect or relative had occurred, any subsequent attempts to reach that prospect or a relative in the relevant time period were counted as improper even if no contact

The following chart summarized this information for each prospect:

Prospective Student-Athlete	Coach	Total Impermissible Calls	Contrary to Sanctions	NCAA Violations
Yancy Gates	Senderoff	11	9	2
DeJuan Blair	Senderoff	10	10	2
	Sampson	1	1	0
Demetri McCamey	Senderoff	8	8	3
Marcus and Markieff Morris ¹⁶	Senderoff	22	22	1
Evan Turner	Senderoff	1	1	1
Kenny Frease ¹⁷	Senderoff	10	10	0
Phillip Jurick	Senderoff	5	5	0
Jonathon "Bud" Mackey	Senderoff	31	31	25
	Sampson ¹⁸	1	1	0
	Undetermined	2	2	0
Jordan Crawford	Meyer	2	2	0
Scott Martin	Meyer	2	2	1
Ayodele Coker	Senderoff	1	1	0
Brett Thompson	Senderoff	2	2	0
	Undetermined	2	2	0

The University will submit a report to the NCAA Enforcement Services Staff of all of the NCAA violations, including those that were also contrary to the sanctions. It appears that these violations are secondary in nature, particularly as approximately 60% of the phone calls lasted ¹⁶ The number of impermissible calls listed here for Marcus and Markieff Morris, who are twins, is very likely greater than the actual number. As both prospects were recruited by the University, counting the calls and determining the impermissible calls was more complex than with the other prospects. Under NCAA rules, the limits on the number of phone calls apply to each brother individually and allow coaches to call each brother during the same time period. However, several of the calls were to the twins' mother and Senderoff did not record whether the call concerned one or both brothers. The University has, consistent with its conservative and strict approach to err on the side of caution, determined that each call with the mother thus counts as a countable call for both brothers. As a result of this approach, there was a multiplier effect on the number of impermissible calls due to the phone calls to the mother. Specifically, a permissible call to the mother in April was counted for both Marcus and Markieff, thereby rendering all attempted or actual calls in May to be impermissible under the sanctions, even though Senderoff was under the impression that at least some of the calls were permissible because there were two prospects in the family. Calls in June and July also then became impermissible as there was no required month off for either brother.

only one or two minutes, 91% were ten minutes or less and there were no calls exceeding twenty minutes.

Similarly, as demonstrated in the chart below, most of the calls that were contrary to the sanctions were only one or two minutes in duration¹⁹ and over 75% were ten minutes or less:

Length of Call Contrary to Sanctions	Number of Calls	Percentage of Calls
Total Calls	109	100%
1 or 2 minutes	66	60%
3-10 minutes	21	19%
11-20 minutes	12	11%
Over 20 minutes	5	5%
Undetermined	6	6%

There are two additional phone calls that were contrary to the sanctions reducing the number of calls for the men's basketball staff. These calls are related to the three-way calls discussed above and not to the recruiting calls made from home phones. (See Attachments M and N.) Specifically, the return call to Thomas on January 29, 2007 was not permissible according to an interpretation received from the Committee that did not allow the men's basketball coaches to return any dropped countable calls. In addition, the May 1, 2007 phone call to Jackson, the mother of Ebanks resulted in three phone calls to Ebanks or his relatives, one each in April, May and June, contrary to Sanction 3.

2. Explanation Regarding Why the Impermissible Calls Occurred.

The September 12, 2007 interview with Senderoff primarily concerned his unreported use of his home phone for recruiting phone calls. Senderoff did not deny that the calls occurred but was able to offer little explanation as to why he neither reported the use of his home phone for recruiting nor the actual recruiting calls that were made. He explained that when he reported information regarding his recruiting calls to be included in the compliance office's call-tracking system "Cybersports", he would scroll down the list of calls he made from his cell phone and list those that were related to recruiting. Senderoff used his cell phone for the vast majority of his recruiting calls. He made approximately 1300 calls from his cell phone each month and, in comparison, rarely used his home phone. Senderoff reported that he forgot to include the calls from his home phone since he submitted this information while in the office. Senderoff further stated that when submitting his monthly forms indicating the phones he used for recruiting he forgot to include his home phone. (See Attachment G for the forms completed by Senderoff.) He admitted that this practice was sloppy and/or careless.

¹⁹ These one or two minute phone calls are counted as impermissible calls because they occurred after a permissible call had occurred during the relevant time period. Nonetheless, it is worth noting that, particularly given the fact that cell phone carriers begin timing the call while the phone is ringing and only report calls in whole minutes, it is likely that only a message was left and no conversation occurred during these calls.

During his October 1, 2007 interview Meyer reported that he primarily used his cell phone for recruiting calls and only occasionally made recruiting calls from his office or home phones. He stated that he did not list his home phone on the monthly forms reporting the phones he used for recruiting purposes because he did not yet have a home phone when he initially completed the form the first few months of his employment. When asked why he did not include his home phone on later forms, Meyer stated he thought the forms were only a formality and thus did not change what he previously reported. He noted that he had not realized at the time the importance of the monthly forms. (See Attachment G for the forms completed by Meyer.) Meyer reported that he initially tracked all of his recruiting calls in a notebook before submitting the information for inclusion in Cybersports. However, as he started to make more phone calls while traveling, he stopped recording the information in a notebook and relied on the call log in his cell phone to report his recruiting phone calls for monitoring purposes. Meyer also noted that he used Vonage for his home phone and did not receive any details regarding his outgoing calls until the University requested his records during the course of this investigation.

Indiana University is troubled by this disregard for University policies and procedures, particularly as the assistant coaches' failure to notify the compliance office about the use of the home phones for recruiting and the failure to report the calls made from home prevented the compliance office from effectively monitoring these calls and identifying these issues earlier. Accordingly, the University has imposed sanctions, as set forth below, that include reductions in the number of permissible calls by approximately seven to ten times the number of impermissible calls that occurred.

It should also be noted that some of the issues with the sanctions occurred during the transition period prior to the release of the Committee's report in May 2006. Although Indiana University had adopted as its own the sanctions imposed by the University of Oklahoma, it appears that the assistant coaches may not have been aware that there were recruiting phone call sanctions in effect prior to the Committee's report. Senderoff and Meyer recalled that Sampson was limited in his off-campus recruiting but neither recalled being restricted in their phone calls. Thus, they made phone calls in April and May 2006 without regard to Sanctions 3 and 4, which reduced the frequency of recruiting phone calls. In addition, some of the impermissible calls summarized above and detailed in Attachment O did not result from the home phone calls. Most of these calls were not discovered previously because they or other calls were not reported in Cybersports. A few calls (approximately four) were documented in Cybersports but the academic year review of the recruiting and phone records did not identify these calls as problematic. Thus, issues regarding these calls were first identified when thousands of phone calls were reviewed and cross-checked several times during this investigation.

D. Additional Sanctions Imposed by Indiana University

Indiana University initially struggled with its assessment of the three-way phone calls and the intentions of the coaches who participated in the three-way calls. To develop as complete a record and understanding as possible, several officials at the University and outside counsel continued reviewing and cross-referencing the coaches' office and cell phone records and conducted repeated interviews of the coaches to clear up loose ends and clarify various issues. In addition, even though the coaches each indicated in monthly signed statements that they did not use their home phones for recruiting, the University requested and received the home phone records for all four men's basketball coaches. As detailed above, phone calls made by two assistant coaches from home resulted in additional issues with the sanctions and some secondary violations.

After this thorough review and analysis, when the University assessed what had actually occurred, it was apparent that, although the three-way recruiting phone calls were clearly contrary to the terms of the Committee's sanction and clarification and were very troubling in that regard, there were at most 18 calls and as few as 10 over an 11-month period. In trying to determine the intentions of the men's basketball coaching staff, the University considered the fact that with so few impermissible calls involving Sampson out of the thousands of recruiting calls made from May 2006 through May 2007, this could not have been a purposeful plan to circumvent the sanction. Further, approximately one-third of the calls – three of the outgoing known recruiting calls and three of the unknown incoming calls – occurred prior to the receipt of the clarification from the Committee regarding three-way calling.

The University was also troubled by the fact that its assistant men's basketball coaches made recruiting calls from home, despite reporting monthly in writing that home phones were not used for recruiting. The fact that these calls were then not reported and were not able to be monitored or reviewed by the compliance office caused concern as well. The University remains deeply disturbed that additional issues with the sanctions and a number of NCAA secondary violations resulted from these calls. It must be noted, however, that of the 109 phone calls contrary to the sanctions, sixty percent (65 calls) were one or two minutes in duration.²⁰ Further, almost 80% (86 calls) were less than ten minutes and only five calls (less than one-half of one percent) lasted more than 20 minutes.²¹ Similarly, with the calls that resulted in NCAA violations, approximately 60% lasted one or two minutes, 91% were ten minutes or less and there were no calls longer than 20 minutes. In addition, as noted above, the University took a very conservative and strict approach to identify all potentially impermissible phone calls and include them in the determination of the appropriate sanctions. This methodology resulted in a multiplier effect as, for example, one phone call placed in an "off month" would then cause many previously permissible phone calls in the next month (including attempts to contact a prospect as well as the actual phone conversation) to become impermissible. The University recognized that this approach would increase the number of calls that were deemed contrary to the sanctions, but determined that it was important to identify and present the maximum scope of the issues.

In light of the actions of the men's basketball coaches and the calls that were contrary to the sanctions and to NCAA rules, the University determined that significant additional sanctions were necessary. These penalties were designed to directly impact the coaches involved as well as the men's basketball program as a whole. Indiana University takes this matter very seriously and understands that the ban on Sampson making recruiting calls was intended to limit his and the basketball program's ability to recruit prospects, as were the other sanctions reducing the number of permissible calls. Accordingly, Indiana University has designed the following sanctions, many of which are already in effect, to address any impact from the impermissible calls and to send a strong message that complete commitment to NCAA compliance is expected and required of all coaches and staff. It should be noted that in evaluating the extent of the additional sanctions, the University used the maximum number of potentially impermissible calls.

²⁰ As noted above, these one or two minute calls, although impermissible, did not likely result in any substantive conversation, particularly given the fact that cell phone companies begin counting minutes while the phone is still ringing and round-up calls to the next minute (e.g., a one minute, ten second call counts as two minutes).

²¹ Five calls were for an unknown duration.

1. Corrective Actions

- a. Sampson voluntarily agreed over the next twelve-month period to forego his scheduled $500,000 raise for this current contract year.
- b. Senderoff and Meyer will not be entitled to any bonuses for the 2007-08 academic year or salary increases for the 2008-09 academic year.
- c. Letters of reprimand will be issued to Sampson, Senderoff and Meyer.
- d. A letter will be included in the personnel file for McCallum.
- e. The University will require Senderoff to sign a form each month reminding him of these corrective actions and sanctions and will require him to submit his monthly home phone records for review, in addition to his cell and office phone records.
- f. The compliance office will conduct mandatory compliance meetings every other week for the full men's basketball coaching staff (i.e., Head Coach, Assistant Coaches, and Director of Basketball Operations) for one year beginning September 17, 2007.
- g. Sampson and Senderoff will be required to attend at their own expense the same 2008 NCAA Regional Rules Seminar as a member of the University's compliance staff. Meyer and McCallum will also be required to attend the seminar.
- h. The University has ceased the recruitment of prospective student-athlete Jonathon "Bud" Mackey, the subject of the vast majority (25) of the NCAA violations.

2. Self-Imposed Sanctions

- a. The University has, effective September 17, 2007, reduced the number of coaches allowed to be involved in recruiting by one through July 31, 2008. Specifically, Senderoff will be prohibited from: (i) making ANY phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting (whether or not they are countable under NCAA rules); and (ii) engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. When Senderoff leaves the employment of the University's men's basketball program, if prior to July 31, 2008, another assistant coach will serve the remainder of this sanction.

- b. The University will reduce by one the number of men's basketball financial aid awards for the 2008-09 academic year.
- c. The University will reduce the number of permissible calls to prospects on or after August 1 of their senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week from September 17, 2007, through the end of the regular National Letter of Intent signing period (May 21, 2008). Further, Sampson is only eligible to make every other one of these phone calls.

[Note: With approximately 20 senior recruits and a 35-week period, this sanction reduces calling opportunities by approximately 700 phone calls, including an additional reduction of 350 calls for Sampson].

- d. The University will reduce the number of phone calls Sampson will be permitted to make to junior prospective student-athletes to every other one of the monthly calls to junior prospects beginning September 17, 2007, and ending July 31, 2008.

[Note: With approximately 177 junior recruits and a 10-month period, this sanction reduces Sampson's calling opportunities by approximately 885 phone calls.]

- e. The University has limited Sampson to four (4) off-campus recruiting contact days during the fall 2007 contact period.
- f. The University will limit Sampson to no more than ten (10) additional off-campus recruiting days to be used from the conclusion of the fall contact period (October 5, 2007) through July 31, 2008.

[Note: Sampson's typical practice has been to divide the off-campus recruiting person-days by the four coaches. Therefore, since there are 130 recruiting person-days during the academic year and 20 person-days by three coaches during the July recruiting period, his off-campus recruiting days have been reduced from approximately 48 ($130 + (20 \times 3) = 190 \div 4$ coaches = 48) to 14, a 71% reduction.)

- g. The University will reduce the number of permissible official paid visits from 12 to six (6) during the 2007-08 academic year.
- h. Indiana University will submit a report to the Committee on Infractions by September 30, 2008, documenting the University's compliance with these additional sanctions.

VIA FACSIMILE

Dear Chris:

Attached is a self-report by Indiana University of secondary violations of Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 that occurred in the sport of men's basketball. It is being reported directly to your office since it is a Level I violation and we are not requesting reinstatement of any of the prospective student-athletes involved in the violations.

You can contact me at 812-855-0451 or by e-mail at jhooker@indiana.edu if you need any additional information in this regard.

Sincerely,

9. For NCAA violations, indicate whether this is a Level I or Level II violation. Report Level I violations directly to the NCAA.

X Level I: In general: violations of bylaws outside of Bylaws 10-17, all intentional violations, any violations not isolated or limited to a single occurrence, and any similar violations that previously have occurred in the same sport during that same year. Refer to the NCAA website for a complete list of Level I violations (http://www1.ncaa.org/membership/enforcement/secondary_violations/index).

Level II: All inadvertent violations of the operating bylaws (Bylaws 10-17) not identified as Level I violations. Level II violations do not require reinstatement by the NCAA. If this self-report involves restitution, please attach documentation of repayment.

10. Individuals Involved (include Name/Position or Title):

Rob Senderoff and Jeff Meyer, assistant coaches, and Kelvin Sampson, head coach

11. Prospective Student-Athletes Involved:

Yancey Gates, DeJuan Blair, Demetri McCamey, Markeiff Morris, Evan Turner, Jonathon "Bud" Mackey, and Scott Martin.

12. Eligibility reinstatement required? We are no longer recruiting any of these prospects. Yes ___ No ___X___

If yes, requested to: NCAA ___ If YES, request eligibility reinstatement directly from NCAA.

Or Conference ___ If YES, request eligibility reinstatement directly from Conference.

A) Date institution declared the prospect/student-athlete ineligible: Date: ___

B) Name(s) of Prospect(s) or Student-Athlete(s) declared ineligible: ___

C) Are there other eligibility issues with this prospect or student-athlete (e.g., petition pending; additional reinstatement pending, etc.)? If YES, please clarify:

13. Facts of the Case:

Background and Facts of the Case
(Response to Question Nos. 7 and 13)

I. How the Violations Were Discovered. [Response to Question No. 7]

The university conducted regular checks of men's basketball's phone logs and office and cell phone records throughout the year. On July 10, 2007, during the course of the compliance staff's additional year-end review of recruiting logs and phone records for all sports, a compliance intern noticed that one men's basketball prospective student-athlete (DeAndre Thomas) had been called twice in one day. This was immediately brought to the attention of the director of compliance. Upon further inspection of the phone records, the director of compliance confirmed that on January 29, 2007, there were two calls made by assistant men's basketball coach Rob Senderoff ("Senderoff") from his cell phone to the prospect on the same day¹ and that both involved a three-way calling pattern to a number that was ultimately determined to be the home number for the head men's basketball coach, Kelvin Sampson ("Sampson"). The assistant athletics director for compliance then asked the director of compliance to search the men's basketball coaching staff's phone records for other three-way calls.

Upon the discovery of the three-way recruiting calls that included Sampson, which were contrary to one of the sanctions imposed by the Committee on Infractions, the compliance staff immediately informed the director of athletics and the senior woman administrator, and within 24 hours the faculty athletics representative, university counsel and the university's president also became involved. The president, faculty athletics representative and other senior officials at the university received frequent updates throughout the remainder of the investigation. The university continued its review and analysis of phone and recruiting records and retained the services of the Ice Miller Collegiate Sports Practice, as outside counsel, for assistance in investigating and determining the full scope of any failure to comply with the Committee's sanctions and/or NCAA rules.

Although all of the assistant coaches had reported monthly, in writing, to the university that they only used their cell and office phones for recruiting and Sampson had reported monthly that he had not engaged in any recruiting calls, the university requested that Sampson and Senderoff provide their home phone records for the time period of the sanctions to verify their veracity and to ensure a complete review of all known phones, including that no other three-way calls had occurred. Sampson provided his home phone records shortly thereafter. Outside counsel reviewed the home phone records for Sampson from June 2006² through May 2007 and determined there were no three-way or recruiting phone calls initiated by Sampson during the time period of the sanctions.

² Sampson, who was hired by Indiana University in March 2006, did not begin home phone service until June 2006.

In early September, after consulting with legal counsel, Senderoff provided his home phone records from June 2006 through July 2007.³ The review of these records revealed that, although there were no three-way calls, Senderoff had placed a significant number of recruiting calls from his home phone, even though he had not reported the use of this phone to Indiana University on the required monthly forms or included these calls with the required reporting that was entered into the athletics department's electronic recruiting monitoring system ("Cybersports"). Outside counsel documented the calls to recruiting phone numbers (or numbers very close to recruiting numbers) and the university's compliance staff then cross-referenced these home calls against other recruiting calls (from office and cell phones) to determine whether any calls were contrary to the sanctions or NCAA rules. In addition, the compliance staff called any unknown numbers that were similar to the phone numbers listed for a prospect to determine the identity of the individual called and whether the call was countable and permissible. Consistent with the university's conservative and strict approach in reviewing the records (i.e., assuming that any questionable call was problematic), if the individual called could not be identified, the call was presumed to be impermissible. This review revealed that a number of calls were contrary to the sanctions and NCAA rules and thus resulted in an expansion of the scope of the investigation.

The university immediately requested and received the home phone records of the two remaining men's basketball coaches, Ray McCallum ("McCallum") and Jeff Meyer ("Meyer"), again despite the fact that both coaches had reported monthly that they did not use their home phones for recruiting. A review of the records revealed that Meyer placed ten recruiting calls from his home phone, one of which was contrary to NCAA rules. McCallum placed one recruiting call from his home phone, which was not a countable call and was not contrary to NCAA rules.

Interviews were conducted with the coaches throughout the process to ascertain their best independent recollections of the calls in question. In total, Sampson was interviewed three (3) times, Senderoff was interviewed four (4) times, and McCallum and Meyer were interviewed one (1) time each. Once all interviews and the final cross-checking of phone records was completed, the university determined that it had obtained sufficient and complete information to submit a report to the Committee on Infractions on October 3, 2007, detailing the phone calls that were contrary to the sanctions. In addition, Ice Miller and the university were in agreement that a total of 35 phone calls placed by Senderoff and Meyer were in violation of NCAA bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, as detailed below.

³ Senderoff started his employment at Indiana University in April 2006, but did not have a home phone until June 2006.

II. Facts of the Violations. [Response to Question No. 13]

A. Overview of Impermissible Calls.

The university incorporated the recruiting calls made from the home phones of the three assistant coaches into spread sheets, organized by prospective student-athlete, which included the other recruiting calls from cell and office phones. The university in conjunction with Ice Miller carefully analyzed these calls to identify any issues with NCAA rules violations.

It should be noted, that consistent with NCAA rules, only calls to the prospects or their relatives were counted in the impermissible calls, as calls to coaches and other individuals are not considered countable calls. Further, unsuccessful attempts to reach a prospect or relative prior to a permissible call were not counted; however, once a permissible call with a prospect or relative had occurred, any subsequent attempts to reach that prospect or a relative in the relevant time period were counted as improper even if no contact was made. Following its conservative and strict approach, the university also counted any questionable call as impermissible (e.g., a call to an unknown number in the area code of a prospect, which was made around the time of another call to that prospect's listed numbers). Thus, the total number of impermissible phone calls reported below is the maximum number of potentially impermissible calls and the actual number of impermissible calls may in fact be lower.

The vast majority of the calls made from the assistant coaches' home phones were permissible under NCAA rules. However, there were 32 phone calls⁴ that were considered by Indiana University to be contrary to NCAA bylaw 13.1.3.1.2. Of these calls, it is apparent that at most 13 resulted in a conversation. The following chart summarizes this information for each prospect:

Prospective Student-Athlete	Coach	NCAA Violations
Yancy Gates	Senderoff	2
DeJuan Blair	Senderoff	2
Demetri McCamey	Senderoff	3
Marcus and Markieff Morris	Senderoff	1
Evan Turner	Senderoff	1
Jonathon "Bud" Mackey	Senderoff	22 ⁵
Scott Martin	Meyer	1

⁴ The university reported in the October 3 report to the NCAA Division I Committee on Infractions that there were 35 calls in violation of NCAA rules. Upon further review of the phone records following this submission, it was determined that three phone calls to one prospect, Jonathon "Bud" Mackey ("Mackey") should not have been counted as violations of NCAA rules as there were no prior countable calls that had occurred during the respective months. These three calls were thus permissible under NCAA rules. (See Attachment C for more details regarding these three calls.)

⁵Due to the determination described in footnote 4, the number of calls to Mackey that violate NCAA rules is 22, rather than the 25 initially reported.

Attachment C contains charts summarizing the impermissible calls by prospect.

B. Explanation Regarding Why Violations Are Secondary in Nature.

The university and Ice Miller have concluded that these violations are secondary in nature because they were isolated; provided at most a minimum, if any, recruiting, competitive or other advantage; and did not include any recruiting inducement or extra benefit.

It is understood that multiple secondary violations can be considered a major violation. However, classification of these calls as a major violation would not be appropriate in this case for the reasons discussed below and based on case precedent where multiple violations were classified as secondary in nature. Specific to recruiting, Case Nos. 32041, 30418 and 30669 concerned repeated violations involving several prospects and were determined to be secondary in nature. (See Attachment D.) Two of these cases involved repeated impermissible phone calls, 24 in Case No. 32041 and 28 in No. 30418, and the other case (No. 30669) involved 57 prospects.⁶

The calls in this case are isolated as they involved only one sport and one bylaw. Moreover, the vast majority of the calls (22) were between one coach and one prospect (Mackey) during a four-month period (from March through June 2007) and were not designed to solicit a commitment from the prospective student-athlete to attend Indiana University.⁷ Of the remaining ten calls, only four presumably resulted in a recruiting conversation (as set forth in Attachment C).

The majority of phone calls at issue here were of limited duration, resulting in little, if any substantive conversation. Almost 60% (19) of the phone calls lasted only one or two minutes, 91% (29) were ten minutes or less and there were no calls exceeding twenty minutes. Even though 32 calls were placed, it is probable that at most only 13 resulted in an actual conversation. The one or two minute phone calls are counted as impermissible calls because they were placed after a permissible call had occurred during the relevant time period. Nonetheless, it is worth noting that, particularly given the fact that cell phone carriers begin timing the call while the phone is ringing and only report calls in whole minutes, it is likely that at most a message was left and no conversation occurred during these calls.

The following chart provides a breakdown by length of call:

⁶ See also Case Nos. 32391 and 27263 for two additional cases that were classified as secondary despite numerous violations that occurred over several years.

⁷ The prospect had orally committed to the university in the Fall of 2006. Senderoff reported that the calls occurred because the prospect was not doing well in school and the prospective student-athlete's mother asked him to encourage the prospect with his academics.

Length of Call Contrary to NCAA Rules	Number of Calls	Percentage of Calls
Total Calls	32	100%
1 or 2 minutes	19	59%
3-10 minutes	10	31%
11-20 minutes	3	9%
Over 20 minutes	0	0%

As noted above, almost 70% (22) of the phone calls were to one prospective student-athlete, who the university has ceased recruiting. Further, of the 22 calls to this prospect, 13 were less than three minutes in duration and likely resulted in no discussion. In addition, none of the five members of the recruiting class of 2007 committed to or are attending Indiana University and the remaining prospect has committed to another institution (Cincinnati). There was thus no recruiting advantage gained from these violations.

It should also be noted that only one phone call (to Demetri McCamey or "McCamey") out of the 32 impermissible phone calls was recorded in the university's recruiting database "Cybersports". Without the compliance office being aware of other unrecorded phone calls for McCamey, this one recorded call appeared to be permissible.

Finally, the 32 phone calls reported as violations constitute the maximum possible number of violations. For example, every apparently impermissible one or two minute call (19 calls) is counted as impermissible, even though it was likely no substantive conversation had occurred. In addition, two calls to the father of a prospect (Yancy Gates) are presumed to be impermissible because Senderoff reported that recruiting was discussed during calls with the father, even though the calls could have been considered permissible because the father is also a high school and AAU coach.⁸ Although it appears that no substantive conversation occurred during these two calls, which were 31 seconds and at most two minutes in duration, the university has included these calls in this report consistent with its approach of counting as impermissible any questionable call. The university has also included in this report two phone calls to another prospect (to DeJuan Blair in July) because a three-minute call earlier that month was considered a countable call, even though a notation in Cybersports indicated that only a message had been left. Although the two calls could be considered permissible since they are only two minutes in duration and would be permissible attempts if the initial three-minute call is considered a noncountable message, the university included the two subsequent calls in this report consistent with its conservative approach of counting any questionable calls as impermissible.

⁸ It should be noted that Senderoff subsequently explained that when he reported in his interview that recruiting was discussed, it was because when conversations occurred with the father he had discussed more than one prospect on the father's team, not just the father's son. He further explained that these conversations were consistent with the general nature of other conversations with fathers who were also coaches, and were in contrast to conversations with fathers who were not coaches.

Further, the impermissible call reported regarding Marcus and Markieff Morris is a violation only because the university adopted a very conservative approach in counting any call to the mother as a call to both brothers, even though only one prospect might have been discussed in any individual call. (See the footnotes in Attachment C for more detailed explanations regarding these calls.) Thus, the university could have reasonably reported significantly fewer violations.

C. Explanation Regarding Why the Impermissible Calls Occurred.

A September 12, 2007, interview with Senderoff primarily focused on his unreported use of his home phone for recruiting phone calls. Senderoff did not deny that the calls occurred but was able to offer a little explanation as to why he neither reported the use of his home phone for recruiting nor the actual recruiting calls that were made. He explained that when he reported information regarding his recruiting calls to be included in the athletics department recruiting database "Cybersports," he would scroll down the list of calls he made from his cell phone and list those that were related to recruiting. Senderoff used his cell phone for the vast majority of his recruiting calls. He made approximately 1300 calls from his cell phone each month and, in comparison, rarely used his home phone. Senderoff reported that he forgot to include the calls from his home phone since he submitted this information while in the office. Senderoff further stated that when submitting his monthly forms indicating the phones he used for recruiting he forgot to include his home phone. He admitted that this practice was sloppy and/or careless.

Senderoff explained that, as to the majority of the calls that violated NCAA rules, because the prospect (Jonathon "Bud" Mackey) had orally committed in the Fall of 2006, he had not been careful about tracking these calls. Further, regarding Yancy Gates, he believed the calls to the father were permissible as the father was the prospect's coach. Senderoff believed additional calls to the Morris twins were allowed as there were two prospects being recruited.⁹ Despite these explanations, the university has determined violations occurred.

During an October 1, 2007, interview Meyer reported that he primarily used his cell phone for recruiting calls and only occasionally made recruiting calls from his office or home phones. He stated that he did not list his home phone on the monthly forms reporting the phones he used for recruiting purposes because he did not yet have a home phone when he initially completed the form the first few months of his employment. When asked why he did not include his home phone on later forms, Meyer stated he thought the forms were only a formality and thus did not change what he previously reported. He noted that he had not realized at the time the importance of the monthly forms. Meyer reported that he initially tracked all of his recruiting calls in a notebook before submitting the information for inclusion in Cybersports. However, as he started to make more phone calls while traveling, he stopped recording the information in a notebook and relied on the call log in his cell phone to report his recruiting phone calls for monitoring purposes. Meyer also noted that he used Vonage for his home phone and did not receive any details regarding his outgoing calls until the university requested his records during the course of this investigation.

Further, the lone violation involving Meyer has extenuating circumstances. Meyer called a prospect's (Scott Martin's) home for nine minutes; however, he was on hold the majority of this time waiting for other family members to ask the prospect to come to the phone. While waiting, he chatted briefly with the young man's mother before she told the coach that the prospect was not home. Meyer ended the call and then called the prospect the next day, believing that the first call should not count.

Indiana University is troubled by this disregard for university policies and procedures, particularly as the assistant coaches' failure to notify the compliance office about the use of the home phones for recruiting and the failure to report the calls made from home prevented the compliance office from effectively monitoring these calls and identifying these issues earlier. Accordingly, the university has imposed corrective actions and sanctions, as set forth in Attachment B.

Attachment B

14. Corrective Actions and Self-Imposed Sanctions Taken by the Institution:

In light of the actions of the men's basketball coaches and the calls that were contrary to the sanctions and to NCAA rules, the university determined that significant additional corrective actions and sanctions were necessary. These penalties were designed to directly impact the coaches involved as well as the men's basketball program as a whole, and are intended to address both violations of Committee on Infractions sanctions reported previously as well as violations of NCAA bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 as contained herein. The university believes that these corrective actions and sanctions send a strong message that complete commitment to NCAA compliance is expected and required of all coaches and staff. (It should be noted that in evaluating the extent of the additional sanctions, the university used the maximum number of potentially impermissible calls.)

Corrective Actions

- a. Sampson voluntarily agreed over the next twelve-month period to forego his scheduled $500,000 raise for this current contract year.
- b. Senderoff and Meyer will not be entitled to any bonuses for the 2007-08 academic year or salary increases for the 2008-09 academic year.
- c. Letters of reprimand will be issued to Sampson, Senderoff and Meyer.
- d. A letter will be included in the personnel file for McCallum.
- e. The university will require Senderoff to sign a form each month reminding him of these corrective actions and sanctions and will require him to submit his monthly home phone records for review, in addition to his cell and office phone records.
- f. The compliance office will conduct mandatory compliance meetings every other week for the full men's basketball coaching staff (i.e., head coach, assistant coaches, and director of basketball operations) for one year.
- g. Sampson and Senderoff will be required to attend at their own expense the same 2008 NCAA Regional Rules Seminar as a member of the university's compliance staff. Meyer and McCallum will also be required to attend the seminar.
- h. The university has ceased the recruitment of prospective student-athlete Jonathon "Bud" Mackey, the subject of the vast majority (25) of the NCAA violations.

Self-Imposed Sanctions

- a. The university has, effective September 17, 2007, reduced the number of coaches allowed to be involved in recruiting by one through July 31, 2008. Specifically,

Senderoff will be prohibited from: (i) making ANY phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting (whether or not they are countable under NCAA rules); and (ii) engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. When Senderoff leaves the employment of the University's men's basketball program, if prior to July 31, 2008, another assistant coach will serve the remainder of this sanction.

b. The university will reduce by one the number of men's basketball financial aid awards for the 2008-09 academic year.

c. The university will reduce the number of permissible calls to prospects on or after August 1 of their senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week from September 17, 2007, through the end of the regular National Letter of Intent signing period (May 21, 2008). Further, Sampson is only eligible to make every other one of these phone calls. [Note: With approximately 20 senior recruits and a 35-week period, this sanction reduces calling opportunities by approximately 700 phone calls, including an additional reduction of 350 calls for Sampson].

d. The university will reduce the number of phone calls Sampson will be permitted to make to junior prospective student-athletes to every other one of the monthly calls to junior prospects beginning September 17, 2007, and ending July 31, 2008.

e. The university limited Sampson to four (4) off-campus recruiting contact days during the fall 2007 contact period.

f. The university will limit Sampson to no more than ten (10) additional off-campus recruiting days to be used from the conclusion of the fall contact period (October 5, 2007) through July 31, 2008.

[Note: Sampson's typical practice has been to divide the off-campus recruiting person-days by the four coaches. Therefore, since there are 130 recruiting person-days during the academic year and 20 person-days by three coaches during the July recruiting period, his off-campus recruiting days have been reduced from approximately 48 ($130 + (20 \times 3) = 190 \div 4 \text{ coaches} = 48$) to 14, a 71% reduction.))]

g. The university will reduce the number of permissible official paid visits from 12 to six (6) during the 2007-08 academic year.

h. The university will submit a report to the Committee by September 30, 2008, documenting compliance with these additional sanctions.

Attachment C

Summary of Impermissible Recruiting Calls Under NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2¹

YANCY GATES – CLASS OF 2008

Date	Involved Prospect	Cell/Home	Time of Call	Minutes	NCAA Violation	Recorded in Cybersports [Investigative notes in brackets.]
5/31/2006	Yancy Gates	RS Office	10:32 a.m.	0:31	Yes-A ²	No [Note: Prospect's father (Tony Dees) is his AAU coach and assistant coach. The number called is listed as the father's cell phone.]
6/7/2006	Yancy Gates	RS Cell	5:05 p.m.	2	Yes-A ³	No [Note: Senderoff reported the call was to the prospect's father who is an AAU coach and assistant coach.]

DEJUAN BLAIR – CLASS OF 2007

Date	Involved Prospect	Cell/Home	Time of Call	Minutes	NCAA Violation	Recorded in Cybersports [Investigative notes in brackets.]
7/19/2006	DeJuan Blair	RS Cell	8:15 p.m.	2	Yes-B ⁴	No
7/22/2006	DeJuan Blair	RS Cell	4:51 p.m.	2	Yes-B ⁵	No

EVAN TURNER – CLASS OF 2007

Date	Involved Prospect	Cell/Home	Time of Call	Minutes	NCAA Violation	Recorded in Cybersports [Investigative notes in brackets.]
5/11/2006	Evan Turner	RS Cell	11:01 p.m.	14	Yes-B	No

² The institution and Ice Miller counted the May 31 and June 7 calls as impermissible under NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 (in this case, a call before June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school) because Senderoff stated in an interview that he did discuss recruiting when he spoke with the prospect's father, who also happens to be a high school and AAU coach. Upon further review, it appears likely that, on these two occasions, no substantive recruiting conversation took place because the length of the calls were 31 seconds (for the call from the office phone) and between 61 seconds and 2 minutes (for the call from the cell phone). However, consistent with its approach of counting as impermissible any questionable call, these two calls are included in this report.

⁴ The institution and Ice Miller counted the July 19 and 22 calls as impermissible under NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 because there was a 3-minute call on July 18, 2006 that was considered a countable call. However, upon further review of the handwritten logs and Cybersports recruiting database, there is a notation indicating that Senderoff left a message during the July 18, 3-minute call. The July 19 and 22 calls might thus be considered noncountable as they each were only two minutes long and would be permissible attempts if the call on July 18 is considered a noncountable message. The two calls are, however, included in this report consistent with the university's conservative approach of reporting any questionable calls.

DEMETRI McCAMEY – CLASS OF 2007

Date	Involved Prospect	Cell/Home	Time of Call	Minutes	NCAA Violation	Recorded in Cybersports [Investigative notes in brackets.]
5/7/2006	Demetri McCamey	RS Cell	7:56 p.m.	2	Yes-B	No
5/9/2006	Demetri McCamey	RS Cell	10:56 p.m.	20	Yes-B	Yes
5/30/2006	Demetri McCamey	RS Cell	11:24 p.m.	1	Yes-B	No

MARCUS AND MARKIEFF MORRIS – CLASS OF 2007⁶

Date	Involved Prospect	Cell/Home	Time of Call	Minutes	NCAA Violation	Recorded in Cybersports [Investigative notes in brackets.]
6/29/2006	Markieff Morris	RS Cell	12:12 p.m.	9	Yes-B	No [Note: The call was to the twins' mother. The university is counting all calls to the mother as a call regarding both Marcus and Markieff.]

SCOTT MARTIN – CLASS OF 2007

Date	Involved Prospect	Cell/Home	Time of Call	Minutes	NCAA Violation	Recorded in Cybersports [Investigative notes in brackets.]
7/18/2006	Scott Martin	JM Home	?	8	Yes-B	No

JONATHAN "BUD" MACKEY – CLASS OF 2008

Date	Involved Prospect	Cell/Home	Time of Call	Minutes	NCAA Violation	Recorded in Cybersports [Investigative notes in brackets.]
3/1/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	9:16 p.m.	5	Yes-B	No
4/8/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Cell	8:96 p.m.	2	No ⁸	No

⁶ Marcus and Markieff Morris are twins. As both prospects were recruited by the university, counting the calls for each brother and determining the impermissible calls was more complex than with the other prospects. Under NCAA rules, the limits on the number of phone calls apply to each brother individually and allow coaches to call each brother during the same time period. However, several of the calls were to the twins' mother and Senderoff did not record whether the call concerned one or both brothers. The university has, consistent with its conservative and strict approach to err on the side of caution, determined that each call with the mother thus counts as a countable call for both brothers. As a result of this approach this call was determined to be a violation even though it would have been permissible if the conversation solely concerned Marcus.

⁷ Meyer's home telephone provider is Vonage, which doesn't provide detailed billing.

⁸ In the October 3 report to the Committee on Infractions, the April 8 and 16 calls were mistakenly included as violations. Per NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, the coaching staff could call Mackey once a month. As the April 8 call was the first call to Mackey for the month and as it was only two minutes long, it should be noncountable and permissible. The April 16 call is thus the permissible call for the month of April.

Date	Involved Prospect	Cell/Home	Time of Call	Minutes	NCAA Violation	Recorded in Cybersports [Investigative notes in brackets.]
4/16/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Cell	5:09 p.m.	4	No ⁹	No [Note: This is the number for Earl Mackey, Bud's granddad.]
4/23/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	9:24 p.m.	1	Yes-B	No
4/23/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	9:26 p.m.	2	Yes-B	No
4/23/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	9:28 p.m.	5	Yes-B	No
5/7/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	9:16 p.m.	1	Yes-B	No
5/7/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	9:16 p.m.	1	Yes-B	No
5/7/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	9:17 p.m.	1	Yes-B	No
5/7/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	9:53 p.m.	1	Yes-B	No
5/20/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	10:40 p.m.	1	Yes-B	No
5/20/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	10:43 p.m.	2	Yes-B	No
5/23/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	9:12 p.m.	6	Yes-B	No
5/27/2007	Bud Mackey	RS Home	8:36 p.m.	1	Yes-B	No

¹⁰ In the October 3 report to the Committee on Infractions, the July 17 call was mistakenly included as a violation. Per NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, the coaching staff could call Mackey once a month and this was the first call made during the month of July and was thus permissible.

Involved Sports:

Men's Track, Outdoor

Facts:

During the 2006-07 academic year, the head men's track coach had 16 impermissible telephone contacts with a men's track prospective student-athlete (PSA #1) and eight impermissible telephone contacts with a second PSA #2). Specifically, between October 31, 2006, and January 5, 2007, the coach made 16 impermissible calls to the PSA #1, and between December 27, 2006, and January 5, 2007, the coach made eight impermissible calls to PSA #2. Poor record keeping led to the track and field recruiting coordinators and the compliance office being unable to accurately monitor the coach's telephone calls. Most of the calls were made because neither of the PSAs spoke English and the coach spoke their language and could explain the process of enrolling and other translational issues.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

The coach will not make recruiting phone calls for a period of 48 weeks beginning January 22, 2007. Other men's track staff members, no calls for 24 weeks. The coach will not have any off-campus contact with PSAs of any kind for 48 weeks beginning January 22, 2007. A full time recruiting coordinator will be designated/hired to oversee all areas of recruiting in the track program and ensure timely submission of all required reports. The coach will review rules with compliance office. Letter of reprimand will be placed in the coach's file. Sport supervision for track will be reassigned within the department and supervisor will supply monthly reports on all recruiting activity to the director of athletics, as well as ensure that all reports are timely submitted. The coach will be placed on a probationary status and any further NCAA infractions in his track reassignment or termination of employment at the athletic director's discretion. The coach, in consultation with athletic director, shall review and consolidate all non-track obligations that the coach currently has outside of the athletic department, in order to focus on his primary responsibilities within the track program. The coaches in track and in cross country will attend 2007 rules seminars. Two student-athletes are being held out and will not participate in the 2006-07 indoor season.

Enforcement Action:

No further action.

Eligibility Action:

STAFF: Eligibility reinstated.

Rationale:

STAFF: Based on case precedent. Please note the staff considered imposing a reinstatement condition to negate the recruiting advantage gained by the institution specifically the high number of phone calls made to PSA no. 1. However, the staff felt that the responsibility for this violation fell on the institution and cannot be appropriately addressed in Student-Athlete Reinstatement.

Women's Basketball

Facts:

During the 2005-06 academic year, an assistant women's basketball coach exceeded one permissible telephone call per week to six women's basketball prospective student-athletes (PSAs). Specifically, the assistant coach initiated impermissible telephone calls, after it otherwise was permissible to have such contact, to the PSAs on 28 different occasions. The assistant coach initiated 12 impermissible telephone calls to one PSA (four of which were messages), six impermissible telephone calls to a second PSA (five of which were messages), six impermissible telephone calls to a third PSA (four of which were messages), one impermissible telephone call to a fourth PSA, one impermissible telephone call to a fifth PSA and one impermissible telephone call and one impermissible message to a sixth PSA. The violations occurred because the assistant coach failed to accurately document his recruiting activities. Each of the six PSAs signed with and will be attending other institutions.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

As a result of this violation, the interim head women's basketball coach has provided the assistant coach with a logging system that can be used to maintain an accurate log of his recruiting activities. In addition, the compliance office has reviewed the applicable recruiting legislation with the assistant coach with the expectation that this type of recruiting violation does not reoccur, and the assistant coach will receive a letter of reprimand. The assistant coach will be notified in his letter of reprimand that the office of human resources will be contacted to determine if additional punitive action can be taken. Since the institution is no longer recruiting the above mentioned PSAs, the assistant coach will be prohibited from contacting any PSA for four weeks beginning September 1, 2006. In addition, the assistant coach will be prohibited from recruiting off-campus for half of the permissible recruiting period during the 2006-07 year.

Enforcement Action:

The enforcement staff is extremely concerned regarding the number of impermissible calls made and the assistant coach's apparent lack of knowledge of basic NCAA recruiting legislation and failure to monitor recruiting calls. Further, the staff gave serious consideration to processing these violations as a major infractions case. The institution should be required to prohibit the entire women's basketball coaching staff from telephoning any PSAs who have not previously signed a National Letter of Intent with the institution from May 1, 2007, until September 1, 2007. In addition, please note that four of the PSAs are ineligible for intercollegiate competition at the institution until their eligibility is restored by the NCAA student-athlete reinstatement staff. If the institution seeks reinstatement for any of these PSAs in the future, the enforcement staff will re-evaluate this matter to determine if additional actions or penalties should be imposed.

Facts:

Institution engaged in impermissible recruiting activity with 57 prospective student-athletes (PSAs) during their official visits. In addition, the associate athletics director for football operations sent impermissible letters to PSAs prior to their official visits during the 2004-05 and 2005-06 academic years. Specifically, institution discovered associate athletics director for football operations sent impermissible letters (in that it was not prepared by a head coach or one of the full-time assistant coaches) to PSAs prior to their official visits in fall 2005 and similar letters from him had been placed in the hotel rooms of the PSAs on their arrival to campus for official visits. The main purpose of the letters was to provide a copy of the institution's campus visit conduct guidelines. Institution discovered that similar letters had been sent during the 2004-05 academic year as well. During institution's review, it discovered a large cookie snack was placed in the hotel room for each PSA on an official visit and the cookie was personalized with the PSA's first name, which is a violation of NCAA legislation as it is a personalized recruiting aid. The violations were discovered in January 2006 during a review of the official visit reports.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

Compliance staff reviewed applicable recruiting legislation with the associate athletics director for football operations and his support staff. They were informed that no personalized recruiting aids could be used at any location when a prospect visits the institution. They were informed that only the head football coach and nine full-time assistant coaches are permitted to prepare and send general recruiting correspondence to PSAs, their parents or their legal guardians. They were also informed that no personalized recruiting aids could be used at any location when a PSA visits. Athletics director sent a letter of reprimand to the associate athletics director for football operations and a letter of admonishment to the assistant director of football operations and required them to attend a 2006 NCAA Regional Rules Compliance Seminar. An additional full-time compliance assistant has been hired to assist with monitoring of recruiting in all sports. Finally, applicable recruiting legislation will be points of emphasis at the institution's next NCAA Rules and Compliance Education meeting with all coaches.

Facts:

For several years, numerous prospective student-athletes (PSAs) across all sports incorrectly received institutional waivers of the admissions and housing deposits. Specifically a waiver was provided from the admissions office of the $250 acceptance deposit to PSAs that sign a National Letter of Intent (NLI), as well as a waiver of the housing deposit for all PSAs on scholarship living in the athletics department allotment of on-campus housing. Institution reported this had been a standard practice that the previous compliance personnel did not question. Specifically, the waiver of deposit fees was used because the NLI itself was a binding promise to attend the institution if admitted and, therefore, a deposit was not needed to hold that PSA's seat in the incoming class. The housing deposit was waived as it was a portion of PSA's future housing charges, which would be paid by the athletics scholarship. PSAs not signing a NLI or not on a full scholarship did not receive these waivers. These waivers covered deposits, which were permissible to refund to the athletes and thus the SAs did not receive any net financial benefit but standard practice was impermissible in procedure. The violation was discovered when the director of compliance was reviewing the draft of a self-study report.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

Institution has modified its procedures with an immediate effective date to require PSAs pay all acceptance and housing deposits and fees. The expenses will be refunded only to PSAs who have been awarded financial aid covering institutional fees. A memorandum has been issued to all athletics department staff concerning this change of policy. The compliance office has also notified the admissions and housing offices of the legislation and will schedule a yearly educational meeting with each office.

Facts:

For approximately the last 10 summers, including the summer of 2004, the institution provided numerous student-athletes (SAs) on various sports teams with impermissible athletically related aid during the summer in that the amounts received exceeded amounts permitted by NCAA legislation for summer school. (The institution is seeking reinstatement for 25 SAs who have eligibility remaining and who received impermissible aid during the 2003 and 2004 summers. The amounts of impermissible aid received by SAs ranged between $400.50 and $2,142.50.) Specifically, the institution incorrectly calculated the equivalency amounts for athletically related summer financial aid over this 10-year period. When determining the percentage of summer aid awarded for each SA who received less than a full grant-in-aid during the academic year, the institution used the value associated with full-time enrollment for summer term as defined by the financial aid office as the cost of tuition, room and board and books for an SA taking three eight-week courses. However, per NCAA regulations, the percentage of summer aid should have been awarded based on the SA's actual cost of attendance, as opposed to the cost of full-time enrollment for the summer term. Prior to the start of the summer term, SAs received notification of the amount of summer aid they were to receive and that it was equal to the percentage of aid they received during the academic year. The SAs relied on this information when making their decision whether to attend summer school. With the exception of one SA, none of the 25 SAs involved required summer courses to be eligible the following year. In addition, the institution could have used the Student-Athlete Opportunity Fund to permissibly pay for the SA's courses in the summer of 2004. The institution discovered the violations through an established, periodic audit documented by an outside agency per institutional policies and procedures.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

Institution will reduce the amount of summer aid awarded to its SAs in the summers of 2006 and 2007 by the amounts of $20,952.63 and $6,127.10, which represent the total amount of summer aid that was over-awarded to currently enrolled SAs during the summers of 2004 and 2003. In addition, staff members from the compliance, academic services and financial aid offices will be required to attend a financial aid educational session conducted by the conference office and will also attend the conference spring workshop scheduled for April 2006 and the 2006 NCAA Regional Rules Compliance Seminar. The internal auditing procedures have been amended to include an annual review of the summer financial aid awarding procedures for at least the next five years after which the institution will evaluate whether to return to the one-in-four years audit. Letters of reprimand would have been placed in the files of those responsible for the oversight of the financial aid process between 1995 and 2004; however, those individuals no longer are employed by the institution. As a result of a comprehensive investigation to determine how the violations could have occurred, the institution has made several changes relative to the process for awarding athletically related summer financial aid. The compliance office will also increase educational efforts for its SAs relative to financial aid with emphasis placed on the calculation of summer athletically related aid.

Enforcement Action:

Although the enforcement staff is concerned regarding the length of time over which the violations occurred and the number of SAs involved, it was determined that the case should be classified as secondary. The decision to process the case as secondary primarily was based on the following factors: (1) The violations were the result of a misinterpretation of only one area of the financial aid legislation; (2) only one of the student-athletes with eligibility remaining needed summer school courses to be eligible; and (3) during the summer of 2004 (which involved the vast majority of the impermissible funds) the institution could have paid for the summer courses through the Student-Athlete Opportunity Fund. In addition, it was determined that no further action should be taken in the matter.

Eligibility Action:

STAFF: Eligibility reinstated for 24 SAs who did not need summer school hours. Eligibility reinstated based on repayment of impermissible aid for the one SA who required the courses.

Rationale:

STAFF: Based on the totality of the circumstances. The staff provided relief in this case based on the institutional error. SAs made decision to take summer school classes based on information provided by institution regarding the amount of aid they would receive. Further, the staff noted the classes were not needed for eligibility purposes. In this case, the staff felt the high institutional involvement in arranging, encouraging and incorrectly informing SAs of amount of aid for which they were eligible was more appropriately addressed through actions against institution than through requiring repayment of SA's who did not need the class. Repayment was required for the SA who needed the classes to be eligible.

Ms. Jennifer Brinegar

Bloomington, Indiana 47408-1590

Dear Ms. Brinegar:

Thank you for your letter of May 31, 2006, directed to me as acting chair of the NCAA Division I Committee on Infractions. I will attempt to answer the questions you raised in the order they were presented to the committee.

Regarding questions 1-4, the committee considers this to be an issue of "strict liability" for Indiana, that is, if Coach Sampson chooses to attend an event (or if the institution allows him to attend an event) and prospects happen to be present, he runs the risk of being in violation of the committee's sanction. If he or the institution chooses to assume that certain functions will not be attended by prospects, it is done with the same understanding.

Regarding question 5, the limitation on the number of coaches permitted on the road is not reduced by Coach Sampson's removal from the road. Of course, all other coaches must be certified to recruit off-campus per NCAA rules.

Regarding question 6, Indiana is accurate and not too restrictive in its interpretation. As is stated in the committee's report, Coach Sampson cannot make ANY calls that relate in any way to recruiting, including calls to the individuals mentioned in your letter. Also, yes, the committee's order is violated if Coach Sampson has one of his assistants tell a prospect to call Coach Sampson at a specific time arranged by the coaches.

Regarding questions 7, 8, 9 and 11, the answer is no. Regarding question 10, no, Coach Sampson cannot call him back.

Finally, in response to question 12, once the time for perfecting an appeal has run, none can be filed. Therefore, if the NCAA does not receive the notice of appeal in a timely fashion, the NCAA will be aware that no appeal has been taken.

Subject: Clarification of COI Penalties
Attachments: Clarification COI Sanctions.doc

Please see the attached memo which provides the committee on infractions ("COI") responses (in italicized red font) to the questions we had regarding the application of the penalties set forth by the COI.

A brief summary:

1. The COI holds IU strictly liable if any prospects are in attendance at any off campus speaking engagement.
2. Coach Sampson's local radio show should either be broadcast from an on-campus site (e.g., Yogi's, Lennie's) or at a site off-campus that is secure and closed to the public (to ensure that no prospects are present).
3. Coach Sampson (nor any of his assistant coaches) can text message (or call, in the case of an assistant) a prospect and tell him to call Coach Sampson. Given the wording of the COI reply to this specific question, it appears to be okay for the text message to provide his number (which a text message does automatically anyway) and say words to the effect, "You can call me anytime at your convenience."
4. The assistant coaches may not bring Coach Sampson in on a 3-way call with a prospect, parent or coach, even if the call originated from the prospect, parent or coach.
5. If a prospect, parent or coach calls Coach Sampson and the call is dropped (e.g., bad cell connection), the prospect, parent or coach must call back. Coach Sampson is not allowed to return dropped calls.
6. Indiana is still allowed to have our maximum limit of coaches on the road at any one time.

I will send out a copy of the letter from the COI to everyone listed in this email. In the meantime, please let me know if you have any further questions.

Thanks.

COMPLIANCE MEMORANDUM

To: MBB Coaching Staff

From: Jennifer Brinegar

Date: June 13, 2006

Re: Clarification of COI Sanctions

Below, please find answers from the committee on infractions to our questions regarding the application of the sanctions assessed Coach Sampson and the Indiana basketball program.

1. We would like clarification regarding the prohibition on outside speaking engagements. Specifically, what is the institution's obligation to monitor attendance at the few speaking engagements Coach Sampson may make during the next year on behalf of our institution?

Regarding questions 1-4, the COI considers this to be an issue of "strict liability" for Indiana, that is, if Coach Sampson chooses to attend an event (or if the institution allows him to attend an event) and prospects happen to be present, he runs the risk of being in violation of the committee's sanction. If he or the institution chooses to assume that certain functions will not be attended by prospects, it is done with the same understanding (we will be held strictly liable for violating the sanction if a prospect-aged individual happens to show up.

2. For example, Coach Sampson was previously scheduled to speak at a local black tie fundraiser for the American Heart Association this weekend. What happens if an attendee brings his or her son or daughter in place of a business associate who cancels at the last minute?

We would be held strictly liable for violating the restriction against being off-campus in the presence of prospects.

Is the intent of this restriction aimed at recruiting only? No. If so, is it possible to look at the target audience and then not hold Coach Sampson or the institution responsible if there happen to be a few prospect-aged individuals in the audience (using perhaps a reasonable person standard for determining in advance who the target audience is)? No (really not applicable since the answer to the first question was "no").

What about at our IU booster/donor events? We typically schedule the majority of these in the summer – around golf outings – they are aimed at the boosters/donors, but what happens if they bring along their children or grandchildren?

Again, we would be strictly liable for violating the sanctions imposed by the COI if a prospect was present at any off-campus speaking engagement, regardless of the "target" audience.

3. Coach Sampson has a long-standing speaking engagement at the 20 year reunion of the movie "Hoosiers" which is taking place in Knightstown, Indiana, where much of the movie was filmed. Is it okay for him to fulfill his obligation even though this event is open to the public and there may be prospect-aged individuals in the audience?

He should not attend any speaking engagement or function if there is any chance a prospect-aged individual could be present.

4. What about his local radio show during the season – it is broadcast from a local restaurant and he does take questions from the audience (actually, the host, Don Fisher, acts as the moderator and he is the one who takes the calls/questions)?

Again, see above. IU needs to have Coach Sampson's local radio show on campus if it's open to the general public.

What happens if prospect-aged individuals are eating at the restaurant during the show?

See above.

What happens if there are prospect-aged females in attendance at a speaking engagement?

See above. The committee did not limit the restrictions to male prospects. The restrictions apply to all prospects.

5. It doesn't appear that the COI limited the number of IU coaches who could be on the road at any one time except for the fact that Coach Sampson can not be out at all. Is this an accurate statement?

The limitation on the number of coaches permitted on the road is not reduced by Coach Sampson's removal from the road. Of course, all other coaches must be certified to recruit off-campus per NCAA rules.

6. Exactly who can Coach Sampson call? He is restricted from "making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls." The restriction certainly applies to prospects, their coaches, and their parents. We can't think of anyone whom he should be permitted to call that has a relationship to high school, JC, or AAU basketball. Is our interpretation too restrictive? Does it violate the spirit of the penalties if the assistants make a recruiting call and tell the person to call Sampson at some specific time that Sampson has arranged?

We are accurate and not too restrictive in our interpretation. As is stated in the committee's report, Coach Sampson cannot make ANY calls that relate in any way to recruiting, including calls to the individuals mentioned above. Also, yes, the committee's order is violated if Coach Sampson has one of his assistants tell a prospect to call Coach Sampson at a specific time arranged by the coaches.

7. Can Coach Sampson text message a recruit and type: "Call me at 1-800-IUBBALL" (or whatever his phone number is)? No.
8. If an AAU or HS coach calls one of the IU assistant coaches and then adds a prospect in on a 3-way call, can the assistant coach add in Coach Sampson at that time (since the original call was initiated by the AAU or HS coach and not by anyone at IU)? No.
9. Once a prospect signs an NLI, is it possible for Coach Sampson to call him and to have off-campus contact with him (can he make a home visit to a current NLI signee)? No.
10. What happens if Coach Sampson receives a call from a prospect (or coach or parent), but loses the connection (common problem with cell phones)? The prospect, parent or coach must call Coach Sampson back. Can he call back or must he wait for the prospect (or coach or parent) to call him back? No, he cannot call them back. He must wait for the prospect, coach or parent to call him back.
11. Can Coach Sampson call high school and/or AAU coaches about basketball related issues, such as talking about our offense, defense, etc.? No.
12. If the institution determines we will not be appealing or contesting any findings made by the committee, do we need to notify you of that decision or is notification only necessary if we did decide to appeal or contest any findings? Once the time for perfecting an appeal has run, none can be filed. Therefore, if the NCAA does not receive the notice of appeal in a timely fashion, the NCAA will be aware that no appeal has been taken.

Indiana athletic director Rick Greenspan and head basketball coach Kelvin Sampson took teleconference questions for over a half hour today from reporters following a news release outline self imposed sanctions on impermissible phone calls. Read the first half of what was said.

Q&A session with Greenspan, Sampson, Grace Calhoun Associate Athletic Director-Compliance and Student Development, Robin Green Harris- Ice Miller

Two things that jumped out here....that Kelvin will forego a $500,000 raise in '07-08 and that Rob Senderoff is not allowed to recruit for a year. If you could just expand on both of those points, obviously on the severity of both of those. The figure is certainly very high and with Rob not being able to recruit for a full year, that is pretty serious as well.

Greenspan: Let me start with coach. Coach was scheduled to receive a significant increase this year and I as well as members of the administration reviewed these matters and it became very clear that while the majority of the issues involved are all sanctions, he should take responsibility for those that were in the basket. TI think it shows a rather strong statement and willingness to cooperate with that voluntary reduction of compensation. It is a significant amount for everyone.

The second is with an assistant coach we disciplined. Again I share (inaudible). I think it is significant for any of you that follow college basketball to take an assistant coach off the road and off the phones for a period of a year. Again it was the institution's recommendation that we put this on the coaching staff to show our expectations on compliance or how seriously we take these matters.

Can you tell us how much money the university paid for the Ice Miller investigation?

Greenspan: I can't because I don't know yet (more comments were made but no details given on costs).

Rick, when Kelvin was hired you said that if there were future problems that you would potentially be able to terminate his contract. Is this a fireable offense? Something you considered?

Greenspan: We have had is what we think we have done is a very, very thorough investigation. Very broad participation with those on campus who we think are important. To and including the President. We determined that these sanctions were significant, they were severe and they were appropriate. We also had discussions with legal counsel on contractual issues and that is probably the only thing I can say at this point.

When you participated in the three-way calls that Rob set up, at that moment did you stop and think whether those were allowed under your sanctions?

Sampson: All the three way calls were made to me. My assistant coaches did a great job of saying Coach can't call you because of the sanctions, will you call him? And that is what they did. After we looked at the records and found out there were some three way calls made we found out that Rob, after the kid could not reach me on my cell phone because of cell service or whatever, they would call Coach Senderoff and say Coach Sampson is unavailable. So what Rob was doing was patching the calls into me after Rob had made the connection. So Rob was basically an operator. This was 10 calls out of thousands and it is disappointing. We are trying to get 100% compliance here. If we had 10 out of thousands then that is 10 too many.

Grace Calhoun: Most of the problems we are dealing with in our report to the NCAA are problems of the sanctions, not NCAA violations.

Coach, what do you say to fans that feel betrayed by this news and feel hurt by more types of these violations coming down?

Sampson: Disappointed. We have been dealing with these sanctions from May 25th to May 25th. When it was over we were under the impression that the thing was over. We were confident that we had followed all the rules. I want to go back to what Andy asked about the three-ways. Other than one call, I was not aware that it was a three way call. There was one call and I don't want to get into the specifics of that. But we are disappointed. Needless to say we apologize. We are dedicated to 100% compliance. We had an issue with the phone calls and we have some things worked out and think that this is something that we can be 100%, not 99% or 99.5%, but that we can be 100% compliant on this as we move forward.

Can we get a clarification of when these 10 (three way) calls were made?

Grace Calhoun: The phone calls were made over a several months period. Throughout the period of the sanctions. As Mr. Greenspan described a routine audit conducted in July identified some irregularities and upon further investigation we did find what we believe to be about 10 of these phone calls. A very small portion of all the permissible calls that were made.

Robin Harris: Just to reiterate what Grace said these were 10 calls that were spread out and averaged out to one per month. From May to May but they really were spread out.

How will you handle Rob's position on the staff now that he is not able to make phone calls or recruit off campus?

Sampson: That is not something that I am prepared to answer right now. He is at practice everyday, he is doing a lot of the administrative things. Rob has a lot of talent in other areas. The area where Rob made his mistakes....you have mistakes of omission and mistakes of commission. I don't think there was an intention here to circumvent the rules. There are different ways you can identify certain things but Rob is on the floor everyday, doing individual workouts, participating on our staff the way that he normally does except that he is not making phone calls or traveling for recruiting. We'll just have to figure this out as we go.

If you are a man down are you allowed to substitute?

Calhoun: We are a man down.

Greenspan: We will not take those sanctions off on Senderoff till July even if Rob were to leave that position. That position would continue to incur those sanctions.

Now you can read the transcript highlights of the second half of today's IU teleconference on the men's basketball sanctions.

Participants:

Rick Greenspan - IU athletic director

Kelvin Sampson - IU men's basketball head coach

Grace Calhoun - IU Associate Athletic Director-Compliance and Student Development

Robin Green Harris- Legal counsel, Ice Miller

Transcript Highlights Part Two

Are you sure you have the legal right to terminate with just cause?

Greenspan: That would be a question that needs to be posed to our legal counsel. I don't know that that is a question that Robin Green Harris, who is a lawyer, but I think that is a question better posed to our legal counsel. I can tell you that we looked at a variety of actions and sanctions and this was the recommendation made and accepted by the university.

We received legal advice throughout the process. We received legal advice from Dottie Frapwell who is our in-house counsel, we received consultative and legal advice from Robin Green Harris and the firm of Ice Miller. It is my understanding that Dottie Frapwell, our legal counsel, also counseled with other attorneys. I think I received advice on these from senior administrators, Dottie being one of them. Certainly our President, Vice President of Administration as well as others. Obviously these decisions and recommendations are not independent Grace Calhoun: I can add that we certainly were advised by Ice Miller and others that our sanctions are quite severe for the problems that were identified. So we feel very comfortable that we have imposed severe sanctions and as you heard Mr. Greenspan say we have a very long and very proud tradition of rules compliance at Indiana and do intend to send a strong message that is what we fully expect going forward.

Is the loss of a scholarship for the Class of 2008 or the Class of 2009?

Grace Calhoun: It is for the next incoming class. The Class of '08-09.

At this point Kelvin, how does this (scholarship loss) affect you---does that affect anything that is already going on?

Sampson: We'll just have to wait and see. We are in our '07-'08 and still need to sign a class for this season. That is just something we will have to plan for as we go forward.

Kelvin, with the spotlight that was on you after that sanctioned period, how can something like this happen? Do you think the perception will be that you are above the law when something like this happens?

Sampson: I certainly don't think so. There was certainly no intent to think that we were above the law. The rules that we broke were mistakes but not mistakes where we are hitting our chest and thinking we don't need to worry about this. It is a mistake and we take full responsibility for what happened. A lot of these were sloppiness or maybe a clerical error, not something that we were out front trying to do purposely.

Grace Calhoun: The coaches I would add have been incredibly cooperative throughout the course of the review. We do want to point out again we found these problems ourselves as Coach Sampson alluded to and a lot of which can be attributed to some poor record keeping. But we did find the problems ourselves, the coaches were very cooperative with the review including the step of disclosing their home records to us so we could also review those.

What is the next step?

Robin Green Harris: We have submitted a report to the Committee on Infractions, which is the group that has to look at (inaudible). And we are awaiting to hear back from that committee. There are also other phone calls that violated NCAA rules and there will be a second report to the enforcement staff indicating the university believes these to be secondary and those will need to be processed by the enforcement staff. So there are two reports, two processes, but it is important to emphasize the penalties cover all the issues we have reviewed.

Do these penalties mean Coach Sampson is prevented from going off campus to recruit?

Grace or Robin: He is not prohibited from off campus recruiting.

Rick, how worried are you about the public's perception of you going forward? You took a chance on hiring Kelvin to begin with and now something like this happens, are you at all worried about that?

Greenspan: First and foremost I think my responsibility as the athletic director is to try to run this organization in the best way that I can. That incorporates a lot of things. It incorporates personnel in making hopefully wise and valued personnel decisions. It involves fiscal matters. It involves academic matters. It involves a lot of things. So I accept my responsibility for the position that I am put in, but the actions that I contribute to and decisions that I make. I am certainly not going to judge myself. It is for others to judge.

I would like to think that despite our significant and profound disappointment, a couple things come through here. One is that the work that Coach Sampson has done in so many areas to be very significant and very meaningful to our fan base. And the work that he has done in terms of good and effective recruiting, coaching and teaching of our young people. I think in terms of his outreach to our fans. His charitable work and other things that will go on for a long time.

As for me I understand the responsibilities of my position. I am very, very disappointed to be in the position that I am in but I don't in any way absolve myself from the responsibility of being athletic director at Indiana.

With the echo earlier, it was really hard to follow with the three way calling explanation. I am hoping Coach Sampson could once again tell us what happened with the three way calling and why is that a violation of the sanctions?

Sampson: Under NCAA rules you are allowed to make three way calls. That is not against the NCAA rules. The sanctions that were put on us stated that I was not allowed to receive three way calls. Because of the way the calls were placed to me, outside of one of the 10 calls, I wasn't aware that they were three way calls. Without getting into too many specifics when someone calls your phone, especially when you are under phone call restrictions, you answer the phone and a kid is talking, you start talking to him. The going through the investigation and seeing

Summary of Impermissible Recruiting Calls as Requested in Subquestions 1a and 2a

The calls listed in this chart resulted in a total of 128 phone calls that were contrary to the sanctions or NCAA rules. Of these calls, 126 were contrary to the sanctions and 42 violated NCAA rules (highlighted in gray) regarding phone calls (two involved only NCAA violations and were not contrary to the sanctions¹). One hundred and eleven (111) of the phone calls were made to junior prospects contrary to Sanction E and 15 of the calls were made to senior prospects contrary to Sanction F. The following chart summarizes the impermissible calls that occurred:

DEJUAN BLAIR – CLASS OF 2007

Involved Coach	Individual Called	Date	Time of Call	Duration (Minutes)	Reason Call was Impermissible
Sampson Cell	DeJuan Blair	5/2/2006	10:00 p.m.	2	A 15 minute call to Blair was made on 4/24/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Blair in May per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	DeJuan Blair Spoke to Grandmother	5/16/2006	7:49 p.m.	6	A 15 minute call to Blair was made on 4/24/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Blair in May per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	DeJuan Blair	6/9/2006	5:08 p.m.	18	A 6 minute call to Blair was made on 5/16/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Blair in June per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	DeJuan Blair	7/18/2006	8:47 p.m.	1	An 18 minute call to Blair was made on 6/9/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Blair in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	DeJuan Blair	7/18/2006	8:48 p.m.	2	An 18 minute call to Blair was made on 6/9/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Blair in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	DeJuan Blair	7/18/2006	8:49 p.m.	1	An 18 minute call to Blair was made on 6/9/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Blair in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	DeJuan Blair	7/18/2006	8:50 p.m.	3 ²	An 18 minute call to Blair was made on 6/9/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Blair in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	DeJuan Blair	7/18/2006	8:15 p.m.	2	An 18 minute call to Blair was made on 6/9/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Blair in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250. NCAA Violation: Only allowed one call a month to junior prospects. 3 minute call on 7/18/2006 creates the violation.
Senderoff Cell	DeJuan Blair	7/22/2006	4:51 p.m.	2	An 18 minute call to Blair was made on 6/9/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Blair in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250. NCAA Violation: Only allowed one call a month to junior prospects. 3 minute call on 7/18/2006 creates the violation.
Senderoff Cell	DeJuan Blair	9/15/2006	7:17 p.m.	6	A 7 minute call to Blair was made on 9/13/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Blair in that same week per Penalty F of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.

² Even though this 3-minute call was recorded in Cybersports as "left message", the University considered this a countable call per its methodology of counting all calls three minutes or longer. As a result, the 7/19/2006 and 7/22/2006 2-minute calls became contrary to the sanctions and NCAA rules even though they might have been permissible.

AYODELE COKER – CLASS OF 2007³

Involved Coach	Individual Called	Date	Time of Call	Duration (Minutes)	Reason Call was Impermissible
Senderoff Cell	Ayodele Coker's uncle	7/17/2006	5:05 p.m.	1	A 6 minute call to Coker was made on 7/12/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Coker or his uncle in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250. NCAA Violation: Only allowed one call a month to junior prospects. 6 minute call on 7/12/2006 creates the violation.
Senderoff Cell	Ayodele Coker's uncle	7/17/2006	6:24 p.m.	14	A 6 minute call to Coker was made on 7/12/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Coker or his uncle in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250. NCAA Violation: Only allowed one call a month to junior prospects. 6 minute call on 7/12/2006 creates the violation.
Senderoff Cell	Ayodele Coker	8/7/2006	5:03 p.m.	12	A 13 minute call to Coker's uncle was made on 8/6/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Coker in that same week per Penalty F of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Ayodele Coker's uncle	8/28/2006	9:24 p.m.	1	A 16 minute call to Coker's uncle was made on 8/28/2006 at 9:05 p.m., therefore another call could not be placed to Coker or his uncle in that same week per Penalty F of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Ayodele Coker's uncle	9/5/2006	6:41 p.m.	2	A 9 minute call to Coker was made on 9/4/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Coker or his uncle in that same week per Penalty F of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Ayodele Coker's uncle	9/6/2006	2:44 p.m.	2	A 9 minute call to Coker was made on 9/4/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Coker or his uncle in that same week per Penalty F of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Ayodele Coker's uncle	9/29/2006	9:33 p.m.	2	A 3 minute call to Coker was made on 9/26/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Coker or his uncle in that same week per Penalty F of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Ayodele Coker's uncle	9/29/2006	9:35 p.m.	19	A 3 minute call to Coker was made on 9/26/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Coker or his uncle in that same week per Penalty F of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.

JORDAN CRAWFORD – CLASS OF 2007

Involved Coach	Individual Called	Date	Time of Call	Duration (Minutes)	Reason Call was Impermissible
Meyer Home ⁴	Jordan Crawford's mother	9/30/2006	?	14	A 13 minute call to Crawford's mother was made on 9/26/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Crawford or his mother in that same week per Penalty F of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Meyer Cell	Jordan Crawford's mother	10/2/2006	1:52 p.m.	4	A 9 minute call to Crawford was made on 10/1/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Crawford or his mother in that same week per Penalty F of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.

³ These calls were identified after a December 7, 2007 interview with Coker where he reported his uncle received recruiting calls from Senderoff. When the University realized in the preparation of this response, the number Coker provided for his uncle had not been listed by the coaches as a recruiting number and thus had not been searched during the investigation, the University reviewed Senderoff's phone records and recently identified eight additional calls contrary to the sanctions, two of which were also in violation of Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2. The University reported these calls to the NCAA Enforcement Staff and accepts responsibility for them but notes, due to the timing of their discovery, Senderoff has not had an opportunity to review or respond to the information.

⁴ Note: Meyer's cell phone company (Vonage) for his home phone does not report detailed call information, including the time of the calls.

KENNY FREASE – CLASS OF 2008⁵

Involved Coach	Individual Called	Date	Time of Call	Duration (Minutes)	Reason Call was Impermissible
Senderoff Cell	Kenny Frease	7/2/2006	6:47 p.m.	2	A 4 minute call to Frease was made on 6/17/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Frease in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Kenny Frease	7/18/2006	9:16 p.m.	1	A 4 minute call to Frease was made on 6/17/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Frease in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Kenny Frease	7/18/2006	9:16 p.m.	1	A 4 minute call to Frease was made on 6/17/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Frease in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Kenny Frease	7/18/2006	9:17 p.m.	1	A 4 minute call to Frease was made on 6/17/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Frease in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Kenny Frease	8/13/2006	8:40 p.m.	2	Calls were placed to Frease in July, therefore another call could not be placed to Frease in August per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Kenny Frease	8/14/2006	9:33 p.m.	38	Calls were placed to Frease in July, therefore another call could not be placed to Frease in August per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Home	Kenny Frease	9/4/2006	9:43 p.m.	1	A 38 minute call to Frease was made on 8/14/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Frease in September per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Home	Kenny Frease	9/4/2006	9:45 p.m.	1	A 38 minute call to Frease was made on 8/14/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Frease in September per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Home	Kenny Frease	9/5/2006	9:45 p.m.	31	A 38 minute call to Frease was made on 8/14/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Frease in September per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Kenny Frease	10/11/2006	8:54 p.m.	41	A 31 minute call to Frease was made on 9/5/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Frease in October per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.

Involved Coach	Individual Called	Date	Time of Call	Duration (Minutes)	Reason Call was Impermissible
Senderoff Office	Yancy Gates' father	5/31/2006	?	0:31	NCAA Violation: Only allowed one call a month to junior prospects. This call occurred prior to June 15 after Gates' Sophomore year. [Note: Not a sanction violation.]
Senderoff Cell	Yancy Gates' father	6/7/2006	5:05 p.m.	2	NCAA Violation: Only allowed one call a month to junior prospects. This call occurred prior to June 15 after Gates' Sophomore year. [Note: Not a sanction violation.]
Senderoff Cell	Yancy Gates	7/11/2006	2:28 p.m.	2	A 16 minute call to Gates was made on 6/28/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Gates in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Yancy Gates	7/17/2006	5:16 p.m.	2	A 16 minute call to Gates was made on 6/28/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Gates in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Yancy Gates	7/18/2006	7:28 p.m.	1	A 16 minute call to Gates was made on 6/28/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Gates in July per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Yancy Gates	10/9/2006	9:25 p.m.	1	A 13 minute call to Gates was made on 9/5/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Gates in October per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Yancy Gates	10/22/2006	6:01 p.m.	1	A 13 minute call to Gates was made on 9/5/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Gates in October per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.
Senderoff Cell	Yancy Gates	10/23/2006	9:12 p.m.	1	A 13 minute call to Gates was made on 9/5/2006, therefore another call could not be placed to Gates in October per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250.

Meyer Cell	Robbie Hummel	6/29/2006	5:46 p.m.	1	A 4 minute call to Hummel was made on 6/29/2006 at 2:11 p.m., therefore another call could not be placed to Hummel in June per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250. NCAA Violation: Only allowed one call a month to junior prospects. The 4 minute call on 6/29/2006 creates the violation.
Meyer Cell	Robbie Hummel	6/29/2006	5:54 p.m.	3	A 4 minute call to Hummel was made on 6/29/2006 at 2:11 p.m., therefore another call could not be placed to Hummel in June per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250. NCAA Violation: Only allowed one call a month to junior prospects. The 4 minute call on 6/29/2006 creates the violation.

⁶ These two calls were to Gates' father who is his AAU coach and assistant high school coach. The calls occurred prior to the first permissible phone call date (June 15 of his sophomore year). According to Senderoff, the calls in question were with the father, but recruiting was discussed. Thus, consistent with its conservative approach, the University determined these calls to be contrary to NCAA rules.

Senderoff Home	Phillip Jurick	3/26/2007	10:00 p.m.	18	NCAA Violation: Only allowed one call a month to junior prospects. The 29 minute call on 3/4/2007 creates the violation.

⁹ There is no record of any calls on Meyer's home, cell or office phone records, but the university has included the call as it is recorded as "left message" in Cybersports. Again, if Meyer had only left messages, he would have thought this call was permissible.

Senderoff Cell	Bud Mackey's granddad	4/16/2007	5:09 p.m.	4	A 17 minute call to Mackey was made on 3/12/2007, therefore another call could not be placed to Mackey in April per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250. ¹⁰
?	Bud Mackey	4/16/2007	?	?	A 17 minute call to Mackey was made on 3/12/2007, therefore another call could not be placed to Mackey in April per Penalty E of NCAA Infractions Report No. 250. [Note: Cybersports documentation was not clear, but same number as the next call and thus assumed impermissible.]

¹⁰ In the October 3 report to the Committee on Infractions, the April 8 and 16 calls were mistakenly included as violations. Per NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, the coaching staff could call Mackey once a month. As the April 8 call was the first call to Mackey for the month and as it was only two minutes long, it should be noncountable and permissible. The April 16 call is thus the permissible call for the month of April.

¹² The number of impermissible calls listed here for Marcus and Markieff Morris, who are twins, may be greater than the actual number. As both prospects were recruited by the University, counting the calls and determining the impermissible calls was more complex than with the other prospects. Under NCAA rules, the limits on the number of phone calls apply to each brother individually and allow coaches to call each brother during the same time period. However, several of the calls were to the twins' mother and Senderoff did not record whether the call concerned one or both brothers. The University, consistent with its conservative and strict approach to err on the side of caution, determined that each call with the mother thus counts as a countable call for both brothers. As a result of this approach, there was a multiplier effect on the number of impermissible calls due to the phone calls to the mother. Specifically, a permissible call to the mother in April was counted for both Marcus and Markieff, thereby rendering all attempted or actual calls in May to be impermissible under the sanctions, even though Senderoff was under the impression that at least some of the calls were permissible because there were two prospects in the family. Calls in June and July also then became impermissible as there was no required month off for either brother. It should be noted that the NCAA Enforcement Staff contacted the NCAA Membership Services Staff for an interpretation on how to count these calls and the response received confirmed the University's general approach. (See Attachment 8 for March 13, 2008 email forwarding NCAA interpretation.)

Good morning all. Below you will find analysis from NCAA Membership Services regarding the application of Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 as it relates to the recruitment of twins.

Mark

The interpretation below confirms that the recruiting regs apply separately. However, if one phone call incorporated discussion on both prospects, that counts as the school's one call per month for EACH prospect. In other words, they get one call for each kid and they used it at once since they discussed both kids.

Member institution recruits twin prospective student-athletes

a. Member Institution Recruits Twin Prospective Student-Athletes: Reviewed NCAA Bylaws 13.1.4 (permissible number of contacts) and 13.1.6 (limitations on number of evaluations -- all sports) and confirmed that the recruiting regulations (e.g., permissible number of contacts and evaluations) would apply separately to each twin prospective student-athlete who is being earnestly recruited by a member institution.

Subject: D-I Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 question

Brad,

I have a question regarding the application of the "one call per month" rule in Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, as it relates to multiple psa's living in one home. Specifically, I have an instance where a set of twins were being recruited by an institution as a "package deal". My understanding is that in this circumstance, an institution may make one call per month to each of the twins individually. My question is whether that also applies to calls made to the relative(s), even if it is clear that the call to the relative was for the purpose of recruiting both twins. I have a situation where an institution was calling the mother of twins and when interviewed, the mother said that all calls were for the purpose of recruiting both twins. My instinct tells me that the institution would be able to place two calls per month to the mom (one per son) regardless of whether they discussed both sons in each call, but I wanted to confirm this with you.

Your assistance is greatly appreciated.

Thanks,

Verification that Rob was aware of call restrictions by 5/1/06!

Hi Rob,

Maybe we can meet face-to-face today!

Anyway, just a few quick clarifications:

You can begin sending out written correspondence to sophomores (2008 graduates) beginning June 15 at the conclusion of their sophomore year (not at the conclusion of each prospect's sophomore year). Until June 15, you can send out a generic cover letter for questionnaires. I am checking with the Big Ten to see about generic cover letters for camp brochures (didn't find anything on point in the database or our camp/clinic guide regarding this issue).

Also, for the 2007 graduates, currently in their junior year, you may:

1. Call them once every other month (per IU's and UO's self-imposed penalties regarding 13.1.3.1.2. MBB may NOT call juniors once a month until after June 30, 2007!
2. Send recruiting correspondence per 13.4.1. Please be sure to carefully review this bylaw as it was changed last year! But, you can definitely include a personalized cover letter for camp brochures and questionnaires.

As for 2006 graduates, we can only call them once a week (again per the self-imposed penalties), unless they have signed an NLI with IU.

I'll forward on the Big Ten's response regarding generic cover letters as soon as I get it. Also, in the future, please contact Christian Pope (856-6074 or cdpope@indiana.edu) as he is our point person on recruiting and interpretations.

Finally, we need to schedule an orientation (regarding IU's compliance policies and procedures) with you and Jerry Green as soon as possible.

Thanks and looking forward to meeting you!

Jennifer

¹ All incoming calls (the numbers remain unknown) that include Sampson were assumed to be recruiting calls for the purposes of assessing the scope of the sanction issues and the appropriate penalties.

² This call was to a Detroit phone number. The University has not been able to identify the individual using that number as the number has been disconnected and reassigned. However, after consultation with Senderoff, the University is fairly certain the phone number was used previously by the AAU coach of a prospective student-athlete from Detroit. The call was thus likely, and is presumed to be, a recruiting call.

Compliance Staff Notes From Men's Basketball Recruiting Meetings (April 2006 through May 2007)

No.	Date	Time	Context
1	04.25.06	10-10:00 am	Mt w/Jerry Green @ recruiting methodology & Oklahoma miscellaneous issues. Specifically, I began by asking what software they had utilized in the past and what method they would proceed to utilize at IU. Coach Green indicated that Oklahoma had a specific piece of software that they had thought was sound and that we should begin to attempt to acquire from the OU staff. I indicated that I would ask our Assistant Director of Athletics for compliance if she could request that for Indiana to review and see if it were suitable for our purposes. I then asked how they were set up to immediately begin collection of data on recruits. I was shown and did review a small stack of sheets that had been printed from the Cybersports program detailing various current IU recruits as well as simple recruiting sheets that the new coaches were using to indicate recruiting activities for new recruits that the new staff were primarily focusing on. The meeting concluded at 10:30 and Coach Green did indicate that we will continue our weekly meetings on Tuesdays at 10 am.
2	05.04.06	9:30-10 am	Mt w/Jerry Green @ recr methodology & Listing from Cybersports. Specifically, I sat with Coach Green in his office to review the files recently created from the Cybersports recruiting software. This was a particularly informal meeting and the review was done as a spot check on the progress being made. The meeting conclude at 10 am.
3	05.09.06	1-3:30 pm	This meeting with the DOBO was a joint meeting with myself and the assistant coaches and focused on Cybersports training. The program and its functions were imparted to us by a conference call. Those that attended were as follows: BJ McElroy, Rall McCallum, Jeff Meyer, Jerry Green, Rob Senderoff, myself and Beth McLaughlin. At this meeting it was unanimous that Cybersports was more than sufficient for their needs and that this particular piece of software would be what the staff would utilize at Indiana University. This meeting concluded at 3:30 pm.
4	05.25.06	10-10:15 am	Mt w/J. Green @ phone logs request for March through the present, a individual statement from each coach about home phone usage and whether or not it is used for recruiting purposes, cell phone logs and all contact numbers for every prospect we have recruited since their hire. Coach Green contacted John Tweedie to have IU phone records delivered to the compliance office and those were received on May 25, 2006 at 10:30 am. The statements will be forthcoming. Coach Green asked me to look into whether or not cell phone records would be necessary with IU administration. I contacted the assistant director of athletics at 4:00 of the same date about Mr. Greens comments and was informed that all records to include office, home and cell records would be required if those phones are utilized for recruiting purposes. I conveyed that information to Coach Green on Friday May 30, 2006 at 11 am.
5	05.30.06	2-3:00 pm	This meeting was conducted jointly by the director of athletics and the assistant director of athletics for compliance to discuss the sanctions that the committee on infractions imposed upon coach Sampson as well as Indiana university and our self-imposed penalties. The entire basketball coaching staff was present and did discuss concerns regarding how different scenarios could or would play out regarding phone calls, speaking engagements, text messaging, etc. Jerry Green and Christian Pope were identified as the primary liaisons in each office to begin collection and sharing of any and all information regarding the implementation of the sanctions. See 05.31.06 DOBO meeting for specifics of the data collection. Additionally, Pete Rhoda, director of media relations, was mentioned with assisting in creating a "party line" to synchronize IU athletics with one voice in responding to outside requests for speaking engagements for coach Sampson relevant to his situation, since many requests will be made of his attendance throughout the year.

No.	Date	Time	Context
			The last concern broached was that of incoming students and monitoring of housing and automobile data. Specifically, where the incoming PSA will live, who is paying for the housing, the automobile information that the psa will use(if any) as well as who paid or is paying for that, insurance payments being made by whom, etc. Jerry Green was assigned the duty of collecting and passing on that information to the compliance office.
6	05.31.06	9-9:30 am	Jerry then proceeded to disclose a cell phone issue with the sprint bill for Coach Senderoff. It was a bill with no included breakdown of all calls, text messages made. I requested that he have Rob contact his cell provider and request a detailed account with call/text by text breakdowns. All cell bills from March 29th forward were requested. I also requested that Beth or BJ copy the logs that coach Green was keeping in a hand written format to the cybersports recruiting software for ease of reporting in the future but to make a copy of the current phone logs (paper) and master log (paper) for the compliance office file. Those logs were to include all phone numbers available for a prospect to include (the prospects' cell(s) numbers, home number, parents' work numbers, parents cell(s), high school coach number(s), coaches cell(s), AAU coach numbers, etc.) BJ McElroy joined the meeting to request notification from the NCAA what speaking engagements were permissible to assist in solidifying coach Sampson's schedule. The meeting was adjourned at 9:34 am.
7	06.02.06	2:3-2:45 pm	This meeting was a brief review of the April off-campus contact log for all coaches. Coach Sampson used one dat on April 18th and met both Mr. Lance Stemler and Mr. Xavier Keeling. Jerry and I also met with Beth McLaughlin @ Cybersports database and what phone numbers for contacts were being input into the system. Additionally, I left a copy of the NCAA Infractions report for OU with the coaching staff for their review. Coach McCallum also asked about logging phone calls with regard to dropped calls and lapses between a dropped call and the resumption of the call depending on circumstances.(ie., Plane flight, system availability, etc.) I did inform him that per membership services staff member Jay Jones interpretation at the regional seminars in May, I had posed that very question and was informed that immediate returned "dropped" calls were permissible. Lapses in the return of a dropped call would constitute another phone call and be considered a violation.
8	06.07.06	4:30-5:15 pm	This meeting was a compliance review of speaking engagements and request for hard copy of all recruiting data for the past week. This meeting included myself, Jeff Meyer and Jerry Green. The issue of rules interpretations and communications with the compliance office was reinforced in that interpretive questions were posed to the eligibility coordinator and not the director of compliance. Proper communications were emphasized in this meeting as a means to avoid complications or lack of response to time sensitive issues. Additional questions were posed by both basketball staff inquiring about the interpretation of speaking engagements and whether or not coach Sampson may attend an event, not targeted to prospective aged individuals if there is any chance a prospective age student may show up. I discouraged attendance at all such events until such time as the COI weighs in with their findings on the questions originally posed by the Assistant director of athletics for compliance to clarify the issue for IU and the basketball staff.
9	06.07.06	9-10am	Rules education regarding official visits process and internal procedure of IU conducted by Charles Armbruster. Those present include: Charles Armbruster, Jerry Green, Jeff Meyer, Ray McCallum, myself & Rob Senderoff.
10	06.13.06	10-11:30am	This meeting was focused on the committee on infractions response to IU questions requesting clarification for sanctions and to review sanctions specifics as well as to review collection of all pertinent data regarding the sanctions to include: A) IU is held in strict liability regarding coach Sampson and any activity in which he inserts himself off-campus. B) Coach Sampson's radio show must be on-campus. C) The sanctions are not specific to

D) The number of coaches who may be on the road at any one given time for the purpose of recruitment. E) Coach Sampsons phone call restriction and its implication for when his assistants are making recruiting calls. F) The availability of text messaging and the fact that Coach Sampson cannot text a prospect and request a call within the body of the message. G) Coach Sampsons preclusion from having a phone call to or off-campus contact with a prospect who has signed a National letter of intent. H) The inability of Coach Sampson to return a dropped call placed to him by a prospect. I) The inability of Coach Sampson to speak with HS, prep-school, Juco or AAU coaches about any basketball related issues (i.e., offense, defense, etc.). J) The timeline remaining for an appeal to the COI findings. Those present were Jerry Green, Jennifer Brinegar & myself. This meeting was with BJ McElroy, Jerry Green and Beth McLaughlin to request the following items: a) Data on Coach Sampson's recruiting trips on April 22-23 and 29-30. b) A statement to indicate all off campus recruiting activity for Coach Sampson between March 29 and May 25 to include prospect's names, schools, cities, type of recruiting activity, etc. c) A statement to indicate that Coach Sampson has not recruited off campus since May 25 including no off-campus contact with any HS, JC or AAU coach. d) A statement to indicate that the assistant coaches have been briefed on, and fully understand all of the sanctions imposed on Coach Sampson and the IU MBB program by the COI, including those carried over from Oklahoma. e) MBB must have all recruiting activities (contacts/phone calls and evaluations made to date) logged in on CyberSports by June 30, 2006. The paper documents utilized to enter the data must also be retained. BJ did indicate that time a was nearing completion and she did need to communicate with Coach Sampson for confirmation. Beth also indicated that Cybersports should be ready by June 30 with all data entered.
12	06.16.06	8-8:30am	This meeting was to clarify what items need to be collected for recruiting tracking. Two items were discussed. They are as follows: A) A statement to indicate whether or not home phones are utilized for recruiting purposes on a monthly basis. B) A statement from the coaches to indicate that home phones were or were not being utilized in recruiting by the coaching staff.
13	06.19.06	8-8:30 am	This was a meeting entirely focused on two things. I first met with Beth regarding the collection and input of data to the Cybersports DBF to request completion asap for all phone numbers that the coaches utilize for each student-athlete. Also I asked Beth to step up the entry of all contact and evaluation data. Next I met with Jerry Green and Rob Senderoff regarding the camp violation regarding Bylaw 13.12.1.6 and the educational component requirement for all basketball camps to include drugs, gambling, alcohol, and the NCAA Initial eligibility clearinghouse and the importance for that piece to be in all camps not just those where prospective aged students may attend.
14	06.20.06	10-11 am	This meeting was entirely between me and Jerry Green. No others were present. I presented the information contained on the agenda document for June 20, 2006 and we reviewed all outstanding requests from the email from Jennifer Brinegar (outlined in meeting 06.15.06) Earlier in the day I was able to collect statements from the assistant coaches that the are in full understanding of the sanction imposed by the COI as well as adopted by IU. I also collected the document from Coach Sampson confirming that he has engaged in no recruiting activities since May 25, 2006. I also collected a calendar for coach Sampson to include any speaking engagements he has accepted to attend as well as a listing of all off campus recruiting he was involved in during April. He used 4 dates: April 18, 23, 25 & 30th during which only 1 contact was made with PSA [REDACTED] and the rest were evaluations. (20 in all) I did later this date speak with Coach Sampson regarding his schedule and the necessity to create a buffer in the

15	06.27.06	9-9:45 am	events he attends and any prospect who may be in the area to avoid any contact whatsoever. Mt meeting with Jerry Green concluded at 11:00 am. Beth McLaughlin will speak today with the Cybersports software group to design a more detailed and specific report to suit our needs. Lastly, I conducted a rules education component with Jerry to inform the assistants regarding NCAA Bylaw 13.12.2.3.2 and coaches working at a noninstitutional camp/clinic. As of August 1, 2005, it is no longer permissible for a division I coach to work at any camp/clinic not conducted by his/her own institution. This met with some surprise and I was informed that Coach McCallum had been asked to speak at just such a camp. I met with him directly following the meeting with the DOBO to communicate directly that he may not work such an event. Our meeting conclude at 9:45 am.
16	06.30.06	10-11 am	This meeting was inpromptu and was initiated by Coach Green to "touch base" but precipitated a series of meetings for the assistant coaches as well as the support staff. I met with Coach Green in my office to convey my contact information as I will be out of the office the week of July 4th. I then met with BJ McElroy in the basketball office to request a change in the monthly phone declaration forms. I asked her to include the language that specifies for each coach which phone(s) are utilized for recruiting purposes to include: office, home, cell or any other phone. I next met with Beth McLaughlin regarding the logging of data in the Cybersports software. She indicated that the data is in process and she has had some difficulty meeting our June 30 deadline to have all recruiting phone calls, evaluation and contacts to date as well as any and all data regarding any official and unofficial visits made since the coaches were employed in late March. She assured me that the data would be in the system as of later today. She also showed me the new phone log report in the Cybersports software protocol that the coaches will sign weekly beginning this week that includes more detail regarding all recruiting calls to include who was actually spoken with when a call is made. I then met with Coaches Jeff Meyer and Rob Senderoff to cover the data from the June 14, 2006 email regarding recruiting periods during the month of July as well as to cover each and every one of the COI sanctions. I immediately after met with Coach Ray McCallum regarding the same topics. Also, each coach was warned to communicate thoroughly regarding who is the recruiting coach for each prospect to avoid any violations regarding impermissible phone calls. The meeting concluded at 11 am.
17	07.11.06	11-12 pm	This was a regularly scheduled meeting but was to cover last week's information as the meeting was cancelled due to the fourth. As is our custom, we began with a review of the sanctions which as always was read verbatim to Coach Green. I then covered the reductions of phone calls permissible by the assistant coaching staff as well as the preclusion of Coach Sampson from recruiting off-campus at any time. Then we discussed coach Sampson upcoming schedule and I inquired about any engagements that had been added to review and verify if those events were approvable by the compliance office. I was concerned with the Batesville eveny and was informed that only 21 and older would be allowed to attend. The 2 dates in July that cause me to pause are the July 19 Indiana Celbrity Golf outing and the July 25 Chamber of commerce event. The sole engagement in August that I cannot approve at the point is the Wayne Street speaking engagement. Per BJ McElroy, Jeff Meyer set up the invitation and the basketball office does not have any information about it at this point. The other dates in August are the Varsity Club functions that we will control institutionally to prohibit entrance to anyone who is of prospect age. Next, we reviewed the phone declaration sheets from the month of June where each coach indicated which phone(s) they utilized for recruiting purposes for the month. Coach Green then provided me with a list of unofficial visits for the staff from April 5 on. Coach Green then presented me with a sample copy of the Cybersports prospect contact (countable) phone call

18	07.18.06	10-10:45 am	I received the official (alphabetized listing) on July 13, 2006. Last, Coach Green gave me the hand written phone logs for each assistant coach for the week of June 25 through July 1, 2006. Rules education was the next item of business discussed where we covered the dead period coming up as well as what is permissible during the July evaluation periods. Additionally, we discussed the changes in bylaw 13.1.7.2.2 and it was requested that all coaches sign all phone logs documentation when they return and process it to my office as soon as possible. The last item of business reviewed was to have coach Sampson inform me when he could meet upon returning from his vacation to discuss newspaper articles regarding [redacted] and Scott Martin (PSA). The meeting was concluded at 12:02pm This meeting took the customary format in that the first three bullet points were covered from the agenda document from the commencement of the meeting. While Jerry was printing the months of July and August to review coach Sampson's calendar, he provided me with the following documentation: 1. July 2-8 & July 9-16 hand written phone logs for each coach 2. The Cybersports phone logs from April to present signed by each coach 3. The statement requested in last week's meeting from Coach Sampson outlining that he has not spoken with Scott Martin since calling him prior to May 25, 2006. 4. A statement from Jeff Meyer regarding his cell bills prior to May 26, 2006 indicating that Missouri has those records. 5. Jerry Green handwritten recruiting log 6. Coach Sampson calendar for the rest of July and August. We then discussed any new dates and reviewed the sanction issues and identified three dates for Jerry to follow up on. (August 14, 2006 Dell Harris Golf outing; August 23, 2006 IU school of Business orientation; August 25, 2006 Varsity Club open reception) We must maintain that any engagement restricts attendees to anyone not of prospect age. I provided Jerry Green with the April Cybersports contact/evaluation logs for each assistant coach to sign and return. I also asked that he convey to Beth that once the July evaluations are returned to her to work hard at inputting those dates to the cybersports system so that we can have the coaches sign off on all July recruiting done ASAP. The last item of business discussed with Jerry was the review of the rules education portion of the meeting and the new legislation which will become effective on August 1, 2006 regarding Bylaws 13.1.7.2.2 and 11.7.1.2. We discussed what the coaches will be permitted to do regarding contacts under 13.1.7.2.2 as well as what they will be required to do under 11.7.1.2 because recruiting functions will no longer be permitted for other office staffers. At this point in the meeting we were joined in the office by Jeff Meyer and I asked if I may contact Mary Austin at Missouri to request his cell phone bills up to May 25, 2006. He consented. The meeting concluded immediately afterward at 1:45 am.
19	07.25.06	2-3 pm	This meeting was held with Jerry Green and myself in attendance solely. We discussed the conclusion of the July evaluation period and the issue of getting recruiting information to Beth for Cybersports input as quickly as possible. Then we began our coverage of the agenda items. Jerry then presented me with Coach Sampson's calendar for July and August to discuss any further additions. I reemphasized the necessity for the compliance office to review and approve the additions to coaches' calendar before they are actually added to his agenda. Jerry indicated that the monthly coaches' statements would be coming as soon as all the coaches return. I then met with Jerry and Beth McLaughlin about Cybersports logs and the production of prospective student-athlete records for compliance review and phone call checks on a weekly basis as well as monthly. Last I sat with Jerry alone to discuss the supplementary documentation regarding Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2 & Prop 2004-124 regarding communications with prospects during the July periods. This information, as well as all supplements, is forwarded through Jerry Green to all assistant coaches. The meeting concluded at 3 pm.

20	08.01.06	10-11 am	The meeting began at 10 am and was attended by Jerry Green and myself. We began the meeting with the review of the COI sanctions and IU's adoption of OU's penalties. I also discussed the conclusion of the COI report and what materials were to be included as well as the timetable for the staff's information. The next agenda item covered was Coach Sampson's calendar of events for August and September. I again emphasized the necessity of the staff to obtain approval from the compliance staff prior to amending coach Sampson's schedule to include the event. Four events were singled out as potential issues. The first being September 21 (Indy Boys & Girls Club event), September 25 (Columbus Rotary), September 28 (Indiana Education Conference) & September 30 (IU Law School). Jerry Green confirmed with BJ that all events had been guaranteed attendance by all but prospective aged students on August 01.06. I the collected from Jerry coach Sampson's contact & eval logs from the Cybersports database. Jerry assured me that the assistant coaches records would be forthcoming asap. Jerry then informed me that the countable calls report from Cybersports has grown to over 100 pages and requested that that form be reviewed online and not printed for inclusion with each weekly meeting. That point was agreed upon. The I requested the coaches countable call logs and cell bills as soon as possible as well as cell bills from Sprint. The last item covered was the discussion of the rules supplement for the week. Bylaw 13.1.8.8 was discussed and a color copy of the regulation was provided for each coaches review. Even though the regulation pertains to the entire academic year the focus was the fall contact period. The meeting concluded at 11 am.
21	08.08.06	10-11 am	The meeting began at 10 am and was attended by Jerry Green, Jeff Meyer and myself. As is customary, we began the meeting with a verbal reading of the sanctions and self-imposed sanctions adopted from OU. I the informed them that the report to the Col had been submitted and was in excess of 100 pages and a copy should be requested if not already received from Jennifer's office. Next on the agenda was a review of coach sampson calendar and no new items had been added since the meeting on August 01.06. Jerry then presented me with coach Senderoff's recr logs both cybersports as well as self generated for the month of July. Jerry also provided me with all of the assistant coaches Sprint cell phone bills. Coach Sampsons' was requested and he indicated he would forward it asap. Jeff requested feedback on the format desired for evaluations records. Both written and Cybersports generated are requested by compliance. Jerry then provided me with each assistant coaches evaluation records from cybersports as well as all phone logs for each assistant coach as is in the database files to date. Beth is working diligently to include the July period but currently the evaluations are only through April for each. The Jerry provided the coaches individual handwritten records for the weeks in July. At that point I asked that Jerry schedule a meeting with the staff Jennifer and myself to discuss the Fall periods coming up in september and october to review contact regulations and we reviewed the supplementary document provided for each coaches review (color copy). Jerry then asked that I get with BJ and indicated that he would also to request that any changes to Sampson's calendar also include contact information to indicate who at each event has guaranteed no attendees will be of prospect age. I did meet with BJ and request that addition be made from this point forward. The last item discussed was the permissibility of coach Sampson speaking to a camera on campus while the assistants are in a home visit and having the video be a live feed to the computer that the assistant has setup at the remote location. I indicated that the question was unique and further investigation was necessary to give a complete and thoughtful answer. I then asked that Jerry secure Jff Meyers and Ray McCallums evaluation logs (handwritten) asap as well as Sampons cell bills. The meeting concluded at 11 am.

22	08.22.06	10-11 am	The meeting began at 10 am and was attended by myself, Jeff Meyer and Jerry Green. We began with a review of the sanctions and adopted penalties from OU and those were read point by point by me to Jerry and Jeff. I then asked to review coach Sampson's calendar for the remainder of the month as well as Septemeber. Three dates in Septemeber were identified as potential issues. August 8, Barnhouse Int was aksed about and neither had knowledge of what that event involved. I asked Jerry to follow up on that event and report any findings to my office. September 21, Indy Boys & Girls club dinner was also pinpointed. Jerry reviewed and indicated that the attendees would be elementary and middle school students only. Heather Donogan is the director (317.920.4700) I am to follow up with her on 08.23.06. The last date discussed was August 28, Indian Education conference at IUPUI. Jerry researched and informed that no high school aged students would be in attendance. Johnny Fyln is the director (317.274.1465) and again I will followup on August 23 with a request for specifics from the director. At this point in the meeeting Jerry provided me with documentation of the past unofficial visits that took place in August (4 total). The Jerry provided the handwritten recruiting phone records from the past week as well as contact/evaluation logs from Meyer and McCallum. At this point we discussed the new legislation pertaining to skill instruction and the timeframe (September 15-April 15) that is permissible to allow the whole team to participate in skill related activities. Jeff Meyer indicated he would follow up with Ohio State regarding the Rising Stars exposure camp and how coach Matta participated in the camp when it appears contrary to bylaw 13.12.2.3.2. I then covered the rules education materials provided to Jerry regarding competition against prospective student-athletes (Bylaw 1311.1.2) Last, we discussed the schedule of DOBO meetings for the immediate future based upon SA compliance meetings and beginning of the year miscellaneous. The meeting concluded at 11:04.
23	08.28.06	8:30-9:30 am	Attendees: Jerry Green and myself. This meeting was abbreviated but contained the same information and rules education components as all the others. We began with a recap of the COI sanctions and adopted penalties as well as a review of Indiana issues regarding the adoption of Oklahoma carry over restrictions. We then reviewed together Coach Sampson's calendar for September and October to review any and all speaking engagements that are coming up. Two dates were identified that needed follow up. October 11 at the Carmel Chamber Luncheon and October 30 P. Podsakoff's class. Jerry agreed to follow up with those dates and speak with the directors to discuss the importance of ensuring that no prospective aged students are admitted to the function. Jerry then provided me with documentation regarding phone logs and evaluation records for each assistant coach for the week preceding. The we began with the rules education portion of the meeting. The Indiana University recruiting policy was discussed and I emphasized the importance of adherence to institutional policies regarding official visits and the process necessary to approve and reconcile the visit. The bylaw regarding meals on official visits was discussed as was the bylaw regarding entertainment on official visits of spouse, parent, and legal guardians. The meeting concluded at 9:30 am.
24	09.07.06	8-9 am	Attendees: Jerry Green and myself. This meeting was much the same in terms of structure as those that have preceded it. I began the meeting with a review of the COI sanctions and IU's adopted penalties regarding the infractions at Oklahoma. We discussed the allowance that the COI has now made in that now Coach Sampson can be with a prospect off campus and within a 30 mile radius but only when the prospect is on an official visit. This was precipitated by the request of IU administration through the Big Ten to Shep Cooper to request if Coach Sampson's house may be used for official visits and occasional meal even if Coach Sampson is not present. It was determined that his house could be used and he may attend the occasional meal, moreover he may have contact within the 30 mile radius with a prospect on an official visit to Indiana University. We then reviewed coach Sampson's upcoming

September 20 (Investment Prof/Indy and September 25 Columbus Rotary). Jerry determined later in the day that this was a speaking engagement to a group of investment bankers in Indianapolis and he confirmed no prospective aged students, either male or female, will be in attendance. I followed up with the cloumbus rotary for assurance that no prospective aged students would be in attendance. The director of the event, Dick Johnson did confirm via email that no prospects would attend. Finally, we conducted the rules education portion of the meeting. We reviewed the the general restrictions on official visit transportation, the required day off legislation and the new legislation for the exception which allows for basketball to grant two days off either prior to or following a week where 3 basketball events take place. Bylaws 13.5.1; 17.1.5.4 & 17.1.5.4.7 respectively. The rules education portion was covered with Jeff Meyer, Rob Senderoff and Ray McCallum in attendance. The meeting concluded at 9 am. Attendees: Jerry Green, Jeff Meyer & myself. I began the meeting with the reading of the sanctions and the preclusions covering the staff regarding phone calls and Coach Sampson's specific issues regarding attendance at engagements where prospects may be in attendance. I then again emphasized that the allowance for Coach Sampson to have contact on a visit only applies to official visits and NOT unofficial visits. Jerry then provided a September and October calendar with Coach Sampson's schedule for review. No new dates were identified this week and Jerry did confirm that per BJ, once basketball practice commences in mid-October, Coach Sampson will all but stop excepting invitations to attend speaking engagements. We then turned our attention to covering phone logs and recruiting miscellaneous. Beth McLaughlin has now begun to initial the handwritten logs from the coaches so that I know that each call has been input to the Cybersports system. Now with the review of the Cybersports record I can cross reference them solely with the cell logs. As of early this week, I can now access each Coach's cell records on line and sort and search to locate numbers much more rapidly. This process was discussed with Jerry to be shared with the coaching staff. Finally, we began the rules education portion of the meeting. I spoke with each coach (except Coach Sampson) individually to cover the material. The session focused on bylaw 13.1.8.8 and the hot topic the NCAA had issued on September 8, 2006 regarding evaluations during the fall contact period of Septemebr 9 - October 5 with examples and application provided from the Big Ten. The meeting(s) concluded at 10 am.
26	09.20.06	8-9 am	Attendees: Jerry Green and myself. I began the meeting with a review of the review of sanctions on the basketball program as well as Coach Sampson. Each bullet point from the agenda was read aloud to cover the restrictions on phone calls and off campus activity preclusion. Next I covered Indiana's adoption of the penalties self-imposed by Oklahoma University. Each point on the agenda was also read aloud for emphasis. We then discussed item seven on the agenda and spoke briefly regarding the National letter of intent and the exception permitted under Bylaw 13.4.1.1. I then requested the september and October calendar to review any additions/alterations to Coach Sampson's schedule of events. The only additional identified event is on September 29 (Cleveland Award Dinner). This is an on campus recognition event for former athletes at Indiana University. Lastly we discussed the coaches recruiting logs (phone as well as contact/evaluation) input to Cybersports accuracy. I emphasized and requested that Jerry do likewise with each coach when he meets with them this week to make certain that their entries to their handwritten logs are accurate. The reason being, when Beth inputs the handwritten logs to Cybersports they are only accurate if the handwritten logs are accurate. When checking the cell logs, the compliance office must be certain that the logs in cybersports are accurate. The meeting adjourned at 8:50 am. I then met solely with Beth to

We began the meeting with a review of the sanctions, which I read to the group. At the conclusion of agenda item 1, Grace inquired as to follow up with the basketball coaching staff during the week regarding information conveyed during the weekly meetings. Jerry informed Grace about inter-office communications, the usage of Cybersports by the staff as well the changes made regarding cell phone billing made by Grant communications. I then informed Grace that I do meet with the assistant coaches on a weekly basis as available. I then began the review of agenda item #2 and the adoption of the COI penalties. Jennifer asked about transcript receipts for all unofficial/official visits as soon as possible to determine admissibility as well as clearinghouse issues and academic deficiencies for student development purposes. Grace concurred with the request and added that student development would like to begin tracking potential recruits at the earliest possible opportunity to assist in program planning with changes in IU and CLR requirements. Jerry discussed the probability of getting the information from the coaching staff and the difficulties in acquiring some data for those purposes but assured the group that every effort would be made to obtain information at the earliest possible opportunity. Jerry did refer Grace to Rob for a depth chart regarding hot prospects for the future. Jennifer then asked Jerry to clarify what he meant in his statement that some coaches would have more overall calls on their logs but that not all calls would be countable regarding recruitment. We then moved on to review agenda item #3 and Jerry provided Sampson's calendar for the group to review. October 11, 2006 was the only date Jerry was asked to research and report regarding the Carmel Chamber Luncheon. Grace excused herself from the meeting at this point and we then turned our attention to recruiting paperwork as provided by Beth for contact and evaluation from the assistant coaches from April through July. This covered both items 4 & 5 on the agenda. We then began with the rules education portion of the meeting. We reviewed NCAA Bylaw 16.5.2(g) regarding nutritional supplements and I emphasized that the coaches need to be proactive in discussing this bylaw with the student-athletes so that the only voice heard regarding supplementation is not that of compliance once during the year. Jerry was concerned that Jeff Watkinson (S&C) as well as Tim Carl have more access at this point as well as more influence regarding this area and that they should be informed and requested to cover this information with the team as well. Jerry did state that he saw benefit in collecting a listing from Tim/Jeff regarding what we currently provide to the team in this regard. Finally, we covered agenda item #7 and we focused the discussion on the possibility of having the cell bill downloaded directly to Cybersports electronically. Jerry provided contact information to me regarding Cybersports as well as Grant communications. The meeting concluded at 10:37 am.

I then again emphasized that the allowance for Coach Sampson to have contact on a visit only applies to official visits and not unofficial visits. Then we discussed IU's adoption of restrictions to include weekly meetings and a written report to the COI. I then asked Jerry to let me know what information he had regarding the Merrillville issue. He was unaware of the occurrence and I filled him in the specifics as I knew them to this point. He requested to be kept informed with any further information as it becomes available. Jerry then produced Coach Sampson's calendar for the months of October and November. Jerry then provided me with recruiting phone logs of Rob Senderoff and Jeff Meyer and specified that we had multiple phone calls the day(s) prior to two official visits that did not end up taking place due to the PSA cancelling the visit. [redacted] and [redacted] both cancelled their respective visits. The we began a discussion regarding phone logs and the usage of Cybersports software on the current cell phones of the coaches. Cybersports has quoted us a fee of $500.00 for the package which simply needs to be installed on the phones of our coaches. Jerry indicated that we should pursue this ASAP. Last we began our rules education portion of the meeting. We discussed the multi-team qualifying event hot topic and the NCAA's stance on how contracts should be drawn up for the event. Jerry was asked to share both the agenda and the rules education materials with the coaching staff. The meeting concluded at 9:55 a.m. Attendees: Jerry Green & myself. I began the meeting with the reading of the sanctions and the preclusions covering the staff regarding phone calls and Coach Sampson's specific issues regarding attendance at engagements where prospects may be in attendance. I indicated that today's meeting would need to be brief due to the fact that I would be in attendance at Coach Sampson's appearance at Carmel this afternoon for compliance oversight. I also indicated that Coach is restricted to contact with a prospect on an unofficial visit to campus only. The 30 mile radius applies only to prospects during an official visit to IU. I urged that care must be taken when we schedule an official visit and other prospects come on unofficial during the same time frame. We then reviewed Coach Sampson's calendar from October through December. No new appearances or speaking engagements were noted. Jerry then supplied me with copies of the coaches Septemebr recruiting contactys and evaluations logs to track dates used from the 130 permissible allotment. The assistant coaches utilized 44 person on the coaching staff as well as himself time frame. Jerry also processed the monthly statements from each person on the coaching staff as well as himself regarding phone usage for recruiting purposes for the month of September. Last, I spoke with Jerry regarding the Cyber web availability that basketball has for inputting all recruiting calls, evaluations anc contacts. This would eliminate the necessity for hand written logs and would synchronize the cell bills to the recruiter 2000 Cybersports reports that are monitored and signed by the staff. I met with Jeff, Rob & Ray as well as Beth about this Cyber web system and was met with trepidation as the staff believes that bouncing from the web to regular phone use during a travel trip and the complications that that would present. I indicated that I would get in touch with Candice at Cybersports to request further information but was certain that this concern would prove unfounded. The meeting concluded at 9:50 am
30	10.18.06	9-10 am	Attendees: Jerry Green, Jeff Meyer and myself. I began the meeting with the reading of items one and two as well as the emphasis on restrictions and clarifications on Coach Sampson and the assistant coaches in particular regarding all recruiting activities as they pertain. I then asked Jerry to produce a calendar for Coach Sampson through Decemebr which we reviewed together. No new speaking engagements were noted. We did however begin a converstaion about the Shalom soup kitchen dated on Friday November 3rd. I then jumped to agenda item number 6 and we began the rules education component concerning promotional activities. We reviewed the procedures necessary to ensure all paperwork was on file and that the activity has been approved prior to the event. We reviewed the paperwork and the points of emphasis as well as what portions of the documents were needed by which agency officials. I emphasized the importance of pre-approval of the event prior to participation by the team and Jerry assured me that both the Shalom soup kitchen as well as two school corporation officials had been forwarded the promotional activities form for processing. We then turned our attention to the recruiting records of the

I urged that care must be taken to make certain any time a countable call is placed to a prospect, their family or a coach, that the coach placing the call must make certain that they are logged onto Cyber web or the service will not record the call. I also asked if the staff had undergone training with Candice to educate themselves in the usage of the program. Jeff indicated that they had attempted to schedule last Wednesday and were not able. I informed them that Candice would be conducting a Cybersports/Cyberweb training for women's basketball on Monday in the first aid conference room and that they may be able to attend also. Jeff indicated that they would attempt to do so. We adjourned the meeting after that discussion at 10:02 a.m. Attendees: Jerry Green and myself. I began the meeting with a point by point review of sanction and self-imposed restrictions. These were read aloud as usual to cover thoroughly all pertinent information concerning the restrictions on phone calls and off campus recruiting. Jerry and I then began our review of Coach Sampson's calendar to identify any new events/speaking engagements scheduled for the remainder of the month throughout the month of December. No new events were noted, however, the promotional activities (Shalom soup kitchen as well as the reading program events were discussed and the necessary paperwork was requested to have on file prior to the events for compliance oversight of any activities of the coaches and student-athletes.) At this point in the meeting, Jerry shared the coaches recruiting records (hand written) with me and we discussed Beth and input strategies for the coaches. I again urged Jerry to emphasize the Cyber web training with each assistant coach to synchronize the records and avoid any inaccuracies. Jerry concurred that the assistant coaches need to utilize the service and begin the training and said he would speak with each to that affect. We then turned our attention to the rules education materials regarding playing and practice seasons materials. Specifically, we discussed the application of the new legislation regarding the day off exception for basketball as well as scheduling issues for a qualifying multi-team event as well as the first permissible game allowed in the season legislation. Jerry and I then reviewed the schedule proposal for the 2007-2008 season for compliance with the regulations concerning maximum contests for the year. We adjourned our meeting at 9:51 a.m. I then met with Beth McLaughlin at that time and we discussed scheduling each assistant coach with Candice at Cybersports Inc. to begin training on Cyber web applications for cell phone access and usage. I asked that Beth inform me when each assistant was available so I can be present for the conference call for each. The assistants were out and she will contact me as soon as each become available.

Then we discussed IU's adoption of restrictions to include weekly meetings and a written report to the COI. I then asked Jerry to inform me with any information he had regarding the IU Radio sponsor lunch set up by Frank Cuervo. Jerry had no further information than what was already known. We then reviewed Coach Sampson's schedule for November and December. No new dates or speaking engagements were identified. Jerry provided me with the written records from the assistant coaches regarding recruiting logs and asked about the conversion to Cyber mobile. The assistant coaches will probably continue with written records until or if they become comfortable with recording their recruiting information using their cell phones through the cyber mobile software package. I then asked Jerry to update me on the promotional activities status regarding the student athletes affirmation (signature) on the promotion form concerning the reading

He also indicated that the team may work with special olympics if a mutual date can be worked out in the future. Jerry then provided a concern Coach Meyer had regarding the new legislation under bylaw 17.1.5.4.7 and if during the Thanksgiving week requires a day off. I assured him under Bylaw 17.1.53.6 that a day off would need to be granted due to the fact that the entire week is not considered a vacation period by the institution. The meeting was adjourned at 9:30 am and IU then met with Coach Sampson and Rob Senderoff and Ray McCallum regarding the rules education materials covered with Jerry Green earlier in the meeting. Finally, I met with Beth McLaughlin regarding the collection of recruiting logs and the potential move to cyber mobile usage by the coaches. Attendees: Jerry Green, Jeff Meyer & myself. I began the meeting with the reading of the sanctions and the preclusions covering the staff regarding phone calls and Coach Sampson's specific issues regarding attendance at engagements where prospects may be in attendance. I reiterated that Coach Sampson cannot be present during any phone calls that the assistant coaches make nor can he have off campus contact with a PSA on an unofficial visit. Moreover, he may only have contact within a 30 mile radius with prospects on an official visit. Then we discussed IU's adoption of restrictions to include weekly meetings and a written report to the COI. I then asked Jerry to provide me with the November and December Calendar for Coach Sampson to review any and all additions to his schedule regarding speaking engagements. Coach has no new engagements to date for November and December. While we were reviewing the schedule, we discussed the athletically related activities regulations and the day off requirement and what days were to be used during the month of November.

Jerry then provided me with the recruiting logs for Jeff Meyer and Rob Senderoff to include contact, evaluations and phone calls. Ray McCallum's were not available at that time and will be provided as soon as they are collected. We then began our discussion of the rules education supplements. The topics covered included practice sites on road trips, departure and return expense restrictions, travel during vacation periods, transportation for competition occurring between terms, meal allowance limits and travel exceptions. Jerry asked that this information also be provided to Tim Garl. It will be emailed to Mr. Garl this afternoon. The meeting concluded at 9:40 am. I returned to the basketball office about ten minutes later to discuss Cybersports and recruiting records for Ray McCallum as well as to provide materials given to me by Jerry Green that had yet been input to the Cybersports system. At that time I also discussed the new autographed item process with Beth as well as B.J. Both expressed concern with the Varsity Club as well as the Alumni Association's heavy requests and their adherence to the new procedure. I then met with Ricki Chastain regarding basketball concerns and a meeting was scheduled for later in the day to get all parties together and review what is expected and should occur from this point forward.

The meeting began as usual by my reading the sanctions and the preclusions covering the staff regarding phone calls and Coach Sampson's specific issues regarding attendance at engagements where prospects may be in attendance. I then again emphasized that the allowance for Coach Sampson to have contact was only on official visits and did not extend to unofficial visits. Then we discussed IU's adoption of restrictions to include weekly meetings and a written report to the COI. I then asked Jerry to update me on any information he had regarding any new engagements for Coach Sampson. He noted that there were no future dates identified through January at this point. Jerry then provided me with the assistant coaches recruiting documentation for phone calls during the week of November 11 through 18th. We then immediately began discussing the rules education portion of the meeting. Both Jeff Meyer and Rob Senderoff expressed concern that [REDACTED] eligibility has come into question regarding years of participation and asked that I look into that. Jerry indicated that he would follow up with Anitra on Monday after Thanksgiving break. The meeting concluded at 9:40 am.
36	11.30.06	9-10 am	Attendees: Jerry Green, Jeff Meyer, and Myself. The meeting began as usual by my reading the sanctions and the preclusions covering the staff regarding phone calls and Coach Sampson's specific issues regarding attendance at engagements where prospects may be in attendance. I then again emphasized that the allowance for Coach Sampson to have contact was only on official visits and did not extend to unofficial visits. Then we discussed IU's adoption of restrictions to include weekly meetings and a written report to the COI. I then asked Jerry to update me on any information he had regarding any new engagements for Coach Sampson. He noted that there were no future dates identified through January at this point. I then asked Jerry for the information that the coaches have had Beth input to the Cyber sports database regarding recruiting. Only four recruiting calls were identified from the week of Thanksgiving by the coaching staff. Jerry then asked about the affect of the vacation break on countable athletically related activities and what the limits on weekly and daily hours applied. Jerry also asked if 17.1.5.2 applied to Men's basketball during the week prior to the exam week. I informed him that since basketball is in season, the legislation did not affect them but would in the spring term the week prior to final exams. We then began our discussion of the rules education portion of the materials provided. I discussed the main legislation regarding evaluation periods and what could and could not occur. We also covered the official interpretation enclosed to insure compliance during the coming month(s) for evaluations during the academic year. The meeting was adjourned at approximately 9:30 am.
37	12.06.06	9-10 am	Attendees: Jerry Green, Jeff Meyer and myself. The meeting began as usual with the reading of the first item on the agenda to include phone call restrictions on Coach Sampson until May 25th 2007 as well as assistant coaches reductions in the number of calls that they may make to prospects in their sophomore and junior years. The exceptions for NLI and official visits were discussed. I also covered the information regarding Coach Sampson being able to meet with prospects on an official visit to IU within a 30 mile radius of campus. We next discussed the committee on infractions requirement of weekly meetings between compliance and the DOBO as well as the written report coming in May 2007. I asked to review Coach Sampson's calendar and was provided with the remainder of December's calendar. No new speaking engagements were identified and none were expected to be added. I then reviewed with Jerry the recruiting paperwork that the coaches had provided for phone calls for the previous week. Jerry then asked that we review the calendar with regard to days off per week during the vacation period concerning the first week back in school in the spring term and Bylaw 17.1.5.4.7. We then began our discussion of the rules education portion of the materials provided. I discussed the new legislation being proposed for Spring 2007. Specifically we covered items 2006-23 (Tryouts after enrollment); 2006-25 (Professional Draft); 2006-52 (March

We next discussed the committee on infractions requirement of weekly meetings between compliance and the DOBO as well as the written report coming in May 2007. Next we began our rules education component and I discussed the significance of communication with high school coaches and guidance offices regarding the upcoming core course changes for initial eligibility. The current 14 core course credits will be changing to 16 in two years and most high schools are still unaware and current sophomores will be adversely affected if communications are not made to ensure the high schools are aware and notify the student athletes appropriately. We then began to address the recruiting logs of the coaches and reviewed the monthly calendar for Coach Sampson. Soem small change was needed for Coach Senderoffs recruiting log and was addressed. Also, we discussed the schedule for future meetings in the latter part of December and early January due to the season schedule. The meeting was adjourned at 9:50 am.

We then turned or focus to the coaches recruiting logs and Jerry provided the weekly phone logs for Meyer and Senderoff. Ray McCallum then joined our meeting and informed me that he would turn his weekly phone logs into to me later today. He then excused himself from the meeting. Next we discussed the rules education component of the meeting. We discussed the HT article concerning [REDACTED] and using the "Gun" for shooting practice versus coaches or persons with sports specific duties being present. We discussed and reviewed Bylaw 17.02.13 in detail and also reviewed an official interpretation from October 12, 2005 regarding non coaching athletics department staff members with sports specific duties participating in voluntary activities. In particular, we discussed the preclusion that coaches or staff members may not report back the activity which they witness if they are present. We then concluded our meeting at 9:29 AM. Ray McCallum then approached me on my way out of the office to reiterate that he would get his weekly phone log to me asap.

We discussed the issue of Bylaw 17.1.5.4.7 and the Big Tens reversal of stance regarding taking two days off during a vacation period instead of the original response of one day off during the vacation period. We concluded our meeting at 9:31 AM. Ray McCallum approached me on my way out of the office to provide me with a copy of his weekly phone logs. Coach Sampson requested that I clarify the Big Tens reversal and why the timing has come this week? I informed him that I did not agree with the Big Ten's stance and would follow up with Jennifer and Chad Hawley for a resolution. We next discussed the committee on infractions requirement of weekly meetings between compliance and the DOBO as well as the written report coming in May 2007. I then asked for and we reviewed coach Sampson's calendar for the remainder of January, February, March & April. Five dates (2 in February and 3 in April) were identified as speaking/appearance engagements where Coach Sampson has agreed to appear. We then discussed the coaches recruiting logs and Jerry provided the weekly phone logs for all the assistant coaches which were complete and had been input to the Cybersports database. Then we discussed the rules education supplement and reviewed the recruiting calendar for February (Evaluation period) and also a staff interpretation from last February examining how to count, or not count, evaluations made by coaches at NCAA certified events in conjunction with the NCAA Championships. Lastly we began a review of Bylaws 17.32 & 30.7 regarding foreign tours. IU does not regard Labor Day as a holiday even though they do recognize the weekend as a holiday for faculty. Jennifer expressed that IU would have to pursue the matter with the NCAA via waiver to permit a labor day foreign tour. The meeting was conclude at 11:56 am.

Indiana University
Report to the Committee on Infractions
August 1, 2006

This report is filed in compliance with the Committee on Infractions report dated May 25, 2006, that contained the findings and penalties imposed against Coach Kelvin Sampson. The report is organized as follows:

- I. Review of Penalties.
- II. Monitoring of the Men's Basketball Staff by Indiana University.
- III. Rules Education Program for the Men's Basketball Staff by Indiana University.
- IV. Appendices.

I. Review of Penalties:

- A. The University of Oklahoma self-imposed a number of penalties on its men's basketball program. Indiana University believes that when violations occur, regardless of the intent, appropriate penalties must follow. Therefore, Indiana University adopted those penalties that related directly to Coach Sampson and placed additional requirements on the men's basketball program. The following are the original penalties Indiana imposed on Coach Sampson and the men's basketball program:
1. The director of compliance will meet, on a weekly basis, with the head coach or the director of men's basketball operations to review men's basketball recruitment activities and documentation for the previous and upcoming weeks. Furthermore, Indiana University will file a written report with the NCAA not later than August 31, 2007, detailing the implementation and fulfillment of the penalties which were transferred to Coach Kelvin Sampson upon his employment at Indiana University.
 2. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
 3. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
 4. Restrict the number of days which Coach Kelvin Sampson may recruit off-campus to a maximum of 4 during the period of March 29, 2006, through June 30, 2006. (Coach Sampson used 15 of the 19 recruiting-person days he was permitted pursuant to the University of Oklahoma's self-imposed penalties while still employed at the University of Oklahoma).
 5. Impose similar base and bonus compensation restrictions on Coach Kelvin Sampson, for the period beginning March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007, that were self-imposed by the University of Oklahoma.

These restrictions were addressed in a compliance agreement that was signed by the athletics director, faculty representative and head coach (see Appendix A for a draft of this document).

B. After the Committee on Infractions report dated May 25, 2006, the original compliance agreement dated April 19, 2006, was revised and noted that although Indiana University adopted and transferred Oklahoma's penalties regarding Coach Sampson, further recruiting restrictions were required. Therefore, we amended the earlier agreement to develop a revised compliance agreement that was executed on June 9, 2006 (see Appendix B). The complete list of corrective actions is now as follows:

1. The director of compliance or the assistant athletics director for compliance will meet, on a weekly basis, with the head coach or the director of men's basketball operations to review men's basketball recruitment activities and documentation, including telephone records. Coach Sampson will work with the compliance staff to establish effective monitoring systems and regular and effective rules education sessions.
2. Indiana University shall submit a report to the Committee on Infractions by August 1, 2006, detailing our monitoring of, and rules education sessions for, Coach Kelvin Sampson and his staff. The report will also include documentation of Indiana University's compliance with all other penalties adopted and transferred to IU. Furthermore, Indiana University will file a written report with the NCAA not later than August 31, 2007, detailing the implementation and fulfillment of the penalties which were transferred to Coach Sampson upon his employment at Indiana University, as well as those assessed by the committee on May 25, 2006.
3. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
4. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).

5. Restrict the number of days which Coach Kelvin Sampson may recruit off-campus to a maximum of four during the period of March 29, 2006 through May 24, 2006. Coach Sampson used 15 of the 19 recruiting-person days he was permitted pursuant to the University of Oklahoma's self-imposed penalties while still employed at the University of Oklahoma and used the final four as the head coach at Indiana University prior to May 24, 2006 (see Appendix C).
6. Impose similar base and bonus compensation restrictions on Coach Kelvin Sampson, for the period beginning March 29, 2006 and concluding June 30, 2007, that were self-imposed by the University of Oklahoma.
7. Coach Kelvin Sampson is prohibited, for a period of one year beginning May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, from making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls.
8. Coach Kelvin Sampson is prohibited, for a period of one year beginning May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, from engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. The prohibition on off-campus recruiting activities shall apply to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance, including banquets, booster functions and exceptions provided by Bylaw 13.1.9.

II. Monitoring of the Men's Basketball Staff by Indiana University:

- A. Each week the director of compliance meets with the director of basketball operations. The agenda includes a review of the committee's sanctions on Coach Sampson and the men's basketball program and monitoring of schedules, speaking engagements, phone call logs, and contact and evaluation logs. The meetings also include rules education sessions and question and answer opportunities (see Appendix D). This weekly meeting also provides a necessary conduit for both the men's basketball office and the compliance office to express concerns and voice questions for consideration by each staff. The following topics are reviewed at each weekly meeting:
 1. Review of sanctions.
 2. Handwritten phone logs from each coach (see Appendix E).
 3. Cybersports phone call reports signed by each coach (see Appendix F).
 4. Handwritten contact/evaluation logs from each coach (see Appendix G).
 5. Cybersports contact/evaluation reports signed by each coach (see Appendix H).

6. Coach Sampson's personal schedule for the month as well as the coming month (see Appendix I).
 7. Rules education supplement (see Section III).
- B. The primary focus to date in the monitoring of recruiting records has been that of phone logs.
1. Each month the coaching staff produces a statement indicating what phones they have utilized for recruiting purposes (see Appendix J).
 2. Indiana University utilizes a software program (Cybersports) in which each recruiting coach inputs his handwritten recruiting records.
 3. A report is produced weekly by an administrative assistant in men's basketball from the Cybersports data and then those reports as well as the coaches' handwritten records are forwarded to the compliance office (see Appendix K).
 4. Additionally, each month each coach produces a personal cell phone bill which is itemized and cross referenced with his handwritten records to assure compliance with NCAA rules, as well as the current sanctions being imposed.
 5. University phone logs which are forwarded to the compliance office by the business office monthly are also cross checked to assure that NCAA rules and COI restrictions are being met.
- C. Contact and evaluation logs are currently the secondary focus for recruiting data:
1. The coach produces handwritten records for the administrative assistant to input to the Cybersports software.
 2. The Cybersports report is generated and signed by each coach monthly (see Appendix H).
 3. Both the handwritten records as well as the software reports are collected by the compliance office.
 4. Those reports are reviewed to assure that NCAA rules and COI restrictions are being met.
- D. Any and all clarification can and does precipitate further meetings during the week, both at the discretion of the compliance office as well as the basketball staff. Every effort is being expended to assure full and complete compliance on all levels.

III. Rules Education Program for the Men's Basketball Staff by Indiana University:

- A. Indiana University has and will continue to take advantage of each opportunity to educate thoroughly every coaching staff member. As this applies to the men's basketball staff, the weekly meetings have proved to be opportune times to broach timely subjects in an effort to be proactive and avoid potential future infractions. Moreover, the meeting provides the opportunity to address supplemental data. This gives the staff a chance to review and become familiar with new or relevant information, as well as providing the staff the opportunity to ask questions and attempt follow through on any items which may need clarification.

All such meetings occur regularly in the office of the director of basketball operations on Tuesday mornings unless time sensitive materials need to be addressed. The following issues have been discussed to date (see Appendix L for the handouts from all of these meetings, unless otherwise indicated):

1. MBB New Coaches Compliance Meeting (04.03.06) (see Appendix M for the agenda and handouts). Attendees: Kelvin Sampson (head coach), Jerry Green (director of basketball Operations, Jeff Meyer and Ray McCallum (assistant coaches), Jennifer Brinegar (assistant athletics director – compliance), and Christian Pope (director of compliance).
2. MBB Spring Team Meeting (04.11.06) (see Appendix N for the agenda and handout). Attendees: All of the returning student-athletes, Meyer, McCallum, Rob Senderoff (assistant coach), Brinegar, Pope, Anitra House (eligibility and systems officer), Chip Armbruster (assistant compliance and eligibility officer), Kathy Arnold (assistant compliance and financial aid officer).
3. Men's Basketball, Administration and Compliance Staff Meeting (05.30.06) (see Appendix O for the agenda and handouts). Attendees: Sampson, Green, Meyer, McCallum, Senderoff, Rick Greenspan (athletics director), Bruce Jaffee (faculty representative), Grace Calhoun (associate athletics director – academic services), Mary Ann Rohleder (senior woman administrator), Tim Fitzpatrick (associate athletics director and liaison for the AD to MBB), Brinegar and Pope.
4. Indiana University Official Visits procedures and NCAA regulations (06.07.06). Attendees: Green, Meyer, Senderoff, McCallum, Armbruster and Pope.
5. Camps and Media Activities (06.13.06). Attendees: Green, Sampson and Pope.
6. Camp Initial-Eligibility Education Component (06.20.06) Attendees: Green, Senderoff and Pope.

7. Camp Initial-Eligibility Education Component (06.27.06)
Attendees: Sampson and Brinegar

Memorandum

Date: April 19, 2006

Re: Compliance Agreement

We agree, in light of the circumstances of which we are aware, that the University of Oklahoma imposed a number of significant penalties on its men's basketball program. Like Oklahoma, Indiana University believes that when violations occur, regardless of the intent, appropriate penalties must follow. Therefore, it is our plan to carry out those penalties that relate directly to you, as well as to place a few additional requirements on your program. Accordingly, the following corrective action will be implemented:

1. The director of compliance will meet, on a weekly basis, with the head coach or the director of men's basketball operations to review men's basketball recruitment activities and documentation for the previous and upcoming weeks. Furthermore, Indiana University will file a written report with the NCAA not later than August 31, 2007, detailing the implementation and fulfillment of the penalties which were transferred to Coach Kelvin Sampson upon his employment at Indiana University.
2. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
3. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June

30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).

4. Restrict the number of days which Coach Kelvin Sampson may recruit off-campus to a maximum of 4 during the period of March 29, 2006, through June 30, 2006 (Coach Sampson used 15 of the 19 recruiting-person days he was permitted pursuant to the University of Oklahoma's self-imposed penalties while still employed at the University of Oklahoma).
5. Impose similar base and bonus compensation restrictions on Coach Kelvin Sampson, for the period beginning March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007.

It is understood that any additional sanctions imposed on you or IU by the NCAA and/or the Big Ten Conference will be followed as well.

By signing and dating this memo, all parties agree to abide by the penalties set forth above.

Memorandum

To: Coach Kelvin Sampson

From: Rick Greenspan
Bruce Jaffee

Date: June 9, 2006

Re: Revised Compliance Agreement

This memorandum replaces the April 19, 2006, compliance agreement signed by all the parties listed above. The Committee on Infractions report dated May 25, 2006, noted that although Indiana University adopted and transferred the penalties listed below, further recruiting restrictions were warranted. Section 4.08 of your Employment Contract, dated April 20, 2006, states in part, "If the NCAA imposes sanctions against the Employee...or if the NCAA requires that the Employee's prior employer's (University of Oklahoma) sanctions against him be enforced, Indiana University shall impose those same sanctions against the Employee." Therefore, we have amended paragraphs 1 and 4, and added paragraphs 6 and 7 to this compliance agreement. The complete list of corrective actions is as follows:

1. The director of compliance or the assistant athletics director for compliance will meet, on a weekly basis, with the head coach or the director of men's basketball operations to review men's basketball recruitment activities and documentation, including telephone records. Coach Sampson will work with the compliance staff to establish effective monitoring systems and regular and effective rules education sessions.
2. Indiana University shall submit a report to the Committee on Infractions by August 1, 2006, detailing our monitoring of, and rules education sessions for, Coach Kelvin Sampson and his staff. The report will also include documentation of Indiana University's compliance with all other penalties adopted and transferred to IU. Furthermore, Indiana University will file a written report with the NCAA not later than August 31, 2007, detailing the implementation and fulfillment of the penalties which were transferred to Coach Sampson upon his employment at Indiana University, as well as those assessed by the committee on May 25, 2006.

3. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
4. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
5. Restrict the number of days which Coach Kelvin Sampson may recruit off-campus to a maximum of 4 during the period of March 29, 2006 through May 24, 2006 (Coach Sampson used 15 of the 19 recruiting-person days he was permitted pursuant to the University of Oklahoma's self-imposed penalties while still employed at the University of Oklahoma).
6. Impose similar base and bonus compensation restrictions on Coach Kelvin Sampson, for the period beginning March 29, 2006 and concluding June 30, 2007.
7. Coach Kelvin Sampson is prohibited, for a period of one year beginning May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, from making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls.
8. Coach Kelvin Sampson is prohibited, for a period of one year beginning May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, from engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. The prohibition on off-campus recruiting activities shall apply to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance, including banquets, booster functions and exceptions provided by Bylaw 13.1.9.

It is understood that any additional sanctions imposed on you or IU by the NCAA and/or the Big Ten Conference will be followed as well.

By signing and dating this memo, all parties agree to abide by the penalties set forth above.

OFFICIAL VISIT NOTIFICATION LETTER

Date

Dear (name of PSA),

We are pleased that you have made the decision to make an official visit to Indiana University. IU is committed to conducting all recruiting activities within applicable NCAA and Big Ten rules and is committed to the highest standards of behavior and practices in all areas, including recruiting. IU seeks to provide you, during your official visit, with a comprehensive and realistic look at what your experience could be like should you choose to attend IU.

Recruiting visits are intended to determine whether you and Indiana University are a good fit for each other in terms of educational, athletic, and social expectations. The primary consideration, therefore, in selecting activities for these visits must be to provide information that will assist you and your family in making that decision. As such, all official visits at Indiana University include a review of academic expectations and a meeting with an academic advisor from student-athlete services and/or a college or school advisor or faculty member.

In accordance with NCAA regulations, a prospective student-athlete is permitted to make a maximum of five official visits (expense-paid visits), with no more than one such visit permitted to any single institution. Your official visit to Indiana University, which is tentatively scheduled for [REDACTED] counts as your one official visit to our campus.

Furthermore, NCAA regulations require that prior to making an official visit, a prospective student-athlete must present the institution with a score from the SAT, PSAT, ACT or PACT Plus test and a high school transcript. If you have not done so already, please make arrangements to send us this documentation as soon as possible. Additionally, although not required for an official visit, we strongly encourage you to register with the NCAA Initial Eligibility Clearinghouse, www.ncaaclearinghouse.net as soon as possible.

Please carefully review the attached Official Visit Information for Prospective Student-Athletes which provides important information regarding NCAA, Big Ten and institutional regulations and expectations of appropriate behavior during official visits.

We are looking forward to your visit to our campus. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact us.

Sincerely,

Coach ____

(Attach a copy of the letter to the pre-approval form)

INDIANA UNIVERSITY ATHLETIC DEPARTMENT OFFICIAL VISIT INFORMATION FOR PROSPECTIVE STUDENT-ATHLETES

The following list contains important information regarding your official visit to Indiana University:

1. You are permitted to receive one official visit (expense paid) to Indiana University and this visit counts as your one such visit. Additionally, this visit counts as one of your five permissible official (expense paid) visits during your senior year.
2. Your visit should not last longer than 48 hours. This includes time spent on campus only, not travel time, unless a coach drives you, in which case the 48-hours begin when the coach first makes contact with you.
3. Appropriate conduct and adherence to applicable rules (university, Big Ten and NCAA) is required of all prospects, their parents/legal guardians, friends and relatives, IU student-athletes, coaches and staff during the official visit. Some examples of activities that are considered to be inappropriate during your official visit include, but are not limited to the following: Participation in any illegal activity (violation of NCAA, Big Ten, or institutional rules, or federal or state laws); possession or the use of alcohol, illegal drugs or substances; participation in hazing activities; participation in gambling activities, and participation in activities which visit a common nuisance upon the community.
4. The coaches and student host(s) must entertain you within a 30-mile radius of Indiana University Bloomington campus. Strip clubs, gambling/gaming venues, or other such establishments are "off limits" during official visits.
5. Student hosts and prospects are prohibited from using alcoholic beverages and illicit drugs in conjunction with official visits. Prospects found to be in violation of university, city, state, or federal rules and laws (including alcohol use, illicit drug use and criminal activities) will be subject to disciplinary review.
6. Hotel or dorm accommodations for you and your parents/legal guardians or spouse are permissible. Brothers/sisters, coaches or other people accompanying you must pay for their own room accommodations. We are not permitted to pay for incidental expenses (e.g., telephone calls, movies) that you incur during your visit. These types of expenses are your responsibility and must be paid upon check-out.
7. Coaches and student-athletes are expected to return you to your room at a time that is consistent with the schedule of activities during the visit and provides you with sufficient sleep time in order take advantage of the academic, athletic, and student life aspects of your visit.
8. Meals for you and your parents/legal guardians or spouse are permissible during the official visit. Brothers/sisters, your coach or other people accompanying you must pay for their own meals. Your siblings may receive a dessert or after-dinner snack at the home of an institutional staff member (e.g., the director of athletics, coach, faculty member or the institution's president) at no additional charge.
9. The student host, if one is assigned to you, may be given no more than $30 per day to use for entertainment purposes. It is not permissible to use this money to purchase souvenirs (e.g., t-shirt, hat, etc.) or other merchandise for you, only for entertainment and food.
10. Any recreational or physical activity that you take part in during your visit cannot be organized or observed by members of the coaching staff and cannot be designed to test your athletic ability for recruiting purposes. Any workouts must be initiated by you and the coach can in no way be involved.
11. The coaching staff and student host(s) should make every effort to avoid contacts with representatives of our athletics interests ("reps") during your visit. NCAA rules prohibit reps from being involved in the recruitment process. If you happen to meet a rep during the course of your visit, you must keep the conversation to an exchange of pleasantries (i.e., "hello") and make every effort not to discuss your recruitment with them.
12. We are permitted to provide complimentary admissions to a campus athletics event to you and any two people accompanying you on your official visit to IU. These complimentary admissions must be issued through a pass list only (no "hard tickets" may be issued).

This information is provided in order to give you a better knowledge and appreciation of NCAA, Big Ten and Indiana University rules, regulations and policies regarding your official visit to our campus. Indiana University does not want to jeopardize your eligibility and making you aware of the rules is important in this effort.

I have read the above statements and agree to abide by all applicable rules and regulations governing my official visit at Indiana University .

13.12.2.3.2 Institutional/Noninstitutional Privately Owned Camps/Clinic -- Basketball

In basketball, an institution's basketball coach and noncoaching staff members with responsibilities specific to basketball may be employed only at their own camps/clinics. Participation in such camps or clinics is limited to the months of June, July and August or any calendar week (Sunday through Saturday) that includes days of those months, unless such activities meet the provisions regarding developmental clinics set forth in Bylaw 13.11.3.1. It is not permissible for a basketball coach or noncoaching staff member with responsibilities only in basketball to be employed at other institutional camps or clinics or at noninstitutional privately owned camps or clinics. [Adopted: 4/28/05 effective 8/1/05 - women's basketball; immediate - men's basketball. Contracts signed prior to July 20, 2004, may be honored, provided the camp or clinic is operated in accordance with restrictions applicable to institutional camps (e.g., open to any and all entrants, no free or reduced admissions to or employment award winners.)]

Employment of Basketball Student Managers at Camps and Clinics (I)

Date Issued: Jul 13, 2005

Type: Official

Item Ref: 1

Interpretation:

The committee determined that student managers who are full-time students and have responsibilities specific to basketball may be employed at institutional or noninstitutional camps or clinics other than their own institution's camps or clinics. Subject: July recruiting/ DEAD period

Coach,

Please be aware of the parameters of the NCAA concerning July recruiting periods. The specifics are as follows

May 1 through July 5, 2006, except for (1) below:	Quiet Period
(1) NBA Predraft camp:	Evaluation Period
July 6-15, 2006:	Evaluation Period
July 16-21, 2006, [except for (1) below]:	Dead Period
(1) It is permissible for an institution to have contact with a prospect who is enrolled in the institution's summer term (i.e., summer session or summer bridge program) and has signed a National Letter of Intent or other written commitment to attend the institution. (Adopted: 4/25/02)
July 22-31, 2006:	Evaluation Period

I know I need not remind you that this applies only to the assistant coaches as Coach Sampson must not be off-campus for any purpose concerning recruiting. Please do not hesitate to contact my office with any concerns or questions. Thanks.

DOBO meeting Supplement – (07.10.06)

13.02.4.4 Dead Period

A dead period is that period of time when it is not permissible to make in-person recruiting contacts or evaluations on or off the member institution's campus or to permit official or unofficial visits by prospective student-athletes to the institution's campus. The provision of complimentary admissions to a prospective student-athlete during a dead period is prohibited, except as provided in Bylaw 13.7.2.5 for a prospective student-athlete who visits an institution as part of a group. During such a dead period, a coaching staff member may not serve as a speaker at or attend a meeting or banquet at which prospective student-athletes are in attendance, except as provided in Bylaw 13.1.9.1, and may not visit the prospective student-athletes' educational institutions. It remains permissible, however, for an institutional staff member to write or telephone prospective student-athletes during such a dead period.

2005 Division I Hot Topic No. 6 - Basketball Summer Recruiting Restrictions

Date Issued: Jun 29, 2005 Type: Ed. Column Item Ref: 1

Interpretation: Institutions should note that July 6-15 and July 22-31 are evaluation periods for basketball. As such, it is not permissible to have recruiting contacts with prospective student-athletes during these periods. In addition, institutions should note that pursuant to NCAA Bylaw 11.7.4, there is a limit of three coaches who may evaluate prospects at any one time during the evaluation periods.

Institutions should note that pursuant to Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2-(b), all communication with a prospect, the prospect's relatives or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in basketball, directly or indirectly, is prohibited during the time period in which the prospect is participating in the summer certified event. However, printed materials (e.g., letters, recruiting brochures, questionnaires) may be sent via regular mail (see Bylaw 13.4.1) to a prospect's home while the prospect is participating in a certified event. Pursuant to Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2.1, an institutional coaching staff member may have telephone contact with a prospect's high-school coach (or high-school administrator) while the prospect is participating in a summer certified event, provided the high-school coach or administrator is not in attendance at that summer certified event.

The following questions and answers are intended to clarify the application of Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2.

1. Question. If a prospect is participating in a tournament that occurs on consecutive days and at the same site, at what point may a coach initiate communication with a prospect, the prospect's relatives or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in the certified event?

Answer. A coach may only communicate with such an individual after the prospect's team has been eliminated from the event and the appropriate authorities have released the prospect, except for telephone contact with a prospect's high-school coach (or administrator) as permitted in Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2.1.

2. Question. If a prospect is participating in extended competition (i.e., traveling directly from one competition site to another on an extended road trip), at what point may a coach initiate communication with a prospect, the prospect's relatives or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in the certified events?

Answer. Once a prospect reports on call to travel with his or her team at the beginning of the extended road trip, it is not permissible for an institutional coaching staff member to have any type of communication with the prospect, the prospect's parents or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in basketball [except for telephone contact with a prospect's high-school coach (or administrator) as permitted in Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2.1] until completion of the team's final competition of the road trip and the prospect has been released by the appropriate authorities. This restriction on communication should reinforce that collegiate coaches' attendance at events during the July evaluation period should be for observation only and not a venue whereby contacts with outside influences are designed to be made in an effort to recruit particular basketball prospects.

3. Question. A certified event is scheduled to take place July 8-10. Is it permissible for coaches to meet with a prospect's coach the evening prior to the event?

Answer. A coach could not communicate with a prospect's coach on the evening prior to the certified event if the team is in the locale of the event (i.e., team has traveled to the event) and the prospect has reported on call.

4. Question. Is it permissible for a coach to evaluate a prospect who is participating in an organized high school practice during the July evaluation period?

Answer. It would be permissible for an institutional coaching staff member to evaluate a prospective student-athlete participating in a high-school practice (as opposed to a nonscholastic team practice), provided the ability to have organized practice is approved or sanctioned by the appropriate state high-school athletics governing body and the practice is held at the direction and under the supervision of the high school coach. It remains impermissible to attend nonscholastic practices in preparation for a certified event unless that practice time has been designated as part of the certified event.

5. Question. Is it permissible for a coach to have contact with a prospect who has signed a National Letter of Intent with the coach's institution?

Answer. Pursuant to a 8/13/03 official interpretation (reference: Item No. 1) it is not permissible for an institutional coaching staff member to communicate in any way with a prospect who is participating in a summer-certified event under any circumstances, including contact with a prospect who has signed a National Letter of Intent. However, it would be permissible for an institutional coaching staff member to communicate with a prospect who is in attendance at a summer-certified event only if the prospect is not participating in the event and is not associated with any team participating in the event (e.g., prospect travels to event at his or her own expense, prospect is not under the authority of the coach at any time, prospect does not participate in team functions).

13.1.7.2.2 Additional Restrictions - Men's Basketball Effective Date: Aug 01, 2006

In men's the following additional restrictions shall apply:

- In men's basketball, contact shall not be made with a prospective student-athlete at any basketball event during the academic year that is not part of a prospective student-athlete's normal high school, preparatory school or two-year college season, or any event that is not approved, sanctioned, sponsored or conducted by the applicable state high school or two-year college association, National Federation of State High School Associations or the National Junior College Athletic Association.
- In men's basketball, all communication with a prospective student-athlete, the prospective student-athlete's relatives or legal guardians, the prospective student-athlete's coach or any individual associated with the prospective student-athlete as a result of the prospective student-athlete's participation in basketball, directly or indirectly, is prohibited during the time period in which the prospective student-athlete is participating in a summer certified event or a nonscholastic event during the April contact period. However, printed materials (e.g., letters, recruiting brochures, questionnaires) may be sent via regular mail (see Bylaw 13.4.1) to a prospective student-athlete's home while the prospective student-athlete is participating in a certified or nonscholastic event.

UPDATED - 2006 Educational Column -- NCAA Division I Proposal No. 2004-124 --
Communication with Basketball Prospects During the July Evaluation Periods (I)

Date Issued: Jul 12, 2006 . Type: Ed. Column Item Ref: 1

Interpretation: NCAA Division I institutions should note that NCAA Division I Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2 specifies that, during the July evaluation periods in men's basketball, while a prospect is participating in a certified basketball event, all communication with a prospect, the prospect's relatives or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in basketball, directly or indirectly, is prohibited. This provision prohibits all forms of communication, including in-person contact, general correspondence (e.g., letters, faxes, text messaging, instant messages, e-mail) and telephone calls. In men's basketball, institutional staff members (limited to only a countable coach beginning August 1, 2006) may send general correspondence (except for text messages) to the prospect during the time period in which the prospect is participating in a noncertified event, provided it is sent directly to the prospect (e.g., front desk of hotel, the prospect's personal fax machine) and there is no additional party (e.g., camp employee, coach) involved in disseminating the correspondence. Text messaging is akin to the passing of notes, which is not permissible during the time period a prospect is participating in an athletics event.

Finally, pursuant to Bylaw 13.02.11.1, those prospects who are enrolled in an institution's summer term and receiving athletics aid prior to initial full-time enrollment are no longer considered prospects for the purpose of applying contact restrictions and communication with such individuals is permissible.

13.1.8.8 Evaluation Days -- Basketball

Men's Basketball. In men's basketball, each institution is limited to 130 recruiting-person days (see Bylaw 13.02.7) during recruiting periods (contact and evaluation periods) that occur during the academic year.

(1) Fall Contact Period.

Evaluations at sites other than the prospective student-athlete's educational institution are prohibited during the fall contact period. Live evaluations at prospective student-athlete's educational institution shall be limited to regularly scheduled high school, preparatory school and two-year college contests/tournaments and practices and regular scholastic activities involving prospective student-athletes enrolled only at that institution.

(2) Academic Year Evaluation Period.

All evaluations during the academic year evaluation period shall be limited to regularly scheduled high school, preparatory school and two-year college contests/tournaments, practices and regular scholastic activities involving student-athletes enrolled only at that institution.

(3) April Contact Period.

- (i) Evaluations at Nonscholastic Events. Evaluations at nonscholastic events during the April contact period are limited to events that are approved, sanctioned, sponsored or conducted by the applicable state high school, preparatory school or two-year college association, National Federation of High School Associations or the National Junior College Athletic Association. Coaching staff members may only attend such an event on Saturday and/or Sunday, and not on any weekend during which the PSAT, SAT, PLAN or ACT national standardized tests are administered, regardless of where the event occurs. If an approved nonscholastic event occurs at a high school, preparatory school or two-year college, it is not necessary to have a contact with a prospective student-athlete who attends the educational institution.
- (ii) Evaluations at a Prospective Student-Athlete's Educational Institution (Other Than Nonscholastic Events). Evaluations are permissible at a prospective student-athlete's educational institution shall be limited to regularly scheduled preparatory school or two-year college contests/tournaments, practices and regular scholastic activities involving prospective student-athletes enrolled only at that institution, and only in conjunction with an off-campus contact.

(4) Summer Evaluation Period.

During the summer evaluation period, a member of an institution's basketball coaching staff may attend noninstitutional nonorganized events (e.g., pick-up games), institutional basketball camps per Bylaw 13.12.1.1 and noninstitutional organized events (e.g., camps, leagues, tournaments and festivals) that are certified per Bylaw 30.16.

(5) Predraft Camp Exception.

Evaluations conducted at National Basketball Association (NBA) official predraft camps are not included in the 130 evaluation days.

2005-06 Guidelines for IU Athletics Staff Members

The following statements on ethical conduct, gambling and extra benefits summarize the NCAA rules on these issues. For more information, please refer to the NCAA Manual, the Big Ten Handbook and the IU Compliance Manual online at <http://iuhoosiers.collegesports.com/compliance/ind-compliance.html>.

Remember: When in doubt on any rule, check with the compliance office!

Ethical Conduct - NCAA Bylaw 10.01, 10.1

As an athletics department employee you are subject to the rules and regulations outlined by the NCAA. As such, you have the responsibility to act with honesty and sportsmanship at all times so that intercollegiate athletics shall represent the honor and dignity of fair play.

As defined by the NCAA, unethical conduct may include, but is not limited to the following:

- * Refusal to furnish information relevant to an investigation of a possible violation of an NCAA regulation when requested to do so;
- * Involvement in arranging for fraudulent academic credit or false transcripts for a student-athlete;
- * Involvement in offering or providing a student-athlete an improper inducement, extra benefit, or improper financial aid;
- * Furnishing IU or the NCAA false or misleading information concerning your involvement or knowledge of information regarding a possible NCAA rules violation; or
- * Receipt of benefits for facilitating or arranging a meeting between a student-athlete and an agent, financial advisor or representative of an agent or advisor (e.g. "runner").

All institutional staff members have the responsibility to self-report any NCAA rules violation.

Gambling - NCAA Bylaw 10.3

As an athletics department employee, you are not permitted to gamble on ANY college or professional athletics competition in a sport that is sponsored by the NCAA (including Fantasy Football, internet sports wagering, and other such organized sport gambling activities).

Specifically, you are not permitted to:

- * Provide information to individuals involved in organized gambling activities concerning intercollegiate athletics competition;
- * Solicit a bet on any intercollegiate team;
- * Accept a bet on any team representing the institution;
- * Solicit or accept a bet on any intercollegiate competition for any item (e.g., cash, shirt, dinner) that has tangible value; or
- * Participate in any gambling activity that involves intercollegiate athletics or professional athletics, through a bookmaker, a parlay card or any other method used by organized gambling.

Benefits, Gifts and Services - NCAA Bylaw 16.12

General Rule: A student-athlete may not receive any extra benefit. The term "extra benefit" refers to any special arrangement by an institutional employee (including tutors) or representative of the institution's athletics interests ("booster") to provide the student-athlete, his or her relatives or friends with a benefit not expressly authorized by NCAA legislation, unless it is demonstrated that the same benefit is generally available to the institution's students and their relatives or friends. Remember: Once a student-athlete, always a student-athlete. You may not provide gifts or benefits even after a student-athlete's eligibility has expired!

Subject: Quick Tip on April Basketball Events (Men's Basketball)

What do injured dogs, large wooden horses, and "approved" April basketball events have in common? You should approach each of them with caution...

With respect to the last item, it seems that some April events that will include high-school prospects have been approved not by the applicable high-school association, but by a regional office of the National Junior College Association (see the following link: http://www1.ncaa.org/membership/enforcement/bkb_certification/mens_ac_events?ObjectID=10375) That's problematic because if we're talking about a high-school prospect, a junior-college association is not the applicable governing body. Consequently, April events involving high-school prospects that have not been approved by the appropriate high-school association are off-limits.

I'm sure there will be more on this, but I wanted to give you an early warning. Also, the Ivy League's list of legitimate events should be up soon—I'll pass that along as soon as I get it.

Take care and more soon,
Chad

Subject: FW: Information Related to Division I Men's Basketball Coaches' Attendance at Nonscholastic Events During the April Con

See the below message from Membership Services (this is the issue to which I referred in Wednesday's email). Again, I'll send the list the Ivy League is compiling (state-by-state listings) as soon as it's available. Have a good weekend.

Chad

"The staff has received numerous inquiries regarding nonscholastic events involving prospects approved by entities other than what is considered the applicable or appropriate body. Bylaw 13.1.8.8-(a)-(3)-(i) specifies that during the April contact period, Division I men's basketball coaches may only attend nonscholastic events that are sanctioned, conducted, approved or sponsored by the applicable (as opposed to any) scholastic association/entity. A two-year college association is not the applicable entity to sanction, sponsor, conduct, ect. a nonscholastic event that includes high school/prep school prospects in order for coaches to attend. As a result, such events do not meet the rule and Division I men's basketball coaches' attendance is not permissible. There has been some confusion regarding a list of nonscholastic events posted on the NCAA basketball event certification site which had provided some indication that they had received appropriate approval from a scholastic entity. Please note that this list was being provided as a courtesy to the membership and did not indicate that the event met NCAA Division I legislation regarding such events in order for coaches to attend. A disclaimer to indicate such was included on the site, however, some perceived the list as a list of "approved" events. In order to avoid any further confusion, the site has been removed and event operators have been notified of the clarification."

11.01.3.1 Replacement of Graduate Assistant Coach. [I-A] The compensation or remuneration set forth in Bylaw 11.01.3 shall be charged against an academic year. In Division I-A football, once the amount set forth in Bylaw 11.01.3-(a) is paid to a graduate assistant coach for that academic year, additional funds may not be spent on a replacement until the start of the next academic year, even though the graduate assistant coach subsequently leaves the institution's athletics program during the academic year. (Adopted: 1/11/94)

11.01.4 Coach, Student Assistant. A student-coach is any coach who is a student-athlete who has exhausted his or her eligibility in the sport or has become injured to the point that he or she is unable to practice or compete ever again, and who meets the following additional criteria: (Revised: 1/12/04 effective 8/1/04)

- (a) Is enrolled at the institution at which he or she participated in intercollegiate athletics;
- (b) Is participating as a student-coach within the five-year eligibility period (see Bylaw 14.2);
- (c) Is completing the requirements for his or her baccalaureate degree or graduate program; (Revised: 1/12/04 effective 8/1/04)
- (d) Is a full-time student (see Bylaws 14.1.8.2 and 14.1.8.2.1.4), unless during his or her final semester or quarter of the baccalaureate program, per Bylaw 14.1.8.2.1.3; (Revised: 1/12/04 effective 8/1/04)
- (e) Is receiving no compensation or remuneration from the institution other than the financial aid that could be received as a student-athlete and expenses incurred on road trips that are received by individual team members; and (Revised: 1/9/96)
- (f) Is not involved in contacting and evaluating prospective student-athletes off campus or scouting opponents off campus.

11.01.5 Coach, Volunteer. In sports other than football and basketball, a volunteer coach is any coach who does not receive compensation or remuneration from the institution's athletics department or any organization funded in whole or in part by the athletics department or that is involved primarily in the promotion of the institution's athletics program (e.g., booster club, athletics foundation association). The following provisions shall apply: (Revised: 1/10/92 effective 8/1/92, 4/26/01 effective 8/1/01)

- (a) The individual is prohibited from contacting and evaluating prospective student-athletes off campus or from scouting opponents off campus. (Revised: 1/16/93, 1/11/94)
- (b) The individual may receive a maximum of two complimentary tickets to home athletics contests in the coach's sport. (Revised: 1/16/93)

(c) The individual may receive complimentary meals incidental to organized team activities (e.g., pre- or postgame meals, occasional meal, but not framing table meals) or meals provided during a prospective student-athlete's official visit, provided the individual dines with the prospective student-athlete. (Adopted: 4/29/04 effective 3/1/04 Revised: 1/10/05 effective 8/1/05)

11.01.6 Supplemental Pay. Supplemental pay is the payment of cash over and above an athletics department staff member's institutional salary by an outside source for the purpose of increasing that staff member's annual earnings (see Bylaw 11.3.2.2).

11.1 CONDUCT OF ATHLETICS PERSONNEL

11.1.1 Standards of Honesty and Sportsmanship. Individuals employed by or associated with a member institution to administer, conduct or coach intercollegiate athletics shall act with honesty and sportsmanship at all times so that intercollegiate athletics as a whole, their institutions and they, as individuals, represent the honor and dignity of fair play and the generally recognized high standards associated with wholesome competitive sports. (See Bylaw 10 for more specific ethical-conduct standards.)

11.1.2 Responsibility for Violations of NCAA Regulations. Institutional staff members found in violation of NCAA regulations shall be subject to disciplinary or corrective action as set forth in the provisions of the NCAA enforcement procedures, whether such violations occurred at the certifying institution or during the individual's previous employment at another member institution.

11.1.2.1 Responsibility of Head Coach. It shall be the responsibility of an institution's head coach to promote an atmosphere of compliance within the program supervised by the coach and to monitor the activities regarding compliance of all assistant coaches and other administrators involved with the program who report directly or indirectly to the coach. (Adopted: 4/28/05)

11.1.3 Use of Association Name or Affiliation. Staff members of member institutions and others serving on the Association's committees or acting as consultants shall not use, directly or by implication, the Association's name or their affiliation with the Association in the endorsement of products or services.

11.1.4 Representing Individuals in Marketing Athletics Ability/Reputation. Staff members of the athletics department of a member institution shall not represent, directly or indirectly, any individual in the marketing of athletics ability or reputation to an agent, a professional sports team or a professional

2. Head Men's Basketball Coaches. All head men's basketball coaches are required to attend the following media events, unless approval for being absent is granted by the Commissioner: the annual Big Ten Basketball Media Day; the telephone news conference held prior to the postseason Conference tournament, and postgame interviews held at the site of the Conference tournament following their team's participation. (Revised & effective 5/1/95; revised & effective 5/18/98)

3. Head Women's Basketball Coaches. All head women's basketball coaches are required to attend the following media events, unless approval for being absent is granted by the Commissioner: the annual Big Ten Basketball Media Day; the telephone news conference held prior to the postseason Conference tournament, and postgame interviews held at the site of the Conference tournament following their team's participation. (Updated 6/97; revised & effective 5/18/98; revised & effective 8/6/98)

11.2 CONTRACTUAL AGREEMENTS

11.2.2 Athletically Related Income - Equipment and Apparel Contracts. By September 1, 1994 all future contracts for athletic equipment and apparel shall be either between the university and vendor or a tripartite arrangement between the university, coach/support personnel and vendor. The university must be a party to agreements entered into after the effective date described above between coaches and/or support personnel and vendors. (Adopted 6/8/94, revised & effective 8/1/94)

11.6 SCOUTING AND FILM EXCHANGE

11.6.1 Scouting. The provisions of NCAA Bylaw 11.6 shall govern limitations on scouting except as follows:

- A. Women's Basketball. Verbal and written scouting reports regarding Conference teams to other Conference teams is forbidden. (Revised & effective 11/13/91)

11.6.1.3 Film or Videotape Exchange.

- B. Women's Basketball. Videotape exchange in women's basketball may take place only as indicated in the Conference Game Management Manual for women's basketball.

- C. Football. The Conference has adopted a formal policy for the exchange of football videotape as described in the Game Management Manual for Football.

entertainment purposes as permitted under NCAA legislation.
(Revised and effective 1/9/99; revised & effective 7/27/00)

- C. Conference Championships. The Conference or host institution shall not issue complimentary or any other form of free admission to any competitor in a Conference championship. Championship management, press personnel with credentials, and the participants shall be admitted without charge. An institution may purchase admissions that may be used by student-athletes consistent with Big Ten and NCAA legislation.

16.2.1.3 Institution's Home Contests in Other Sports. A student-athlete may receive a complimentary admission to all regular-season home athletic events as long as tickets are available, except in football, men's basketball, and men's ice hockey. (Revised & effective 7/27/00)

- A. Exceptions. Student-athletes who are not participants in football, men's basketball, or men's ice hockey may receive a complimentary admission for those sports under the following circumstances (Revised & effective 7/27/00):
1. For the purpose of hosting a prospect on an expense-paid visit. (Updated 9/92)
 2. For the purpose of being recognized or honored at the contest and it is the institution's policy to provide complimentary admission to any student of the university for this purpose. A student-athlete may also receive a maximum of three additional complimentary admissions to be used by the student-athlete's parents, legal guardians and/or spouse as permitted under NCAA legislation. (Updated 4/93; revised & effective 10/17/00)

16.4 MEDICAL EXPENSES.

16.4.1 Medical Examinations. Each student-athlete shall have an initial physical examination when they enter a Conference intercollegiate sports program. The extent of the physical examination including laboratory studies and other diagnostic procedures will be determined by each team physician. Thereafter, an annual review of their health status shall be performed. This may include a physical examination at the discretion of the team physician.

- A. The final decision on physical qualification or reason for rejection shall be the responsibility of the team physician.
- B. The team physician shall have final authority regarding participation in practice and competition subsequent to an injury or illness.

16.5 TRAINING TABLE MEALS

16.5.1. Permissible. The provisions of NCAA Bylaw 16.5 shall govern housing and meal benefits except as those noted below.

A. Training Table Meals - General Interpretations and Definitions for Football and Men's Basketball

1. Coaches shall not give instruction in the sport during the meal.
2. The term meal is defined as a meal for a group taken together, so that the food is of proper kind, quantity, and quality and properly served. It is not permissible to reimburse players or to compensate those furnishing meals eaten elsewhere when a training table meal is offered or the institution's dining facilities are available, and the student-athlete chooses to eat elsewhere. (Revised 10/91)
3. The full cost of the meal shall be defined as the actual cost to provide that meal, regardless of the source of funds.
4. Football. An institution may furnish a meal seven days a week during the football season (including any bowl participation) and five days a week out of season during the remainder of the academic year. (Revised & effective 7/25/96 ~~confirmed 7/1/03~~)
5. ~~Men's Basketball~~ An institution may furnish a meal seven days a week during the season (including any postseason participation) and five days a week out of season during the remainder of the academic year (Updated 8/92; 8/93; 8/94; revised 5/19/97, effective 8/1/97)

b. Women's Sports. Conference registered officials shall be used for those sports in which inseason play determines the Conference champion.

1) In those sports in which inseason play determines the Conference champion, a person shall not be appointed or retained as an official if the person's other employment or conditions might affect the efficiency or quality of the person's officiating. A person employed by, or a student at a Conference university shall not be appointed as an official at the university's events.

2) The Conference office shall assign, train, and evaluate officials for basketball and volleyball competition.

2. Complimentary Admissions. All officials may receive a maximum of two complimentary admissions for each game officiated. The basketball officials must make their own arrangements through the ticket manager at the host school. The football official should contact the ticket manager for any additional tickets.

3. Publicity. Publicity shall not be given to the assignment of officials. Names of officials are to be announced only in the press box at game time.

4. Fees and Expenses. See Appendix D.

17.1.F. Radio, Television, Press Policies. Terms and conditions of Conference agreements govern television policies. See the Game Management Manual for details on radio and press box policies.

17.1.G. Jewelry. Jewelry is defined to include all forms of body piercing and other ornamentation that could cause injury to the wearer or other participants. Tongue studs are specifically prohibited for competition and practice in all sports.

For the following sports, no jewelry may be worn in all competition or practice, with the exception that one pair of stud earrings may be worn by student-athletes in women's gymnastic. For all other sports, jewelry may be worn that presents no hazard to the competitor or opponents. (Revised 5/24/99, effective 8/1/99; revised & effective 10/5/99).

Summer Activities for Enrolled IU Student-Athletes

Summer Practice

Summer practice is PROHIBITED by NCAA legislation. Practice is defined as any meeting, activity, or instruction involving sports-related information and having an athletics purpose, held at the direction of or supervised by a member of the IU coaching staff.

Practice has occurred if one or more IU coaches and one or more IU student-athletes engage in any of the following activities (either voluntary or mandatory)

1. Team Conditioning Activities
2. Activities on the playing or practice field/court/pool/course
3. Setting up offensive or defensive alignments
4. Chalk talk
5. Lecture on or discussion of strategy related to the sport
6. Activities using equipment related to the sport
7. Discussions or review of game films, motion pictures or videotapes related to the sport; or
8. Activities conducted under the guise of physical education class work.

During the summer, it is not permissible to make ANY activities mandatory for student-athletes (e.g., weight training, participation in camps/clinics, running, etc). All activities engaged in by student-athletes during the summer must be VOLUNTARY and NO COACHING STAFF MEMBER MAY BE PRESENT.

It is not permissible for an IU coach to require student-athletes to report any information regarding their voluntary workout programs or to provide any expenses (postage costs, collect calls) for the purpose of the student-athlete reporting the progress of voluntary workout programs.

Strength and Conditioning Activities

It is permissible for strength and conditioning coaches to design and conduct specific workout programs for student-athletes, provided such workouts are voluntary and conducted at the request of the student-athlete.

Reserving Facilities

It is not permissible to reserve the use of an IU facility exclusively for student-athletes during the summer as this arrangement would constitute practice that is financially supported by IU.

Equipment and Apparel

Student-athletes may retain and use institutional athletics apparel and equipment during the summer in accordance with our institutional policy and procedures for issuance and retrieval.

Individual Sports

In individual sports, an IU coach may participate in individual workout sessions with IU student-athletes, provided the request for such assistance is initiated by the student-athlete.

However, in no other circumstance may a coach observe enrolled IU student-athletes in non-organized sport specific activities (e.g. practice). Additionally, it is permissible to reserve an IU facility for an individual workout session, however, at no time may IU pay for the use of a facility for student-athletes (i.e., driving range fees, tennis court time, pool time).

Team Sports

In team sports, an IU coach may not observe enrolled student-athletes in nonorganized sport-specific activities (e.g., practice, pick-up games), in as much as such activity is considered a nonpermissible out-of-season, countable ARA.

Safety Exception

In safety exception sports, (swimming/diving, field events in track/field, wrestling, rowing) a coach may be present during voluntary individual workouts without the workouts being considered as countable ARA as long as the coach is providing only safety/skill instruction and not conducting the individual's workouts.

Summer Participation on Outside Teams

The NCAA places limits on the number of enrolled student-athletes from any one team who can train/practice and compete with an outside team during the summer (AAU, USS, club team, etc). Please make sure you check with your coach before participating on any outside team during the summer.

Field Hockey, Soccer & Volleyball student-athletes begin summer participation on May 1, 2006. The limit for each is no more than 5 student-athletes from IU may participate in Field Hockey or soccer on any one team. Volleyball may have just 2 student-athletes on any given team. Classes cannot be missed and the director of athletics must provide written consent.

Promotional Activities

All IU student-athletes are required to receive preapproval from the compliance office prior to participating in any promotional activity even during the summer. Please contact your coach or the compliance office if you are invited to participate or interested in participating in a promotional activity (e.g., hometown parade, fundraiser, speaking engagement, etc)

Summer Employment

There are no restrictions on the amount of compensation that a student-athlete may receive for summer employment (even if the SA is enrolled in summer school) provided the student-athlete is paid the going rate for work actually performed and may not be paid based upon athletics reputation or ability. Additionally, student-athletes may work in the athletics department or at a job arranged by an IU staff member.

Summer Camps

Enrolled IU student-athletes (except Football) may work at IU camps or clinics as long as they receive preapproval for their employment from the compliance office. Student-athletes' duties should be of a general, supervisory nature in addition to any coaching or officiating assignments.

7. Discussions or review of game films, motion pictures or videotapes related to the sport; or
8. Activities conducted under the guise of physical education class work.

During the summer, it is not permissible to make ANY activities mandatory for student-athletes (e.g., weight training, participation in camps/clinics, running, etc). All activities engaged in by student-athletes during the summer must be VOLUNTARY and NO COACHING STAFF MEMBER MAY BE PRESENT.

It is also not permissible for an IU coach to require student-athletes to report any information regarding their voluntary workout programs or to provide any expenses (postage costs, collect calls) for the purpose of the student-athlete reporting the progress of voluntary workout programs, nor may any other institutional staff member (S & C coach, athletic trainer, administrator) report any information regarding the SA's participation in voluntary workouts back to a member of the coaching staff!

NO COACHES ARE ALLOWED IN THE WEIGHT ROOM WHEN MEMBERS OF YOUR TEAM ARE PRESENT.

Individual Sports Additional Guidelines

In individual sports, an IU coach may participate in individual workout sessions with IU student-athletes, provided the request for such assistance is initiated by the student-athlete. Additionally, it is permissible to reserve an IU facility for an individual workout session, however, at no time may IU pay for the use of a facility for student-athletes (i.e., driving range fees, tennis court time, pool time).

However, in no other circumstance may a coach observe enrolled IU student-athletes in non-organized sport specific activities (e.g. practice).

Team Sports Additional Guidelines

In team sports, an IU coach may not observe enrolled student-athletes in non-organized sport-specific activities (e.g., practice, pick-up games), in as much as such activity is considered a Nonpermissible out-of-season, countable ARA.

Safety Exception Sports

In safety exception sports, (swimming/diving, field events in track/field, wrestling, rowing, wrestling) a coach may be present during voluntary individual workouts without the workouts being considered as countable ARA as long as the coach is providing only safety/skill instruction and not conducting the individual's workouts.

Exception: Local Sports Club Participation during the Summer

Coaches who have submitted the required LSC information to the compliance office may operate local sports clubs that involve enrolled IU student-athletes provided the student-athletes have paid the established membership fees for the organization.

Strength and Conditioning Activities

It is permissible for strength and conditioning coaches to design and conduct specific workout programs for student-athletes, provided such workouts are voluntary and are conducted at the request of the student-athlete. Prospects who have signed an NLI may participate in voluntary weight lifting/conditioning activities with the S & C coach present provided there is no prearrangement by the institution, and the strength coach is performing his/her normal duties in supervising the weight room and may not work directly with the prospect. PROSPECTS WHO HAVE NOT SIGNED AN NLI (incoming walk-ons) MAY NOT USE OUR WEIGHT ROOM BECAUSE IT IS NOT OPEN TO THE GENERAL PUBLIC. In the sport of football, see Proposal 2002-84 for specific S & C guidelines for enrolled and prospective student-athletes.

Reserving Facilities

It is not permissible to reserve the use of an IU facility exclusively for student-athletes during the summer as this arrangement would constitute practice that is financially supported by IU.

Equipment and Apparel

Student-athletes may retain and use institutional athletics apparel and equipment during the summer in accordance with our institutional policy and procedures for issuance and retrieval.

Medical Expenses

We may ONLY provide medical expenses (including rehabilitation and physical therapy expenses) for student-athletes who sustain injuries while participating in voluntary conditioning activities during the summer that are conducted by the strength and conditioning staff or for on-going medical treatment/medication for athletically related injuries that occurred during the academic year. Prospects who have signed an NLI and are enrolled in summer school may use the training room facilities.

Summer Participation on Outside Teams

The NCAA places limits on the number of enrolled student-athletes from any one team who can train/practice and compete with an outside team during the summer. Not more than the following number of IU student-athletes may participate (practice/compete) on an outside, amateur team: Baseball/Softball 4; Field Hockey/Soccer 5; Football 0; Volleyball 2. For all other sports there are no restrictions for other sports. All BASKETBALL STUDENT-ATHLETES MUST RECEIVE PERMISSION FROM THE COMPLIANCE OFFICE PRIOR TO PARTICIPATING ON ANY SUMMER LEAGUE.

Promotional Activities

All IU student-athletes are required to receive preapproval from the compliance office prior to participating in any promotional activity (e.g., hometown parade, fundraiser, speaking engagement, etc). even during the summer.

Summer Employment

There are no restrictions on the amount of compensation that a student-athlete may receive for summer employment (even if the SA is enrolled in summer school) provided the student-athlete is paid the going rate for work actually performed and may not be paid based upon athletics reputation or ability.

Summer Camps

Currently enrolled IU student-athletes (except Football) may work at IU camps or clinics as long as they receive preapproval for their employment from the compliance office. Student-athletes' duties should be of a general, supervisory nature and any coaching or officiating assignments cannot represent more than one-half of the student-athlete's work time.

BJ – please print this off and give it to Coach Sampson – he IS allowed to go and visit with any one of our signees AND as long as he doesn't do ANY other recruiting activities on that trip, it will NOT count against his 19 days he gets this academic year. See below where I have highlighted the response from the Big Ten. Thanks! JB

Greg,

You are correct. The penalties statement specifically states, "head men's basketball coach will engage in off campus recruiting activities for a maximum of 19 days" and references Bylaw 13.1.9 so I believe we are talking about the 130 recruiting days. Thanks for the information.

CP:

When you say 19 days, I infer that we are talking about 19 of the institution's 130 "recruiting-person days" as defined by 13.02.7. Is this correct? If so, a coach whose only off-campus recruiting activity on a particular day is contact with an NLI signee would not utilize a recruiting-person day.

Hope this helps,

Greg

Greg,

To further our conversation the other day, I do now have a copy of the penalties self-imposed by OU and we do plan to see those penalties through.

The one area we have a question about is the reduction to 19 days from August 1, 2005 through June 30, 2006, that Coach Sampson himself may utilize for off campus recruiting. He has 5 days left and is curious if visiting a PSA off campus who has previously signed a NLI with IU will utilize one of those days. The specific language states that "this prohibition shall apply to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance including exceptions provided in Bylaw 13.1.9."

Any help is most appreciated in this area. Thanks again.

Christian has continued with April team compliance meetings. He reviewed and edited compliance portion for 06-07 SA Handbook/academic planner inclusion; wrote a SA newsletter article regarding camps & clinics as well as small piece regarding summer/academic year employment; edited 05-06 volunteer coaches' materials to reflect new academic year and set up 06-07 Volunteer coaches' materials for automatic dispersal in August; and met with Gerry Green, Men's Basketball director of Basketball operations regarding recruiting and process review for future handling. He continues rules education efforts concerning interpretation requests from various coaching staffs. *

Kathy has been very busy with changes to renewal tenders, initial tenders and non-renewal of aid (this means issuing, monitoring and posting changes to data base). She is currently posting summer aid; working with financial aid on campus to obtain official figures for tuition and fees and cost of attendance for the 2006-07 school year; and working with the business office on verification of balance for the special assistance fund and summer school aid issues.

Chip is working on his general weekly tasks as far as updating the IRL, checking admission status and communicating this information to the coaching staffs so that they can follow up and have these students take care of these lingering issues. He is also working with Buck Walters on some logistics as far as housing is concerned along with gathering information from coaches on the number of beds needed for '06-07. He processed a Rowing Addendum for the Big Ten Championships; met with a representative from the physical plant to discuss integrated computer system that will enter student-athletes eligible for equipment; discussed degree completion percentage requirements with several female student athletes who stopped by after compliance meetings because they are education majors (which can be problematic); and he continues to deal with transfer release requests (coming and going).

Jennifer is planning for the May and June ICN and compliance meetings, researching and responding to various compliance issues/interpretations, continuing to conduct team meetings, and trying to catch up after dealing w/ various MBB issues, three self reports and the semester-long fight to get Heather Chapman's waiver for an additional season of competition (lots of filing and catching up on little issues/fires to put out).

Anitra completed Big Ten Survey for Bruce Jaffee; completed w/ Ron Edge open records request from Minneapolis Star Tribune (aggregate academic background info. on selected teams); shared notes from Big 10 Compliance Meetings with J.B. & C.A.; and collected information on possible faculty sponsor candidates at request of Bruce Jaffee. She is evaluating transfers for M. Basketball, M. Swimming, etc; working on [REDACTED] case (multiple issues and petitions) with Big Ten and Tory; and, attending compliance year-end meetings with teams when possible.

Subject: MBB Questions

Hi Rob,

Maybe we can meet face-to-face today!

Anyway, just a few quick clarifications:

You can begin sending out written correspondence to sophomores (2008 graduates) beginning June 15 at the conclusion of their sophomore year (not at the conclusion of each prospect's sophomore year). Until June 15, you can send out a generic cover letter for questionnaires. I am checking with the Big Ten to see about generic cover letters for camp brochures (didn't find anything on point in the database or our camp/clinic guide regarding this issue).

Also, for the 2007 graduates, currently in their junior year, you may:

1. Call them once every other month (per IU's and UO's self-imposed penalties regarding 13.1.3.1.2. MBB may NOT call juniors once a month until after June 30, 2007!
2. Send recruiting correspondence per 13.4.1. Please be sure to carefully review this bylaw as it was changed last year! But, you can definitely include a personalized cover letter for camp brochures and questionnaires.

As for 2006 graduates, we can only call them once a week (again per the self-imposed penalties), unless they have signed an NLI with IU.

I'll forward on the Big Ten's response regarding generic cover letters as soon as I get it. Also, in the future, please contact Christian Pope (856-6074 or cdpope@indiana.edu) as he is our point person on recruiting and interpretations.

Finally, we need to schedule an orientation (regarding IU's compliance policies and procedures) with you and Jerry Green as soon as possible.

Thanks and looking forward to meeting you!

Rick,

This is definitely a high priority for my office. Prior to yesterday's report, I already had Christian documenting each week's meetings with the DOBO, as well as his monitoring efforts regarding the self-imposed sanctions. I will change the Compliance Agreement (signed by you, Kelvin and Bruce) to reflect the additional sanctions and I will develop specific guidelines, acceptable standards, follow-up, logs and reporting mechanisms as well. I have set aside next Tuesday morning to accomplish these tasks.

I just spoke with BJ and Coach Sampson and his staff would be available to meet with us at 2:00 p.m. on Tuesday afternoon. I checked with Terri and she said you were open and we could use your conference room. Around that meeting, we will need to have you and Kelvin sign off on the amended Compliance Agreement (I can get Bruce's signature later).

Would you like for me to contact the NCAA staff regarding clarification on the recruiting restrictions, or should I wait until after this preliminary meeting to see if our coaching staff has additional questions? Either way works for me. As for your question below, I don't think the intent of the sanction was to hurt IU, so I think it's pretty clear that 3 coaches can be out - just not Coach Sampson. But, I can certainly get that clarified if you think it's necessary.

Thanks,

Jennifer

Jennifer,

It is very important that you develop specific guidelines, acceptable standards, follow-up, logs and reporting mechanisms in order for us to adequately fulfill the NCAA sanctions as they relate to Coach Sampson and Men's Basketball. We do not want to have any ambiguity as to his restrictions and responsibilities/capabilities. I would suggest a meeting with Coach and his entire staff as soon as he returns. It might be helpful to have me involved to reinforce the strong institutional commitment to doing this correctly. I believe there remain some areas of clarification that NCAA staffers will need to answer for us such as the number of coaches on the road at one time (I assume it is still 3 but not Sampson), etc.

Please make this a high priority for full and faithful completion.

THx,

RG.

Re: ~~Amended~~ Compliance Agreement

This memorandum serves to amend the April 19, 2006 compliance agreement signed off on by all the parties listed above. Specifically, the Committee on Infractions report dated May 25, 2006, noted that although Indiana University adopted and transferred the penalties listed below, further recruiting restrictions were warranted. Therefore, we have amended paragraphs 1 and 4, and added paragraphs 6 and 7 to this compliance agreement. The complete list of corrective actions is as follows:

1. The director of compliance will meet, on a weekly basis, with the head coach or the director of men's basketball operations to review men's basketball recruitment activities and documentation for the previous and upcoming weeks. Indiana University shall submit a report to the Committee on Infractions by August 1, 2006, detailing our monitoring of, and rules education sessions for, Coach Kelvin Sampson and his staff. The report will also include documentation of Indiana University's compliance with all other penalties adopted and transferred to IU. Furthermore, Indiana University will file a written report with the NCAA not later than August 31, 2007, detailing the implementation and fulfillment of the penalties which were transferred to Coach Sampson upon his employment at Indiana University, as well as those assessed by the committee on May 25, 2006.
2. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).

3. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
4. Restrict the number of days which Coach Kelvin Sampson may recruit off-campus to a maximum of 4 during the period of March 29, 2006 through May 25, 2006 (Coach Sampson used 15 of the 19 recruiting-person days he was permitted pursuant to the University of Oklahoma's self-imposed penalties while still employed at the University of Oklahoma).
5. Impose similar base and bonus compensation restrictions on Coach Kelvin Sampson, for the period beginning March 29, 2006 and concluding June 30, 2007.

6. Coach Kelvin Sampson is prohibited for a period of one year beginning May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, from making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls.

7. Coach Kelvin Sampson is prohibited for a period of one year beginning May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, from engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. The prohibition on off-campus recruiting activities shall apply to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance, including banquets, booster functions, and exceptions provided by Bylaw 13.1.9.

It is understood that any additional sanctions imposed on you or IU by the NCAA and/or the Big Ten Conference will be followed as well.

By signing and dating this memo, all parties agree to abide by the penalties set forth above.

Re: Compliance Agreement

We agree, in light of the circumstances of which we are aware, that the University of Oklahoma imposed a number of significant penalties on its men's basketball program. Like Oklahoma, Indiana University believes that when violations occur, regardless of the intent, appropriate penalties must follow. Therefore, it is our plan to carry out those penalties that relate directly to you, as well as to place a few additional requirements on your program. Accordingly, the following corrective action will be implemented:

1. The director of compliance will meet, on a weekly basis, with the head coach or the director of men's basketball operations to review men's basketball recruitment activities and documentation for the previous and upcoming weeks. Furthermore, Indiana University will file a written report with the NCAA not later than August 31, 2007, detailing the implementation and fulfillment of the penalties which were transferred to Coach Kelvin Sampson upon his employment at Indiana University.
2. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
3. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June

30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).

4. Restrict the number of days which Coach Kelvin Sampson may recruit off-campus to a maximum of 4 during the period of March 29, 2006, through June 30, 2006 (Coach Sampson used 15 of the 19 recruiting-person days he was permitted pursuant to the University of Oklahoma's self-imposed penalties while still employed at the University of Oklahoma).
5. Impose similar base and bonus compensation restrictions on Coach Kelvin Sampson, for the period beginning March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007.

It is understood that any additional sanctions imposed on you or IU by the NCAA and/or the Big Ten Conference will be followed as well.

By signing and dating this memo, all parties agree to abide by the penalties set forth above.

Let me get clarification – b/c my instinct would be that the COI would question why he would be making these calls, but I would hope they would allow him to accept calls from coaches wanting to learn (professional development as opposed to recruiting contacts) from Coach Sampson and how he runs the Indiana offense/defense/practices/etc. I will add this to our list of questions.

Hi Jim,

Thanks for returning my call. I ended up in meetings from 2 until 6:30, so I wasn't able to get back with you this afternoon. Please let me know if I have the correct email address. I am working on a list of questions or issues that need clarification, but don't want to send them to you until I am sure I have the right email account.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Subject: Sampson Penalties

Jennifer,

read the Infractions Committee report carefully. I have a couple of questions that relate to our monitoring and enforcement:

1. Exactly who can Coach Sampson call? He is restricted from "making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls." The restriction certainly applies to prospects, their coaches, and their parents. I can't think of anyone whom he should be permitted to call that has a relationship to high school, JC, or AAU basketball. Can you? I think it violates the spirit of this restriction if the assistants make a recruiting call and tell the person to call Sampson at some specific time that Sampson has arranged.

2. What off campus appearances are okay? I suspect the Big Ten tip-off lunch is okay, but what about Varsity Club outings, or other places where prospects are not the focus but might attend?

A monitoring and rules education plan is due by August 1. I would be happy to discuss and review anything that you come up with. Needless to say, a regular monitoring to phone records is a must.

Committee on Infractions
Colonial Athletic Association

Dear Mr. Yeager,

Our administrative and compliance staffs met with the men's basketball staff yesterday (the first opportunity after Coach Sampson's return from Kuwait on Memorial Day) to discuss the additional penalties and our procedures for implementing those restrictions, as well as monitoring full compliance with all penalties assessed during this process.

We would like to get the committee's input on a number of questions or concerns that have come up during our discussions of the recruiting restrictions placed on our coaching staff as a result of the violations that occurred at Oklahoma. I have tried to number the questions, but there are several that are multi-faceted. As of my last count, I think there were 21 specific questions in the following 12 paragraphs (the highlighted questions in paragraph 1 are the only extremely time-sensitive questions as they involve a previous commitment regarding a speaking engagement scheduled for this weekend):

1. We would like clarification regarding the prohibition on outside speaking engagements. Specifically, what is the institution's obligation to monitor attendance at the few speaking engagements Coach Sampson may make during the next year on behalf of our institution?

For example, Coach Sampson was previously scheduled to speak at a local black tie fundraiser for the American Heart Association this weekend. What happens if an attendee brings his or her son or daughter in place of a business associate who cancels at the last minute?

Is the intent of this restriction aimed at recruiting only? If so, is it possible to look at the target audience and then not hold Coach Sampson or the institution responsible if there happen to be a few prospect-aged individuals in the audience (using perhaps a reasonable person standard for determining in advance who the target audience is)?

What about at our IU booster/donor events? We typically schedule the majority of these in the summer – around golf outings – they are aimed at the boosters/donors, but what happens if they bring along their children or grandchildren?

2. Coach Sampson has a long-standing speaking engagement at the 20 year reunion of the movie "Hoosiers" which is taking place in Knightstown, Indiana, where much of the movie was filmed. Is it okay for him to fulfill his obligation even though this event is open to the public and there may be prospect-aged individuals in the audience?

3. What about his local radio show during the season – it is broadcast from a local restaurant and he does take questions from the audience (actually, the host, Don Fisher, acts as the moderator and he is the one who takes the calls/questions)?

What happens if prospect-aged individuals are eating at the restaurant during the show?

4. What happens if there are prospect-aged females in attendance at a speaking engagement?
5. It doesn't appear that the COI limited the number of IU coaches who could be on the road at any one time except for the fact that Coach Sampson can not be out at all. Is this an accurate statement?
6. Exactly who can Coach Sampson call? He is restricted from "making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls." The restriction certainly applies to prospects, their coaches, and their parents. We can't think of anyone whom he should be permitted to call that has a relationship to high school, JC, or AAU basketball. Is our interpretation too restrictive? Does it violate the spirit of the penalties if the assistants make a recruiting call and tell the person to call Sampson at some specific time that Sampson has arranged?
7. Can Coach Sampson text message a recruit and type: "Call me at 1-800-IUBBALL" (or whatever his phone number is)?
8. If an AAU or HS coach calls one of the IU assistant coaches and then adds a prospect in on a 3-way call, can the assistant coach add in Coach Sampson at that time (since the original call was initiated by the AAU or HS coach and not by anyone at IU)?
9. Once a prospect signs an NLI with IU, is it possible for Coach Sampson to call him and to have off-campus contact with him (can he make a home visit to a current signee)?
10. What happens if Coach Sampson receives a call from a prospect (or coach or parent), but loses the connection (common problem with cell phones)? Can he call back or must he wait for the prospect (or coach or parent) to call him back?
11. Can Coach Sampson call high school and/or AAU coaches about basketball related issues, such as talking about our offense, defense, etc.?
12. If the institution determines we will not be appealing or contesting any findings made by the committee, do we need to notify you of that decision or is notification only necessary if we did decide to appeal or contest any findings?

Thank you for allowing us to seek clarification of these issues as we strive to follow the letter and intent of both the assessed and self-imposed penalties.

Sincerely,

Could you please forward the attached list of questions to Mr. Yeager? The first question deals with a pre-existing speaking engagement that is scheduled for tomorrow evening. So, if possible, we would like to know how to proceed (what we need to tell the event organizers). With Coach Sampson's goodwill trip to Kuwait and the holiday weekend, this has quickly become (unfortunately) an urgent matter. The rest of the questions (and there are many!) are not as urgent, but we hope to have a response to #1 as soon as possible.

I am forwarding your questions to acting chair Yeager right now. He may want me to get input from the full committee which might take awhile. In the meantime, my suggestion (and please note that I am not the authority) is to plan on Coach Sampson cancelling his appearance if that appearance would violate the committee's directive. The order is in effect as of the release of the report and for him to make such an appearance, whether previously scheduled or not, may well run him afoul of the committee's sanction. As for what to tell the event organizer, that is up to you guys.

Again, I am sending this on right now and will get back to you as soon as I get something in return.

Coach,

As you can see from the email trail below, Jim Elworth (the NCAA staff's liaison to the COI) says that we should cancel your speaking engagement this weekend if we can not guarantee that absolutely no prospects will be in attendance. Please remember, that for now anyway until the COI says otherwise, it looks like even good faith attempts to comply with the sanctions that fail will be dealt with harshly by the COI.

This is only for a year – it will go by fast – hang in there!

Let me know if you have any questions.

Subject: Weekly Update

Kathy is off Friday and Monday. She is working on tenders – both issuing initials and trying to get the renewals back. She sent reminders to coaches with outstanding renewal tenders and letters to all tendered athletes inquiring about any outside aid they might be receiving (this is creating a lot of phone calls from SAs and/or parents with questions). She is working on 5th year aid tenders and starting to enter athletic aid into the financial aid system for the academic year.

Chip is off Friday. He reviewed and revised every female student-athletes degree progress, hours passed and eligibility; revised female ineligible list; prepared junior sheets to be sent to campus to verify completion of a degree with 5 years; met with training room and rowing to discuss novice program in the fall; provided training room with 10 digit id numbers of student-athletes; and, corrected data entry for student athlete test scores for Anitra's reports (composite ACT was missing on some athletes).

Jennifer is off Friday. This past week she worked on MBB issues (reviewed COI report, drafted revised compliance agreement, drafted list of questions for clarification from COI, fielded questions from staff, etc.); drafted and submitted a self report for a secondary violation in diving; drafted and distributed June Indiana Compliance Newsletter; researched various rules interpretations; met with Mary Ann regarding evaluation; met with Grace regarding merger; met with Bruce Jaffee to review revisions to compliance agreement; met with Anitra, Grace and Bruce to discuss quantitative hours requirement calculation; began preparing for next Tuesday's compliance meeting; and continues to monitor Christian's work as he makes the transition into his job.

Anitra continued to work on transcripts, grades and ineligibles report. She is working with academics to rectify student-athletes who don't meet current interpretation of hours towards degree requirements, and has met with Grace, Mattie, Bruce and myself, as well as the football coaches to resolve problematic student-athletes. She is also working on the GSR report that is due to the NCAA today. She has also been working on transfer transcripts and dealing with international admissions issues.

Christian has collected and reviewed sports inventory reports for all sports. He meets continually with Jerry Green to monitor basketball recruiting activity. He has approved 3 separate camps for Coach Goldman and has begun discussions with men's basketball for an additional elite camp. He has requested the summer employment information from men's and women's basketball to facilitate communications between the compliance office and those identified employers. He continues to provide interpretations for all coaching staffs. He is still collecting participation reports for spring sports, with track & field remaining. Lastly, he has begun to collect awards documentation from a few coaches and will continue in the coming month.

Dottie,

Shortly after Coach Sampson was hired, Rick and Bruce decided to have him sign a compliance agreement that specified his responsibilities regarding the penalties that IU adopted from those self-imposed by Oklahoma. We didn't think to run it by you since it was regarding NCAA rules, but Bruce thought of it today when we were revising the document to factor in the additional penalties assessed by the NCAA Committee on Infractions.

Could you please take a look and see if we need to add/revise/delete anything (some of the stilted language is lifted right out of the COI report)? I included a copy of the first (w/o it being on Rick's letterhead) in order for you to have both documents.

Thanks,

Jennifer

Memorandum

From: Rick Greenspan

Date: June 5, 2006

Re: Revised Compliance Agreement

This memorandum replaces the April 19, 2006, compliance agreement signed by all the parties listed above. The Committee on Infractions report dated May 25, 2006, noted that although Indiana University adopted and transferred the penalties listed below, further recruiting restrictions were warranted. Therefore, we have amended paragraphs 1 and 4, and added paragraphs 6 and 7 to this compliance agreement. The complete list of corrective actions is as follows:

1. The director of compliance or the assistant athletics director for compliance will meet, on a weekly basis, with the head coach or the director of men's basketball operations to review men's basketball recruitment activities and documentation, including telephone records. Coach Sampson will work with the compliance staff to establish effective monitoring systems and regular and effective rules education sessions.
2. Indiana University shall submit a report to the Committee on Infractions by August 1, 2006, detailing our monitoring of, and rules education sessions for, Coach Kelvin Sampson and his staff. The report will also include documentation of Indiana University's compliance with all other penalties adopted and transferred to IU. Furthermore, Indiana University will file a written report with the NCAA not later than August 31, 2007, detailing the implementation and fulfillment of the penalties which were transferred to Coach Sampson upon his employment at Indiana University, as well as those assessed by the committee on May 25, 2006.
3. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).

4. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
5. Restrict the number of days which Coach Kelvin Sampson may recruit off-campus to a maximum of 4 during the period of March 29, 2006 through May 24, 2006 (Coach Sampson used 15 of the 19 recruiting-person days he was permitted pursuant to the University of Oklahoma's self-imposed penalties while still employed at the University of Oklahoma).
6. Impose similar base and bonus compensation restrictions on Coach Kelvin Sampson, for the period beginning March 29, 2006 and concluding June 30, 2007.
7. Coach Kelvin Sampson is prohibited, for a period of one year beginning May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, from making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls.
8. Coach Kelvin Sampson is prohibited, for a period of one year beginning May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, from engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. The prohibition on off-campus recruiting activities shall apply to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance, including banquets, booster functions and exceptions provided by Bylaw 13.1.9.

It is understood that any additional sanctions imposed on you or IU by the NCAA and/or the Big Ten Conference will be followed as well.

By signing and dating this memo, all parties agree to abide by the penalties set forth above.

Re: Compliance Agreement

We agree, in light of the circumstances of which we are aware, that the University of Oklahoma imposed a number of significant penalties on its men's basketball program. Like Oklahoma, Indiana University believes that when violations occur, regardless of the intent, appropriate penalties must follow. Therefore, it is our plan to carry out those penalties that relate directly to you, as well as to place a few additional requirements on your program. Accordingly, the following corrective action will be implemented:

1. The director of compliance will meet, on a weekly basis, with the head coach or the director of men's basketball operations to review men's basketball recruitment activities and documentation for the previous and upcoming weeks. Furthermore, Indiana University will file a written report with the NCAA not later than August 31, 2007, detailing the implementation and fulfillment of the penalties which were transferred to Coach Kelvin Sampson upon his employment at Indiana University.
2. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).
3. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June

30, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment).

4. Restrict the number of days which Coach Kelvin Sampson may recruit off-campus to a maximum of 4 during the period of March 29, 2006, through June 30, 2006 (Coach Sampson used 15 of the 19 recruiting-person days he was permitted pursuant to the University of Oklahoma's self-imposed penalties while still employed at the University of Oklahoma).
5. Impose similar base and bonus compensation restrictions on Coach Kelvin Sampson, for the period beginning March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007.

It is understood that any additional sanctions imposed on you or IU by the NCAA and/or the Big Ten Conference will be followed as well.

By signing and dating this memo, all parties agree to abide by the penalties set forth above.

This memorandum replaces the April 19, 2006, compliance agreement signed by all the parties listed above. The Committee on Infractions report dated May 25, 2006, noted that although Indiana University adopted and transferred the penalties listed below, further recruiting restrictions were warranted. Section 4.08 of your Employment Contract, dated April 20, 2006, states in part, "If the NCAA imposes sanctions against the Employee...or if the NCAA requires that the Employee's prior employer's (University of Oklahoma) sanctions against him be enforced, Indiana University shall impose those same sanctions against the Employee." Therefore, we have amended paragraphs 1 and 4, and added paragraphs 6 and 7 to this compliance agreement. The complete list of corrective actions is as follows:

Hi Jim,

Could you please forward the attached list of questions to Mr. Yeager? The first question deals with a pre-existing speaking engagement that is scheduled for tomorrow evening. So, if possible, we would like to know how to proceed (what we need to tell the event organizers). With Coach Sampson's goodwill trip to Kuwait and the holiday weekend, this has quickly become (unfortunately) an urgent matter. The rest of the questions (and there are many!) are not as urgent, but we hope to have a response to #1 as soon as possible.

Thanks,

The question below is answered to the extent that he can't go anywhere off campus if there's any chance a prospect-aged individual might be present (which was stated very clearly in the report).

Also, for your information only, I wanted to let you know that the majority of these questions are not coming from Coach Sampson, but rather his staff. I get the distinct impression that he has no problem following the sanctions assessed against him due to the nature and severity of the violations.

Thanks again for everything and I'm sure we'll be in touch on a regular basis as we progress through the next year or so.

Please see the attached memo which provides the committee on infractions ("COI") responses (in italicized red font) to the questions we had regarding the application of the penalties set forth by the COI.

A brief summary:

1. The COI holds IU strictly liable if any prospects are in attendance at any off campus speaking engagement.
2. Coach Sampson's local radio show should either be broadcast from an on-campus site (e.g., Yogi's, Lennie's) or at a site off-campus that is secure and closed to the public (to ensure that no prospects are present).
3. Coach Sampson (nor any of his assistant coaches) can text message (or call, in the case of an assistant) a prospect and tell him to call Coach Sampson. Given the wording of the COI reply to this specific question, it appears to be okay for the text message to provide his number (which a text message does automatically anyway) and say words to the effect, "You can call me anytime at your convenience."
4. The assistant coaches may not bring Coach Sampson in on a 3-way call with a prospect, parent or coach, even if the call originated from the prospect, parent or coach.
5. If a prospect, parent or coach calls Coach Sampson and the call is dropped (e.g., bad cell connection), the prospect, parent or coach must call back. Coach Sampson is not allowed to return dropped calls.
6. Indiana is still allowed to have our maximum limit of coaches on the road at any one time.

I will send out a copy of the letter from the COI to everyone listed in this email. In the meantime, please let me know if you have any further questions.

Thanks.

COMPLIANCE MEMORANDUM

To: MBB Coaching Staff

From: Jennifer Brinegar

Date: June 13, 2006

Re: Clarification of COI Sanctions

Below, please find answers from the committee on infractions to our questions regarding the application of the sanctions assessed Coach Sampson and the Indiana basketball program.

1. We would like clarification regarding the prohibition on outside speaking engagements. Specifically, what is the institution's obligation to monitor attendance at the few speaking engagements Coach Sampson may make during the next year on behalf of our institution?

Regarding questions 1-4, the COI considers this to be an issue of "strict liability" for Indiana, that is, if Coach Sampson chooses to attend an event (or if the institution allows him to attend an event) and prospects happen to be present, he runs the risk of being in violation of the committee's sanction. If he or the institution chooses to assume that certain functions will not be attended by prospects, it is done with the same understanding (we will be held strictly liable for violating the sanction if a prospect-aged individual happens to show up).

2. For example, Coach Sampson was previously scheduled to speak at a local black tie fundraiser for the American Heart Association this weekend. What happens if an attendee brings his or her son or daughter in place of a business associate who cancels at the last minute?

We would be held strictly liable for violating the restriction against being off-campus in the presence of prospects.

Is the intent of this restriction aimed at recruiting only? No. If so, is it possible to look at the target audience and then not hold Coach Sampson or the institution responsible if there happen to be a few prospect-aged individuals in the audience (using perhaps a reasonable person standard for determining in advance who the target audience is)? No (really not applicable since the answer to the first question was "no").

What about at our IU booster/donor events? We typically schedule the majority of these in the summer – around golf outings – they are aimed at the boosters/donors, but what happens if they bring along their children or grandchildren?

Again, we would be strictly liable for violating the sanctions imposed by the COI if a prospect was present at any off-campus speaking engagement, regardless of the “target” audience.

3. Coach Sampson has a long-standing speaking engagement at the 20 year reunion of the movie “Hoosiers” which is taking place in Knightstown, Indiana, where much of the movie was filmed. Is it okay for him to fulfill his obligation even though this event is open to the public and there may be prospect-aged individuals in the audience?

He should not attend any speaking engagement or function if there is any chance a prospect-aged individual could be present.

4. What about his local radio show during the season – it is broadcast from a local restaurant and he does take questions from the audience (actually, the host, Don Fisher, acts as the moderator and he is the one who takes the calls/questions)?

Again, see above. IU needs to have Coach Sampson’s local radio show on campus if it’s open to the general public.

What happens if prospect-aged individuals are eating at the restaurant during the show?

See above.

What happens if there are prospect-aged females in attendance at a speaking engagement?

See above. The committee did not limit the restrictions to male prospects. The restrictions apply to all prospects.

5. It doesn’t appear that the COI limited the number of IU coaches who could be on the road at any one time except for the fact that Coach Sampson can not be out at all. Is this an accurate statement?

The limitation on the number of coaches permitted on the road is not reduced by Coach Sampson’s removal from the road. Of course, all other coaches must be certified to recruit off-campus per NCAA rules.

6. Exactly who can Coach Sampson call? He is restricted from “making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls.” The restriction certainly applies to prospects, their coaches, and their parents. We can’t think of anyone whom he should be permitted to call that has a relationship to high school, JC, or AAU basketball. Is our interpretation too restrictive? Does it violate the spirit of the penalties if the assistants make a recruiting call and tell the person to call Sampson at some specific time that Sampson has arranged?

We are accurate and not too restrictive in our interpretation. As is stated in the committee's report, Coach Sampson cannot make ANY calls that relate in any way to recruiting, including calls to the individuals mentioned above. Also, yes, the committee's order is violated if Coach Sampson has one of his assistants tell a prospect to call Coach Sampson at a specific time arranged by the coaches.

7. Can Coach Sampson text message a recruit and type: "Call me at 1-800-IUBBALL" (or whatever his phone number is)? No.
8. If an AAU or HS coach calls one of the IU assistant coaches and then adds a prospect in on a 3-way call, can the assistant coach add in Coach Sampson at that time (since the original call was initiated by the AAU or HS coach and not by anyone at IU)? No.
9. Once a prospect signs an NLI, is it possible for Coach Sampson to call him and to have off-campus contact with him (can he make a home visit to a current NLI signee)? No.
10. What happens if Coach Sampson receives a call from a prospect (or coach or parent), but loses the connection (common problem with cell phones)? The prospect, parent or coach must call Coach Sampson back. Can he call back or must he wait for the prospect (or coach or parent) to call him back? No, he cannot call them back. He must wait for the prospect, coach or parent to call him back.
11. Can Coach Sampson call high school and/or AAU coaches about basketball related issues, such as talking about our offense, defense, etc.? No.
12. If the institution determines we will not be appealing or contesting any findings made by the committee, do we need to notify you of that decision or is notification only necessary if we did decide to appeal or contest any findings? Once the time for perfecting an appeal has run, none can be filed. Therefore, if the NCAA does not receive the notice of appeal in a timely fashion, the NCAA will be aware that no appeal has been taken.

Christian,

I still am playing catch up, so here are a few things I've been meaning to pass on to you.

First, your six month evaluation period ends on August 12 (as your official start date was February 13). I would like to have either weekly or bi-monthly meetings with you to review your progress between now and then. Let me know your preference.

Second, please follow up with MBB ASAP regarding:

1. Coach Sampson's "recruiting" trips on April 22-23 and 29-30 as his travel reimbursement forms indicated he was recruiting.
2. Get in writing all off campus recruiting activity for Coach Sampson between March 29 and May 25 (prospect's names, schools, cities, type of recruiting activity, etc.).
3. Confirm, in writing, that Coach Sampson has not recruited off campus since May 25 (including no off-campus contact with any HS, JC or AAU coach).
4. Confirm, in writing, that each MBB assistant coach knows and understands all of the sanctions imposed on Coach Sampson and the IU MBB program by the COI, including those carried over from Oklahoma (easiest way to do this is in a memo that they sign at the bottom).
5. Provide weekly documentation to me of the results of your monitoring of the telephone logs AND phone records (this area is key and we must show compliance in meeting the restrictions, as well as in the monitoring of these activities).
6. Please provide me with the summary of your meetings (both formal weekly meetings, as well as your daily informal meetings). Be especially clear and detailed regarding rules education (dates, topics discussed, include materials/handouts distributed, staff present, etc.).
7. Work with MBB to get all their recruiting activities logged in one place by the end of this month (either on CyberSports or in a paper file).
8. Find out if Coach Sampson counts in the number of off-campus recruiters if he attends and/or speaks at a coaches clinic (where no prospects are present).
9. Get with me regarding your statement that CyberSports doesn't allow a coach to enter a 4th contact if his/her sport is only allowed 3.

Third, work on your weekly agenda to make sure it covers all of the COI adopted and imposed sanctions.

Fourth, please provide me with your final draft of all rules education PRIOR to sending it out. This is SOP for our office as it helps to prevent sending out bad info or a document that just looks bad. So, especially for those items listed above that require memos or anything else, please let me see it AND comment on it BEFORE it goes out (I had asked to see the FB RE piece, but you sent it out w/o letting me review it and it was not as I had asked you to do - I didn't want you to copy and paste the bylaws - since you had already done that on a few occasions - but rather, turn the bylaws/legislation into easy to understand bullet points).

Fifth, if you have any questions on your duties and responsibilities that are clearly laid out in your job description and in the monthly calendar checklist, please see me.

Thanks,

Jennifer

Rick,

I believe that Terri Jo had you review the letter of admonishment to Coach Sampson and Coach Senderoff (either late Monday or early Tuesday morning), but you left for NACDA just before the actual self report was written. Since you had approved the letter of admonishment, Mary Ann and I felt comfortable with Terri putting your initials on both letters of admonishment (one also went to Christian for failing to remind the coaches of this rule) and Mary Ann signing the self report on your behalf since it was so minor.

As for the weekly meetings, I attended one two weeks ago and was very concerned about the lack of documentation being provided to the compliance office. I asked Christian to step it up – asking for the requisite documentation was not enough – we actually need to get it AND review it for compliance with both NCAA and COI rules and restrictions. Christian assures me this is now taking place, but I am still going to check in with him every other week to make sure he is getting what we need to stay on top of the issues.

As for the speaking engagements, I think the administration needs to decide how to proceed. The COI says the institution is strictly liable in the event a prospect-aged individual happens to show up. Unless the institution can guarantee 100% compliance with this restriction, I don't think he should be allowed to go to any OFF-campus speaking engagements until May 25, 2007. As of this time, the compliance office is not able to monitor who is in attendance at these speaking engagements (and apparently, he is signed up to do several alumni/varsity club engagements in the next few weeks). If he does these engagements, we might want to consider sending either Christian or myself along to monitor compliance with the COI sanctions.

I also heard from one individual, who was a part of a group that requested Coach Sampson give a motivational talk to their organization, that they were specifically asked not to announce/publicize the fact that no prospect-aged individuals could be in attendance. So, I am not sure how much significance the COI penalties are being given by the MBB staff.

A meeting will help get us all on the same page, so I am glad you have convened one for today.

Let my guidance be clear.

The weekly meetings with the basketball staff will be thorough and documented. Christian needs to understand the significance of his role and realize it is perhaps the most critical aspect of his position for the next year. Failure to meet expectations will be met with harsh realities. You are to send a memo to Coach Sampson indicating him that under my direction all public, off-campus speaking engagements will be discussed with Christian or the Compliance staff and need PRIOR APPROVAL. Reinforce the language and intent of the COI infractions/penalties. I want an overview in writing of our phone monitoring process.

I am not prepared to quibble and debate these matters.

During my weekly meetings with Jerry Green, he and I review Coach Sampson's calendar for events that he will, or has been asked to, attend to discuss whether or not preparations have been made to avoid any potential contact with prospective aged students. Coach has had to deny some requests due to this circumstance. Additionally, I want to inform you that Coach has been invited to throw out the first pitch at Victory Field as well as in Cincinnati on July 14th and August 1st respectively. I have asked Jerry Green to request that Coach Sampson not attend those functions as most athletics contests will be attended by students within the 9th through 12th grade bracket. In this instance I would ask that Scott communicate with my office whether precautions have been made either to the event regarding attendees or regarding the event itself.

1. Weekly review with the Director of Basketball operations to review the COI sanctions to include the following.
 - a. Coach Sampson is precluded from making any recruiting phone calls to prospects, family of prospects, coaches or anyone directly or indirectly involved with a prospective aged student.
 - b. During the following time frame (June 15, 2006 of the prospect's sophomore year through July 31st of the prospect junior year in high school) IU's assistant coaches are allowed to make one call every other month as opposed to one call per month under NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2.
 - c. During the following time frame (August 1st prior to the commencement of the prospects senior year through July 31st, 2007) IU assistant coaches may call a prospect only once per week as opposed to two call per week under NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2.
 - d. The assistant coaches are allowed the exceptions under the following NCAA Bylaws exceptions include bylaw 13.1.3.3.2 (Official visit exception); 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent signing date exception); and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone calls subsequent to the national letter or intent signing or other written commitment)
2. Weekly review of the IU adoption of sanctions from the COI to include the following.
 - ✓ a. Weekly meetings conducted by the director of compliance to review any and all recruiting issues with the basketball director of operations.
 - ✓ b. Review of the written commitment made by IU regarding the COI sanctions and the August 1st time frame.
3. Weekly collection of written phone logs from each assistant coach. → getting handwritten - need typed - ask both
4. ✓ Collect monthly declarations from all coaches indicating whether or not their home phone is utilized for recruiting calls. - will get 2 weeks worth of records a July 11th blk out next week
5. Review and cross check of those written logs against the reports generated by the Cybersports software. nothing abnormal yet
6. Review and cross check cell and university phone records against those supplied by the coaching staff as well as any recruit phone numbers already established on the database file. → no evidence yet of calls to prospects from all
7. Review and cross check of the written records/ Cybersports reports against other assistant coaches on the staff. off phone shows.

As discussed today it is critical that you run all of Coach Sampson's appearances/speaking engagements past our compliance staff for their review prior to you, Coach and/or staff making commitments for him to speak. I have asked Jen B to share this protocol with Coach Sampson and to insure that this becomes standard operating procedure.

If you have any questions please ask Jennifer B or Christian.

Subject: Clarification of COI Restrictions
Importance: High

Hi Jim,

I hope you are doing well and through traveling for a little while!

We have another issue that has come up that needs some clarification. Coach Sampson has been asked to throw out the first pitch at an Indians and a Reds game in the next few months, as well as play in a celebrity golf tournament (as an invited guest celebrity). An argument could be made that these are not off-campus recruiting activities; however, I am concerned that they do fall under the provision in the COI report that reads: "The prohibition on off-campus recruiting activities shall apply to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance . . ." (emphasis added).

Could you please ask the Chair to clarify whether or not an appearance, as opposed to an actual speaking engagement, is prohibited by the sanctions assessed by the COI? Also, could the committee please distinguish a regular golf date with 3 friends as opposed to an invitation to a golf outing/tournament/fundraiser (if "appearances" are impermissible – when prospects may be present)?

I appreciate your assistance in this matter.

Subject: Public Appearances/Speaking Engagements

Coach,

Rick asked me to email you regarding the COI restriction on speaking engagements/appearances/booster functions where prospects might be present. Because it appears that the restriction is very broad, it is imperative that your staff seek pre-approval from Christian (or me if Christian is out of the office for the day) prior to accepting any invitation to make a public appearance or attend a booster function. As you know, the chair of the COI has clarified that IU will be held strictly liable for any violation of the restrictions imposed by the committee. The compliance office is here to assist you and your staff in making sure we get through the next 11 months with (hopefully) no violations of those restrictions. Rick and I have designated Christian to be the primary contact for you and your staff to (1) handle all interpretative issues – both in general regarding all NCAA and Big Ten rules and more specifically regarding the COI penalties and (2) establish and ensure institutional control by implementing appropriate monitoring policies and procedures.

So, with regard to requests for speaking engagements/public appearances/booster functions, please make sure that Jerry (or whomever is handling these matters) does not accept any invitations on your behalf until each and every one of them has received approval from the compliance office. Christian will need complete details regarding the event (e.g., name of the event, place, date, audience, private vs. public gathering, possibility of high school-aged individuals being present, etc.) in order to accurately assess whether your appearance falls within the parameters set forth by the COI. He may also need time to research the issue further, so please try to give him at least one business day to get back to your staff with an answer. Of course, any events that are approved will always be conditioned upon the absence of any prospect-aged individuals.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions or concerns.

Thanks,

Jennifer

When you get a chance, could you read through the emails below – MBB wants to know if prospects' coaches can visit campus in July (since Sampson can't go out). I can't figure out the highlighted section of ER 2006-7 below – does this mean that our coaches cannot have ANY communication with ANY of a prospect's coaches during the time the prospect is participating in a summer certified event? The way I read it, it includes "any individual associated with the prospect's participation in basketball," which to me looks like it applies to all basketball (including HS/JC) and not just the summer certified event. Am I making any sense (from the email trail with Christian – it doesn't look like he was following my analysis either – so, call me crazy if that's appropriate!)? Thanks!

Jennifer,

Yes it is and yes it would. But if a coach visits IU to meet with our staff, I don't believe they would do so when their team is playing in a summer event. If they attempted that, the vent would have to be at IU and then 13.1.7.2.2 would take effect.

Is the highlighted section below referencing the AAU coach and/or the HS/JC coach? I can't tell from the language below. If it is either coach, would this not preclude the HS/JC coach from visiting campus while the prospect is participating in a summer certified event?

Jennifer,

As the preclusion for evaluation periods during July apply only to women's basketball, I believe that the men's coaches can do this. Please see the attached info I was able to find on the matter. Let me know your thoughts. Thanks.

ER-2006-7 RECRUITING -- CONTACT RESTRICTIONS AT SPECIFIED SITES -- ADDITIONAL RESTRICTIONS -- BASKETBALL

Bylaws: Amend 13.1.7.2.2, page 98, as follows:

"13.1.7.2.2 Additional Restrictions -- Men's and Women's Basketball. In men's and women's basketball, the following additional restrictions shall apply:

[13.1.7.2.2-(a) unchanged.]

"(b) In men's basketball, all communication with a prospect, the prospect's relatives or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in basketball, directly or indirectly, is prohibited during the time period in which the prospect is participating in the summer certified event. However, printed materials (e.g., letters, recruiting brochures, questionnaires) may be sent via regular mail (see Bylaw 13.4.1) to a prospect's home while the prospect is participating in a certified event.

ER-2005-56 ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATIONS -- RECRUITING CALENDARS -- RECRUITING PERIODS

A. Bylaws: Amend 13.1.4, page 95, as follows:

"13.1.4 Recruiting Calendars. Recruiting calendars specify the dates for the applicable recruiting periods in the applicable sports. The Management Council shall have the authority to establish such calendars in the Administrative Regulations (per Constitution 5.2.3.1). (See Bylaw 30.11 for a complete listing of the calendars in effect at the time of the publication of this Manual.)"

B. Administrative: Amend 30.11.1, page 410, as follows:

"30.11.1 Basketball, Men's. The following recruiting periods shall apply to men's basketball:"

[30.11.1-(a) through 30.11.1-(j) unchanged.]

Christian – I am not up to speed on the restrictions on recruiting in July. I know the coaches could not come to campus during a dead period. From what I can recall, the COI penalties were only restrictive as to no off campus recruiting or telephone calls by Coach Sampson and limits on telephone calls by the rest of the staff. So, research the July restrictions (maybe they only apply to the women – I just can't remember) and let's discuss on Tuesday (Monday, if I come in) BEFORE you have your weekly meeting at 10. Thanks, Jennifer

Coach,

Bylaw 11.7.1.1.1 speaks specifically to your question. Please see the attached on page 60 of your 2005-2006 NCAA

2/19/2008

Manual. The specifics for staff not counted in the limitations of Bylaw 11.7 (director of basketball operations, video coordinator, and administrative assistant) are as follows:

1. They may not be identified as coaches.
2. They may not engage in any coaching activities. (Attending meetings involving coaching activities, analyzing videotape or film of IU or opponent teams)
3. They may not be involved in any way in the recruiting process.
4. They may be involved in any way with the scouting of opponents.
5. They may participate with or watch student-athletes who are participating in nonorganized or voluntary athletically related activities. (Pick up games)

11.7.1.1.1 Noncoaching Activities Effective Date: Aug 01, 2006

Institutional staff members involved in noncoaching activities (e.g., administrative assistants, academic counselors) do not count in the institution's coaching limitations, provided such individuals are not identified as coaches, do not engage in any on- or off-field coaching activities (e.g., attending meetings involving coaching activities, analyzing videotape or film involving the institution's or an opponent's team), and are not involved in any off-campus recruitment of prospective student-athletes or scouting of opponents. A noncoaching staff member with sport-specific responsibilities may not participate with or observe student-athletes in the staff member's sport who are engaged in nonorganized voluntary athletically related activities (e.g., pick-up games).

Can a coaching staff have a Director of Ops, a Video Coordinator and a Administrative assistant? Is there a rule on that?

I need to know this...thanks....also, did you get a final ruling on coaches coming to IU to visit with Coach Sampson yet. Thanks.

I would like to meet with you tomorrow to discuss Rick's concerns below (which I highlighted). I included the entire email trail so that you can see both the context in which the email was sent and the significance that Rick is placing on the compliance office's monitoring efforts.

I would like for you to review for me all of the documentation you have collected and reviewed so far. I will probably start the written report the week that you are gone (I would like to get it done and sent it well before the August 1 deadline). Please be prepared to walk me through it – I want a thorough and comprehensive review.

Jennifer,

Let my guidance be clear.

The weekly meetings with the basketball staff will be thorough and documented. Christian needs to understand the significance of his role and realize it is perhaps the most critical aspect of his position for the next year. Failure to meet expectations will be met with harsh realities. You are to send a memo to Coach Sampson indicating him that under my direction all public, off-campus speaking engagements will be discussed with Christian or the Compliance staff and need PRIOR APPROVAL. Reinforce the language and intent of the COI infractions/penalties. I want an overview in writing of our phone monitoring process.

I am not prepared to quibble and debate these matters.

Rick,

I believe that Terri Jo had you review the letter of admonishment to Coach Sampson and Coach Senderoff (either late Monday or early Tuesday morning), but you left for NACDA just before the actual self report was written. Since you had approved the letter of admonishment, Mary Ann and I felt comfortable with Terri putting your initials on both letters of admonishment (one also went to Christian for failing to remind the coaches of this rule) and Mary Ann signing the self report on your behalf since it was so minor.

As for the weekly meetings, I attended one two weeks ago and was very concerned about the lack of documentation being provided to the compliance office. I asked Christian to step it up – asking for the requisite documentation was not enough – we actually need to get it AND review it for compliance with both NCAA and COI rules and restrictions. Christian assures me this is now taking place, but I am still going to check in with him every other week to make sure he is getting what we need to stay on top of the issues.

As for the speaking engagements, I think the administration needs to decide how to proceed. The COI says the institution is strictly liable in the event a prospect-aged individual happens to show up. Unless the institution can guarantee 100% compliance with this restriction, I don't think he should be allowed to go to any OFF-campus speaking engagements until May 25, 2007. As of this time, the compliance office is not able to monitor who is in attendance at these speaking engagements (and apparently, he is signed up to do several alumni/varsity club engagements in the next few weeks). If he does these engagements, we might want to consider sending either Christian or myself along to monitor compliance with the COI sanctions.

I also heard from one individual, who was a part of a group that requested Coach Sampson give a motivational talk to their organization, that they were specifically asked not to announce/publicize the fact that no prospect-aged individuals could be in attendance. So, I am not sure how much significance the COI penalties are being given by the MBB staff.

meeting will help get us all on the same page, so I am glad you have convened one for today.

Jennifer worked on the Big Ten eligibility issue with Anitra, JoAnn, Grace and Bruce; drafted and distributed the July Indiana Compliance Newsletter; worked on tightening up the monitoring and oversight procedures for the MBB COI penalties; drafted and sent an email for further clarification of the prohibition against any appearance where prospects might be present (b/c Coach Sampson has accepted invitations to throw out the first pitch at both an Indians and Reds baseball games this summer); began collecting all correspondence with the NCAA regarding self reports from August 1, 2001 (open records request from Mark Alesia that Pete Rhoda passed on to me); is discussing a second open records request (also from Mark Alesia) regarding applications for grants from the Special Assistance Fund and the SA Opportunity Fund (I would hope "application documentation" would be confidential; met with Coach Sampson regarding secondary violation and reviewed the applicable legislation and 3-page handout she prepared for MBB to send to campers who did not receive the requisite educational session; met with [REDACTED] (WBB) to discuss her stipend she received in the past from being a "carded athlete" in Canada (b/c Josh White, now at Nebraska, had called with questions regarding the amount of stipend one of his SAs had received) - [REDACTED] not on the [REDACTED] national team this year, so it is not an issue for us; reviewed outstanding international prospective student-athlete cases with Mark Jones at Ice Miller; and assisted Christian in providing interpretations to coaches and staff.

Kathy is working of fall aid and clearinghouse issues; sending requests for transfer information; dealing with national audit (SA employment); and working on the usual tender issues - initials, non-renewal and 5th year aid. She has spoken with a lot of parents this week who have been here for freshman orientation.

Anitra is processing Sum I grades and updating ineligibles report (also checking over Chip's progress with the same before his leaving); have supplied two sets of additional documentation requested by Bruce Jaffee to send to the Big Ten to amend original petitions for [REDACTED] filed 6/8/2006; will be faxing Bruce's addendum letter to Big Ten with updated transcripts reflecting Sum I grades; preparing to research prior year certifications for current athletes to discover any problems; requested medical information for four student-athletes for petitions and completed Big Ten petition paperwork on two of them which was passed to Bruce Jaffee today to complete his cover letters before he leaves for Croatia; will be trying to obtain all of the medical information on the four next week so Bruce can finish the other two upon his return; just received statement from Tory Yamaguchi to initiate request for medical information for a fifth petition; working with Kathy A. to cover the pressing duties for Chip's position (admissions, NCAA Clrnghse, transfer releases, transcript evaluations, processing women's transcripts & degree %, checking junior sheets and quantitative hours forms for all sports, etc.); answering advisor questions about various topics (eligibility, summer courses, program planning, etc.).

Christian spent a lot of time working on various men's basketball issues and had several meetings with members of the MBB staff; he entered revisions I had made on the sections of the compliance manual he is responsible for updating; and he worked on the Sports Inventory wrap-up with Mitch and Marty. He is on vacation from July 1-10.

Greg,

Thanks for responding to my eligibility question(s). I hope you had a fun and relaxing 4th of July weekend, since you are now flying solo for the month of July!

Christian is out this week on vacation, so MBB came to me with some clarifications regarding the upcoming July evaluation period. I have a copy of an educational memo sent out by the NABC to all head coaches regarding summer certified event protocol. Here are the questions:

1. Can MBB text a HS coach? According to your email from June 29 at 6:11 p.m., Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2.1, which states that it is okay for MBB to have "telephone contact" with a PSA's HS coach while the PSA is participating in a summer certified event, would allow a HS coach to come to campus to meet with Coach

Sampson. Since this Bylaw extends to face-to-face contact, would it not also be okay for MBB to then text the HS coach?

2. In light on the third bullet in #4 on the memo (which I will fax to you), this looks like contact at any location is prohibited with both nonscholastic AND scholastic coaches. So, if this is correct (#7 in the memo seems like they just apply 13.1.7.2.2.1 to phone calls only), does your answer on 6/29 and in #1 above change?
3. Can MBB attend a regularly scheduled (but not organized – the gym is just open at certain times each day) pick-up game at a local high school if there are PSAs from other high schools also there?
4. DJ White, a MBB SA at IU, is working the NIKE camp in Indy. Can MBB talk to him (as long as there are no prospects or their coaches around)?

I will fax you a copy of the memo. Thanks for helping me out!

See below – the COI is basically saying that Coach Sampson is precluded from making a public appearance if prospects may be in attendance. So, until May 24, 2007, he can not accept invitations for any public appearance if there's a chance that a prospect-aged individual will be present. Unfortunately, he will need to decline the invitations to throw out the first pitch at the Reds and Indians games. Sorry.

Based on the intent of the sanctions (no off campus recruiting activities, including public appearances where prospects might be present) and common sense, the golf date with three friends would be permissible as long as his presence at the golf course was not publicized (in advance or at the time he is playing).

Until Christian returns next week, please feel free to contact me if you have any questions or concerns.

Importance: High

Hi Jim,

I hope you are doing well and through traveling for a little while!

We have another issue that has come up that needs some clarification. Coach Sampson has been asked to throw out the first pitch at an Indians and a Reds game in the next few months, as well as play in a celebrity golf tournament (as an invited guest celebrity). An argument could be made that these are not off-campus recruiting activities; however, I am concerned that they do fall under the provision in the COI report that reads: "The prohibition on off-campus recruiting activities shall apply to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance. . . ." (emphasis added).

Could you please ask the Chair to clarify whether or not an appearance, as opposed to an actual speaking engagement, is prohibited by the sanctions assessed by the COI? Also, could the committee please distinguish a regular golf date with 3 friends as opposed to an invitation to a golf outing/tournament/fundraiser (if "appearances" are impermissible – when prospects may be present)?

I appreciate your assistance in this matter.

Coaches – here are the short answers to Rob's questions (see below for more explanation):

1. You can text a HS coach while players from his team play in a certified event PROVIDED the HS coach is NOT at the certified event.
2. Per NCAA rules, a HS coach can come to campus to meet with Coach Sampson during the July evaluation period to discuss basketball NOT recruiting. However, it looks like the NABC is interpreting this much more conservatively (third bullet in #4), so I will try to contact Jim Haney for a clarification.
3. Any of the assistant coaches can attend a pick up game at a high school that is regularly scheduled (open gym), but not organized, and there can be prospects there from other high schools.
4. Any of the assistant coaches can speak with DJ White during breaks when he is a counselor at the NIKE camp in Indy IF it is a certified event AND only if NO prospects/parents/coaches are around and the discussion CANNOT be about any of the prospects attending the camp.

Hope this helps – remember to document ALL of your recruiting activities – good luck!

Jennifer:

See my answers below, but first a disclaimer. All of these answers relate specifically to the application of NCAA legislation. Any additional or more stringent restrictions or protocol imposed by the NABC on its membership should be addressed with that body. In other words, I'm not telling you that you should ignore the NABC's July 3rd memo or that parts of the memo are "wrong" – rather, I'm interpreting the text and legislative history of NCAA Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2 as it relates to the July evaluation period.

I hope this helps.

Greg,

Thanks for responding to my eligibility question(s). I hope you had a fun and relaxing 4th of July weekend, since you are now flying solo for the month of July!

Christian is out this week on vacation, so MBB came to me with some clarifications regarding the upcoming July evaluation period. I have a copy of an educational memo sent out by the NABC to all head coaches regarding summer certified event protocol. Here are the questions:

1. Can MBB text a HS coach? According to your email from June 29 at 6:11 p.m., Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2.1, which states that it is okay for MBB to have "telephone contact" with a PSA's HS coach while the PSA is participating in a summer certified event, would allow a HS coach to come to campus to meet with Coach Sampson. Since this Bylaw extends to face-to-face contact, would it not also be okay for MBB to then text the HS coach?

[GW] Yes... again, we're talking about a situation where a HS coach is not involved with or attending a certified event, IU's coach is not attending a certified event, and the only connection to a certified event is that one of the HS coach's athletes just happens to be participating in a certified event at some other location at the same time. Under these circumstances, our take is that the legislation permits text messaging by a college coach to the HS coach or an on-campus meeting between a college coach and the HS coach. (Note, however, that an off-campus meeting including discussion of PSAs would be impermissible since it would be an evaluation not occurring at a certified event, pick-up game, etc.) Neither of these interactions compromises the intent of the original legislation (2001-53), which was to establish "standards governing appropriate behavior of collegiate coaches attending certified events."

2. In light on the third bullet in #4 on the memo (which I will fax to you), this looks like contact at any location is prohibited with both nonscholastic AND scholastic coaches. So, if this is correct (#7 in the memo seems like they just apply 13.1.7.2.2.1 to phone calls only), does your answer on 6/29 and in #1 above change?

Incidentally, regarding point #7 on the NABC memo, NCAA legislation (13.1.7.2.2.1) does not require that IU's coach not be in attendance at the certified event, it only requires that the high school coach or administrator not be in attendance at or otherwise involved with the certified event. In fact, the rationale for the adoption of this legislation (Proposal 2003-61) specifically contemplates a college coach that is attending a certified event calling a HS coach that is not involved/attending the certified event. See below.

Rationale Statement – 2003-61: "Finally, current regulations preclude coaches from making telephone calls to anyone associated with the prospect during the prospect's participation in a certified event. In some instances, coaches will observe a prospect for the initial time and seek additional information regarding the prospect's qualifications and/or remaining summer schedule. The ability to make phone calls to a high-school coach (or administrator) who is not attending the event to ascertain such information does not compromise the objective of prohibiting all interaction at the event site and continues to further the intended goal of placing greater emphasis on the scholastic environment in the recruiting process."

3. Can MBB attend a regularly scheduled (but not organized – the gym is just open at certain times each day) pick-up game at a local high school if there are PSAs from other high schools also there?

[GW] Yes.

4. DJ White, a MBB SA at IU, is working the NIKE camp in Indy. Can MBB talk to him (as long as there are no prospects or their coaches around)?

[GW] Possibly, but only if no PSAs, coaches of PSAs, other camp employees, etc. are present and there is no discussion of prospective student-athletes or camp activities (in other words, I'm imagining a discussion between an IU coach and an IU SA that just happens to be occurring during a break in the camp and not a discussion relating to recruiting or camp activities involving PSAs). It probably goes without saying, but the date(s) of the NIKE camp must be certified for your coach(es) to attend in the first place.

I will fax you a copy of the memo. Thanks for helping me out!

All,

Please be certain whenever you receive a request to have Coach Sampson attend an event of any kind, that you forward it to the compliance office for approval prior to placing the event on his calendar.

2/20/2008

To have an event approved to go on his schedule you need to collect the following:

1. The name of the event/outing
2. The purpose of the function/event.
3. Where it is occurring.
4. What the date of the event is.
5. How we IU ensure that prospective aged students will not be in attendance.

Due to our current circumstance, every effort to protect Indiana University in this regard is necessary and since you all are asked from time to time to run invitations by coach, I need and appreciate your assistance in this matter. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to ask.

See below. While I understand the need for a quick turn-around, it is just as important (if not more so) to have the time needed to thoroughly research each request to ensure compliance with the COI sanctions.

Christian is putting basketball's needs and issues at the top of his priority list and has been extremely responsive to all questions and issues.

I would like to request your assistance (and possibly Rick's) in making sure that basketball understands compliance is here to help them – not only in abiding by the COI penalties, but in complying with all applicable NCAA and Big Ten rules so that they can do their jobs to the best of their abilities. We are not here to make their jobs harder – although it may seem like that – but the rules were voted on by membership, not by the IU compliance office! ☺

I would appreciate your thoughts and assistance in this matter.

Subject: Telephone Calls

Rob,

The telephone call rule for MBB changed as of January 2006, so that you no longer get the three calls in July (for senior prospects). The rule now states:

One call a month (IU is restricted to one every other month through July 31, 2007) to a prospect (or his parents or legal guardians) on or after June 15 of his sophomore year in HS through July 31. Two calls per week (IU is restricted to one per week through July 31, 2007) to a prospect (or his parents or legal guardians) beginning August 1 prior to his senior year in high school.

So, the restrictions running through July 31 (2007) really don't make a difference per the start and end dates for the new rule (which is located on page 89 – Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2).

I hope this helps to clarify the issue. If not, let me know.

Thanks for asking!

Men's Basketball Fall 2006 Contact Period (08/02/06)

Dates

September 9-October 5

Contact Period (No evaluations at sites other than the prospect's educational institution)

October 6-November 5

Evaluation Period

Recruiting Person Days 13.02.7

Men's basketball staff members cannot exceed 130 recruiting person days. A recruiting-person day is defined as one coach engaged in an off-campus recruiting activity of a men's basketball prospect on one day (12:01a.m. through midnight). Two coaches engaged in recruiting activities on the same day shall use two recruiting person days.

Contactable Prospects 13.1.1.2

In basketball, contact cannot be made with a prospect prior to the opening day of classes of the prospect's senior year in high school (and in no instance before September 9, 2006, which is the beginning of your contact period this year).

Visit to Prospect's Educational Institution 13.1.5.1

Staff members may not visit a prospect's educational institution on more than one occasion during a particular week within a contact period, regardless of the number of prospects enrolled at that institution or whether any prospect is contacted during that one occasion.

All visits that occur during the time period in which classes are in session must receive the approval of the executive officer (or designee) of the prospect's educational institution.

Number of contacts 13.1.6.3

During the academic year, IU is limited to seven recruiting opportunities (contacts and evaluations combined) per prospect, but may not include more than three, in-person, off-campus contacts during the prospect's senior year. Also number, your 130 person day limit during the academic year.

Off-campus recruiting: At any one time 11.7.4.3.1

It is permissible for a coach to leave campus to engage in off-campus contact or evaluation before another coach who is off-campus actually returns to campus, provided the total number of coaches recruiting on behalf of the institution at any time do not exceed the permissible number.

In other words, if the limitation on the number of coaches who are permitted to contact or evaluate prospects off campus at any one time is reached, another coach in that same sport may leave campus to engage in off-campus contacts or evaluations at any time, provided he does not begin any off-campus recruiting activity until the coach being replaced has completed his recruiting activities. Further, the replaced coach may not engage in additional recruiting activities until after he or she has returned to the institution's campus.

Men's basketball is limited to a maximum of three coaches who may engage in off-campus recruiting at any one time.

Telephone calls 13.1.3.1.2

The following are the standard regulations for men's basketball. Please remember that the committee on infractions case resulted in a reduction for IU in the following areas. Note the text in parentheses.

In men's basketball, IU is permitted to make one telephone call per month to a prospect [or the prospect's parents or legal guardian(s)] on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school. (COI reduction- one call every other month)

IU is permitted to make two telephone calls per week to a prospect [or prospect's parents or legal guardian(s)] beginning August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school. (COI reduction - one call per week)

IU is permitted to make one telephone call per week to a two-year college prospect [or the prospect's parents/legal guardian(s)].

Tim:

Just wanted to let you know that I've heard from both Chris Strobel (Dir. of Secondary Enforcement) and Shep Cooper (Dir. of the Committee on Infractions) today, and both confirmed that the off-campus recruiting ban does NOT preclude Coach Sampson from having off-campus contact (within a 30-mile radius) with a prospect who is making an official (paid) visit to Indiana. So for example, if Coach Sampson's home is within 30 miles of campus, it would be permissible for him to host prospects making an official visit at his home. Again, this is applicable only to prospects on official visits; the off-campus ban would be in effect for all other off-campus contacts.

Hope this helps. Let me know if you have further questions. I'll leave it up to you to distribute this to the appropriate folks on your end.

NCAA Enforcement checked with the COI regarding your question as to whether you would be able to call a prospect once he has signed an NLI with Indiana. Unfortunately, the COI said the ruling last May precludes you from calling prospects, regardless of whether they have signed an NLI.

You may, of course, continue to text message and email the signees.

Subject: FW: Sampson's request regarding phone calls subsequent to NLI

Shep and Chris,

I hope you both are doing well. We have a dilemma at IU. Can Coach Sampson call a prospect once he signs an NLI to attend IU (during the early signing period in November)? We believe there are two ways of looking at this question:

1. Even after a prospect signs a valid NLI, they are still considered a prospect per NCAA Bylaw 13.02.11. The only designation that has changed is that now they are considered "recruited." One could find that the COI would not preclude Coach Sampson from making phone calls on that basis. The reasoning for this stance is that we do have in the COI report that our coaches may make unlimited phone calls per 13.1.3.3.3 subsequent to the signing of the NLI (without regard to the restrictions on phone calls). Therefore, it could be presumed that this exception includes Sampson. Moreover, that line of thought appears to be supported on page 19 of the May 25, 2006 COI public infractions report which says, "any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting." It can be easily demonstrated that these calls are not for recruiting purposes once a NLI has been signed and processed to the Big Ten.
2. The other train of thought is that the COI may view any phone call to a prospect to be impermissible for Coach Sampson until the "prospect(s)" satisfies one of the three criteria of bylaw 13.02.11 and becomes a student-athlete, or the sanctions are lifted on May 24, 2007.

Would you be able to provide us with some direction on this issue or do we need to take it to the COI? If so, could you please pass the question on to them?

Thanks,

Jennifer

Shep, Chris and Jim,

I wanted to bring the following matter to your attention as soon as I was able to gather all of the facts.

Coach Sampson, at the request of the IU Varsity Club and the IU Alumni Association (IUAA), had two speaking engagements in northern Indiana this week. He spoke at Merrillville on Tuesday and Ft. Wayne on Wednesday. In order to ensure compliance with the COI sanctions, we sent the director of compliance to help monitor attendance at these events. Prior to the Ft. Wayne event, one of the staff members in the Varsity Club approached the director of compliance with an article from the Post-Tribune (a Gary, Indiana newspaper) that indicated a prospect-aged individual had attended the event in Merrillville on the previous evening. Upon returning to work on Thursday morning, the director of compliance met with me and I asked him to follow up with the columnist who wrote the article as well as the alum who brought along his daughter's boyfriend (a HS junior who we are not recruiting nor are we recruiting anyone from his high school to play basketball at IU). The columnist interviewed the two outside of the banquet room and did not see them enter the room. However, the alum confirmed in a phone conversation with the director of compliance late yesterday that he and his daughter's boyfriend entered the room after Sampson began speaking and sat in the back of the room.

The director of compliance and the Varsity Club staff had worked extensively with the IUAA staff and the local organizing committee to make sure that all who were invited to this event were informed that no prospect-aged individuals could be in attendance (the invitation specifically stated that this was an NCAA restricted event and that no individual in the 9th through 12th grade could attend this event), and had checked the pre-registration list to ensure that this restriction was being met. The event organizers also questioned people who entered the room (they actually turned away one high school aged individual), and the director of compliance and staff from the Varsity Club circulated the room prior to the event starting to ensure compliance. Apparently, the alum and the high schooler entered unnoticed after the program had started. To be honest, we all find it very strange that no one (the director of compliance, the AD, the coach, the Varsity Club staff, the IUAA staff and the event organizers) noticed these two enter the room, sit through the program and then leave, as the director of compliance believes that 98% in attendance were 50 or older.

Regardless, this is the only time we are aware that such a situation has occurred during Coach Sampson's speaking engagements since May 25, 2006. We will implement additional security procedures to ensure that this does not happen again.

Please let me know if you need any further information.

Chad-

I have heard back from the majority of the committee members who sat for the OU case. The feedback I received from them confirms the guidance I provided to you back in August (and which you set forth in your August 30 e-mail to Tim Fitzpatrick [below]).

Specifically, Bylaw 13.6.6.1 (General Restrictions) would apply with regard to official paid visits and Kelvin Sampson's recruiting activities during the OPVs. That bylaw addresses the "30-mile rule."

Please let me know if you have any questions. My apologies for any confusion on this issue.

Tim:

Just wanted to let you know that I've heard from both Chris Strobel (Dir. of Secondary Enforcement) and Shep Cooper (Dir. of the Committee on Infractions) today, and both confirmed that the off-campus recruiting ban does NOT preclude Coach Sampson from having off-campus contact (within a 30-mile radius) with a prospect who is making an official (paid) visit to Indiana. So for example, if Coach Sampson's home is within 30 miles of campus, it would be permissible for him to host prospects making an official visit at his home. Again, this is applicable only to prospects on official visits; the off-campus ban would be in effect for all other off-campus contacts.

I hope this helps. Let me know if you have further questions. I'll leave it up to you to distribute this to the appropriate folks on your end.

Wanted to let you both know that Coach Jack and Sampson have agreed to speak at a radio sponsor luncheon, coordinated through Artistic Media, at Colorado Steakhouse next Tuesday, Nov. 7 at 11:30am (they will actually speak at about noon and 12:25, respectively). There will be approximately 50-75 people at the lunch (Seminary Hall, where Hep's radio show is held), both current and potential sponsors. You are certainly welcome to attend if you like and your schedule permits.....I plan on being there to make sure everything runs smoothly. Let me know if you have any questions. Thanks.

Basketball Logs for the week of December 4 - 8, 2006

Monday December 4, 2006

1. 9:22-9:25 AM I reviewed and logged the monthly coaches phone usage declaration sheets.
2. 9:26-9:30 AM I emailed John Tweedie to run a report for my auditing of office phone usage for the basketball staff to cross check records against the Cybersports database.
3. 10:45-10:49 AM I spoke with Jerry Green regarding the athletically related activities process and due dates for reports. He referred me to Tim Garl and said that he would speak with Tim regarding the process and the request for timely reports.

Tuesday December 5, 2006

1. 9:32-9:57 AM I edited the director of basketball operations agenda for tomorrows meeting.
2. 9:58-10:23 AM I searched the Division I official notice on-line for all pertinent men's basketball legislations to include in the rules education supplement for tomorrows basketball weekly meeting.
3. 10:24-10:32 AM I prepared the basketball operation rules education supplement materials from the research materials from item #2 above.
4. 1:45-1:49 PM I spoke with Jerry Green about the weekly meeting for the months of December and January and we planned out the schedule to avoid competitions and days away from campus.

Wednesday December 6, 2006

1. 8:42-8:46 AM I prepared the materials for the weekly director of Basketball operations meeting.
2. 9:00-9:34 AM I met with Jerry Green and Jeff Meyer for our weekly director of basketball operations meeting to include coach Sampson speaking engagement calendar review and a rules education component where new proposed legislation relevant to basketball was introduced.
3. 1:15-1:17 PM I spoke with BJ McElroy about autographed items requests from the IU alumni association. I requested that the forms be sent to my attention for processing and approval. I also approved one autographed item request and processed the form to BJ.

2:40-2:44 PM

I met with Ray McCallum regarding his concern for a potential APR issue. I informed him to approach Anitra for specifics but described the basic framework to retain and stay eligible equating to 2 points per term.

11. 2:58-3:00 PM

I spoke with Beth McLaughlin about autographed items requests.

Friday December 8, 2006

1. 8:45-8:58 AM

I met with Jeff Meyer concerning recruiting materials and the my future at Indian University.

2. 3:12-3:15 PM

I Memoed Eric Behrman about autographed item requests and referred him to BJ McElroy about the new forms and process for requesting such.

DOBO meeting Supplement – (12.06.06)

NO. 2006-23 AMATEURISM — INVOLVEMENT WITH PROFESSIONAL TEAMS — TRYOUT AFTER ENROLLMENT — RECEIPT OF EXPENSES — SUMMER OR NOT FULL TIME

Intent: To specify that a student-athlete may try out with a professional organization in a sport during the summer or during the academic year while not a full-time student, provided the student-athlete does not receive more than one expense-paid visit from each professional team (or a combine including that team) and each visit does not exceed a 48-hour period.

Source: Atlantic 10 Conference.

Effective Date: Immediate

Category: Amendment

Topical Area: Amateurism

Rationale: Currently, tryouts with a professional team are permitted during the summer or during the academic year if the student-athlete is not enrolled full time and does not accept any payment of expenses from the professional team. If the rules permit student-athletes to enter a professional league's draft, the student-athletes should be able to participate in tryouts that may assist them in evaluating their likelihood of being drafted. Permitting professional teams to pay the actual and necessary expenses associated with a tryout would provide more opportunities for student-athletes who may not be able to pay their own expenses. This proposal would also reduce the pressure on student-athletes to seek funding from outside sources. The legislation would continue to restrict tryouts to the summer or during the academic year when a student-athlete is not enrolled full time so that student-athletes do not feel the need to withdraw from their institutions in order to participate in such tryouts. Lastly, current legislation permits an individual prior to collegiate enrollment to participate in one expense-paid visit per professional team, provided such a visit does not exceed 48 hours.

Academics/Eligibility/Compliance Cabinet: The cabinet unanimously [redacted] Proposal No. 2006-23. The cabinet believes that Proposal No. 2006-22 better addresses the sponsor's concerns related to providing tryout opportunities to student-athletes. In addition, the proposal does not further the student-athlete's academic performance, does not provide meaningful solutions to team disruption and may encourage student-athletes to drop to part-time status during the academic year. Finally, the cabinet noted that the NCAA Division I Student-Athlete Reinstatement Committee supports Proposal No. 2006-22 (as modified) and opposes Proposal No. 2006-23.

Men's Basketball Issues Committee: The committee [redacted] the proposal, noting that it does not further the student-athlete's academic performance, does not provide meaningful solutions to team disruption and could encourage student-athletes to drop to part-time status during the academic year in order to engage in a paid tryout.

Student-Athlete Reinstatement Committee: The committee [redacted] Proposal No. 2006-23. The committee generally supports the concept but believes Proposal No. 2006-22 better addresses the issues and thus, would support modifications to that proposal.

NO. 2006-25 AMATEURISM — INVOLVEMENT WITH PROFESSIONAL TEAMS — PROFESSIONAL BASKETBALL DRAFT — FOUR-YEAR COLLEGE STUDENTATHLETE — MEN'S BASKETBALL

Intent: In men's basketball, to specify that an enrolled student-athlete may enter a professional league's draft one time during his collegiate career without jeopardizing eligibility in the sport, provided that within 30 days after the conclusion of the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship game, the student athlete requests that his name be removed from the draft list and declares his intention to resume intercollegiate participation, the student-athlete's declaration of intent is in writing to the institution's director of athletics, and the student-athlete is not drafted.

Source: Big Ten Conference.

Effective Date: August 1, 2007

Category: Amendment

Topical Area: Amateurism

Rationale: Currently, men's basketball student-athletes have as many as 30 days after the NBA draft to indicate their intent to return to collegiate participation (e.g., the 2006 NBA draft date was June 28). This two to three month period between April and July is intrusive on academic performance during the spring, and increases the potential for outside individuals to have a negative influence on the well-being of men's basketball student athletes. Establishing a shorter timeframe by which men's basketball student-athletes must withdraw from the draft and declare their intent to resume intercollegiate participation will encourage student-athletes to refocus on academics sooner and lessen the potential for committing violations that jeopardize amateur status. This proposal complements the proposed legislation that would allow currently enrolled student-athletes to engage in tryouts with professional teams while enrolled full time as potential solutions to address academic concerns and the overall well-being of men's basketball student-athletes.

Academics/Eligibility/Compliance Cabinet: The cabinet unanimously [redacted] Proposal No. 2006-25. The cabinet believes that the proposal would negatively impact the well-being of basketball student-athletes by not providing adequate time for the student athletes to evaluate their status and make an informed decision about their potential professional future. Specifically, the cabinet believes that student-athletes should be able to participate in individual workouts and a professional sports organization's pre-draft basketball camp opportunities to evaluate their status. A 30-day timeline following the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship game would not allow such activities to occur.

Men's Basketball Issues Committee: The committee [REDACTED] the proposal, noting that the student-athlete may not know his draft status within 30 days after the national championship. The 30-day reflection period should continue to start after the conclusion of the actual draft.

Student-Athlete Reinstatement Committee: The committee [REDACTED] on Proposal 2006-25. The committee does not believe 30 days beyond the NCAA Division I men's basketball championship provides adequate time. The committee agrees that some parameters on the declaration process makes sense but would defer to the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Issues Committee as to what the appropriate parameters should be.

NO. 2006-52 ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATIONS —RECRUITING CALENDARS — MEN'S BASKETBALL — MARCH CONTACT PERIOD

Intent: In men's basketball, to establish a contact period March 16 through 22.

Source: Southern Conference.

Effective Date: Immediate

Category: Amendment

Topical Area: Recruiting

Rationale: The elimination of the March contact period in men's basketball has condensed the period of time during which off campus contacts between prospective student-athletes and collegiate coaches can occur prior to the start of the spring signing period of the National Letter of Intent. The current men's basketball recruiting calendar provides collegiate coaches with less than six days during which off-campus contact with a prospects can occur prior to the start of spring signing period. The increased external pressures the spring signing period brings to both collegiate coaches and prospective student-athletes are compounded due to the reduction of face-to-face off-campus recruiting opportunities prior to the start of the period. This proposal to reinstate the March contact period will provide prospective student-athletes and their families with increased opportunities to meet with collegiate coaches and should assist the prospective student-athlete in selecting an institution and coach that best fit the needs of the prospective student-athlete. This change also should enable institutions to make more sound recruiting judgments. The current recruiting calendar in women's basketball provides coaches in that sport with 30 days during the month of March (March 1 through 30) during which collegiate coaches can conduct off-campus contacts with prospective student-athletes prior to the start of the spring signing period.

Men's Basketball Issues Committee: The committee [REDACTED] the proposal based on the sponsor's rationale.

Academics/Eligibility/Compliance Cabinet: The cabinet unanimously [REDACTED] Proposal No. 2006-52. The cabinet agrees with the sponsor's rationale statement and notes that the proposal does not increase the number of recruiting-person days. The cabinet noted Men's Basketball Issues Committee supports the proposal.

NO. 2006-53 ADMINISTRATIVE REGULATIONS —RECRUITING CALENDARS — MEN'S BASKETBALL — CHAMPIONSHIP DEAD PERIOD

Intent: In men's basketball, to specify that the dead period surrounding the NCAA Division I Men's Basketball Championship shall be from Thursday prior to the championship game until noon on Thursday following the championship game.

Source: NCAA Division I Championships/Competition Cabinet (Men's Basketball Issues Committee).

Effective Date: Immediate

Category: Amendment

Topical Area: Recruiting

Rationale: Coaches are pressured to increase recruiting activities in April prior to the National Letter of Intent signing period. As a result, many coaches leave the Final Four prior to the championship game or do not attend the related events. By extending the dead period until the Thursday after the conclusion of the championship game, coaches would be able to celebrate their sport by attending all of the associated activities and still have adequate time in April to make last-minute recruiting contacts before the signing period begins.

Academics/Eligibility/Compliance Cabinet: The cabinet unanimously [REDACTED] Proposal No. 2006-53. The cabinet agrees with the sponsor's rationale statement. Specifically, extending the dead period surrounding the Division I Men's Basketball Championship will encourage men's basketball coaches to remain engaged and in attendance at the championship until its conclusion.

Here's our guidance directly from Rick....I'll call Jerry and tell him to make sure that Coach Sampson understands that he cannot currently attend this event in the state that we know it to be. We may need to prep for some bad PR, but I'd rather have that issue that a tussle with the COI over a goodwill gesture.

Absolutely.....I mandate full compliance with the COI restrictions and if the event needs to be moved or cancelled so be it. I assume they could restrict attendance as we have with other events but these matters need coordination, clearance and approval as we have stated unequivocally in the past. It is Jerry's responsibility to have full transparency with us in a timely manner so we can handle administratively.

Jen -

Thanks for this information....I appreciate it. I'm going to forward this to both Rick Greenspan and Jerry Green so they can be in this loop. I agree with your assessment about the problem with probable attendance by prospect age individuals as the event is being held at Edgewood High School in Ellettsville. Rick needs to know for a lot of reasons, and I think we need to have Jerry ask Coach Sampson directly whether or not he plans on attending the event. If he's not planning on going, we likely don't have an issue. If he is, then we need to intervene administratively to make sure that he does not, per the sanctions we're working under. I know this particular cause is near-and-dear to Coach Sampson, but we still need to make sure that we comply with the terms and conditions of the sanction. I'll contact Jerry separately and get an answer here quickly.

Be back to you soon with further guidance, and thanks for bringing this matter to my attention. It's far better for us to be safe rather than sorry in this case.

Tim,

As you are aware, Coach Sampson was invited to be a part of the celebration for the returning members of the National Guard from the war in Iraq. BJ or Beth contacted me via phone last week and asked if this was permissible. I said it would be permissible only if they could guarantee that no prospect-aged individuals were in attendance - which I stated would probably be impossible since family members would be in attendance.

Last night, I heard an ad on the radio inviting members of the public to this event at Edgewood High School in Ellettsville and this morning there is a big article on page 3 of the front section in the H-T again inviting the public. The radio ad and the H-T article both listed Sampson as co-chair of this event.

I am not sure if he is planning on attending or just is being listed as the co-chair, but he can not attend any event that is open to the public (per the sanctions imposed by the COI) UNLESS they move the homecoming party to somewhere on IU's campus.

Please let me know how I should proceed.

Thanks,

Jennifer

Folks,

There has been a discrepancy regarding the end date of the telephone call restrictions. While all of Coach Sampson's restrictions end as of May 25, 2007, the restrictions on the number of calls that IU can make don't end until July 31, 2007. I had inadvertently listed this date as June 30, 2007 on the letter of understanding signed off on by Coach Sampson, Rick and Bruce, as well as the COI report we submitted last August. Unfortunately, no one at IU, the NCAA, or the COI caught my error. I have made sure that the weekly agendas have had the correct end dates for all of the penalties since April 4, 2007.

Here are the relevant sections from the original COI report last May 25, 2006:

- E. The number of permissible calls to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospects' sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospects' junior year in high school shall be reduced from one call per month to one call every other month for a period of two years commencing August 1, 2005, and concluding July 31, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Calls Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment). This penalty will result in a minimum reduction of 240 calls over a two-year period of implementing the reduction and was imposed to directly address any recruiting advantage gained by the impermissible telephone calls. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)
- F. The institution shall reduce the number of permissible calls to prospects on or after August 1 of their senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period of two years commencing August 1, 2005, and concluding July 31, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Calls Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment). This penalty will result in a reduction of from at least 780 calls up to possibly more than 1,600 calls over a period of two years. These numbers are based on a calling period from August to April, which is about 40 weeks, and recruiting 20 prospective student-athletes per year. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)
- J. The former head coach was restricted to engaging in off-campus recruiting activities for a maximum of 19 days during a period commencing August 1, 2005, and concluding

June 30, 2006. Further, this prohibition applies to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance including exceptions provided in Bylaw 13.1.9. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)

K. The institution retroactively implemented a ban on the former head coach's eligibility for bonus compensation due under the former head coach's contract for the two year period of March 2, 2005, through March 1, 2007. During the same two year period, the former head coach's employment contract shall not be renegotiated, amended or extended and he shall not be eligible for any compensation increase. According to financial figures supplied by the institution, the cost to the former head coach over the two year period will be approximately $180,000. (Self-imposed by the university.)

L. The former head coach's present institution adopted and transferred penalties E, F, J and K above. It noted that the former head coach had already used 15 of the 19 permissible off-campus recruiting days at Oklahoma and would therefore only be able to be off-campus four days from the date of his hiring through June 30, 2006. The present institution has also required weekly meetings between compliance personnel and the director of basketball operations to monitor men's basketball recruiting activities. While the committee recognizes the significance of the transferred penalties it determined that, because of the number and nature of the violations committed by the former head coach as well as the atmosphere of noncompliance he fostered and encouraged among his assistant coaches, further recruiting restrictions are warranted. Therefore, his current employing institution shall, pursuant to the provisions of NCAA Bylaw 19.5.2.2 (I), show cause why it should not be penalized if it does not prohibit the former head coach, for a period of one year from the date of the release of this report (May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007), from 1) making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls; and 2) engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. The prohibition on off-campus recruiting activities shall apply to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance including banquets, booster functions and exceptions provided by Bylaw 13.1.9. The present institution shall submit a report to the committee by August 1, 2006, in which it details the institution's monitoring of, and rules education sessions for, the former head coach and his staff. The report should also include documentation of the institution's compliance with all other penalties adopted and transferred to the present institution.

While the COI report did not specifically require a summary report at the end of our penalty period, our original adoption of penalties included this provision:

1. The director of compliance will meet, on a weekly basis, with the head coach or the director of men's basketball operations to review men's basketball recruitment activities and documentation for the previous and upcoming weeks. Furthermore, Indiana University will file a written report with the NCAA not later than August 31, 2007, detailing the implementation and fulfillment of the penalties which were transferred to Coach Kelvin Sampson upon his employment at Indiana University.

So, by the last sentence in L above, there appears to be another discrepancy as to whether we will need to file a second written report (this one to the NCAA) no later than August 31, 2007, since the original COI report asked for a report from IU to the COI by August 1, 2006. I will contact Shep Cooper for clarification.

Jeff,

Attached please find the rules education for April 20 – which reviewed the recruiting-person day rule. As it states, the 130 day limit on MBB applies to the time period that is IU's academic year. So, Coach Sampson may go and visit our NLI signees on or after May 25, 2007, without that making us go over our limit of 130 (since that is where we ended).

Thanks for having us check on that for you,

Jennifer

DOBO meeting Supplement – (04.20.07)

Counting Recruiting-Person Days Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment - Men's Basketball (I)

Date Issued: Mar 28, 2007

Type: Official

Item Ref: 2

Interpretation:

The committee determined that, in men's basketball, off-campus recruiting activities involving a prospective student-athlete who has signed a National Letter of Intent (or signed acceptance of the institution's written offer of admission and/or financial aid) must count toward the institution's recruiting-person days limit.

[References: Bylaws 13.02.7 (recruiting-person days - men's basketball) and 13.1.6.8 (contacts subsequent to National Letter of Intent signing or other written commitment sports other than women's basketball)]

A review of the reminders sent out via email by Ian last Friday since we are still getting questions on this issue:

First, it is permissible for a coach to have off-campus contact with a signed prospect during a quiet period. This assumes that there isn't some other rule standing in the way of the contact (e.g., prospect is participating in competition at the time of the contact). 13.1.6.8 – you may still only visit their school ONCE per week, and no contact DURING a tournament in which they are playing. Contact with signed prospects during the July Dead Period is only OK if they are enrolled in summer school here.

With respect to recruiting person days, ERIC – the NCAA's interpretive body – just issued the interpretation below, which should be appearing on ESPDB soon. The interpretation indicates that off-campus recruiting activities with signed prospects count within the limit of 130 person days per academic year. NCAA Membership Services has indicated that the 130 person days are based on the institution's academic year rather than the prospect's academic year. Outside of the institution's academic year, recruiting activities do not need to count within the 130 recruiting person days even if the prospect's academic year is ongoing. This is different from the prospect-specific limits on evaluations, which is based on the prospect's academic year per the 10/31/98-SI. To me, the last two sentences are a little contradictory and confusing, but the bottom line seems to be that come May 4th (the end of IU's academic year), your recruiting activities do not need to count towards the 130 (which reset on August 1).

Also, contacts with signees that are made during a quiet period during the institution's academic year count against the 130 person days (even though 13.1.8.8-[a] only refers to contact and evaluation periods).

So, Coach Sampson MAY go to see the families of the signed players after May 25th, and as IU is out of regular school at that time, those contacts need not be counted towards the 130 (though still should be recorded with Beth).

If, between now and May 4th, anytime anyone else goes to one of their schools (Eli's or EJ's, etc.) OR visits with their families, it can only be once a week and HAS to count within the 130 days.

Subject: Men's Basketball Staff Meeting

Minutes of Thursday, October 24, 2007, Men's Basketball Staff Meeting:

Those in attendance: Kelvin Sampson, Ray McCallum, Jeff Meyer, Rob Senderoff, Dan Dakich, BJ McElroy

This meeting was conducted to give explicit instructions to the men's basketball staff on new guidelines Coach Sampson wants adhered to on maintaining and providing accurate telephone records, for the IU Athletic Compliance Staff, effectively immediately until November 30, 2008.

Coach Sampson emphasized the necessity for our staff to police ourselves and that we must be pro-active. Our goal is that day-by-day, month-by-month, year-by-year to be 100% correct. He does not want to repeat mistakes made by the staff this year! He does not want to look at a rule to make it work to our advantage. Let's play the rules of the game right!

Coach Sampson wants all coaches to submit both their home, and cell phone records, for the months of July, August, September, and October no later than November 1, 2007, to Dan Dakich. These, in turn, will be submitted to Ian Rickerby, in Compliance. Once these records have been submitted to Ian, Coach Sampson requests a confirming email, from Ian, that he has received everyone's records dating back to July, 2007. In addition, Coach Sampson requests that Ian email him the first of every month once he has received the records from Dan.

As of today's date, each coach will be supplied with Daily Phone Log Forms of which they will be required to submit each day, no later than 8:30 a.m., to Dan Dakich. Dan, in turn, will give these logs to Beth McLaughlin for her to input into the recruiting database (The Recruiter). Once daily phone logs are collected for the week, Dan will submit them to Ian the following Monday morning for the previous week's calls.

Dan Dakich brought up a point that the staff not depend on their memory in order to keep their call logs. They will each have a daily log record and should keep it by their phones at all times, at home, in office, or on the road. If they find themselves out and do not have a log to record a call, call their voicemail on their office phone and leave themselves a message on the information on the call they initiated. Upon returning to the office, they can then retrieve this information from their voice mail and add it to their daily phone log. Each coach is personally responsible for their calls.

Starting on December 1, 2007, each coach will be responsible for submitting copies of their cell and home statements, to Dan Dakich, on a monthly basis.

Coach Sampson indicated he will continue to use his home phone for incoming calls and his cell for outgoing. He said the staff can continue using the phones they have used in the past but whenever a phone is used, home or cell, it must be documented, no exceptions!

There is no need to report incoming calls, only calls placed.

Dan also told the staff, if for some reason an error is made, record it on your sheet, do not omit this entry. This is how we are self policing ourselves.

Coach Sampson made it a point of emphasis that even on calls that do not count, record them.

It was noted that Rob Senderoff voluntarily submitted his phone records to Ian through the month of August. Coach Sampson, Ray McCallum, and Jeff Meyer need to submit theirs by November 1, 2007.

A question was brought up concerning the monthly sheets that compliance asked the coaches to sign, the first of each month, from May, 2006 to May 2007 stating which phones, in their possession, they had used to make calls for the month. It hasn't been made clear if these forms are still to be submitted.

Ray McCallum's phone records, relative to his son's basketball teammates, were brought up. Again, Ray was instructed to be pro-active with this, recording these calls and the nature of them so there is never any question as to their intent.

Coach Sampson was emphatic that we keep a well documented paper trail. He wants everyone to recognize that we, as a staff, are doing everything possible to insure these problems never arise again.

Whenever the staff meets, notes of the meeting will be taken and emailed to the following individuals: President McRobbie, Rick Greenspan, Grace Calhoun, Jennifer Brinegar, Tim Fitzpatrick, Ian Rickerby, Dottie Frapwell and Mike Sample.

Tim,

Would you let me know when would be a good time for me to meet with Coach Sampson to briefly review our compliance philosophy, policies and procedures? This should take approximately 30 minutes and is standard with all new coaching hires (both head and assistant).

Then, when his staff is set, my staff needs to meet with the complete MBB staff to more thoroughly (yet still as brief as possible) review the same (see attached agenda from our last meeting). This meeting usually lasts approximately 60 minutes, but can be more or less depending on how many questions are asked).

If possible, could you also brief me on what has been said to Coach Sampson about IU's compliance policies/philosophy? I would just like to be consistent with the message we send to our coaches.

- 1) The NJCAA Coaches Association junior-college all-star event at Kilgore College (Kilgore, TX on April 22nd) has been approved by the NJCAA. Consequently, coaches may attend this event.
- 2) There's been some chatter about the All Canada Basketball Weekend at Centennial College (Scarborough, Ontario on April 30th). While the event has been sanctioned by Canada Basketball (comparable to USA Basketball), coaches may not attend this event as Canada Basketball—since it isn't a scholastic entity—doesn't have the authority to "approve/sanction/etc." the event for the purpose of 13.1.8.8. That authority would rest with the Ontario Federation of School Athletic Associations (<http://www.ofsaa.on.ca/site/index.cfm?DSP=Chapter&ID=24>), which to date, has not sanctioned the event. I'll let you know if I hear something different about this event, but for now, it remains off-limits.

Subject: Questions of the Week

All three questions of the week deal with recently issued (or recently referenced) NCAA interpretations – please read all the way through! I will keep next week's QOTW short and sweet!

Question #1 (of 2): Is it okay for a coach to receive expenses (e.g., travel, lodging) during a recruiting trip from someone (or some organization) outside the athletics department?

Answer #1: Not according to a recent interp! "[P]ursuant to NCAA Bylaw 13.14.1, all funds for the recruitment of prospective student-athletes shall be deposited directly with the member institution, which shall be exclusively and entirely responsible for the manner in which such funds are expended. Therefore, institutions should note that it is not permissible for any outside organization or individual (e.g., recruiting or scouting service, event operator) to provide institutional coaching staff members with expenses (e.g., travel, lodging) to attend any event for recruiting purposes. Such expenses are considered funds donated for recruiting purposes and NCAA rules require that such funds be deposited directly with the member institution, as opposed to being provided directly to an institutional coaching staff member(s)." [NCAA Educational Column 03/17/06 – emphasis added]

Question #2: I keep getting bombarded with requests for balls, apparel or other items from high schools and clubs that are fundraising for their programs. What, if anything, can I donate?

Answer #2: Bylaw 13.15 is fairly specific in that we can't be involved in fundraising for high schools or other organizations consisting primarily of prospects (although, like every other rule, there are exceptions).

Anyway, the NCAA recently issued this Educational Column regarding donations:

Institutions should note that pursuant to NCAA Division I Bylaw 13.15.1, an institution or a representative of its athletics interests shall not offer, provide or arrange financial assistance, directly or indirectly, to pay (in whole or in part) the costs of a prospective student-athlete's educational or other expenses for any period prior to his or her enrollment or so the prospect can obtain a postgraduate education. This prohibition applies to all prospects, including those who have signed a National Letter of Intent or an institutional offer of admission or financial aid. An institution may not provide funding, directly or through paid advertisements, to benefit a high school athletics program.

It is not permissible for an institution's athletics department, in response to requests from high school (or preparatory school or two-year college) groups, to provide items (e.g., autographed balls, jerseys) to assist in raising money for its programs (athletics or other). If another department of the institution is asked to provide donations to benefit prospects, such activity is permissible only if the donations are not earmarked specifically for an athletics purpose or used only to provide benefits to prospects' athletics programs. An institution may not donate institutional memorabilia (e.g., jerseys, hats, T-shirts) to any organization for the purpose of being auctioned to raise funds to provide financial assistance to high school students to attend collegiate institutions.

An institution (or an institution's coach or representative of its athletics interests) may contribute to a nonathletics organization that includes prospective student-athletes and nonprospects (e.g., YMCA, YWCA, Boys and Girls Clubs), provided the assistance is not earmarked for a particular prospective student-athlete and is offered in conjunction with the organization's regular fund-raising activities.

An institution's athletics department staff member (e.g., coaching staff member) may not provide any financial contributions to a high school (or preparatory school or two-year college) athletics program through participation in a fund-raising event (e.g., paying greens fees to participate in a golf outing when any portion of the greens fees will go to benefit an athletics program). Bylaw 13.15.1 also prohibits an institution from sponsoring a table, providing memorabilia or otherwise providing institutional support in conjunction with a banquet or other function that will directly or indirectly benefit prospective student-athletes (e.g., awards banquet conducted by a sports foundation, high school athletics banquet). Therefore, if a sports foundation provides benefits to prospects (e.g., scholarships, donations to high school athletics programs), it would not be permissible for an institution to provide memorabilia or sponsor a table at any of the foundation's functions. Any type of institutional support in conjunction with such functions would, at a minimum, indirectly benefit prospective student-athletes.

Subject to applicable recruiting calendar restrictions, athletics department staff members are not precluded from individually purchasing admission to attend events (e.g., athletics banquets or meetings, competitions) where funds from the admission fee ultimately will benefit prospects, provided the primary purpose of the event is not to raise funds for prospects. In addition, an institution's coach may participate in activities to raise funds to be donated to a foundation that will distribute the funds to high school (or preparatory school or two-year college) athletics programs, provided the request to participate in such activities is initiated by the foundation, the coach does not make actual financial contributions to the foundation, and the coach or coach's institution is not involved in selecting the educational institutions that are to receive the financial assistance. [NCAA EC 04/11/06].

Question #3: Is it permissible to provide IU student-athletes with energy or calorie-replacement drinks if we get them free from the manufacturer?

Answer #3: The answer depends on whether the drinks meet the definition of a permissible nutritional supplement as set out in the Educational Column from May 2005 (see below - it is long, but a must-read for coaches, strength coaches, trainers and sport administrators). No one from IU should provide ANY nutritional supplement to an IU student-athlete without first receiving permission from the respective sport administrator AND trainer.

NCAA Division I Educational Column - NCAA Bylaw 16.5.2-(g) - Nutritional Supplements

NCAA Division I institutions should note that NCAA Bylaw 16.5.2-(g) (nutritional supplements) indicates that an institution may provide only nonmuscle-building nutritional supplements to a student-athlete at any time for the purpose of providing additional calories and electrolytes, provided the supplements do not contain any NCAA banned substances. Permissible nonmuscle-building nutritional supplements are identified according to the following classes: Carbohydrate/electrolyte drinks, energy bars, carbohydrate boosters and vitamins and minerals. Pursuant to a July 26, 2000, official interpretation, it is not permissible for an institution to provide any nutritional supplement/ingredients to its student-athletes, unless the supplement/ingredient is a nonmuscle-building supplement and is included in one of the four classes identified specifically in Bylaw 16.5.2-(g). The following information is an updated list of examples of permissible and nonpermissible nutritional supplements/ingredients as developed by the NCAA Competitive Safeguards and Medical Aspects of Sports Committee (CSMAS). The list below is not exhaustive but should assist institutions in determining the types of nutritional supplements/ingredients that may be provided to student-athletes.

Permissible

Nonpermissible

Vitamins and minerals	Amino Acids (including amino acid chelates)
Energy bars	Chondroitin*
Calorie replacement drinks (e.g., Ensure, Boost)	Chrysin
Electrolyte replacement drinks (e.g., Gatorade, Powerade)	CLA (Conjugated Linoleic Acid)
	Creatine/creatine-containing compounds
	Garcinia Cambogia (Hydroxycitric Acid)
	Ginkgo Biloba
	Ginseng
	Glucosamine*
	Glycerol **
	Green Tea
	HMB Carnitine
	Melatonin
	MSM (Methylsulfonyl Methane)
	Protein powders

Tribulus Yohimbe

It is permissible for an institution to provide Glucosamine and/or Chondroitin to a student-athlete for medical purposes, provided such substances are provided by a licensed medical doctor to treat a specific, diagnosed medical condition (as opposed to prescribing them for preventive reasons).

 Glycerine or glycerol as a binding ingredient in a supplement product is permissible.

A supplement that contains protein may be classified as a nonmuscle-building supplement provided it is included in one of the four permissible categories, does not contain more than 30 percent of its calories from protein (based solely on the package label) and does not contain additional ingredients that are designed to assist in the muscle-building process (see examples of nonpermissible supplements/ingredients). Nutritional supplements containing more than 30 percent of its calories from protein are classified as muscle-building supplements and may not be provided to student-athletes.

One gram of protein equals four calories. Therefore, the percentage of calories from protein contained in a nutritional supplement may be calculated by multiplying the number of grams of protein per serving by four and dividing the product by the total number of calories per serving. For example, a nutritional supplement that contains 120 total calories per serving and nine grams of protein per serving would contain 36 calories from protein (i.e., 9 grams x 4). Therefore, the percentage of calories from protein would be 0.3 or 30 percent (i.e., 36 calories from protein/120 total calories).

Institutions should note that if a supplement product includes any impermissible ingredient, it is not permissible to provide such a supplement to student-athletes. Further, when considering the product's protein content, institutions should consider the listing of the word "protein" and the number of grams included. If any other parts of a protein are listed separately, as in any amino acid or chain, it would not be permissible for an institution to provide such a supplement to its student-athletes. If the product lists a "proprietary protein" or "protein blend," then this is not protein from a whole food source, but rather a concoction created by the manufacturer, and in most instances includes impermissible supplement ingredients.

Finally, in order to assist the membership in applying the legislation, the following steps are recommended.

In considering whether a supplement product is permissible under the legislation, a member institution should:

- Review the label and ingredients to determine if the product meets one of the permissible classes of supplements (e.g., carbohydrate/electrolyte drinks, energy bars, carbohydrate boosters and vitamins and minerals);
- Review the ingredients for any banned substances (see www.ncaa.org/health-safety);
- Determine whether or not the product contains any of the examples of "impermissible" ingredients referenced earlier; and

- Determine if the product contains more than 30 percent calories from protein.

still unsure whether or not a particular supplement is permissible, the institution should contact NCAA membership services for interpretive assistance and should provide full written product ingredient information. Membership services will act in concert with sports medicine consultants to provide a review of the product and response back to the member institution. Products deemed permissible should be reviewed annually to determine if any reformulation of the product has introduced elements that make it no longer permissible to provide to student-athletes. If an institution has an interest in providing a supplement product being offered by a manufacturer or distributor of the product, it is the institution's responsibility to follow the outlined steps. An institution should not refer the manufacturer or distributor to the NCAA for a product review. [NCAA EC 05/23/06]

Thanks for hanging in there! The answer to last week's QOTW was "d" – For sports other than football, [the time period for unlimited calls under the Letter-of-Intent Signing-Date Exception] starts on the first day (Wednesday) and during the two days immediately following the initial signing date (Thursday and Friday). For football, unlimited calls are permissible during the period 48 hours before and 48 hours after 7 a.m. on the initial signing date for the NLI (Monday at 7 a.m. until Friday 7:00 a.m.). Thanks to those of you who responded – I think all those who did respond got it right!

Subject: Meeting Reminder, Question of the Week and a follow up to last week's QOTW

Don't forget that next Tuesday is the May Compliance Meeting (10-11 in the Hoosier Room), where we plan to have a review session for the 2006-07 NCAA Coaches Certification Exam (and perhaps a short quiz/contest, if time permits!). We will NOT be conducting individual review sessions, so plan on attending this meeting!!

Question: Is it permissible for a coach to have face-to-face contact with a prospect or his/her parents at either a banquet/meeting at which the coach is speaking (per Bylaw 13.1.9) or at a "college night" the coach is attending with IU Admissions personnel?

Answer: Depends - Per Bylaw 13.02.3, any face-to-face encounter between a prospect or the prospect's parents, relatives, or legal guardian(s) and an institutional staff member or athletics representative in excess of an exchange of a greeting is considered a contact. Further, pursuant to Bylaw 13.1.1.1, in-person, off-campus recruiting contact may only be made with contactable prospects (i.e., July 1 following junior year of high school). Therefore, institutional coaches may only have contact with prospects at activities conducted by admissions offices or other institutional entities (e.g., college night events, team banquets) if the prospect is defined as a contactable prospect. It should be noted that pursuant to Bylaw 13.02.4.1, for sports with legislated recruiting periods, contact may only be made with contactable prospects during a specified contact period. Per Bylaw 13.1.2.2, it remains permissible for institutions' regular admissions program representatives to make off-campus recruiting contacts with prospects provided the contact is directed at all prospective students, including nonathletes.

Here is a follow up to one of last week's questions because it generated quite a bit of discussion.

Question #1 (of 2): Is it okay for a coach to receive expenses (e.g., travel, lodging) during a recruiting trip from someone (or some organization) outside the athletics department?

Answer #1: Not according to a recent interp! "[P]ursuant to NCAA Bylaw 13.14.1, all funds for the recruitment of prospective student-athletes shall be deposited directly with the member institution, which shall be exclusively and entirely responsible for the manner in which such funds are expended. Therefore, institutions should note that it is not permissible for any outside organization or individual (e.g., recruiting or scouting service, event operator) to provide institutional coaching staff members with expenses (e.g., travel, lodging) to attend any event for recruiting purposes. Such expenses are considered funds donated for recruiting purposes and NCAA rules require that such funds be deposited directly with the member institution, as opposed to being provided directly to an institutional coaching staff member(s)." [NCAA Educational Column 03/17/06 - emphasis added]

The idea behind 13.14.1 and the 03/17/06 educational column is that the institution should maintain control over the recruiting process and should not let outside parties that are involved in the recruiting process (e.g., prospects, parents of prospects, high school coaches, AAU event organizers) use money to influence that process.

That doesn't mean that an institution is required to self-report every time a coach stays at a friend's house during a recruiting trip or gets a ride from a friend to attend a prospect's competition. The institution should approve of the arrangement and an individual providing such assistance will trigger booster status (see below), but there is no 13.14.1 concern.

On the other hand, the educational column explains that it is not permissible for an event organizer financing/subsidizing the cost of a block of hotel rooms for the purpose of enticing college coaches to come watch an event. If the event organizer is spending funds from the event budget for the purpose of providing travel expenses to attending college coaches, then that organizer is dictating - or at least influencing - the recruiting process by enticing coaches to come to his/her event rather than another event that is not offering a similar incentive.

This is the type of regulation that should be interpreted with a degree of common sense based on the specific situation and the intent of the legislation. An event organizer cannot spend money to pay/subsidize the cost of a recruiting coach's hotel room, but that doesn't mean it's a problem if the event organizer calls a local hotel, inquires about the availability of a discounted group rate, and then provides information about that rate to attending coaches. Similarly, I don't see a problem with the event organizer providing reasonable hospitality at the event.

Similarly, the parent of a prospect cannot fly a coach to watch the prospect play (see the 3/22/89 SI below), but we've said that a coach can eat a meal in a prospect's home during a recruiting contact. The lodging piece is in the middle of the continuum between the PSA's parent financing the entire trip (not permissible) and the coach eating home-cooked beef stew at the prospect's house (permissible). The Big Ten is uncomfortable with a blanket statement authorizing coaches to receive lodging from parents of prospects, and even more uncomfortable if such lodging is offered by a PSA's parent as an incentive. So, as in the past, continue to run all offers of lodging by the compliance office, so that we can ensure institutional control over all recruiting activities and expenditures.

Institution's coach traveling with friends to view prospect's competition

Date Issued: Dec 09, 1992

Type: Staff Interpretation

Item Ref: e

Interpretation:

e. Institution's Coach Traveling with Friends to View Prospect's Competition: A friend of an institution's coach may provide transportation (e.g., ride in car) to the coach in conjunction with the coach's recruiting trip to observe a prospect's contest, provided the institution has authorized such activity. The staff confirmed that such an individual would be considered an athletics representative and, therefore, may not attend the contest. Booster providing services for coaches on recruiting trips

Date Issued: Dec 30, 1988

Type: Staff Interpretation

Item Ref: a

Interpretation:

a. Booster Providing Services for Coaches on Recruiting Trips: Determined that the provisions of Bylaw 1-5-(c) [outside organizations, groups or individuals shall not utilize, administer or expend funds for recruiting prospective student-athletes] would not preclude a booster from providing free services (e.g., lodging accommodations, use of car) to a member institution's coach on a recruiting trip, provided the institution has knowledge and approves of such arrangements; further, it would be permissible for the coach to entertain (e.g., dinner) the booster in exchange for these services, provided such expenses are properly documented and approved.

Use of recruiting funds

Date Issued: Mar 22, 1989

Type: Staff Interpretation

Item Ref: e

Interpretation:

Confirmed that a parent of a prospective student-athlete could not provide an airline ticket to a member institution's coach for purposes of traveling to scout the parents' son or daughter, inasmuch as Bylaw 13.14.1 (institutional control of recruiting funds) stipulates that all funds for the recruiting of prospects shall be deposited with the member institution, which shall be exclusively and entirely responsible for the manner in which the funds are expended.

Coach,

Please be certain that neither contact nor evaluations take place at this event even though the event is on campus as we are in a quiet period from May 12-14. The event organizer must pay the rental fee which is done through Chuck – and no collegiate (Division I, at least) coaches may be in attendance. Any contact would be impermissible and would need to be reported as a violation. Additionally please see the attached for your information.

Thanks to Greg Walter for the assistance in pulling the legislation together for this correspondence and thanks to you for your attention to this matter. Please do not hesitate with any questions or concerns.

13.11:3.3 Activities Not Involving Institution's Staff

The use of a member institution's facilities for physical activities by a group that includes prospects shall not be considered a tryout, provided the institution's athletics department staff members or representatives of its athletics interests are not involved in the conduct, promotion or administration of the activity (other than activities incidental to supervising the use of the facilities) and are subject to all applicable NCAA recruiting legislation.

3.4.4.1 Recruiting Advertisements

The publication of advertising or promotional material, by or on behalf of a member institution, designed to solicit the enrollment of a prospective student-athlete is not permitted, except as provided in Bylaw 13.4.4.1.1. Accordingly, a member institution may not buy or arrange to have space in game programs or other printed materials published to provide information concerning the athletics participation or evaluation of prospects (e.g., recruiting publications) for any purpose whatsoever, including advertisements, a listing of prospective or enrolled student-athletes who will attend the institution and informative materials related to the institution. Violations of this bylaw shall be considered institutional violations per Constitution 2.8.1; however, they shall not affect the prospective student-athlete's eligibility. See below – the answer is exactly what we read (no exceptions or interpretations on this particular issue, so far). You may have contact with an AAU coach this weekend, but just remember that you may not have any contact (even incidental contact if you've put yourself in a position where the incidental contact is inevitable) with any prospect competing in the tournament on the days the tournament is being run. So, you could invite the coach (but tell him not to bring any prospects or parents with him) to come up to your office or you could call the AAU coach on the phone.

I have two hopefully relatively easy questions:

1. Can a member of our MBB coaching staff have contact (face-to-face &/or via telephone) with an AAU coach while they are here in town this weekend for the adidas tournament (obviously not during the time they are coaching their team, but what if they drop by the basketball office or a coach sees them in town)?

Bylaw 13.1.6.8 governs contacts after a prospect has signed a National Letter of Intent. Since [REDACTED] is one of our NLI signees, then Ray (or any other IU MBB coach) could visit him at his house (NOT at his JC/educational institution), as long as it wasn't during a dead period or on a day he was competing or involved in a multi-day tournament. See below.

13.1.6.8 Contacts Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment -- Sports Other Than Women's Basketball

In sports other than women's basketball, subsequent to the calendar day on which a prospective student-athlete signs a National Letter of Intent, there shall be no limit on the number of contacts by the institution with which the prospective student-athlete has signed. For an institution not utilizing the National Letter of Intent in a particular sport, there shall be no limit on the number of contacts with the prospective student-athlete, the prospective student-athlete's relatives or legal guardian(s) by that institution subsequent to the calendar day of the prospective student-athlete's signed acceptance of the institution's written offer of admission and/or financial aid. However, the following conditions continue to apply. (Revised: 1/16/93, 1/11/94, 4/28/05 effective 8/1/05, 4/27/06)

- (a) Any contact at the prospective student-athlete's educational institution in football and men's basketball shall be confined to the permissible contact period and shall not exceed one visit per week;
- (b) No in-person, on- or off-campus contact may be made during a "dead period;" (Revised: 1/10/92)
- (c) No on- or off-campus contact (including correspondence and telephone calls) may be made by a representative of the institution's athletics interests except those involving permissible pre-enrollment activities (e.g., a discussion of summer employment arrangements); and
- (d) Contact at the site of a prospective student-athlete's competition shall continue to be governed by the provisions of Bylaw 13.1.7.2. Note: contact with the prospective student-athlete's relatives or legal guardians at the site of the prospective student-athlete's competition shall be permitted. (Revised: 1/10/92)

Ray would like to go see [REDACTED] about his academics and he said that he did not think he was allowed to do it because it is not a contact period. I do know that NC State was with Larry Davis in his home last night and has gone to see him twice since he was given his conditional release. Larry visited IU last week which is how I know this information. I don't see there being a difference between NC State going to see a signed recruit and us going to see [REDACTED]. Could you please check into whether or not Ray could go see [REDACTED], because we really need to make sure that he is doing everything that he needs to do academically. Ray was hoping to go down there on Thursday. Thanks for your help.

Answer: Pursuant to NCAA Division I Bylaw 12.2.1.2 (tryout after enrollment), it is not permissible for an enrolled (full-time) student-athlete with remaining eligibility to participate in a professional tryout (or permit a professional athletics team to conduct medical examinations) during the academic year, regardless of the location of the tryout. As set forth in NCAA Division I Bylaw 12.2.1.4 (professional team representative at college practice), a professional representative can evaluate an enrolled student-athlete participating in an institution's regular practice session, a physical education class, or out-of-season conditioning or skill instruction workouts during the academic year, provided the activities observed are a normal part of, and take place during, a regular practice session, class or conditioning session.

It is permissible for a professional team to conduct a tryout with an enrolled student-athlete on the institution's campus during the summer vacation period, provided the student-athlete does not receive any expenses (e.g., travel, room or board) in conjunction with the tryout. In addition, it would be permissible for the institution to reserve a facility for the student-athlete to participate in the summer tryout; however, NCAA Bylaw 17 restrictions would prohibit coaching staff members from being present at such tryout sessions. It would be permissible for a student-athlete's family members to be present during the tryout as well as other individuals associated with the student-athlete, as long as those individuals are not agents or acting on behalf of agents. [NCAA Ed. Col. 05-11-06]

Furthermore, a student-athlete may try out with a professional organization in a sport in the summer or during the academic year while not a full-time student, provided the student-athlete does not receive any form of expenses or other compensation from the professional organization. A student-athlete using the pre-draft basketball camp exception set forth in Bylaw 12.2.4.2.1 may participate in a pre-draft camp sponsored by a professional sports organization (during the summer or academic year), provided the student-athlete has received written permission from the institution's director of athletics. If written permission is received, a basketball student-athlete may accept actual and necessary travel, and room and board expenses from a professional sports organization to attend that organization's pre-draft basketball camp.

Finally, a single scouting bureau recognized by a professional league is permitted to conduct one medical examination per student-athlete during the academic year without jeopardizing the student-athlete's eligibility in that sport, provided the examination does not occur off campus. [12.1.1.4.9, 12.2.1.2, 12.2.1.2.1, 14.7.3.2-(e), and 16.10.1.9]

Next week we are having our last monthly compliance meeting for the 05-06 year: June Compliance Meeting on Tuesday, June 6 from 9-10:00 a.m. Now that training table is over for the summer, I would like to start this meeting at 9:00 a.m., unless there is an overwhelming desire to keep it at 10 (I would like to attend my son's "graduation" ceremony at Binford even though I oppose this concept for anything less than HS graduation). For the first part of the meeting, we will go over new legislation as well as a few compliance office reminders (approximately 30-45 minutes). Football and basketball may leave prior to the start of the remainder of the session, which will cover rules education regarding local sports clubs (approximately 10-15 minutes). Remember, all coaches are expected to attend the monthly compliance meetings – if you are on the road recruiting, in camp, teaching, or on vacation, please try to have at least one member from your coaching/administrative staff present to receive the information. We will also send out a memo to all those who don't attend. Coaches are responsible for knowing and abiding by all NCAA and Big Ten rules – these monthly meetings serve to assist you in your efforts!

To whom it may concern:

Please be advised that Birmingham-Southern College has decided to reclassify its athletic program from NCAA Division I to NCAA Division III. As such, our student-athletes have immediate permission to speak with other institutions about transferring. Also, because of the reclassification, student-athletes' are immediately eligible (14.5.5.2.6 Discontinued/Nonsponsored Sport Exception).

If you have any additional questions, please feel free to contact me via email at lclaybro@bsc.edu or via telephone at 205-226-7732.

Jerry,

Sorry for the delay. I opened up my emails from today and yesterday top to bottom, which unfortunately meant the first ones sent were the last I opened.

I have not heard back from the committee on infractions (COI) regarding our laundry list of clarifications submitted May 31st.

The COI report was pretty straightforward and indicated that Coach Sampson needed to err on the side of caution as any actions that violate the restrictions would be at his own risk. I believe it is prudent for Coach Sampson to be very conservative in his approach to responding to requests for speaking engagements. Until we are otherwise notified, if there is any chance a prospect could be present, he should not attend a speaking engagement. At this point, if we push too hard and end up crossing the line, we open ourselves up to additional criticism and comment regarding the Oklahoma major infractions case (as well as potentially having the COI extend the penalty and probation period).

Our stance has been and should continue to be that we are taking the high road, accepting responsibility for our past actions, and going forward we will comply with all NCAA and Big Ten rules. No excuses. Eventually, this should go away unless we happen to have secondary violations, including any involving the restrictions set forth in the COI, which could potentially set off another explosion that none of us want to deal with.

Please know that the compliance office is only trying to protect Coach Sampson, the IU MBB program and the institution. We did not assess the penalties, but it is our responsibility to ensure compliance with the penalties and all other NCAA rules.

As soon as I hear back from the COI, I will definitely forward the information on to Coach Sampson, Rick, you, the MBB staff, and Christian, so that we are all operating on the same page.

Have a great weekend and don't hesitate to call me or Christian on our cell phones at any time should you have an urgent question.

Take care,

Question: During the summer, Halle Berry, a member of the women's basketball coaching staff at Hollywood U. always works out in the weightroom from 12:00 - 1:00 p.m. Is it permissible for Coach Berry to remain in the weightroom if a student-athlete from that team comes to the weightroom to participate in a non-mandatory workout at 12:30 p.m.?

Answer: No, it is not permissible. Countable coaches may not be in the weight room with/while SAs are working out. Their presence alone would deem the activity to be countable (we are not allowed to require countable athletically related activities in the summer). Per an email we just received from the Big Ten, the same thing goes with pick-up games—countable coaches may not be there – for ANY reason.

This also applies to camps – if your student-athletes play a pick up game that the campers attend and watch, then coaches should not be present (also, if it is scheduled for the campers to attend, it would then be an impermissible “arranged” practice for your student-athletes as opposed to a nonmandatory pickup game).

Reminder Regarding Off-Campus Contact with Coaches of PSAs During Quiet Period – It is not permissible to engage in off-campus recruiting activities during a quiet period. Consequently, if a coach (of a sport in a quiet period) happens to have contact with the coach of a PSA (e.g., H.S., J.C., or AAU coach), it must be for a legitimate reason unrelated to recruiting (e.g., speaking at a coaches clinic). In the event that off-campus contact does occur, it would not be permissible for the coach to engage in any dialogue related to any PSA(s), as such would be an evaluation per 13.02.6 and thus impermissible.

FYI – the above information was distributed to all Big Ten compliance coordinators in a friendly email reminder yesterday.

Coach,

Bylaw 11.7.1.1.1 speaks specifically to your question. Please see the attached on page 60 of your 2005-2006 NCAA Manual. The specifics for staff not counted in the limitations of Bylaw 11.7 (director of basketball operations, video coordinator, and administrative assistant) are as follows:

1. They may not be identified as coaches.
2. They may not engage in any coaching activities. (Attending meetings involving coaching activities, analyzing videotape or film of IU or opponent teams)
3. They may not be involved in any way in the recruiting process.
4. They may be involved in any way with the scouting of opponents.
5. They may participate with or watch student-athletes who are participating in nonorganized or voluntary athletically related activities. (Pick up games)

11.7.1.1.1 Noncoaching Activities Effective Date: Aug 01, 2006

Institutional staff members involved in noncoaching activities (e.g., administrative assistants, academic counselors) do not count in the institution's coaching limitations, provided such individuals are not identified as coaches, do not engage in any on- or off-field coaching activities (e.g., attending meetings involving coaching activities, analyzing videotape or film involving the institution's or an opponent's team), and are not involved in any off-campus recruitment of prospective student-athletes or scouting of opponents. A noncoaching staff member with sport-specific responsibilities may not participate with or observe student-athletes in the staff member's sport who are engaged in nonorganized voluntary athletically related activities (e.g., pick-up games).

Jennifer Brinegar
Assistant Athletics Director - Compliance
Indiana University
812-855-0451

Thank you for attending the Kelvin Sampson Basketball Camp the week of June 11-15. Due to an administrative oversight, we forgot to include the NCAA-required educational session. Therefore, please review the following information from our compliance office and feel free to share it with your parents or legal guardian as it is important for you to know and understand the following NCAA rules.

Initial eligibility - All high-school athletes wishing to compete in college must register with the Initial-Eligibility Clearinghouse. Information about the Clearinghouse can be found in the Guide for the College-Bound Student-Athlete. The NCAA national office does not handle initial-eligibility certifications. Please do not contact the NCAA national office with inquiries regarding an individual's initial eligibility status, including whether transcripts, student release forms, etc., were received or about when you will be cleared. The Clearinghouse maintains and processes all of the initial-eligibility certifications. Beginning fall 2006, the NCAA Amateurism Certification Clearinghouse will be the processing center for determining the amateurism eligibility of domestic and international freshman and transfer prospective student-athletes for initial athletics participation at an NCAA Division I member institution.

For the class of 2007:

If you plan to enter college in 2007, you must have 14 core courses to be eligible to practice, play and receive financial aid at a Division I school.

For the class of 2008 and after:

If you plan to enter college in 2008 or after, you will need to present 16 core courses in the following breakdown:

- 4 years of English
- 3 years of mathematics (Algebra I or higher)
- 2 years of natural/physical science (one must be a lab science)
- 1 year of additional English, math or science
- 2 years of social studies
- 4 years of additional core courses (from any area listed above, or from foreign language, non-doctrinal religion or philosophy)

Computer science courses will no longer be able to be used for initial-eligibility purposes. This rule is effective August 1, 2005, for students first entering a collegiate institution on or after August 1, 2005. Computer science courses (such as programming) that are taught through the mathematics or natural/physical science departments and receive either math or science credit and are on the high school's list of approved core courses as math or science may be used after the August 1, 2005, date.

To be declared a qualifier by the initial eligibility clearinghouse, a student-athlete must have graduated from high school and received a minimum cumulative grade-point average as specified in Bylaw 14.3.1.1.1 (based on a maximum 4.000) in a successfully completed core curriculum of at least 14 (16 for 2008 grads) academic courses set forth above AND a minimum combined score on the SAT verbal and math sections or a minimum sum score on the ACT as specified in Bylaw 14.3.1.1.1. The required SAT or ACT score must be achieved under national testing conditions on a national testing date and must be reported by the testing agency to the NCAA Clearinghouse (student can designate on his test that his results be sent to the Clearinghouse by typing in "9999" under the section allowing a certain number of institutions to receive the results).

The NCAA uses a sliding scale to determine qualifier status, while there isn't enough room here to include the whole chart, here are some basic guidelines:

Core GPA	SAT (verbal and math)	Sum ACT
3.550 & above	400	37
3.000	620	52
2.500	820	68
2.000	1010	86

A 2.000 is the lowest GPA accepted by the Clearinghouse no matter how high your test score. Also, you must have at least a 400 on the SAT or a 37 sum on the ACT. If either your GPA and/or your test score are not on the sliding scale (or you have not graduated from high school), you will be declared a nonqualifier and will be ineligible to practice, compete or receive athletically-related financial aid during your first academic year in residence at a Division I institution.

Gambling – The NCAA opposes all forms of legal and illegal sports wagering on college sports.

- Sports wagering has become a serious problem that threatens the well-being of the student-athlete and the integrity of college sports.
- The explosive growth of gambling has caused a noticeable increase in the number of sports wagering-related cases processed by the Association.
- The Internet has made it easier than ever for student-athletes to place bets, providing easy access, virtual anonymity, and essentially no supervision.
- Student-athletes are viewed by organized crime and organized gambling as easy marks.
- When student-athletes gamble, they break the law and jeopardize their eligibility.
- When student-athletes become indebted to bookies and can't pay off their debts, alternative methods of payment are introduced that threaten the well-being of the student-athlete or undermine an athletic contest - such as point-shaving.

The NCAA membership has adopted specific rules prohibiting student-athletes, athletics department staff members, and conference office staff from engaging in sports wagering (Bylaw 10.3). Sports competition should be appreciated for the inherent benefits related to participation of student-athletes, coaches, and institutions in fair contests, not the amount of money wagered on the outcome of the competition. A student-athlete who is involved in sports wagering on the student-athlete's institution shall permanently lose all remaining regular-season and postseason eligibility in all sports. A student-athlete who is involved in any sports wagering activity that involves intercollegiate athletics or professional athletics, through a bookmaker, a parlay card or any other method employed by organized gambling, shall be ineligible for all regular-season and postseason competition for a minimum of one year.

The ban on gambling also includes participation in March Madness office, neighborhood, and dorm floor pools, fantasy leagues, and betting on any professional sport if it's a sport that the NCAA also sponsors (bowling, baseball, Superbowl, Wimbledon, World Cup, etc.), where there is an entry fee and a possible reward (risk + reward = violation).

Agents – The NCAA supports the Uniform Athlete Agents Act (UAAA) and its adoption in every state. There can be significant damage resulting from the impermissible and oftentimes illegal practices of some athlete agents. Violations of NCAA agent legislation impact the eligibility of student-athletes for further participation in NCAA competition. Violations also may result in harsh penalties on the team and the university (including the imposition of NCAA sanctions that have resulted in the repayment of monies received from NCAA championship competition, forfeiture of contests and other penalties). The UAAA is an important tool in regulating the activities of athlete agents and protecting NCAA student-athletes and member institutions. The NCAA's Web site (ncaa.org) is a great resource to learn all the applicable rules regarding agents and amateurism, but the bottom line is that you would jeopardize your collegiate eligibility if you entered into a written or verbal agreement with an agent to represent you either now or in the future. Further, you may not receive any extra benefit from an agent. So, while you can certainly talk to an agent or agency about what that person or company can do for you after your college eligibility has expired, do not let the agent/agency buy ANYTHING for you or a family member, not even a lunch at McDonald's or a cup of coffee at Starbuck's!

Banned Drugs/Drug Testing - The NCAA Drug-Testing Program was created to protect the health and safety of student-athletes and to ensure that no one participant might have an artificially induced advantage or be pressured to use chemical substances. The NCAA does assess penalties for positive drug tests. For example, the first time a student-athlete tests positive for any substance on the banned drug list, he or she is immediately ineligible for one calendar year and loses a year of eligibility. The NCAA holds the student-athlete responsible for knowing what is on the most current list of banned drugs. Failure to know the rules or what is on the list is no excuse.

For additional information concerning the NCAA's drug-testing program visit the National Center for Drug-Free Sport Web site (<http://www.drugfreesport.com/index.asp>).

Note: Nutritional supplements are not strictly regulated and may contain substances banned by the NCAA. For questions regarding nutritional supplements, contact the Dietary Supplement Resource Exchange Center (REC) at (<http://www.drugfreesport.com/rec/>).

This handout only touches on the rules regarding initial eligibility, gambling, agents and drugs. For further information, please refer to the NCAA Web site (ncaa.org). Thanks again for attending the Kelvin Sampson Basketball Camp and good luck in your athletic and academic preparations for college!

Subject: RE: July schedule

Coach,

According to your schedule, you are tentatively set up to visit Montverde Academy Open gym on July 11, 2006. According to Bylaw 13.1.8.8 a-4, [Summer Evaluation Period. During the summer evaluation period, a member of an institution's basketball coaching staff may attend noninstitutional nonorganized events (e.g., pick-up games), institutional basketball camps per Bylaw 13.12.1.1 and noninstitutional organized events (e.g., camps, leagues, tournaments and festivals) that are certified per Bylaw 30.16] you may attend this if it is truly an open gym but know that Montverde must satisfy the criteria below.

1. Montverde cannot set up this "open gym" just for the sole purpose of allowing coaches to attend and watch his players on this singular occasion. This would constitute an impermissible tryout as the "open gym" must be a regularly scheduled scholastic activity. Please see the underlined segment of the interpretation for a clarification as to what the NCAA deems to be regularly scheduled.

NCAA Division I Hot Topic No. 10 -- Division I Men's Basketball - Evaluations- Regular Scholastic Activity

Date Issued: Sep 02, 2005 Type: Ed. Column Item Ref: 1

Interpretation: In Division I men's basketball, during the fall contact period, live evaluations shall be limited to regularly scheduled high-school, preparatory and two-year college contests/tournaments, practices and regular scholastic activities involving prospective student-athletes only at that institution. During the April contact period, live evaluations are limited to events approved by the appropriate state or national scholastic athletics organizations and the observation of regularly scheduled high-school, preparatory and two-year college contests/tournaments, practices and regular scholastic activities involving prospective student-athletes only at that institution. During the fall contact period, evaluations do not have to occur in conjunction with a contact. During the April contact period, evaluations at a prospect's educational institution [other than observing a nonscholastic event approved by the appropriate state or national scholastic athletics organization] may be made only in conjunction with a contact. For purposes of applying the legislation, a regular scholastic activity is any activity involving only students enrolled at that high-school, preparatory school or two-year college that has been approved by the appropriate authority at that scholastic institution. An activity that is organized for the purpose of allowing a college coach or a college coaches to observe prospects demonstrating their athletics skills is not considered a regular scholastic activity, but would constitute an impermissible tryout.

EXAMPLES

During the fall or April contact period, it is permissible for a Division I men's basketball coach to visit a high-school, preparatory school or two-year college to observe prospects participating in a regularly scheduled physical education class occurring during the regular academic day involving students from that high school.

During the fall or April contact period, it is permissible for a Division I coach to observe prospects from that high-school, preparatory school or two-year college participating in an athletics related activity outside the regular academic day, provided the activity has been approved by the appropriate high school authority. Thus, if the high school basketball team regularly plays pick up games from 3-5 pm three times a week in their gym and the use of the gym has been approved by the appropriate high school authority, such an activity would be considered a regular scholastic activity. Such activity may not involve individuals other than students who attend that school.

2006 Hot Topic #2 -- Men's and Women's Basketball Recruiting Calendars -- Evaluations at Regular Scholastic Activities -- International Prospective Student-Athletes (I)

Date Issued: Apr 11, 2006 Type: Ed. Column Item Ref: 1

Interpretation: NCAA Division I institutions should note that in men's basketball, NCAA Division I Bylaw 13.1.8.8-(a)-(3) defines the evaluation activities that may be conducted during the April contact period. Specifically, evaluations at nonscholastic events during the April contact period are limited to events that are approved, sanctioned, sponsored or conducted by the applicable state high school, preparatory school or two-year college association, National Federation of High School Associations or the National Junior College Athletic Association. Coaching staff members may only attend such an event on Saturday and/or Sunday, and not on any weekend during which the PSAT, SAT, PLAN or ACT national standardized tests are administered, regardless of where the event occurs. If an approved nonscholastic event occurs at a high school, preparatory school or two-year college, it is not necessary to have a contact with a prospective student-athlete who attends the educational institution.

Evaluations at a prospect's educational institution (other than observing a nonscholastic event approved by the appropriate state or national scholastic athletics organization) shall be limited to regularly scheduled preparatory school or two-year college contests/tournaments, practices and regular scholastic activities involving student-athletes enrolled only at that institution, and only in conjunction with an off-campus contact.

In women's basketball, Bylaw 13.1.8.8-(b)-(1) defines the evaluation activities that may be conducted during the academic year. Specifically, evaluations during the academic year may occur at regularly scheduled high school, preparatory school and two-year college contests/tournaments, practices, pick-up games and open gyms. Evaluations at nonscholastic events during the women's basketball prospective student-athlete's academic year shall only occur during the last full weekend of the fall contact period and the weekend of the spring evaluation period and must be certified.

This legislation applies to both domestic prospective student-athletes and international prospective student-athletes participating in foreign countries in both men's and women's basketball. Thus, during the April contact period, men's basketball coaches may not evaluate at events in foreign countries unless the event has been approved, sanctioned, sponsored or conducted by the applicable scholastic entity for that level of competition in that state or country.

In addition, institutions should note that pursuant to Bylaw 13.1.7.2, recruiting contact shall not be made with a prospective student-athlete from the time the prospect reports on call (at the direction of the prospect's coach or comparable authority) and becomes involved in competition-related activity (e.g., traveling to an away-from-home game) to the end of the competition. Contact includes the passing of notes to a prospect by a third party on behalf of an institutional staff member.

Coach,

Per your request below, please be aware of the following dos and don'ts for July. Note that this information was taken from a June 29, 2005 educational column and has changed in that the final portion of Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2 has been eliminated. (Beginning with "During the time period in which...and ending with disseminating the correspondence.(See Bylaw 13.4)")

Per your question about calls, please pay particular attention to items #1,2&3. Thank you.

Institutions should note that July 6-15 and July 22-31 are evaluation periods for basketball. As such, it is not permissible to have recruiting contacts with prospective student-athletes during these periods. In addition, institutions should note that pursuant to NCAA Bylaw 11.7.4, there is a limit of three coaches who may evaluate prospects at any one time during the evaluation periods.

Institutions should note that pursuant to Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2-(b), all communication with a prospect, the prospect's relatives or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in basketball, directly or indirectly, is prohibited during the time period in which the prospect is participating in the summer certified event. However, printed materials (e.g., letters, recruiting brochures, questionnaires) may be sent via regular mail (see Bylaw 13.4.1) to a prospect's home while the prospect is participating in a certified event. Pursuant to Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2.1, an institutional coaching staff member may have telephone contact with a prospect's high-school coach (or high-school administrator) while the prospect is participating in a summer certified event, provided the high-school coach or administrator is not in attendance at that summer certified event.

The following questions and answers are intended to clarify the application of Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2.

1. Question. If a prospect is participating in a tournament that occurs on consecutive days and at the same site, at what point may a coach initiate communication with a prospect, the prospect's relatives or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in the certified event?

Answer. A coach may only communicate with such an individual after the prospect's team has been eliminated from the event and the appropriate authorities have released the prospect, except for telephone contact with a prospect's high-school coach (or administrator) as permitted in Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2.1.

2. Question. If a prospect is participating in extended competition (i.e., traveling directly from one competition site to another on an extended road trip), at what point may a coach initiate communication with a prospect, the prospect's relatives or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in the certified events?

Answer. Once a prospect reports on call to travel with his or her team at the beginning of the extended road trip, it is not permissible for an institutional coaching staff member to have any type of communication with the prospect, the prospect's parents or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in basketball [except for telephone contact with a prospect's high-school coach (or administrator) as permitted in Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2.1] until completion of the team's final competition of the road trip and the prospect has been released by the appropriate authorities. This restriction on communication should reinforce that collegiate coaches' attendance at events during the July evaluation period should be for observation only and not a venue whereby contacts with outside influences are designed to be made in an effort to recruit particular basketball prospects.

3. Question. A certified event is scheduled to take place July 8-10. Is it permissible for coaches to meet with a prospect's coach the evening prior to the event?

Answer. A coach could not communicate with a prospect's coach on the evening prior to the certified event if the team is in the locale of the event (i.e., team has traveled to the event) and the prospect has reported on call.

4. Question. Is it permissible for a coach to evaluate a prospect who is participating in an organized high school practice during the July evaluation period?

Answer. It would be permissible for an institutional coaching staff member to evaluate a prospective student-athlete participating in a high-school practice (as opposed to a nonscholastic team practice), provided the ability to have organized practice is approved or sanctioned by the appropriate state high-school athletics governing body and the practice is held at the direction and under the supervision of the high school coach. It remains impermissible to attend nonscholastic practices in preparation for a certified event unless that practice time has been designated as part of the certified event.

5. Question. Is it permissible for a coach to have contact with a prospect who has signed a National Letter of Intent with the coach's institution?

Answer. Pursuant to a 8/13/03 official interpretation (reference: Item No. 1) it is not permissible for an institutional coaching staff member to communicate in any way with a prospect who is participating in a summer-certified event under any circumstances, including contact with a prospect who has signed a National Letter of Intent. However, it would be permissible for an institutional coaching staff member to communicate with a prospect who is in attendance at a summer-certified event only if the prospect is not participating in the event and is not associated with any team participating in the event (e.g., prospect travels to event at his or her own expense, prospect is not under the authority of the coach at any time, prospect does not participate in team functions).

Christian-

Can you send me another copy of what we can and can't do during July so I can have it with me this month. What I really want to see is about the calls and texts....calling HS and AAU coaches while an event is going on. I read where you can call a HS coach about his player at the event if the coach is not in attendance....i want to know if I am correct with that and if that extends to AAU coaches too. Thanks.

Coach,

Please be aware that we are approaching a Dead period on July 16, 2006 which last until July 21, 2006.

You are not allowed to have any in-person recruiting contacts or evaluations on or off the member institution's campus or to permit official or unofficial visits by prospective student-athletes to the institution's campus. Also note, you cannot serve as a speaker or attend a meeting/banquet at which prospective student-athletes are in attendance and you cannot visit the prospective student-athletes' educational institutions.

You may still write or telephone prospective student-athletes during the dead period. Also during that week, you may have contact with a prospect enrolled at IU (not local schools) for summer school and signed a valid NLI or IU financial tender for the fall.

Please do not hesitate if you have any questions. Thank you.

2006 Educational Column -- NCAA Division I Proposal No. 2004-124 --
Communication with Basketball Prospects During the July Evaluation Periods (I)

Date Issued: Jul 12, 2006 Type: Ed. Column Item Ref: 1

Interpretation:

NCAA Division I institutions should note that NCAA Division I Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2 specifies that, during the July evaluation periods in men's basketball, while a prospect is participating in a certified basketball event, all communication with a prospect, the prospect's relatives or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in basketball, directly or indirectly, is prohibited. This provision prohibits all forms of communication, including in-person contact, general correspondence (e.g., letters, faxes, text messaging, instant messages, e-mail) and telephone calls.

In men's basketball, institutional staff members (limited to only a countable coach beginning August 1, 2006) may send general correspondence (except for text messages) to the prospect during the time period in which the prospect is participating in a noncertified event, provided it is sent directly to the prospect (e.g., front desk of hotel, the prospect's personal fax machine) and there is no additional party (e.g., camp employee, coach) involved in disseminating the correspondence.

Text messaging is akin to the passing of notes, which is not permissible during the time period a prospect is participating in an athletics event.

Further, women's basketball institutions should note that with the adoption of NCAA Division I Proposal No. 2004-124, effective August 1, 2005, all communication with a prospect, the prospect's relatives or legal guardians, the prospect's coach or any individual associated with the prospect as a result of the prospect's participation in basketball, directly or indirectly, is prohibited during the July evaluation periods, regardless of whether the prospect is participating in a certified basketball event.

As a reminder, it is not permissible for a prospect to make official or unofficial visits during the July evaluation period. Finally, pursuant to Bylaw 13.02.11.1, those prospects who are enrolled in an institution's summer term and receiving athletics aid prior to initial full-time enrollment are no longer considered prospects for the purpose of applying contact restrictions and communication with such individuals is permissible.

The 6/29/05 EC below should help clarify the first two issues...

1. Communication is not permissible during the July evaluation periods in men's basketball – see #2 in the Q&A below.
2. Communication is permissible once the prospect's team has been eliminated and the prospect is released by the appropriate institutional authorities – see #1 in the Q&A below. It is not necessary to wait until the prospect has actually arrived home.
3. If the prospect is traveling from one tournament to another with his parents (and is not traveling with his team or otherwise "on call"), then communication is permissible once the prospect's team has been eliminated from the first tournament and the prospect has been released to his parents by the appropriate institutional authority.

Hope this helps,

Jennifer,

I need your help with this. Jeff has asked about email or text messaging or calling a prospect once a July event is over. I know he can do that, but he also wants to know about the following scenarios.

1. Post event but prior to travel to the next venue if a team is going to leave one site and travel to another without returning home.
2. Post event on route home from an event.
3. Post event but prior to travel to the next venue if transported by parents to the next event.

As worded I believe that these are all permissible but the wording in 13.1.7.2.2 and 13.1.7.2 is confusing. Additionally, I have found the attached SI 05.03.06. Please let me you're your thoughts.
Thanks.

Coach,

Because Football will be meeting with the compliance staff this Saturday evening, I cannot attend. Although, as we discussed, even though I cannot be there to speak to the group, as the camp director you are required to provide the following information to the campers that attend the session. The information does not have to come from a compliance staffer, it just has to be discussed. Here are the talking points that I use.

1. NCAA.ORG = Great Resource, everything a prospect needs can be found there from Clearinghouse info to recruiting process.
2. Gambling activities = Beware of the 1st time best friend. Someone you never knew before you became good in your sport. Watch out for people trying to leverage you for any sports related information.
3. Agent activity = Similar to the above. Beware of fast friends or people who are looking for information.
4. Drug Testing = The NCAA and most schools test. Even over the counter from Wal-Mart or GNC can cause problems.
5. Initial Eligibility = 14 core courses (4 Eng., 2 Math, 2 Physical Sci., 1 additional from the first three areas, 2 Natural Sci., and 3 Additional core)

Please note on you other point; there have been no changes that would allow the incoming student-athletes to be employed at an IU camp. Incoming student-athletes may not work a summer camp at IU.

Please see the attached for your information as this is the only information currently on the LSDBi regarding your question. Thanks.

13.12.2.1.5 Employment in Own Institution's Camp or Clinic

In sports other than D I-A football, IU (or employees of its athletics department) may employ its student-athletes as counselors in camps or clinics, provided:

- The SA's don't participate in organized practice activities (other than during the institution's playing season in the sport (see Bylaw 17.1.1)).

Four-Year College Transfer Employed at Institution's Summer Camp

Effective Issued: Jun 04, 1997 Type: Staff Interpretation Item Ref: a Interpretation: Four-Year College Transfer Employed at Institution's Summer Camp:

- The membership services staff confirmed:
- A four-year college student who has received written permission per NCAA Bylaw 13.1.1.3 to discuss transferring with another NCAA institution is considered a senior prospect pursuant to NCAA recruiting regulations.
- Thus, in sports other than football, he may not be employed at any Division I institution's summer camp (either on a salaried or volunteer basis) if he or she is being recruited by that institution or if he or she was a high-school, preparatory-school or two-year college athletics award winner.
- Further, such a prospect may not be employed (either on a salaried or volunteer basis) at any Division II or III institutional camp or at a Division I football camp.

FYI - 13.02.11.1 Application

An individual who is no longer considered a prospect per Bylaw 13.02.11-(c) shall not be subject to the contact limitations in Bylaw 13 and shall be considered a student-athlete for purposes of Bylaw 16. The individual would still be considered a prospective student-athlete for purposes of applying the remaining provisions of Bylaw 13 and other bylaws.

The triggers that would allow the above are as follows:

- The individual officially registers and enrolls in a full time program of studies and attends classes in any regular term (excluding summer) at IU, or
- The individual participates in a regular practice or competition at IU that occurs before the beginning of any term; or
- The individual officially registers and enrolls and attends classes during the summer prior to initial enrollment and receives institutional athletics aid.

13.12.1.5.1 General Rule

An institution, members of its staff or representatives of its athletics interests shall not employ or give free or reduced admission privileges to a high school, preparatory school or two-year college athletics award winner or any individual being recruited by the institution per Bylaw 13.02.12.1. For purposes of this rule, a high school includes the ninth-grade level, regardless of whether the ninth grade is part of a junior high school system.

The signees can attend the camp as long as they pay the regular admission fee. They can not work the camp (a question Rob also asked below, but was not addressed in your response).

Also, you probably need to work up a more detailed informational sheet for Rob to use – he wouldn't know the rules on the 4 topics below to be able to ad lib like you and me.

Jennifer,

Would you please take a look and tell me if I am missing anything? Rob also wants to know about allowing incoming signees to pay and attend the camp and I can find nothing on point. Please let me know. Thanks.

Coach,

Per your question yesterday, it would impermissible for Coach Sampson to use of a live video feed, from his office or anywhere on campus, to a remote computer that an assistant coach has set up in a home visit to communicate with a prospect. That is contrary to Bylaw 13.4.2. Please take a look at a portion of an August 26, 2005 Educational column regarding the use of a computer recruiting presentation during the recruiting process.

Q: Is it permissible for an institution to post a PowerPoint presentation on its Web site?

A: Institutions should note that during its April 21, 1998, meeting, the NCAA Division I Academics/Eligibility/Compliance Cabinet Subcommittee on Legislative Review/Interpretations clarified that it is not permissible for members of an institution's coaching staff to show prospects computer recruiting presentations (e.g., using presentation software) during the recruiting process. As a result, unless the presentation meets the provisions of Bylaw 13.4.2 (video/audio materials), it is not permissible for an institution to post a recruiting presentation on its Web site.

Thank you.

Okay, it's been weeks since the last QOTW, so NO groans! This email has a LOT of relevant and timely info, so be sure to read through ALL of it! This is IT for August QOTWs! ☺

Question: The new legislation allows for all sports but FB (FB – skip down past this Q&A) to do two hours of skill instruction with the whole team each week as part of the permissible 8 hours of countable athletically related activities per week OUTSIDE a sport's declared playing and practice season, so is it okay for a team not in season at the start of the school year (Monday, August 28) to have a one hour practice on two days next week?

Answer: NO – this is only permissible during September 15 through April 15, so until September 15 (and after April 15), a sport that is out of season can only do the skill instruction with no more than four student-athletes from the same team at any one time in any facility. [17.1.5.2.2]

Head Coaches: Remember – regardless of whether your first competition is exhibition or regular season, you MUST ensure that NONE of your student-athletes participate UNTIL you have VERIFIED that they are on your sport's CEL! If it's getting 2-3 days before your first competition (or travel to your competition if it's away), and you haven't done so already, get with Anitra to see if she has everyone on YOUR roster; so, that when the list is finalized, there is no one inadvertently left off. Also, do NOT travel or compete without reviewing and confirming that the CEL is complete and accurate – this is YOUR responsibility! Is that horse dead yet?

(FB – skip to next section) Belated reminder for this preseason, but still applicable for upcoming vacation periods: Volunteer coaches may NOT eat at training table meals – even during preseason or vacation periods. This is not an IU rule – this is in Bylaw 11.01.5-(c) – VCs may receive complimentary meals incidental to organized team activities (e.g., pre- or post-game meals, occasional meals, but not training table meals) or meals provided during a prospect's official visit, provided the VC dines with the prospect.

Coaches – remember – no incoming student-athlete (freshmen, transfers and first-time participants regardless of year enrolled at IU) should practice until they have completed the three step certification process. Due to overwhelming demand (as well as a change in the legislation), one day tryouts are permissible once we have verified the student is enrolled in 12 hours at IU-B AND has received medical clearance from the training room. After the one day tryout is over, anyone who makes the squad, even tentatively, must complete the rest of the compliance paperwork and receive the rules education by attending one of the many compliance/eligibility meetings scheduled during the month of September. See, call (6-4526), or email (mmooney@indiana.edu) Marni Mooney for more info!

ALL STAFF – remember: no sports gambling, don't provide "inside" information regarding ANY of our teams or student-athletes to anyone OUTSIDE of the athletics department, report any suspected violation of any NCAA or Big Ten rules, and don't treat a student-athlete different (away from what they may receive in the course of their athletically-related and academic activities) than you would any other IU student (e.g., no loans, no use of personal property, no free long distance calls – even with your cell phone, no tickets to IU or community events, no overnight stays at your house, no more than an occasional meal in the locale of Bloomington, only occasional local transportation). If anyone can think of 5 creative (and relevant) examples of other extra benefits, send them to me and you'll be entered in a random drawing for a free car wash!

Three recent interps from the NCAA (FB – skip the first two):

1. Educational Column -- NCAA Division I Bylaw 13.11.1.2 and NCAA Proposal No. 2005-72 -- Competition Against Prospective Student-Athletes

NCAA Division I institutions are reminded that in accordance with NCAA Division I Bylaw 13.11.1.2, an institution's varsity intercollegiate athletics team may not compete against a high school or preparatory school team. An institution's varsity team may not participate in a contest against an established outside team that includes high school prospective student-athletes except for permissible contests while participating on a foreign tour, exempted contests against a foreign team in the United States and contests against the United States national team.

NCAA Proposal No. 2005-72 eliminates the practice of an institution's varsity team competing against any outside team that includes high school prospective student-athletes. The legislation is applicable when an institution's team competes in an organized event against a team of prospective student-athletes. Participation by student-athletes in individual competition (e.g., tennis, track and field, swimming) against high school and/or preparatory school prospects remains permissible. [EC 08/21/06]

2. Prize Money Prior to Initial Full-Time Collegiate Enrollment and Coach's Expenses or Fees (I)

The committee determined that for the purpose of calculating a prospective student-athlete's actual and necessary expenses related to participation in an open athletics event, the calculation may not include the expenses or fees of anyone other than the prospective student-athlete (e.g., coach's fee or expenses, parent's expenses). [S 07/20/06] [This is good time and place to remind coaches that are recruiting prospects (e.g., international prospects, prospects in Olympic sports) that prize money, which is okay PRE-enrollment as long as it does not exceed actual and necessary expenses, does NOT include an incentive or bonus from a prospect's team based on performance – this violates the bylaw prohibiting payment based on performance – 12.1.2.1.5 – make sure your prospects are fully informed on ALL the regulations relating to amateurism (good luck)!]

3. Student-Athlete Establishing His or Her Own Business (I)

The committee determined that a student-athlete may establish his or her own business, provided the student-athlete's name, photograph, appearance or athletics reputation are not used to promote such a business. [S 07/20/06]

Last, but not least (and thanks for hanging in there!), don't forget the All-Staff meeting on August 29th – be prepared to sign the Athletics Staff Certification of Compliance form certifying that you have reported all violations that you are aware of involving IU to the compliance office or AD during the past 12 months. Also, the first Compliance Meeting is Tuesday, September 5th from 10-11 in the Hoosier Room – coaches are required to attend, but everyone else is welcome to come. Dates and times for the compliance meetings (coaches and student-athletes) for the fall semester are found in the August ICN – in case you misplaced (or trashed) your pretty color copy, I attached another one to this email for your convenience. Mark the dates (especially the monthly compliance meeting dates) in your calendar!!! Also, this email went out to coaches and administrators – if you see that someone from your sport is missing, let me know and I'll update my list ASAP (FYI – I am sending out an identical email to my Academics, support staff, training room and Varsity Club distribution lists, as well). Thanks!

Remember – we are lucky and blessed to work at IU Athletics (in other words, don't let the rules get you down!)

I got an e-mail from Erin Erdmann of Chartwells around 2:30 p.m. Tuesday where she'd received a call from Tim Garl asking for a tent with Chartwells providing catering. I responded about the difficulty on west side location and then Tim Garl and I had a couple of exchanges before Tuesday ended. This morning, Tim G. asked about location because he had said Coach Sampson wanted on the west side of Assembly Hall. I had a place north of the TV truck asphalt driveway which has been checked for locates with the "holy molie" people. We have a 20x20 tent available for Saturday which the Athletics Events crew will move from Armstrong to Assembly Hall.

Coach,

Jennifer's suggestion is that you run the prospects by the equipment room to display some of the items that we supply to student-athletes. In the equipment room, apparel/gear is definitely not a decorative item or a special addition. Also, I know that you understand, so I don't need to emphasize, that the prospect's name or number cannot be affixed to any item in any way. Thank you.

Coach,

Per 13.7.3, you cannot display any "decorative items" even if those items are not personalized. You may show them in the locker room but you cannot have a display of gear/apparel that will display what they will receive if they choose to attend IU. Thank you.

13.7.3 Activities During Unofficial Visit

An institution may not arrange miscellaneous, personalized recruiting aids (e.g., personalized jerseys, personalized audio/visual scoreboard presentations) and may not permit a prospective student-athlete to engage in any game-day simulations (e.g., running onto the field with the team during pregame introductions) during an unofficial visit. Personalized recruiting aids include any decorative items and special additions to any location the prospective student-athlete will visit (e.g., hotel room, locker room, coach's office, conference room, arena) regardless of whether or not the items include the prospective student-athlete's name or picture. 2006 Educational Column -- NCAA Bylaw 13.1.8.8 -- Fall Contact Period -- Men's Basketball (I)

Date Issued: Sep 08, 2006
Type: Ed. Column
Item Ref: 1

Interpretation:

NCAA Division I institutions should note that during the men's basketball fall contact period (September 9 through October 5), live evaluations shall be limited to regularly scheduled high school, preparatory and two-year college contests/tournaments, practices and regular scholastic activities involving prospective student-athletes only at that institution. Evaluations do not have to occur in conjunction with a contact. A regular scholastic activity is any activity involving only students enrolled at that high school, preparatory school or two-year college that has been approved by the appropriate authority at that scholastic institution. An activity that is organized for the purpose of allowing a college coach or college coaches to observe prospects demonstrating their athletics skills is not considered a regular scholastic activity, but would constitute an impermissible tryout.

In evaluating whether a specific contest/tournament (e.g., preseason "jamboree") is regularly scheduled, institutions are encouraged to contact the applicable governing scholastic entity (e.g., high school or two-year college association) in addition to reviewing the institution's schedule and/or Web site. A jamboree (or other contest/tournament) that appears on a high school or two-year college schedule or Web site may be an indication that such a contest/tournament is regularly scheduled; however, it is important that such information is verified with the applicable governing scholastic entity.

Finally, institutions are reminded that coaches may attend pick-up games during the fall contact period provided the activity is part of the prospect's regular scholastic activities (e.g., physical education class, regular practice activities), involves only prospects at that educational institution and is approved by the appropriate institutional authority.

Subject: Question(s) of the Week - Recruiting Coordination Functions (Week of 9/25/06)

There are lots of questions/confusion regarding recruiting coordination functions and the application of 2005-77-B (from IU and other Big Ten schools), so here is a good Q&A from the Big Ten office on this topic. This is a MUST read if you are a coach, as well as an administrative assistant, director of operations, GA, volunteer coach, or other support staff dealing with recruiting.

Question #1: Is it permissible for staff members, other than countable coaches, to make and/or receive calls to/from prospects and their parents and/or legal guardians? I understand the purpose of the call cannot be recruiting in nature. In planning official and unofficial visits we will need to accept RSVPs, communicate itineraries, and answer questions regarding the visit.

Answer #1: Per Bylaw 11.7.1.2, a countable coach must coordinate the recruiting process, including deciding which activities will occur during recruiting visits and communicating with prospects regarding the details of the visit (such as RSVPs and itineraries). As a general matter, if an activity relates to the recruiting process and is not clerical in nature (see #7 below), that activity must be performed by a countable coach.

That said, the Big Ten says there is room for reasonable (and limited) flexibility in application – for example, if a PSA calls en route to an official visit and requests directions, a violation does not occur if a noncoaching staff member provides the information rather than trying to track down a countable coach – but, as a general matter, the coordination and day-to-day performance of these duties must be done by a countable coach.

Question #2: Is it permissible for staff members, other than countable coaches, to respond to emails requesting general information about Indiana and/or our football program?

Answer #2: Since “preparation of general recruiting correspondence to prospective student-athletes” is defined as a recruiting coordination function in the legislation, a countable coach would need to provide the content of such an e-mail. A noncoaching staff member could engage in clerical tasks relating to the preparation of the e-mail (e.g., type an e-mail dictated by a coach and physically send it to the PSA). See the final paragraph of the 7/27/06 EC below for further clarification on which specific tasks a noncoaching staff member may perform with respect to the dissemination of general correspondence.

Question #3: If it is not permissible to do #1 and/or #2, how do you suggest we best handle these situations? That is, at what point do we need to transfer the call, forward the email, etc?

Answer #3: As a general matter, the call should be transferred to a countable coach or the e-mail should be forwarded to a countable coach as soon as it is determined that it is related to recruitment.

Question #4: For recruiting materials, how involved can staff members, who are not countable coaches, be in the creative process? Can we help design, draft, and/or edit recruiting materials?

Answer #4: Noncoaching staff members should not be involved with the creative process as it relates to recruiting correspondence – the substance of recruiting communication with prospects should come from the “creative mind” of a countable coach. A noncoaching staff member could, for example, type a letter whose substance has been dictated by a countable coach and could perform grammar checks, spelling checks, and other clerical functions related to the preparation of the correspondence.

Question #5: Is it permissible for staff members other than the countable coaches to sort and catalog film? These individuals do not evaluate or make recommendations to coaches. They open mail, sort, log video.

Answer #5: Yes, under the conditions that you’ve identified. The staff members must be merely preparing the video for review by a countable coach rather than evaluating prospects on the videotape.

Question #6: Can they send a letter acknowledging receipt of the film to the prospect?

Answer #6: Same answer as #2.

Question #7: What is considered a “routine clerical task?”

Answer #7: Here is a nonexclusive list of examples of routine clerical tasks: typing dictated letters or e-mails, printing a letter and putting it in an envelope, addressing/stamping/ mailing a letter, making copies, making reservations and appointments for visit-related activities (ideas for the activities themselves should come from a countable coach), preparing compliance-related paperwork, receiving and sorting mail, entering biographical and compliance-related information into recruiting database, and answering the phone (subject to #1 above).

I’ve highlighted two sections of the 7/27/06 EC below – the first helps to clarify the application of this legislation as it relates to phone calls, the second as it relates to recruiting correspondence. Please contact Christian if you have additional questions.

2006 Educational Column – NCAA Division I Bylaw 11.7.1.2 - Recruiting Coordination Functions (I)

Date Issued: Jul 27, 2006

Ref: 1

Interpretation:

NCAA Division I institutions should note that with the adoption of NCAA Division I Proposal No. 2005-77-B, effective August 1, 2006, all recruiting coordination functions (except routine clerical tasks) must be performed by a coach who counts toward the numerical limitations of head or assistant coaches (NCAA Division I Bylaw 11.7.4) in all sports. Such functions include:

1. Activities involving athletics evaluation and/or selection of prospective student-athletes.
2. Telephone calls to prospective student-athletes (or prospective student-athletes' parents, legal guardians or coaches).
3. Preparation of general recruiting correspondence to prospective student-athletes (or prospective student-athletes' parents or legal guardians).

Further, inasmuch as telephone calls are a recruiting-coordination activity, it is not permissible for athletics department staff members (other than a coach who counts toward the numerical limitations of head or assistant coaches or other specific staff members pursuant to legislated exceptions), including volunteer coaches (Bylaw 11.01.5), to make calls to or receive calls from prospects (or the prospects' parents, legal guardians, or coaches) that may involve conversations related to the recruitment of the prospects. In Division I-A football and women's rowing, such telephone calls also may be made by the graduate assistant coach, provided the coach has successfully completed the coaches' certification examination per Bylaw 11.5.1.1.

It is also important to note that with the adoption of Proposal No. 2005-77-B, the exceptions noted in Bylaw 13.1.3.4.1.1, which permitted noncoaching institutional staff members to make telephone calls to prospective student-athletes in football under specified conditions, now apply to all sports. The following institutional staff members may continue to make telephone calls to or receive telephone calls from prospective student-athletes (or the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardians) as specified:

1. President or chancellor/director of athletics. It is permissible for an institution's president or chancellor and director of athletics to return (as opposed to initiate) telephone calls from prospective student-athletes (or the prospective student-athletes' parents or legal guardian). Under such circumstances, there are no restrictions on the content of the conversation that may occur during the call; however, any return call is subject to any applicable limitations on the number of telephone calls that an institution may place to prospective student-athletes.
2. Academic advisors. It is permissible for academic advisors (including academic advisors within the athletics department) to make calls to or receive calls from prospective student-athletes (or the prospective student-athlete's parents or legal guardians) related to admissions or academic issues, subject to any applicable limitation on the number of telephone calls an institution may place to prospective student-athletes.
3. Compliance coordinators. It is permissible for a compliance coordinator to return telephone calls from prospective student-athletes with no limit on the timing or number of such telephone calls, provided the calls relate only to compliance issues. It is permissible for a compliance coordinator to initiate telephone calls to a prospective student-athlete, provided the calls relate only to compliance issues and such calls occur subsequent to the prospective student-athlete's signing a National Letter of Intent with that institution (or, for those institutions not subscribing to the National Letter of Intent, subsequent to the prospective student-athlete's signed acceptance of the institution's written offer of admission and/or financial aid).
4. Noncoaching staff members with sport specific responsibilities. It is permissible for a noncoaching staff member with sport specific responsibilities to initiate and receive telephone calls from prospective student-athletes, provided the calls relate only to general pre-enrollment administrative issues and such calls occur subsequent to the prospective student-athlete's signing a National Letter of Intent with that institution (or, for those institutions not subscribing to the National Letter of Intent, subsequent to the prospective student-athlete's signed acceptance of the institution's written offer of admission and/or financial aid).

Finally, institutions are reminded that electronically transmitted correspondence (e.g., electronic mail, instant messenger, facsimiles, pages, text messaging) must be prepared by a coach who counts toward the numerical limitations of head or assistant coaches (Bylaw 11.7.4). It is permissible for an individual other than a coach who counts toward the numerical limitations of head or assistant coaches to send the correspondence; however, this individual may neither respond to correspondence from nor prepare correspondence to prospects. For example, a coach who counts toward the numerical limitations of head or assistant coaches composes a message to be sent to a large group of prospective student-athletes. Such a message may be provided to a staff member that is not a countable coach (e.g., administrative assistant, graduate assistant, director of operations, volunteer coach) and that individual may coordinate and engage in the act of sending the message to the intended recipients. In this manner, while the institutional staff member who is not included in the numerical coaching limitations actually sent the correspondence, the coach who counts toward the numerical limitations of head or assistant coaches prepared the content and, thus, satisfied the provisions of Bylaw 11.7.1.2.

Rob,

Under Bylaw 13.4.1.1 there is nothing we can produce that you would be able to provide to him regarding recruiting. The only guidance/documentation you can provide is NCAA educational material published by the NCAA such as the NCAA Guide for the College bound student-athlete. He can find this information on the NCAA web site at www.ncaa.org. Unfortunately, that is all we can provide at this time for him.

Coach,
Big Ten Rule 15.5.1 states that we shall not at any time issue a tender to a prospective student which, if accepted, would exceed the maximum number of grants-in-aid allowed under the limits of NCAA Bylaw 15.5

Note: Football has an exception to this policy, but basketball does not.

So currently you will have 5 scholarships to give for next year. I have attached my numbers for you to see. Hope this helps.

Subject: Status of Prospects' Eligibility

Coach Sampson and Coach Meyer,

I just got off the phone with Liz Perry in Student-Athlete Reinstatement ("SAR"). She has verbally reinstated Devin Ebanks, so he is now eligible to play at IU.

Before she and the SAR staff will consider our request to reinstate Derek Elston's eligibility, she would like a signed and dated statement from the high school coach as to why he let Elston return to camp the second day after being told not to by Coach Meyer.

Further, we will need a signed and dated statement from Elston as to:

1. Why he came back for the second day (why he didn't go home as Meyer instructed his coach to have him do).
2. What he knew about taking an "unofficial visit" on the first day of a 2-day camp.
3. How significant was this particular visit (on the evening of June 30) and the verbal offer extended by Coach Sampson at that time in his decision to make a verbal commitment to attend IU.

Please keep me updated on your progress in getting these two statements.

Thanks,

Jennifer

Jerry,

Based upon your question, you can attend Ray Jr.s events, not practice per the following. In any event, you cannot evaluate or recruit and may not speak to or have contact with any of the prospects participating or their parents or legal guardians. Thank you for the question.

Noncoaching Athletics Department Staff Members with Sport-Specific Responsibilities (I)

Date Issued: Oct 11, 2000 Type: Official Item Ref: 1

Interpretation: A noncoaching athletics department staff member with sport-specific responsibilities (e.g., basketball administrative assistant, director of football operations) may not attend any on- or off-campus athletics event (e.g., high-school contest, evaluation camp) in that sport in which prospective student-athletes are participating unless:

- a. The staff member is an immediate family member (or legal guardian) of a prospect involved in the activity; or
- b. The activity is a competition (as opposed to a camp) conducted in the locale of the institution.

In the case of (a) and (b) above, the staff member's attendance shall not be for evaluation purposes, the staff member shall not have direct contact with any prospect participating in the activity and the staff member shall not act as an institutional recruiter (e.g., by reporting back to the institution's coaching staff about the performance of a prospect, by speaking to a prospect's parents or coach). Here's our guidance directly from Rick....I'll call Jerry and tell him to make sure that Coach Sampson understands that he cannot currently attend this event in the state that we know it to be. We may need to prep for some bad PR, but I'd rather have that issue than a tussle with the COI over a goodwill gesture.

Thanks,

Absolutely.....I mandate full compliance with the COI restrictions and if the event needs to be moved or cancelled so be it. I assume they could restrict attendance as we have with other events but these matters need coordination, clearance and approval as we have stated unequivocally in the past. It is Jerry's responsibility to have full transparency with us in a timely manner so we can handle administratively.

Jen -

Thanks for this information....I appreciate it. I'm going to forward this to both Rick Greenspan and Jerry Green so they can be in this loop. I agree with your assessment about the problem with probable attendance by prospect age individuals as the event is being held at Edgewood High School in Ellettsville. Rick needs to know for a lot of reasons, and I think we need to have Jerry ask Coach Sampson directly whether or not he plans on attending the event. If he's not planning on going, we likely don't have an issue. If he is, then we need to intervene administratively to make sure that he does not, per the sanctions we're working under. I know this particular cause is near-and-dear to Coach Sampson, but we still need to make sure that we comply with the terms and conditions of the sanction. I'll contact Jerry separately and get an answer here quickly.

Be back to you soon with further guidance, and thanks for bringing this matter to my attention. It's far better for us to be safe rather than sorry in this case.

Tim,

As you are aware, Coach Sampson was invited to be a part of the celebration for the returning members of the National Guard from the war in Iraq. BJ or Beth contacted me via phone last week and asked if this was permissible. I said it would be permissible only if they could guarantee that no prospect-aged individuals were in attendance - which I stated would probably be impossible since family members would be in attendance.

Last night, I heard an ad on the radio inviting members of the public to this event at Edgewood High School in Ellettsville and this morning there is a big article on page 3 of the front section in the H-T again inviting the public. The radio ad and the H-T article both listed Sampson as co-chair of this event.

I am not sure if he is planning on attending or just is being listed as the co-chair, but he can not attend any event that is open to the public (per the sanctions imposed by the COI) UNLESS they move the homecoming party to somewhere on IU's campus.

Please let me know how I should proceed.

Thanks,

Jennifer

Question: If a team is currently not in its playing and practice season, is the coach allowed to require any athletically related activity on Monday (MLK Day)?

Answer: No, on official IU vacation days, teams that are out of season CANNOT have any required athletically related activities (e.g., no required weightlifting, conditioning, or skill instruction). [17.1.5.2.1.1]

This reminder is on your ARA logs that you complete monthly (see highlighted sentence on the attached log), but since it is a relatively newly observed holiday at IU I thought it would be "prudent at this juncture" to send this out as an early QOTW for next week (so this is it for the QOTW until the week of January 22!).

Subject: Questions of the Week for the Weeks of January 22 and 29 - Please Read!
Importance: High

Question #1: When is it permissible to use an outside consultant?

Answer #1: IU may arrange for a temporary consultant to provide in-service training for the coaching staff. However, NO interaction with student-athletes is permitted unless the individual is counted against the applicable coaching limits. An outside consultant may NOT be involved in any on- or off-field or on- or off-court coaching activities (e.g., attending practices and meetings involving coaching activities, formulating game plans, analyzing videotape or film involving IU's or an opponent's team) without counting the consultant in the coaching limitations in that sport. [11.7.1.1.1.4]

Also, a student-athlete can hire someone from outside the IU community to work with him or her (on either sport-specific or conditioning activities) as long as IU (including coaches) is not involved in arranging for such services, IU coaches don't observe the activity and the activity doesn't occur at an IU facility (either during voluntary workouts or during regular IU practice sessions), the student-athlete pays the going rate for such services, and he/she does not receive preferential compensation arrangements not available to the general public.

Remember, if you want to use an outside fitness consultant to work with your team on conditioning, you can only use an institutional employee (such as someone from our strength and conditioning staff or someone from the SRSC fitness center). We cannot hire someone to come in and train your student-athletes in yoga, Pilates, cycle-fit, etc.

See the second interp below for a more permissible view towards sports psychologists (as long as they don't engage in any coaching activities).

NCAA Bylaws 11.7.1.1.1, 11.7.1.1.1.1 and 11.7.1.1.1.3 – countable coach/outside consultants – Division I

Date Issued: Nov 20, 1995

Type: Ed. Column

NCAA Division I institutions should note that in accordance with Bylaw 11.7.1.1.1, an athletics department staff member must count against coaching limits as soon as the individual participates (in any manner) in the coaching of the intercollegiate team in practice, games or organized activities directly related to that sport, including any organized staff activity directly related to the sport. Further, pursuant to Bylaw 11.7.1.1.1.1, institutional staff members involved in noncoaching activities (e.g., administrative assistants, recruiting coordinators in sports other than football, academic counselors) do not count in the institution's coaching limitations, provided such individuals are not identified as coaches, do not engage in any on- or off-field coaching activities (e.g., attending meetings involving coaching activities, analyzing videotape or film involving the institution's or an opponent's team) and are not involved in any off-campus recruitment of prospects or scouting of opponents. Pursuant to Bylaw 11.7.1.1.1.3, an institution may hire a temporary consultant to provide in-service training for its coaching staff; however, no interaction with student-athletes is permitted unless the individual is counted against applicable coaching limits. During its August 31 and October 5, 1995, telephone conferences, the NCAA Interpretations Committee determined that it is permissible for a student-athlete(s) to receive assistance from an individual outside of the institution (e.g., consultant, professional instructor) without the individual being counted in the institution's coaching limitations, provided the institution is not involved in any way in arranging for such activity, institutional coaching staff members do not observe such activity and such activity does not occur at the institution's facility (either during voluntary workouts or during regular institutional practice sessions). Further, the student-athlete(s) must pay all the fees (at the going rate) associated with the activity and may not receive preferential compensation arrangements (e.g., discount rate, deferred payments) not available to the general public.

Sports Psychologist/Use of Outside Consultants (I)

Date Issued: Jul 02, 2003

Type: Staff Interpretation

It is permissible for an institution's athletics department to employ a sports psychologist without including such an individual in the institution's coaching limitations in a particular sport, provided the individual does not engage in any on- or off-field coaching activities (e.g., use equipment, review game films, set-up offensive or defensive alignments when meeting with the student-athletes, meetings involving coaching activities). A sports psychologist may engage in "mental imaging" with a student-athlete without being considered a countable coach, provided no coaching activities occur; however, if a student-athlete is required to meet with the sports psychologist, such a meeting is considered a countable athletically related activity. [References: NCAA Bylaws 11.7.1.1.1 (countable coach), 11.7.1.1.1.1 (noncoaching activities) and 11.7.1.1.1.4 (use of outside consultants), 01/08/03 official interpretation, Item 1, and 12/15/95 staff determination, item 1, which has been archived.]

Question #2 [For sports who can utilize the Local Sports Club exception to the Tryout Rule – football and Basketball, skip past this Q&A and go to the end of this email]: Is it possible for a high school student (e.g., a freshman, sophomore or junior) to "temporarily" change his or her legal residence for the summer by changing his or her driver's license to show Bloomington, Indiana, and then go back home when the summer is over in order to meet the residency requirement for local sports clubs?

Answer #2: No, the change in residency status must be permanent. See below:

Application of "Legal Resident" to Involvement with a Local Sports Club (I)

Date Issued: Jan 07, 2007

Type: Official:

The NCAA Division I Management Council determined that for purposes of the application of the local sports clubs legislation, a prospective student-athlete who relocates to within a 50-mile radius of an institution on a temporary basis (e.g., to participate on a club team or attend an institution while maintaining a permanent residence outside of the 50-mile radius) is not a "legal resident of the area" of the institution regardless of whether the prospect meets a legal standard of state or local residency for governmental purposes. Therefore, an institution's coach may not be involved with a local sports club team in the coach's sport that includes such a prospect. [References: NCAA Division I Bylaw 13.11.2.3 (local sports clubs)]

Thanks for reading to the end! The first coach and the first staff member to contact me via email in response to this email will each win a car wash (inside and out) from the Bloomington Car Wash on South Walnut Street.

This event sounds like it would be permissible per 12.5.1.1, but we would need the attached form filled out to be sure and all of the following parameters would need to be met and followed by the fraternity and the involved student-athletes:

- (a) The student-athlete receives written approval to participate from the director of athletics (or his or her designee who may not be a coaching staff member), subject to the limitations on participants in such activities as set forth in Bylaw 17;
- (b) The specific activity or project in which the student-athlete participates does not involve cosponsorship, advertisement or promotion by a commercial agency other than through the reproduction of the sponsoring company's officially registered regular trademark or logo on printed materials such as pictures, posters or calendars. The company's emblem, name, address and telephone number may be included with the trademark or logo. Personal names, messages and slogans (other than an officially registered trademark) are prohibited;
- (c) The name or picture of a student-athlete with remaining eligibility may not appear on an institution's printed promotional item (e.g., poster, calendar) that includes a reproduction of a product with which a commercial entity is associated if the commercial entity's officially registered regular trademark or logo also appears on the item;
- (d) The student-athlete does not miss class;
- (e) All moneys derived from the activity or project go directly to the member institution, member conference or the charitable, educational or nonprofit agency;
- (f) The student-athlete may accept actual and necessary expenses from the member institution, member conference or the charitable, educational or nonprofit agency related to participation in such activity;
- (g) The student-athlete's name, picture or appearance is not used to promote the commercial ventures of any nonprofit agency;
- (h) Any commercial items with names, likenesses or pictures of multiple student-athletes (other than highlight films or media guides per Bylaw 12.5.1.8) may be sold only at the member institution at which the student-athlete is enrolled, institutionally controlled (owned and operated) outlets or outlets controlled by the charitable or educational organization (e.g., location of the charitable or educational organization, site of charitable event during the event). Items that include individual student-athlete's name, picture or likeness (e.g., name on jersey, name or likeness on bobble-head doll), other than informational items (e.g., media guide, schedule cards, institutional publications), may not be sold; and

(i) The student-athlete and an authorized representative of the charitable, educational or nonprofit agency sign a release statement ensuring that the student-athlete's name, image or appearance is used in a manner consistent with the requirements of this section.

Subject: Proposal for Campuswide Philanthropy Event

Dear Barbara,

My name is Brent Danner and I am the Director of Philanthropy for Beta Theta Pi. I am writing you in regards to a philanthropy project my fraternity would like to develop. As a method to bring the entire campus together for a philanthropy event, we would like to hold a dunk contest with the IU men's basketball team sometime in April. In addition to having student-athletes participate, we would also like to include a select amount of students from the student body at large. All proceeds would be donated to a charity of the University's choice. We feel that this project could generate a substantial amount of revenue.

In fact, this same concept has seen great success at other schools in major conferences.

I have been in contact with Professor Bruce Jaffee and with SAAC and they are supporting the idea enthusiastically. I have also talked to Christian Pope and am working with him on compliance issues. He recommended that I contact you to discuss if there would be any issues in regard to scheduling this event. I can be contacted by email at bedanner@indiana.edu and by phone at 574.453.1810. I look forward to working with you on this idea and I thank you graciously for your time.

1/28/2008

Thanks again and GO HOOSIERS!

Below is a paragraph out of a letter our office received from a student that was wanting a basketball signed for the IU Dance Marathon. the March Madness bracket thing threw up a red light to me, so tell me if we are allowed to sign something for this.

"This year, IUDM, is holding a March Madness forecasting event consisting of predicting a March Madness bracket. It will be suggested that participants make a 10 dollar donation to enter. We are searching for an attractive prize to give people incentive to participate. It would be greatly appreciated if Coach Sampson could sign a ball for the winning participant."

FYI - This was just listed today on the LSDBi (although this staff interpretation was apparently issued on 2/21/07):

Permissible Evaluation Activities During March Contact Period - Men's Basketball (I)

Interpretation:

The membership services staff confirmed that during the March contact period, evaluations at sites other than the prospective student-athlete's educational institution are prohibited in men's basketball. Live (in-person, at the event) evaluations at a prospective student-athlete's educational institution shall be limited to regularly scheduled high school, preparatory school and two-year college contests/tournaments and practices and regular scholastic activities involving Bylaw 13.1.8.8-(a).

Subject: Ed Column on MBB & WBB Evaluations During the Academic Year
Importance: High

Coaches,

Please read the following educational column below that was issued on March 12, sent out to membership yesterday (March 13) and revised today (March 14) as even Membership Services sometimes gets called on an offensive charge when it comes to rules interpretations. This is the final (corrected) version. It supplements and supports the memo that Ian distributed to both coaching staffs yesterday (March 13).

Thanks and good luck in your respective post-season tournaments!

Educational Column -- NCAA Division I Bylaw 13.1.8.8 -- Evaluation Days -- Basketball -- Attendance at Scholastic and Nonscholastic Events During the Academic Year (I)

Interpretation: NCAA Division I institutions should note the following restrictions apply to evaluations in men's and women's basketball during the academic year:

General

For purposes of applying the legislation, a regular scholastic activity is any activity involving only students enrolled at a particular high school, preparatory school or two-year college that has been approved by the appropriate authority at the scholastic institution. An activity that is organized for the purpose of allowing a college coach or coaches to observe prospects demonstrating his or her athletics skills is not considered a regular scholastic activity, but would constitute an impermissible tryout.

Men's Basketball

1. All evaluations during the academic year evaluation periods (refer to recruiting calendars) are limited to regularly scheduled high school, preparatory school and two-year college contests/tournaments, practices and regular scholastic activities involving prospects enrolled only at the educational institution at which the activity occurs.
2. During the April contact period, evaluations at nonscholastic events are limited to events that are approved, sanctioned, sponsored or conducted by the applicable high school, preparatory school or two-year college association, National Federation of High School Associations or the National Junior College Athletic Association. In addition, coaches may only attend such an event on Saturday and/or Sunday and not on any weekend during which a national standardized test (e.g., SAT, ACT) is administered.

3. Please note that the adoption of NCAA Proposal No. 2006-52 established a contact period March 16 through 22. During this contact period, evaluations at sites other than the prospective student-athlete's educational institution are prohibited. Live evaluations at a prospective student-athlete's educational institution shall be limited to regularly scheduled high school, preparatory school and two-year college contests/tournaments and practices and regular scholastic activities involving prospective student-athletes enrolled only at that institution.

[Consequently, it remains permissible to evaluate, for example, state tournament games that are played at large public arenas.]

Women's Basketball

1. During the academic year, evaluations may occur at regularly scheduled high school, preparatory school and two-year college contests/tournaments, practices, pick-up games and open gyms.
2. Evaluations at nonscholastic events shall occur only during the last full weekend of the fall contact period and the weekend of the spring evaluation period. Nonscholastic events are limited to those that are certified per Bylaw 30.17 and events that are approved, sponsored or conducted by an applicable state (e.g., state high school federation, national (e.g., National Junior College Athletic Association) or international governing body (e.g., USA Basketball, United States Olympic Committee or international equivalent).

Subject: Some Foreign Tour Info

All,

While discussing your upcoming late August / early September foreign tour with the Big 10 last month, I inquired about the status of any ineligible players in regards to the tour. They confirmed bylaw 30.7.2 that states that any ineligible student-athletes are prohibited from going on foreign tours.

30.7.2 Eligibility of Student-Athletes.

The eligibility of student-athletes on the tour shall be governed by the following:

(a) If the tour takes place during the summer, the student-athletes shall have been eligible for intercollegiate competition during the previous academic year or shall have been enrolled at the institution as a full-time student during the previous academic year and have established by the beginning of the tour that he or she is eligible for competition the academic year immediately following the tour; or (Revised: 8/11/98 effective immediately for tours conducted during the 1998-99 academic year and thereafter)

(b) If the tour takes place after the academic year has started, the student-athletes shall be regularly enrolled in the institution and eligible for intercollegiate competition.

It was confirmed however, that any such ineligible players MAY take part in the practices leading up to the tour.

Let us know if you have any questions,

Thanks,

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
Office of the Director
Bloomington

November 1, 2007

Coach Ray McCallum
Men's Basketball
Indiana University
Assembly Hall
1001 E. 17th Street
Bloomington, IN 47408

Dear Coach McCallum:

This letter is regarding your failure to inform the compliance office when you used your home phone to make one known recruiting call.

As you know, Indiana University has a strong commitment to compliance with NCAA and Big Ten rules governing intercollegiate athletics. You had direct access to the compliance office staff for any interpretative questions that might arise. You also signed monthly declarations that you were not using your home phone to make recruiting calls. This proved to be inaccurate as you did make one known recruiting call from your home phone. Your conduct jeopardized the compliance staff's ability to monitor the recruiting calls of the men's basketball staff.

I am particularly troubled that this failure to disclose the use of your home phone and to report this call occurred during a time period when the entire men's basketball coaching staff should have been even more attentive to the application of NCAA rules and compliance-related issues as a result of the violations that occurred while Coach Sampson was at the University of Oklahoma.

In response to the phone calls made by coaches on the men's basketball staff that were contrary to the sanctions and in violation of NCAA rules, as set forth in the university's October 3 and October 26 reports to the NCAA, the university has taken actions regarding the men's basketball program, as detailed in the attachment to this letter. The following actions are specific to you:

- a. A copy of this letter will be included in your personnel file.
- b. You will be required to attend mandatory compliance meetings every other week for the full men's basketball coaching staff (i.e., head coach, assistant coaches, and director of basketball operations) for one year.

Rick Greenspan Director of Athletics

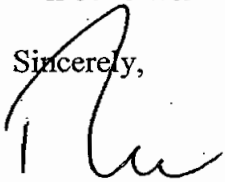

- c. You will be required to attend the same 2008 NCAA Regional Rules Seminar as a member of the university's compliance staff.
- d. The university will reduce the number of permissible calls to prospects on or after August 1 of their senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week from September 17, 2007, through the end of the regular National Letter of Intent signing period (May 21, 2008). Further, Coach Sampson is only eligible to make every other one of these phone calls.

It is my hope that these actions illustrate to you the critical importance of athletics compliance and I trust that you will take every measure possible to ensure that your future conduct adheres to NCAA, Big Ten Conference and Indiana University regulations and guidelines.

Please be advised that your involvement in or failure to report your knowledge of any prior or subsequent violation of NCAA, Big Ten Conference or Indiana University bylaws, regulations, policies, procedures (including the actions listed in this letter and the attachment) or interpretations may result in additional disciplinary action, including but not limited to suspension or termination of your employment.

I am confident that you fully understand the impact of this issue. It is imperative that you work closely and collaboratively with the compliance staff going forward as one of their top priorities will be to work with and assist the men's basketball staff to ensure complete compliance.

Sincerely,

Rick Greenspan

14. Corrective Actions and Self-Imposed Sanctions Taken by the Institution:

In light of the actions of the men's basketball coaches and the calls that were contrary to the sanctions and to NCAA rules, the university determined that significant additional corrective actions and sanctions were necessary. These penalties were designed to directly impact the coaches involved as well as the men's basketball program as a whole, and are intended to address both violations of Committee on Infractions sanctions reported previously as well as violations of NCAA bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 as contained herein. The university believes that these corrective actions and sanctions send a strong message that complete commitment to NCAA compliance is expected and required of all coaches and staff. (It should be noted that in evaluating the extent of the additional sanctions, the university used the maximum number of potentially impermissible calls.)

Corrective Actions

- a. Sampson voluntarily agreed over the next twelve-month period to forego his scheduled $500,000 raise for this current contract year.
- b. Senderoff and Meyer will not be entitled to any bonuses for the 2007-08 academic year or salary increases for the 2008-09 academic year.
- c. Letters of reprimand will be issued to Sampson, Senderoff and Meyer.
- d. A letter will be included in the personnel file for McCallum.
- e. The university will require Senderoff to sign a form each month reminding him of these corrective actions and sanctions and will require him to submit his monthly home phone records for review, in addition to his cell and office phone records.
- f. The compliance office will conduct mandatory compliance meetings every other week for the full men's basketball coaching staff (i.e., head coach, assistant coaches, and director of basketball operations) for one year.
- g. Sampson and Senderoff will be required to attend at their own expense the same 2008 NCAA Regional Rules Seminar as a member of the university's compliance staff. Meyer and McCallum will also be required to attend the seminar.
- h. The university has ceased the recruitment of prospective student-athlete Jonathon "Bud" Mackey, the subject of the vast majority (25) of the NCAA violations.

Self-Imposed Sanctions

- a. The university has, effective September 17, 2007, reduced the number of coaches allowed to be involved in recruiting by one through July 31, 2008. Specifically,

Senderoff will be prohibited from: (i) making ANY phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting (whether or not they are countable under NCAA rules); and (ii) engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. When Senderoff leaves the employment of the University's men's basketball program, if prior to July 31, 2008, another assistant coach will serve the remainder of this sanction.

- b. The university will reduce by one the number of men's basketball financial aid awards for the 2008-09 academic year.
- c. The university will reduce the number of permissible calls to prospects on or after August 1 of their senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week from September 17, 2007, through the end of the regular National Letter of Intent signing period (May 21, 2008). Further, Sampson is only eligible to make every other one of these phone calls. [Note: With approximately 20 senior recruits and a 35-week period, this sanction reduces calling opportunities by approximately 700 phone calls, including an additional reduction of 350 calls for Sampson].
- d. The university will reduce the number of phone calls Sampson will be permitted to make to junior prospective student-athletes to every other one of the monthly calls to junior prospects beginning September 17, 2007, and ending July 31, 2008.

[Note: With approximately 177 junior recruits and a 10-month period, this sanction reduces Sampson's calling opportunities by approximately 885 phone calls.]

- e. The university limited Sampson to four (4) off-campus recruiting contact days during the fall 2007 contact period.
- f. The university will limit Sampson to no more than ten (10) additional off-campus recruiting days to be used from the conclusion of the fall contact period (October 5, 2007) through July 31, 2008.

[Note: Sampson's typical practice has been to divide the off-campus recruiting person-days by the four coaches. Therefore, since there are 130 recruiting person-days during the academic year and 20 person-days by three coaches during the July recruiting period, his off-campus recruiting days have been reduced from approximately 48 ($130 + (20 \times 3) = 190 \div 4 \text{ coaches} = 48$) to 14, a 71% reduction.)]

- g. The university will reduce the number of permissible official paid visits from 12 to six (6) during the 2007-08 academic year.
- h. The university will submit a report to the Committee by September 30, 2008, documenting compliance with these additional sanctions.

INDIANA UNIVERSITY

Office of the Director
Bloomington

November 1, 2007

Coach Jeff Meyer
Men's Basketball
Indiana University
Assembly Hall
1001 E. 17th Street
Bloomington, IN 47408

Dear Coach Meyer:

This shall serve as a letter of reprimand and will become a part of your personnel file at Indiana University. This letter is warranted due to your failure to abide by NCAA sanctions and NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 regarding telephone calls during your recruitment of Scott Martin and Jordan Crawford, and NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3 when you arranged an unofficial visit during Derek Elston's participation in the Kelvin Sampson Team Camp June 30 – July 1 this past summer.

As you know, Indiana University has a strong commitment to compliance with NCAA and Big Ten rules governing intercollegiate athletics. You had direct access to the compliance office staff for any interpretative questions that might arise. You also signed monthly declarations that you were not using your home phone to make recruiting calls. This proved to be inaccurate as you did make a few recruiting calls from your home phone, none of which were documented in CyberSports or otherwise reported, including one call to Scott Martin. This call violated NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, which states you may only call a junior prospect once per month. As a result, you jeopardized the compliance staff's ability to monitor the telephone activity of the men's basketball staff and its ability to report the violation regarding Martin in a more timely fashion. In addition, you made four recruiting phone calls that were contrary to the sanctions imposed on the men's basketball program.

Additionally, your involvement in arranging for a prospect to meet with Coach Sampson so that he could extend a verbal scholarship offer without ensuring that the prospect's participation in an institutional camp or clinic was completed is clearly contrary to NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3 which states (emphasis added):

The interaction during sports camps and clinics between prospective student-athletes and those coaches employed by the camp or clinic is not subject to the recruiting calendar restrictions. However, an institutional staff member employed at any camp or clinic (e.g., counselor, director) is prohibited from recruiting any prospective student-athlete during the time period that the camp or clinic is conducted (from the time the prospective student-athlete reports to the camp or clinic until the conclusion of all camp activities). The prohibition against recruiting includes extending verbal or written offers of financial aid to any prospective student-athlete during his or her attendance at the camp or clinic. Other coaches wishing to attend the camp as observers must comply with appropriate recruiting contact and evaluation periods. In addition, institutional camps or clinics may not be conducted during a dead period.

The meeting with Coach Sampson and his verbal offer of a scholarship to Derek Elston on the evening of June 30, the first day of a two-day team camp, resulted in a violation of this clearly established legislation. Although I understand that you directed Elston's coach to send him home after this unofficial visit occurred, you did not (nor did you direct anyone else to) follow up to ensure his participation in the camp was indeed over before he returned to campus on the evening of June 30.

I am particularly troubled that these violations and the failure to disclose the use of your home phone and to report the recruiting calls you made from home occurred during a time period when the entire men's basketball coaching staff should have been even more attentive to the proper application of NCAA rules and compliance-related issues as a result of the violations that occurred while Coach Sampson was at the University of Oklahoma.

In response to the phone calls made by coaches on the men's basketball staff that were contrary to the sanctions and in violation of NCAA rules, as set forth in our October 3 and October 26 reports to the NCAA, the university has taken actions regarding the men's basketball program, as detailed in the attachment to this letter. The following actions are specific to you:

- a. You will not be entitled to any bonuses for the 2007-08 academic year or salary increases for the 2008-09 academic year.
- b. A copy of this letter of reprimand will be issued to you and placed in your personnel file.
- c. You will be required to attend mandatory compliance meetings every other week for the full men's basketball coaching staff (i.e., head coach, assistant coaches, and director of basketball operations) for one year.
- d. You will be required to attend the same 2008 NCAA Regional Rules Seminar as a member of the university's compliance staff.

Further, Coach Sampson is only eligible to make every other one of these phone calls.

In response to the recruiting activities that took place during Derek Elson's camp participation that in violation of NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3, the university has taken the following actions:

- a. The relevant legislation was discussed with you in September and with Coach Sampson in October.
- b. The relevant legislation was reviewed with the entire men's basketball staff on October 23, 2007.
- c. The men's basketball staff is limited to six recruiting opportunities for this prospect during his senior year.
- d. Letters of reprimand will be issued to you (the purpose of this letter) and Coach Sampson.

It is my hope that these actions illustrate to you the critical importance of athletics compliance and I trust that you will take every measure possible to ensure that your future conduct adheres to NCAA, Big Ten Conference and Indiana University regulations and guidelines.

Please be advised that your involvement in or failure to report your knowledge of any other prior or subsequent violation of NCAA, Big Ten Conference or Indiana University bylaws, regulations, policies, procedures (including the actions listed in this letter and the attachment) or interpretations may result in additional disciplinary action, including but not limited to suspension or termination of your employment.

I am confident that you fully understand the impact of this issue. It is imperative that you work closely and collaboratively with the compliance staff going forward as one of their top priorities will be to work with and assist the men's basketball staff to ensure complete compliance.

- a. The university has, effective September 17, 2007, reduced the number of coaches allowed to be involved in recruiting by one through July 31, 2008. Specifically,

Senderoff will be prohibited from: (i) making ANY phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting (whether or not they are countable under NCAA rules); and (ii) engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. When Senderoff leaves the employment of the University's men's basketball program, if prior to July 31, 2008, another assistant coach will serve the remainder of this sanction.

- b. The university will reduce by one the number of men's basketball financial aid awards for the 2008-09 academic year.
- c. The university will reduce the number of permissible calls to prospects on or after August 1 of their senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week from September 17, 2007, through the end of the regular National Letter of Intent signing period (May 21, 2008). Further, Sampson is only eligible to make every other one of these phone calls. [Note: With approximately 20 senior recruits and a 35-week period, this sanction reduces calling opportunities by approximately 700 phone calls, including an additional reduction of 350 calls for Sampson].
- d. The university will reduce the number of phone calls Sampson will be permitted to make to junior prospective student-athletes to every other one of the monthly calls to junior prospects beginning September 17, 2007, and ending July 31, 2008.

[Note: With approximately 177 junior recruits and a 10-month period, this sanction reduces Sampson's calling opportunities by approximately 885 phone calls.]

- e. The university limited Sampson to four (4) off-campus recruiting contact days during the fall 2007 contact period.
- f. The university will limit Sampson to no more than ten (10) additional off-campus recruiting days to be used from the conclusion of the fall contact period (October 5, 2007) through July 31, 2008.

[Note: Sampson's typical practice has been to divide the off-campus recruiting person-days by the four coaches. Therefore, since there are 130 recruiting person-days during the academic year and 20 person-days by three coaches during the July recruiting period, his off-campus recruiting days have been reduced from approximately 48 ($130 + (20 \times 3) = 190 \div 4 \text{ coaches} = 48$) to 14, a 71% reduction.])

- g. The university will reduce the number of permissible official paid visits from 12 to six (6) during the 2007-08 academic year.
- h. The university will submit a report to the Committee by September 30, 2008, documenting compliance with these additional sanctions.

INTERCOLLEGIATE

INDIANA UNIVERSITY
Office of the Director
Bloomington

November 1, 2007

Coach Kelvin Sampson
Men's Basketball
Indiana University
Assembly Hall
1001 E. 17th Street
Bloomington, IN 47408

Dear Coach Sampson:

This is a letter of reprimand for you and your staff's failure to abide by the Committee on Infractions' recruiting calls restrictions adopted in its report dated May 25, 2006, and, in multiple cases, the NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 regarding telephone calls, as set forth in Indiana University's October 3 and October 26 reports submitted to the NCAA. It also serves as an additional reprimand for your failure to abide by NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3 regarding the prohibition against recruiting activities during a prospect's attendance at an institutional camp.

On April 19, 2006, you signed a compliance agreement that specifically stated, in part that you and your staff would:

2. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospect's sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospect's junior year in high school from one call per month to one call every other month for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding June 30, 2007.
3. Reduce the number of permissible calls by the men's basketball coaching staff to prospects on or after August 1 of the prospect's senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period commencing March 29, 2006, and concluding July 31, 2007.

On June 9, 2006, you signed a revised compliance agreement that repeated these restrictions on the normal NCAA legislation involving permissible telephone calls and also added the prohibition on your participation in any recruiting calls, as follows:

Rick Greenspan Director of Athletics

7. Coach Kelvin Sampson is prohibited, for a period of one year beginning May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007, from making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls.

The use of 3-way calling for recruiting, and specifically the impermissibility of your involvement, was clarified in a memorandum (in question and answer format, emphasis added) sent out on June 13 stating:

8. If an AAU or HS coach calls one of the IU assistant coaches and then adds a prospect in on a 3-way call, can the assistant coach add in Coach Sampson at that time (since the original call was initiated by the AAU or HS coach and not by anyone at IU)? No.

Therefore, your participation, ^{all be it unknowingly,} in 3-way calls involving recruiting was contrary to the Committee on Infractions sanctions. Further, the assistant coaches' inability to abide by the telephone call restrictions adopted and imposed by the COI and, in some cases, NCAA legislation itself are a direct reflection on your inability to promote compliance and to monitor the activities of your assistant coaches satisfactorily.

Finally, extending a verbal offer to a prospect during his participation in an institutional camp or clinic is clearly contrary to NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3 which states (emphasis added):

inadvisant

The interaction during sports camps and clinics between prospective student-athletes and those coaches employed by the camp or clinic is not subject to the recruiting calendar restrictions. However, an institutional staff member employed at any camp or clinic (e.g., counselor, director) is prohibited from recruiting any prospective student-athlete during the time period that the camp or clinic is conducted (from the time the prospective student-athlete reports to the camp or clinic until the conclusion of all camp activities). The prohibition against recruiting includes extending verbal or written offers of financial aid to any prospective student-athlete during his or her attendance at the camp or clinic.

Other coaches wishing to attend the camp as observers must comply with appropriate recruiting contact and evaluation periods. In addition, institutional camps or clinics may not be conducted during a dead period.

Your verbal offer of a scholarship to Derek Elston ("Elston") on June 30, on the evening of the first day of a two-day team camp, was in violation of this established legislation. While I understand that Coach Jeff Meyer ("Meyer") directed Elston's coach to send him home after this unofficial visit occurred, no one on your staff followed up to ensure his participation in your camp had in fact concluded before he returned to campus on the evening of June 30. This violation is again a reflection on your inability to promote compliance and to monitor the activities of your assistant coaches satisfactorily.

As you know, Indiana University has a strong commitment to compliance with NCAA and Big Ten rules governing intercollegiate athletics. In addition to the normal monthly compliance meetings with the entire coaching staff, meetings prior to specific contact and evaluation periods, and availability of the compliance staff to answer any questions regarding the rules and/or sanctions, the director of compliance met with the director of basketball operations (DOBO) every week and had copies of the agendas and rules education supplements for the DOBO to distribute to the coaching staff. As stated earlier, the coaching staff had direct access to the compliance office staff for any interpretative questions that might arise. Each of your assistant coaches also monthly signed declarations that indicated that he was not using his home phone for recruiting phone calls, even though several of your assistant coaches had made a number of recruiting calls from their home phones during several months. Moreover, the prohibition on recruiting during camps and clinics was covered at the February Compliance Meeting and is clearly stated in the Spring 2007 Camp & Clinic Guide, which was distributed to all coaches in March.

I am particularly troubled that these issues and violations occurred during a time period when the entire men's basketball coaching staff should have been even more attentive to potential violations and issues regarding recruiting phone calls as a result of the violations that occurred while you were at the University of Oklahoma.

In response to the phone calls that were made contrary to the sanctions and in violation of NCAA rules, the university has taken the following actions regarding you and the men's basketball program.

- a. We have previously agreed as part of the disciplinary actions to be taken your compensation from Indiana University will be reduced by $500,000 over the specified twelve-month period.
- b. Senderoff and Meyer will not be entitled to any bonuses for the 2007-08 academic year or salary increases for the 2008-09 academic year.
- c. Letters of reprimand will be issued to you (the purpose of this letter), Senderoff and Meyer.
- d. A letter will be included in the personnel file for McCallum.
- e. The university will require Senderoff to sign a form each month reminding him of these corrective actions and sanctions and will require him to submit his monthly home phone records for review, in addition to his cell and office phone records.
- f. The compliance office will conduct mandatory compliance meetings every other week for the full men's basketball coaching staff (i.e., head coach, assistant coaches, and director of basketball operations) for one year.
- g. You and Senderoff will be required to attend at your own expense the same 2008 NCAA Regional Rules Seminar as a member of the university's compliance staff. Meyer and McCallum will also be required to attend the seminar.
- h. The university has ceased the recruitment of prospective student-athlete Jonathon "Bud" Mackey, the subject of the vast majority (22) of the NCAA violations.
- i. The university has, effective September 17, 2007, reduced the number of coaches allowed to be involved in recruiting by one through July 31, 2008. Specifically, Senderoff will be prohibited from: (i) making ANY phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting (whether or not they are countable under NCAA rules); and (ii) engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. If Senderoff leaves the employment of the University's men's basketball program prior to July 31, 2008, another assistant coach will serve the remainder of this sanction.

- j. The university will reduce by one the number of men's basketball financial aid awards for the 2008-09 academic year.
- k. The university will reduce the number of permissible calls to prospects on or after August 1 of their senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week from September 17, 2007, through the end of the regular National Letter of Intent signing period (May 21, 2008). Further, you are only eligible to make every other one of these phone calls.
- l. The university will reduce the number of phone calls you will be permitted to make to junior prospective student-athletes to every other one of the monthly calls to junior prospects beginning September 17, 2007, and ending July 31, 2008.
- m. The university limited you to four (4) off-campus recruiting contact days during the fall 2007 contact period.
- n. The university will limit you to no more than ten (10) additional off-campus recruiting days to be used from the conclusion of the fall contact period (October 5, 2007) through July 31, 2008.
- o. The university will reduce the number of permissible official paid visits from 12 to six (6) during the 2007-08 academic year.
- p. The university will submit a report to the Committee on Infractions by September 30, 2008, documenting compliance with these additional sanctions.

In response to the verbal scholarship that was extended to Derek Elston during his participation in your team camp this past summer, which was in violation of NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3, the university has taken the following actions regarding you and the men's basketball program.

- a. The relevant legislation was discussed with the assistant coach in September and with you in October.
- b. The relevant legislation was reviewed with the entire men's basketball staff on October 23, 2007.
- c. The men's basketball staff is limited to six recruiting opportunities for this prospect during his senior year.
- d. Letters of reprimand will be issued to you (the purpose of this letter) and Meyer.

It is my hope that this action will further demonstrate to you the critical importance of athletics compliance with all applicable legislation, including rules, regulations, interpretations, policies and sanctions. It is your duty, as well as a policy and rule of Indiana University, to ^{insuring} comply in all respects to all applicable NCAA, Big Ten Conference and Indiana University legislation, rules, ^{insure} ^{compliance} regulations, interpretations, policies and sanctions. Any failure to do so is also a violation of the stated mission of the university. I trust that you will take every measure possible to ensure that your future conduct, and that of all men's basketball assistant coaches and other staff members, is in full conformity to such legislation, rules, regulations, interpretations, policies and sanctions.

It is my sincere desire that we can put these issues behind us and move forward with ^{the same} positive working relationship. ^{we have enjoyed to date} However, please be advised that the university is reserving its right to impose additional disciplinary action, including but not limited to suspension or termination of your employment for "Just Cause", if (a) we determine that you or your staff have not been completely honest with the university concerning these issues, (b) additional facts arise that indicate other or additional violations of applicable NCAA, Big Ten Conference and Indiana University legislation, rules, regulations, interpretations, policies or sanctions by you or your staff have occurred prior to the date hereof, or (c) other or additional violations of applicable NCAA, Big Ten Conference and Indiana University legislation, rules, regulations, interpretations, policies or sanctions by you or your staff occur on or after the date hereof.

I am confident that you fully understand the impact of these issues and that this letter will serve as the only necessary reminder to you to carefully monitor your staff in all areas, and particularly regarding all recruiting activities, including phone calls. It is imperative that you ^{continue to} work closely and collaboratively with the Indiana University compliance staff going forward as one of their top priorities will be to work with and assist you and your staff to ensure complete compliance with all applicable NCAA, Big Ten Conference and Indiana University legislation, rules, regulations, interpretations, policies and sanctions.

If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to contact me. Please acknowledge your receipt of this letter and your agreement to abide by the terms hereof by signing a copy of this letter in the place indicated below and by returning it to me as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

Rick Greenspan

Dear Coach Sampson,

I am writing with regard to the letter of admonishment dated November 1, 2007 that I issued to you. After you reviewed the letter, you provided me with a marked-up copy indicating some suggested changes to the letter that you wanted me to consider. I have now had a chance to give thought whether the letter is inaccurate or otherwise in need of revision. I have also discussed with our university legal counsel the appropriate way in which to provide you the opportunity to express any disagreement with the content of the letter or to provide any clarification or context that you believe the letter lacks. The November 1 letter was not intended to be a draft and so should remain in its original form without editorial comments or changes. However, if you like, I will place your marked-up copy of the November 1 letter in your personnel file along with my original letter. In the alternative, if you want to provide me with a responsive letter or memo of your own, I will be happy to add that to your file.

Please feel free to contact me if you have any questions.

Thanks,

Secondary Decision Date: Dec 04, 2007

Baseball

Facts:

During August, September, and October of 2006, a volunteer baseball coach participated in 57 impermissible phone calls involving 48 prospective student-athletes (PSAs). Specifically, the volunteer coach took the coaching test and was informed of the rules change prior to the 2006 fall semester, but continued to make calls and document them in institutional call logs. None of the baseball PSAs were called more than the permissible number of times. Due to a breakdown in communication, the violation went undetected by the compliance office for several months. The compliance office discovered the violation July 1, 2007, when the head baseball coach called the compliance office to confirm volunteer coaches were permitted to call PSAs. On clarifying this misunderstanding of the legislation, the compliance office reviewed all previous call logs for violations.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

The institution has declared all PSAs involved ineligible and will seek reinstatement for two of the PSAs. A letter of reprimand has been issued to the head baseball coach and the volunteer coach and it will include a review of NCAA rules as they relate to activities performed by coaches who do not count against their sport's coaching numerical limitations. A letter of admonishment was issued to the Compliance staff person responsible for monitoring recruiting activities of coaches. All rules education sessions with all coaching staffs will be conducted in a formal manner in a designated room as opposed to being occasionally done in the coach's offices. A record of attendance will be kept for all rules education sessions. All members of the institution's coaching staffs will be required to attend rules education meetings instead of the previous policy of requiring only the head coach and full-time assistants. The telephone log submission grid will include names of only those coaches who are permitted to call PSAs. The staff member responsible for monitoring phone logs will be required to note their review of each phone log by placing his/her initials and date of review on each phone log. As a means of checking accuracy of phone logs, the logs will be compared with the names and dates of PSAs that are scheduled to make, or have made, official visits to campus. It is reasonable to assume that a PSA making an official visit to campus would be called by coaches on a regular basis. Additional scrutiny would be appropriate for a prospect making an official visit that is not listed a number of times in the phone log. The institution secured the services of a compliance entity to assess the current procedures for monitoring telephone calls and to assist in implementing any needed changes.

Men's Track, Outdoor

Facts:

During the 2006-07 academic year, the head men's track coach had 16 impermissible telephone contacts with a men's track prospective student-athlete (PSA #1) and eight impermissible telephone contacts with a second PSA (PSA #2). Specifically, between October 31, 2006, and January 5, 2007, the coach made 16 impermissible calls to the PSA #1, and between December 27, 2006, and January 5, 2007, the coach made eight impermissible calls to PSA #2. Poor record keeping led to the track and field recruiting coordinators and the compliance office being unable to accurately monitor the coach's telephone calls. Most of the calls were made because neither of the PSAs spoke English and the coach spoke their language and could explain the process of enrolling and other translational issues.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

The coach will not make recruiting phone calls for a period of 48 weeks beginning January 22, 2007. Other men's track staff members, no calls for 24 weeks. The coach will not have any off-campus contact with PSAs of any kind for 48 weeks beginning January 22, 2007. A full time recruiting coordinator will be designated/hired to oversee all areas of recruiting in the track program and ensure timely submission of all required reports. The coach will review rules with compliance office. Letter of reprimand will be placed in the coach's file. Sport supervision for track will be reassigned within the department and supervisor will supply monthly reports on all recruiting activity to the director of athletics, as well as ensure that all reports are timely submitted. The coach will be placed on a probationary status and any further NCAA infractions in his track reassignment or termination of employment at the athletic director's discretion. The coach, in consultation with athletic director, shall review and consolidate all non-track obligations that the coach currently has outside of the athletic department, in order to focus on his primary responsibilities within the track program. The coaches in track and in cross country will attend 2007 rules seminars. Two student-athletes are being held out and will not participate in the 2006-07 indoor season.

Enforcement Action:

Eligibility Action:

STAFF: Eligibility reinstated.

Rationale:

STAFF: Based on case precedent. Please note the staff considered imposing a reinstatement condition to negate the recruiting advantage gained by the institution specifically the high number of phone calls made to PSA no. 1. However, the staff felt that the responsibility for this violation fell on the institution and cannot be appropriately addressed in Student-Athlete Reinstatement.

Women's Basketball

Facts:

During the 2005-06 academic year, an assistant women's basketball coach exceeded one permissible telephone call per week to six women's basketball prospective student-athletes (PSAs). Specifically, the assistant coach initiated impermissible telephone calls, after it otherwise was permissible to have such contact, to the PSAs on 28 different occasions. The assistant coach initiated 12 impermissible telephone calls to one PSA (four of which were messages), six impermissible telephone calls to a second PSA (five of which were messages), six impermissible telephone calls to a third PSA (four of which were messages), one impermissible telephone call to a fourth PSA, one impermissible telephone call to a fifth PSA and one impermissible telephone call and one impermissible message to a sixth PSA. The violations occurred because the assistant coach failed to accurately document his recruiting activities. Each of the six PSAs signed with and will be attending other institutions.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

As a result of this violation, the interim head women's basketball coach has provided the assistant coach with a logging system that can be used to maintain an accurate log of his recruiting activities. In addition, the compliance office has reviewed the applicable recruiting legislation with the assistant coach with the expectation that this type of recruiting violation does not reoccur, and the assistant coach will receive a letter of reprimand. The assistant coach will be notified in his letter of reprimand that the office of human resources will be contacted to determine if additional punitive action can be taken. Since the institution is no longer recruiting the above mentioned PSAs, the assistant coach will be prohibited from contacting any PSA for four weeks beginning September 1, 2006. In addition, the assistant coach will be prohibited from recruiting off-campus for half of the permissible recruiting period during the 2006-07 year.

Enforcement Action:

The enforcement staff is extremely concerned regarding the number of impermissible calls made and the assistant coach's apparent lack of knowledge of basic NCAA recruiting legislation and failure to monitor recruiting calls. Further, the staff gave serious consideration to processing these violations as a major infractions case. The institution should be required to prohibit the entire women's basketball coaching staff from telephoning any PSAs who have not previously signed a National Letter of Intent with the institution from May 1, 2007, until September 1, 2007. In addition, please note that four of the PSAs are ineligible for intercollegiate competition at the institution until their eligibility is restored by the NCAA student-athlete reinstatement staff. If the institution seeks reinstatement for any of these PSAs in the future, the enforcement staff will re-evaluate this matter to determine if additional actions or penalties should be imposed.

Facts:

Institution engaged in impermissible recruiting activity with 57 prospective student-athletes (PSAs) during their official visits. In addition, the associate athletics director for football operations sent impermissible letters to PSAs prior to their official visits during the 2004-05 and 2005-06 academic years. Specifically, institution discovered associate athletics director for football operations sent impermissible letters (in that it was not prepared by a head coach or one of the full-time assistant coaches) to PSAs prior to their official visits in fall 2005 and similar letters from him had been placed in the hotel rooms of the PSAs on their arrival to campus for official visits. The main purpose of the letters was to provide a copy of the institution's campus visit conduct guidelines. Institution discovered that similar letters had been sent during the 2004-05 academic year as well. During institution's review, it discovered a large cookie snack was placed in the hotel room for each PSA on an official visit and the cookie was personalized with the PSA's first name, which is a violation of NCAA legislation as it is a personalized recruiting aid. The violations were discovered in January 2006 during a review of the official visit reports.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

Compliance staff reviewed applicable recruiting legislation with the associate athletics director for football operations and his support staff. They were informed that no personalized recruiting aids could be used at any location when a prospect visits the institution. They were informed that only the head football coach and nine full-time assistant coaches are permitted to prepare and send general recruiting correspondence to PSAs, their parents or their legal guardians. They were also informed that no personalized recruiting aids could be used at any location when a PSA visits. Athletics director sent a letter of reprimand to the associate athletics director for football operations and a letter of admonishment to the assistant director of football operations and required them to attend a 2006 NCAA Regional Rules Compliance Seminar. An additional full-time compliance assistant has been hired to assist with monitoring of recruiting in all sports. Finally, applicable recruiting legislation will be points of emphasis at the institution's next NCAA Rules and Compliance Education meeting with all coaches.

Facts:

For several years, numerous prospective student-athletes (PSAs) across all sports incorrectly received institutional waivers of the admissions and housing deposits. Specifically a waiver was provided from the admissions office of the $250 acceptance deposit to PSAs that sign a National Letter of Intent (NLI), as well as a waiver of the housing deposit for all PSAs on scholarship living in the athletics department allotment of on-campus housing. Institution reported this had been a standard practice that the previous compliance personnel did not question. Specifically, the waiver of deposit fees was used because the NLI itself was a binding promise to attend the institution if admitted and, therefore, a deposit was not needed to hold that PSA's seat in the incoming class. The housing deposit was waived as it was a portion of PSA's future housing charges, which would be paid by the athletics scholarship. PSAs not signing a NLI or not on a full scholarship did not receive these waivers. These waivers covered deposits, which were permissible to refund to the athletes and thus the SAs did not receive any net financial benefit but standard practice was impermissible in procedure. The violation was discovered when the director of compliance was reviewing the draft of a self-study report.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

Institution has modified its procedures with an immediate effective date to require PSAs pay all acceptance and housing deposits and fees. The expenses will be refunded only to PSAs who have been awarded financial aid covering institutional fees. A memorandum has been issued to all athletics department staff concerning this change of policy. The compliance office has also notified the admissions and housing offices of the legislation and will schedule a yearly educational meeting with each office.

Facts:

For approximately the last 10 summers, including the summer of 2004, the institution provided numerous student-athletes (SAs) on various sports teams with impermissible athletically related aid during the summer in that the amounts received exceeded amounts permitted by NCAA legislation for summer school. (The institution is seeking reinstatement for 25 SAs who have eligibility remaining and who received impermissible aid during the 2003 and 2004 summers. The amounts of impermissible aid received by SAs ranged between $400.50 and $2,142.50.) Specifically, the institution incorrectly calculated the equivalency amounts for athletically related summer financial aid over this 10-year period. When determining the percentage of summer aid awarded for each SA who received less than a full grant-in-aid during the academic year, the institution used the value associated with full-time enrollment for summer term as defined by the financial aid office as the cost of tuition, room and board and books for an SA taking three eight-week courses. However, per NCAA regulations, the percentage of summer aid should have been awarded based on the SA's actual cost of attendance, as opposed to the cost of full-time enrollment for the summer term. Prior to the start of the summer term, SAs received notification of the amount of summer aid they were to receive and that it was equal to the percentage of aid they received during the academic year. The SAs relied on this information when making their decision whether to attend summer school. With the exception of one SA, none of the 25 SAs involved required summer courses to be eligible the following year. In addition, the institution could have used the Student-Athlete Opportunity Fund to permissibly pay for the SA's courses in the summer of 2004. The institution discovered the violations through an established, periodic audit documented by an outside agency per institutional policies and procedures.

Additional Facts:

Institution Action:

Institution will reduce the amount of summer aid awarded to its SAs in the summers of 2006 and 2007 by the amounts of $20,952.63 and $6,127.10, which represent the total amount of summer aid that was over-awarded to currently enrolled SAs during the summers of 2004 and 2003. In addition, staff members from the compliance, academic services and financial aid offices will be required to attend a financial aid educational session conducted by the conference office and will also attend the conference spring workshop scheduled for April 2006 and the 2006 NCAA Regional Rules Compliance Seminar. The internal auditing procedures have been amended to include an annual review of the summer financial aid awarding procedures for at least the next five years after which the institution will evaluate whether to return to the one-in-four years audit. Letters of reprimand would have been placed in the files of those responsible for the oversight of the financial aid process between 1995 and 2004; however, those individuals no longer are employed by the institution. As a result of a comprehensive investigation to determine how the violations could have occurred, the institution has made several changes relative to the process for awarding athletically related summer financial aid. The compliance office will also increase educational efforts for its SAs relative to financial aid with emphasis placed on the calculation of summer athletically related aid.

Enforcement Action:

Although the enforcement staff is concerned regarding the length of time over which the violations occurred and the number of SAs involved, it was determined that the case should be classified as secondary. The decision to process the case as secondary primarily was based on the following factors: (1) The violations were the result of a misinterpretation of only one area of the financial aid legislation; (2) only one of the student-athletes with eligibility remaining needed summer school courses to be eligible; and (3) during the summer of 2004 (which involved the vast majority of the impermissible funds) the institution could have paid for the summer courses through the Student-Athlete Opportunity Fund. In addition, it was determined that no further action should be taken in the matter.

Eligibility Action:

STAFF: Eligibility reinstated for 24 SAs who did not need summer school hours. Eligibility reinstated based on repayment of impermissible aid for the one SA who required the courses.

Rationale:

STAFF: Based on the totality of the circumstances. The staff provided relief in this case based on the institutional error. SAs made decision to take summer school classes based on information provided by institution regarding the amount of aid they would receive. Further, the staff noted the classes were not needed for eligibility purposes. In this case, the staff felt the high institutional involvement in arranging, encouraging and incorrectly informing SAs of amount of aid for which they were eligible was more appropriately addressed through actions against institution than through requiring repayment of SA's who did not need the class. Repayment was required for the SA who needed the classes to be eligible.

Re: Revised Reinstatement Request

Dear Kelly:

Attached is a revised reinstatement request from Indiana University regarding men's basketball prospective student-athlete Derek Elston ("Elston" or "the prospect"). As we reported on October 26, a violation of NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3 occurred when the prospect came to campus on an unofficial visit on the evening of June 30, his first day of participation in a two-day institutional camp. We are requesting that the prospect's eligibility to compete at Indiana University be reinstated with no conditions.

We have modified the context of the violation initially reported due to information that was discovered after we obtained statements from the prospect and his high school coach, as you requested, as well as additional information that we received from Assistant Men's Basketball Coach Jeff Meyer ("Coach Meyer"), the assistant coach who was the primary organizer of the meeting. I have attached the statements from the prospect, his coach (Travis Daugherty or "Daugherty"), Coach Meyer and Head Men's Basketball Coach Kelvin Sampson ("Coach Sampson").

Although the violation itself has not changed, I wanted to highlight the circumstances that are apparently different than we initially reported:

1. Coach Meyer's statements to Daugherty. When the initial report was prepared, there was apparently some miscommunication regarding the information or instructions Coach Meyer conveyed to Daugherty regarding how Elston needed to be dismissed from the camp. Coach Meyer has indicated that he believes the confusion arose because he emphasized that he thought Elston had been properly dismissed from the camp and because he did not recall seeing him on the second day of the camp. Coach Meyer also stated that he did not recall speaking with either Elston or Daugherty on the second day, but that he generally tries to casually chat with players, parents and coaches as they finish camp activities and leave campus. Coach Sampson does not remember talking with the prospect or his coach on the second day of the camp. Elston and Daugherty stated that Coach Sampson and Coach Meyer watched at least some of Elston's last game and that the coaches spoke with Elston before they left.

2. Scholarship Offer. Contrary to what was reported in the original request, no scholarship was offered at the meeting on June 30. However, as they left the meeting, Daugherty asked Coach Meyer if a scholarship had been offered. Coach Meyer responded that they could not make an offer while the prospect was on campus but that was what they planned to do.

The attached reinstatement request reflects our current understanding of the context for the violation based on the attached written statements from all parties. Again, we do not believe that the revisions affect the substance or nature of the violation. Feel free to let me know if you have any questions or need any additional information. You can contact me at 812/855-0451 or by e-mail at jhooker@indiana.edu. We appreciate your assistance in this matter.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Brinegar

3. Date Institution Determined Violation Occurred: September 2007
4. Date Reported to: NCAA: December 17, 2007 Conference: N/A
5. Location of Violation: Bloomington, Indiana
6. Date of Violation: June 30, 2007
7. How was the violation discovered? Review of information reported to the NCAA and forwarded to the institution in a written inquiry dated July 12, 2007.
8. Legislation Involved: NCAA: 13.12.1.3
Conference:
9. For NCAA violations, indicate whether this is a Level I or Level II violation. Report Level I violations directly to the NCAA.

X Level I: In general: violations of bylaws outside of Bylaws 10-17, all intentional violations, any violations not isolated or limited to a single occurrence, and any similar violations that previously have occurred in the same sport during that same year. Refer to the NCAA website for a complete list of Level I violations (http://www1.ncaa.org/membership/enforcement/secondary_violations/index).

Level II: All inadvertent violations of the operating bylaws (Bylaws 10-17) not identified as Level I violations. Level II violations do not require reinstatement by the NCAA. If this self-report involves restitution, please attach documentation of repayment.

10. Individual(s) Involved (include Name/Position or Title):
Jeff Meyer, assistant coach, and Kelvin Sampson, head coach
11. Prospective or Enrolled Student-Athlete(s) Involved:
Derek Elston, prospective student-athlete
12. Eligibility reinstatement required? Yes.

If yes, requested to: NCAA X If YES, request eligibility reinstatement directly from NCAA.
Or Conference _____ If YES, request eligibility reinstatement directly from Conference.

A) Date institution declared the prospect/student-athlete ineligible: Date: September 2007
B) Name(s) of Prospect(s) or Student-Athlete(s) declared ineligible: Derek Elston

C) Are there other eligibility issues with this prospect or student-athlete (e.g., petition pending; additional reinstatement pending, etc.)? If YES, please clarify: No.

13. Facts of the Case: The prospect's high school team participated in an institutional team camp on June 30 and July 1. Most of his team's games took place in the HPER gym on Saturday, June 30; however, his team's last game took place in Assembly Hall. After the last game, the prospect stayed with a teammate who was getting treatment in Assembly Hall for a knee injury that was sustained during the last game. The rest of the team and one of the team's assistant coaches went back to their off-campus hotel. At some point that evening, the prospect and his head coach went into the coaches' locker room in Assembly Hall to meet with Coach Sampson and Coach Meyer. They did not leave campus or Assembly Hall between the end of their game and this meeting. Further, the next day, the prospect returned with his team to participate in the second and final day of the two-day team camp. The meeting on June 30 is thus contrary to Bylaw 13.12.1.3.

Coach Meyer was the main organizer of the meeting. He realized the morning of June 30 that the coaches could not meet with the prospect following the camp's conclusion on July 1, as would have been permissible if the camp had occurred earlier in June, due to the impermissibility of unofficial visits during July. He incorrectly believed that NCAA rules would allow a meeting with the prospect if the prospect had been dismissed from the camp and team obligations at the end of the day on June 30. During the afternoon or evening of June 30, the assistant coach informed the prospect's coach that the university's coaches would like to meet with him and the prospect but that the prospect had to be dismissed from camp prior to the meeting.

14. Mitigating Circumstances: The assistant coach thought that if he suggested that the prospect leave campus after the last game on June 30 that, because all camp activity for the day had been completed, this would constitute dismissal from the camp. He did not understand that dismissal was not possible until the camp was over or the team had finished its participation. In trying to avoid an issue with the "no July unofficial visit rule" the assistant coach did not take enough care to ensure the accuracy of his understanding of what would be considered dismissal from camp. In retrospect, he realizes that he should have contacted the compliance office for an interpretation regarding what they could do. The head coach believed this meeting was permissible based on the information the assistant coach shared with him regarding his incorrect understanding that the prospect had been dismissed from the camp.

15. Corrective Actions Taken by Institution: The relevant legislation was discussed with the assistant coach in September and with the head coach in early October. It was also reviewed with the entire men's basketball staff on October 23, 2007. The men's basketball staff is limited to six recruiting opportunities for this prospect during his junior year and six during his senior year, with only two of those for off-campus contacts. The two coaches were issued letters of reprimand.

Jennifer,

To the best of my memory, here are as direct and detailed of answers as I can provide to the questions about Derek Elston. If you have any follow-up questions, please let me know.

Question 1: Did you meet with Derek Elston during the team camp this past summer: specifically, on the evening of Saturday, June 30 at the end of the camp activities for that day?

Answer 1: Yes.

Question 2: Was this meeting related to camp activities?

Answer 2: Yes. The meeting was related to camp activities in two ways. First, because Derek was on campus with his team to participate in camp play, the meeting was physically possible and we discussed Tipton High School's pool play opponents. Second, my impression of Derek's play during the Saturday camp game that I had watched earlier in the day was discussed in the meeting.

Question 3: Was any recruitment of Derek discussed (any conversation designed to solicit Derek's future enrollment at IU)?

Answer 3: Yes. There was no actual offer of a scholarship to Derek during the meeting. However, while meeting in the coaches' locker room, Coach Sampson and Derek did talk about Derek's game. As part of that conversation between Coach Sampson and Derek, I believe that Coach Sampson said that Derek was the type of player and person whom he wanted playing at Indiana. To the best of my memory, as Derek, Travis and I were leaving the locker room, Travis asked something like, "So does Derek have a scholarship to IU," and I basically said, "We can't make any official offer while Derek is on campus, but that's what we plan to do."

Question 4: Was his coach present?

Answer 4: Yes.

Question 5: Who organized this meeting?

Answer 5: I was the main organizer of the meeting. The meeting came about like this – I knew that our staff would like to have the chance to talk with Derek while he was in Bloomington. As I was driving to camp on the morning of Saturday, June 30th, I realized that because camp lasted through Sunday, July 1st that the rule prohibiting unofficial visits during the month of July would prevent us from meeting with Derek after Sunday's camp session, which we could have done had camp been earlier in the month. As I was driving, I tried to think of how we could meet with Derek without violating that rule. I knew that there was a rule that allowed us to meet with a prospect who had been “dismissed” from camp. I thought that meeting with Derek after all camp activities had ended June 30th and Derek had been “dismissed” from camp and team obligations could solve these two issues within the NCAA rules. At some point early Saturday afternoon (after Derek’s team’s first Saturday game), I saw Coach Daugherty and mentioned that our staff would like to visit with him and Derek. In order to try to follow the “no July unofficial visit” rule and because of my (incorrect) understanding of the “dismissed from camp” rule, I told Coach Daugherty that we would have to do it Saturday night after he had dismissed Derek from his camp and team obligations. As I recall, I suggested that after Coach Daugherty’s team’s last game that he should dismiss his team, let an assistant coach take the team to their off-campus hotel, he and Derek should go off-campus and then return to campus and find me in the Assembly Hall. I do not remember watching Derek play any more on Saturday or having any other conversation with Coach Daugherty that afternoon. Saturday evening, Coach Daugherty and Derek found me in the Assembly Hall after their last game of the day. At that time, I (incorrectly) believed that we could meet with Derek without violating either relevant rule, so we went to meet Coach Sampson.

Question 6: Where was the meeting held?

Answer 6: The meeting was held in the coaches’ locker room in the Assembly Hall.

Question 7: Who was present (please name everyone who was in the room when this meeting took place)?

Answer 7: I know that Derek, Coach Daugherty, Coach Sampson, and I were in the meeting. I do not remember whether any of our other assistant coaches were present.

Question 8: Did you speak (during this meeting) with Derek or his coach about a scholarship and/or playing at IU?

Answer 8: I do not remember personally talking about Derek coming to Indiana during the meeting. I think that at the beginning of the meeting there was some general discussion about camp and about Derek’s game, but the meeting pretty quickly became a conversation between Derek and Coach Sampson. As I mentioned in response to Question 3, I recall that as Derek, Travis and I were leaving the locker room, Travis asked something like, “So does Derek have a scholarship to IU,” and I basically said, “We can’t make any official offer while Derek is on campus, but that’s what we plan to do.” I believe that was the only time during that weekend that I specifically talked with Derek or Coach Daugherty about Derek playing at Indiana.

Question 9: Why did this meeting take place during camp?

Answer 9: The meeting occurred when it did for the reasons I explained in response to Question 5. The intention was to meet in a way that satisfied both the “no July unofficial visit” rule and the “dismissed from camp” rule. I thought that by holding the meeting in the way I suggested to Coach Daugherty that we would comply with both of those rules because all camp activity for Saturday would be finished, Derek would be "dismissed," and it would still be June when we met. Regrettably, I was wrong.

Question 10: Did you talk with Derek and/or his coach at any point during the camp on Sunday, July 1?

Answer 10: I do not remember talking with Derek or Coach Daugherty on Sunday. Generally, if a summer camp ends on a day when I am in town, I try to chat with players, parents and coaches as they finish camp activities and leave campus. These chats are fairly random and are of a casual and brief nature, basically thanking campers and coaches for coming to camp and wishing them well during the upcoming season. I know that I was around the Assembly Hall at the end of camp on Sunday, and I generally remember saying goodbye to lots of people. It may be that I chatted with Derek or Coach Daugherty while they were leaving, but I don't remember doing that. The reason for meeting with them Saturday night was because I knew we couldn't have an unofficial visit on Sunday, so I'm confident that we didn't have any deep conversation Sunday.

Question 11: In light of the specific legislation that prohibits recruiting activities during an institutional camp, please provide your explanation as to why this meeting occurred?

Answer 11: The meeting occurred for the reasons I explained in response to Question 5 and Question 9. Although the meeting turned out to be a violation of the "dismissed from camp" rule, there was no conscious decision to break the rule or get an unfair recruiting advantage. Regrettably, in trying to avoid violating the "no July unofficial visit" rule, not enough care was taken to correctly follow the "dismissed from camp" rule. Looking back, I regret that I had not realized earlier in the week that we could not meet with Derek on Sunday and had contacted the compliance office to find out what alternatives there might be. Even when the problem first occurred to me on Saturday morning, I regret, in retrospect, that I did not call to get an interpretation of what we could do.

Additional information: I do not recall specifically watching Derek's team play on Sunday or even seeing Derek or Coach Daugherty that day. However, I am sure that when I spoke with Coach Daugherty on Saturday I did not tell him that he shouldn't bring Derek back to camp on Sunday. That phrasing in the report of October 26th is probably due to my emphasizing that I thought Derek had been properly "dismissed" from all camp activities when we met and my genuine belief that I didn't see him (or my honest failure to remember seeing him) Sunday.

RE: Camp-Recruiting Issue

1. Did you meet with Derek Elston during the team camp this past summer: specifically, on the evening of Saturday, June 30 at the end of the camp activities for that day?

Yes, I remember meeting with Derek Elston and his Coach, Travis Daugherty, this summer. I do not remember specifically what day.

2. Was this meeting related to camp activities?
3. Was any recruitment of Derek discussed (any conversation designed to solicit Derek's future enrollment at IU)?

I do not remember specifics regarding our meeting. Only that we did meet

4. Was his coach present?

Yes, Coach Daugherty was present.

5. Who organized this meeting?

Coach Jeff Meyer

6. Where was the meeting held?

Coaches' Locker Room

7. Who was present (please name everyone who was in the room when this meeting took place)?

I remember Coach Meyer, Derek, and Coach Daugherty.

8. Did you speak (during the meeting) with Derek or his coach about a scholarship and/or playing at IU?

I do not remember offering Derek a scholarship.

9. Why did this meeting take place during camp?

My coaching staff indicated to me that we could meet with Derek after camp, Saturday June 30th, provided he was dismissed from all Team/ Camp obligations by his coach.

10. Did you talk with Derek and /or his coach at any point during the camp on Sunday, July 1?

I do not remember talking with Derek and Coach Daugherty on Sunday (After we met Saturday Night)

11. In light of the specific legislation that prohibits recruiting activities during an institutional camp, please provide your explanation as to why this meeting occurred?

I was under the assumption based on what Coach Meyer explained to me that it was ok to speak with Derek. I was under the impression that he was dismissed from camp.

Ms. Brinegar,

Here is my recollection of the events of IU Team Camp:

We went to Bloomington for the IU Team Camp on Saturday, June 30th through Sunday, July 1st. It didn't take long to see that IU had developed a major interest in Derek. In our first game vs. Bloomington North, Asst. Coaches Dakich and Meyer watched almost the entire game, and Coach Sampson was in and out as he was on the phone walking among multiple courts. In our second game, we played Perry Meridian. IU's coaches (except maybe Senderoff/McCallum) were present for this game. Coach Meyer kept Derek's individual stats on a piece of paper for the game, a game which we won in triple overtime. After the game, Coach Meyer stopped me and showed me that Derek had 39 points and 23 rebounds in the game, and it was obvious from him that their interest in Derek was extremely high at that point. We played another game at the HPER complex vs. Penn, but our last game of the night was in Assembly Hall vs. Hamilton Southeastern.

Either just before or just after our game vs. Hamilton Southeastern in Assembly Hall, Coach Meyer informed me that Coach Sampson wanted to meet with Derek and I. I was surprised that they didn't want to meet with his parents as well (they were not down that weekend), but I also was excited for Derek and looked forward to the meeting. Coach Meyer informed me at that point that there was a problem. He said that they technically couldn't speak to Derek until he was "dismissed" from camp. Since we were done playing that night, Derek would be "dismissed" from camp and free to talk while the rest of our team went back to the hotel. Coach Meyer asked if we were staying on campus, and I told him we were not. One of our other players had sprained his ankle in the last game vs. Hamilton Southeastern in Assembly Hall, and was in the training room getting treatment after that last game. Derek sat in that room for a while with the injured player for probably 20-30 minutes. He was not with the IU coaching staff at that point, but we also never left Assembly Hall between the end of our game and the meeting afterwards. Most of the players and other people had cleared out of Assembly Hall at that point, and I agreed with my Assistant Coach Green that Derek and I would go meet with the IU coaches, and then we'd ride back to the hotel with Coach Green and the injured player. At that point, Coach Meyer took Derek and I into the meeting room.

Present at the meeting were Derek, Coach Meyer, Coach Sampson, Coach Dakich, and myself. The meeting lasted probably 30-40 minutes, and ended with Coach Sampson offering Derek a scholarship to come play for him at IU. There was no mention whatsoever of any stipulation that would prevent Derek or our team from participating the following day (Sunday). As a matter of fact, the IU staff expressed their excitement in the opportunity to watch our team the following day. As we walked out with Coach

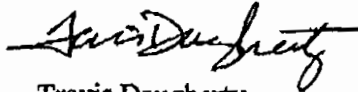

Meyer, he asked what we thought. I wasn't sure that Coach Sampson had actually offered a scholarship during the meeting. He said a number of times how much he'd like for Derek to come play for him, but I didn't ever remember him saying the words, "We are offering you." I asked Coach Meyer on the walk out if that meeting constituted an official offer, and Coach Meyer replied that it did, but that the offer wouldn't actually exist until we were off-campus. Derek was obviously very excited, and called his parents that night and informed them of the news. Derek and I then left (with Coach Green and the injured player) and drove back to the hotel.

The following day, we played two games (one vs. Joliet, IL and one vs. Indianapolis Arlington), both at the HPER complex. Derek was there and played in both of them. Again, no one from IU's staff ever mentioned that Derek would not be able to play since we met the night before.

Derek played in both of the games we played on Sunday. In the last game, Coach Sampson and Coach Meyer watched at least some of the game, and they spoke with Derek after the game before we left. They talked about Derek's sister's boyfriend and how big of an IU fan he was, and how Derek was tempted to get Eric Gordon's autograph for him. The entire conversation lasted perhaps 5-10 minutes, then Derek and I returned to Tipton with the rest of our team.

This is the truth based on what I remember from that weekend.

Re: Reinstatement Request

Dear Jennifer:

The attached information is a reinstatement request by Indiana University regarding men's basketball prospective student-athlete Derek Elston. A violation of NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3 occurred when the prospect came to campus on an unofficial visit on the evening of June 30, his first day of participation in a two-day institutional camp. An assistant coach had told the prospect's high school coach that the prospect would not be able to return to the camp the next day, but failed to follow up to ensure that the prospect was indeed done with camp (after the first day). Unfortunately, after reviewing camp records, the prospect did indeed return to campus on July 1 to play with his team on the second day of the two-day camp.

The compliance office discovered the error when following up on a written inquiry received from Renee Gomila regarding this matter.

We are requesting that the prospect's eligibility to play at Indiana University be reinstated. Please let me know if we need to have the prospective student-athlete sign the Buckley release.

Finally, please let me know if you need additional information. You can contact me at 812/855-0451 or by e-mail at jhooker@indiana.edu. We appreciate your assistance in this matter.

B) Name(s) of Prospect(s) or Student-Athlete(s) declared ineligible: Derek Elston

C) Are there other eligibility issues with this prospect or student-athlete (e.g., petition pending; additional reinstatement pending, etc.)? If YES, please clarify: No.

13. Facts of the Case (Please include an explanation as to why the violation occurred. Attach additional documentation if necessary.):

On June 30, 2007, the prospect was attending an institutional team camp. In order to have a permissible unofficial visit per NCAA Bylaw 13.7.1.1, Coach Meyer told the prospect's coach that they should leave campus immediately after the camp activities ended on June 30 and then drive over to Assembly Hall. Coach Meyer also told the prospect's coach that the prospect would not be able to return to the camp on Sunday, July 1, to participate in the last day of the camp's activities.

The prospect's coach did drive the prospect off campus at the end of the camp's activities on June 30. He then drove the prospect to Assembly Hall, where the prospect met with Coach Sampson and was given a verbal scholarship offer. Unbeknownst to Coach Meyer, Coach Sampson, and the camp director, assistant coach Rob Senderoff, the prospect returned to the second day of the team camp on Sunday, July 1, and participated in the final day of the camp's team tournament. This was contrary to the provisions of NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.3.

14. Corrective Actions Taken by Institution:

The relevant legislation was discussed with the assistant coach in September and with the head coach in October. It was also reviewed with the entire men's basketball staff on October 23, 2007. The men's basketball staff is limited to six recruiting opportunities for this prospect during his junior year and six during his senior year, with only two of those for off-campus contacts. The two coaches will be issued letters of reprimand.

SUBJECT: Student-Athlete Reinstatement Staff Case Decision.

This memorandum and a database printout (located on the reverse side of this page) serve as written confirmation of the decision by the NCAA for this case. This information has been sent to the persons named above as well as the institutional staff member who submitted the request. Please note that the facts are considered agreed on by the institution and the staff. If the institution does not agree with the stated facts, it is the institution's responsibility to notify the staff since any change in facts will void the decision, prompting the staff to make a decision based on the new set of facts.

If the institution wishes to appeal this decision to the appropriate division specific NCAA Committee on Student-Athlete Reinstatement, it may do so by submitting a completed appeal request form (found on the NCAA Student-Athlete Reinstatement Web site) and all supporting documentation to this office within 30-calendar days from the date of this letter. Once the completed form is received, a member from the NCAA staff will contact the institution regarding the appeal process.

If you have questions regarding the processing of this case, please contact me. Your assistance in processing this case is appreciated.

Case Appealed: No

Facts:

Men's basketball coaching staff had impermissible recruiting contact with prospective student-athlete (PSA) while he was attending an institutional team basketball camp. Specifically, institution conducted men's basketball camp June 30-July 1, 2007, in which PSA, his high school team and coach participated. During the June 30 contests involving PSA, one or more basketball coaches watched PSA and appeared very interested. At some point during that day, PSA and his high school coach were invited to meet with institution's head coach and an assistant coach after PSA's team had finished competing for the day and PSA had been dismissed from team activities. Following PSA's last contest and after his teammates had left campus for the evening and returned to the hotel, PSA and high school coach, who had remained with an injured player in the training room, were taken into institution's coaches locker room where head coach and one or more assistant coaches met with them. During this conversation, recruitment of PSA occurred including statements by head coach indicating PSA was the type of player he wanted at institution, although no official scholarship offer was made to PSA. At the end of 30-40 minute conversation, PSA's high school coach asked assistant coach whether PSA has a scholarship to institution and was informed no official offer can be made when PSA is on campus but that was what they planned to do. Assistant coach, who indicated he was primary organizer of meeting, indicated he knew of July recruiting restrictions but assumed they could meet with PSA after he was dismissed from team activities June 30.

Institutional Action:

Institution reviewed applicable legislation with entire basketball coaching staff by October 23, 2007, and head and assistant coach received letters of reprimand. Institution will limit basketball staff to six recruiting opportunities with PSA during both junior and senior years, allowing only two of those for off-campus contacts.

Committee on Infractions

Colonial Athletic Association

UNIVERSITY OF OKLAHOMA

PUBLIC INFRACTIONS REPORT

I. INTRODUCTION.

On April 21, 2006, officials from the University of Oklahoma, the former head men's basketball coach (the "former head coach") and three former assistant men's basketball coaches ("assistant coaches A, B and C," respectively) appeared before the Division I Committee on Infractions to address allegations of NCAA rules violations in the institution's athletics program. Officials from the former head coach's and assistant coach B's present institutions also attended the hearing.

The majority of the violations involved the men's basketball program and primarily consisted of 577 impermissible telephone contacts with 17 prospective student-athletes from 2000 to 2004. Over 40 percent of the calls (233) were made by the former head coach, with assistant coaches A and B accounting for 165 and 107 calls, respectively. The remaining calls were either made by other members of the men's basketball staff or were made from a men's basketball phone extension and could not be attributed to a particular member of the staff. Of the 17 prospects who received the calls, five enrolled at the institution and another has signed a National Letter of Intent (NLI) to attend the institution.

The impermissible calls violated NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2. As that bylaw existed in the 2004-05 academic year and previously, it permitted men's basketball coaches at an institution to make the following telephone contacts with a prospect or a prospect's parents or legal guardians:

- One telephone call on or after June 21 following the prospect's junior year of high school [Findings II-A and II-B];
- Three telephone calls during the month of July following the prospect's junior year of high school with no more than one call per week [Finding II-C];
- After July of the prospect's junior year, no more than one phone call per week [Finding II-D].

The specific violations committed by the coaching staff were contrary to every clause of this bylaw. Multiple calls were made to prospects and/or their family members prior to June 21 following the prospects' junior year of high school and during weeks when only one call was allowed. Impermissible and excessive calls were also made during July evaluation periods. One prospect ("prospect 2") and his parents received 154 impermissible phone calls, including 16 during a five-day period in September 2000. Once the violations were discovered, the former head coach characterized the high number of impermissible calls the staff made to prospect 2 as "ridiculous." Another prospect ("prospect 4") and members of his family received 113 impermissible calls during the course of the young man's recruitment. A third prospect ("prospect 8") received 67 impermissible phone calls from the men's basketball coaching staff. The former head coach made 63 of the calls. Prospect 8 went directly from high school to the National Basketball Association (NBA).

This case is a result of the former head coach's complete disregard for Bylaw 13 telephone contact limitations during the four-year timeframe (2000-04). The former head coach created and encouraged an atmosphere among his staff of deliberate non-compliance, rationalizing the violations as being the result of "prioritizing" rules. Though he acknowledged that he knowingly violated NCAA recruiting legislation, he did not take the phone contact violations seriously. He considered them to be unimportant in comparison to, for example, the provision of significant material inducements for prospects, even though the end result could have been the same, securing the commitment of a prospective student-athlete by operating outside recruiting rules. The former head coach preferred to think of what he and his staff were doing as "hard work" rather than cheating.

The committee has consistently heard that the key to successful recruiting is being able to develop relationships with prospects and their families. The obvious purpose of these violations was to be the first institution to make recruiting contact with prospects and then to build on the relationship by having multiple impermissible contacts with the prospects in the very important early stages of their recruitment. These calculated violations created a significant recruiting advantage over institutions abiding by the telephone contact limitations.

The committee is troubled by the fact that, during part of the time span in which the violations were taking place, the former head coach was serving as president of the National Association of Basketball Coaches (NABC). He presided over a widely publicized NABC Ethics Summit called by the organization in October 2003. At a time when the NABC identified impermissible phone contact as a serious issue and the organization was calling on its membership to be accountable, the former head coach and his staff were engaged in a pattern of willful recruiting violations. At the hearing, the former head coach stated that the rules regarding phone calls constitute the biggest ethical dilemma facing the college coaching profession. In addition to making the excessive phone calls, this staff attempted to avoid detection by institutional compliance personnel by failing to record all of their calls on the written logs required by institutional recruiting procedures. At one point during the four year period in which the violations were occurring, the former head coach was approached by a coach from another institution and informed that one of the former head coach's assistants was making calls to high school juniors prior to June 21. The former head coach said that he "talked to" his assistant but did not report the violation or take any action to stop the violations in spite of being aware of the rules.

As a result of the former head coach's deliberate actions over four years, including knowingly making over 230 impermissible phone calls and encouraging and allowing his staff to commit similar violations, the committee finds that he failed to meet his responsibility to monitor his program. The telephone contact violations support an additional finding that the institution failed to monitor calls made by the men's basketball coaching staff.

The committee is further troubled by the former head coach's conscious decision to violate NCAA recruiting legislation in the recruitment of prospective student-athletes, some of whom were among the most prominent in the nation, and the fact that this decision permeated the actions of other members of his staff. However, the enforcement staff did not bring an ethical conduct allegation against the former head coach, explaining that telephone contact violations are not specifically enumerated in Bylaw 10.1 as activities that constitute unethical conduct. Despite this position, the enforcement staff acknowledged that Bylaw 10.1 findings can be based on repeated and knowing violations such as those committed in this case. The committee agrees, and seriously considered giving notice of an ethical conduct allegation to the former head coach and requiring him to respond. Ultimately, the committee decided to forego an ethical conduct proceeding, concluding that the culpability of the former head coach could be adequately dealt with through the show cause provisions of Bylaw 19.5.2.2 (I) based on findings of his personal involvement in the multitude of the violations committed, combined with a finding that he failed to monitor his program. His show cause provision is set forth in Section III of this report (Penalty III-L).

The case also involved self-reported violations in women's gymnastics concerning impermissible countable athletically related activities conducted by the coaching staff. A major violation also occurred in the men's gymnastics program.

The university is a member of the Big 12 Conference and has an enrollment of approximately 25,000 students. The university sponsors nine men's and nine women's intercollegiate sports. This was the university's sixth major infractions case. It previously appeared before the committee in 1988 for a case involving the football program; 1980 for a case involving the football and men's track programs; 1973 for a case involving the men's basketball and football programs; and 1960 and 1956, both times for cases involving the football program.

II. FINDINGS OF VIOLATIONS OF NCAA LEGISLATION.

- A. IMPERMISSIBLE PHONE CONTACT PRIOR TO JUNE 21 FOLLOWING THE JUNIOR YEAR OF HIGH SCHOOL. [NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 (2004-05 NCAA Manual) and Bylaw 13.1.3.1.4 (1999-00 NCAA Manual)]

In the month of June in the years 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004, members of the men's basketball coaching staff, including the former head men's basketball coach and assistant men's basketball coaches A, B and C, engaged in impermissible telephone contacts prior to June 21 following the junior year of high school with multiple prospective student-athletes or their parents or legal guardians or both. Specifically:

1. Between June 2 and 14, 2000, assistant coach B placed six impermissible telephone calls from his cell phone to the home of prospective student-athlete ("prospect 1") prior to June 21, 2000, (his junior year of high school).
2. Between June 5 and 16, 2000, an assistant coach placed eight impermissible telephone calls from his office or cell phone to the mother's place of employment or the father's cell phone of prospect 2 prior to June 21, 2000, (his junior year of high school).
3. Between September 28, 2000, to June 20, 2001, members of the men's basketball staff placed 25 impermissible telephone calls to a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 3") prior to June 21, 2001, (his junior year of high school).
4. Between December 29, 2000, and June 18, 2001, members of the men's basketball staff placed six impermissible telephone calls to a prospect 4 prior to June 21, 2001 (his junior year of high school).
5. On May 17, 2004, an assistant coach placed one impermissible telephone call from his cell phone to the home of a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 5") prior to June 21 of his junior year in high school.
6. Between April 29 and May 18, 2004, members of the men's basketball staff placed two impermissible telephone calls to a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 6") prior to June 21, 2004, (his junior year of high school).

7. On June 18, 2004, assistant coach C placed an impermissible telephone call from his office telephone to the home of a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 7") prior to June 21, 2004, (his junior year of high school).
8. Between June 23, 2003, and June 19, 2004 members of the men's basketball staff placed 47 impermissible telephone calls to prospect 8 prior to June 21, 2004, (his junior year of high school).
9. Between January 11 and February 18, 2004, two impermissible telephone calls were placed from a telephone extension or calling card assigned to the men's basketball staff to the home of a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 9") prior to June 21, 2004, (his junior year of high school).

Committee Rationale

The enforcement staff, the institution, the former head coach and assistant coaches A, B and C were in substantial agreement with the facts of the finding and that violations of NCAA legislation occurred. The committee finds that the violations occurred.

This finding involves 98 impermissible phone calls made by four coaches to nine prospects, three of whom enrolled at the institution. At the time of the hearing, another of the prospects had committed to attend the institution. The former head coach acknowledged being aware that he could not phone prospects prior to June 21 following their junior year of high school.

Forty-seven of the 67 impermissible calls to prospect 8 were made prior to June 21 following his junior year of high school, when all calls are prohibited. The former head coach made 43 of the 47 calls, claiming that they were made in his role of "consultant" to the family and that during many of the calls he did not talk of the young man's college plans. However, the former head coach actively recruited prospect 8 until August 2004 when the young man made it known that he would not be attending the institution because he intended to bypass college for the NBA. Regarding the calls to prospect 4 listed in this and subsequent findings, the former head coach justified them because he had known the family since the young man was ten years old. Prospect 4 is a current men's basketball student-athlete at the institution.

B. MORE THAN ONE PHONE CALL BETWEEN JUNE 21 AND JUNE 30 FOLLOWING JUNIOR YEAR OF HIGH SCHOOL. [NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 (2004-05 NCAA Manual) and Bylaw 13.1.3.1.4 (1999-00 NCAA Manual)]

Between June 21 and June 30 in the years 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004, the former head coach and assistant coaches A and C engaged in impermissible telephone contact by placing more than one telephone call to multiple prospective student-athletes or their parents or legal guardians or both between June 21 and June 30 following the prospects' junior year of high school. Specifically:

1. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 14 impermissible telephone calls to prospect 2 after the one permissible call was made on or after June 21.
2. On June 28 and 29, 2004, the former head coach placed two impermissible calls from his office phone to the home of prospect 6 after the one permissible call was made on or after June 21.
3. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 13 impermissible telephone calls to prospect 7 after the one permissible call was made on or after June 21.

4. On June 23, 2004, the former head coach placed two impermissible calls from his office phone to the cell phone of a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 10") after the one permissible call was made on June 21.

5. From June 23 to June 29, 2004, the former head coach placed five impermissible calls from his office and cell phones to the home of the guardian, a foster parent's cell phone or the home of prospect 8 after the one permissible call was made on or after June 21.

Committee Rationale

The enforcement staff, the institution, the former head coach and assistant coaches A and C were in substantial agreement with the facts of this finding and that violations of NCAA legislation occurred. The committee finds that the violations occurred.

This finding involved 36 impermissible calls made to five prospects, one of whom enrolled at the institution. The former head coach made 15 of the calls. The former head coach acknowledged that he was knowingly violating NCAA recruiting legislation.

C. IMPERMISSIBLE PHONE CONTACT DURING JULY EVALUATION PERIODS. [NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2 (2004-05 NCAA Manual) and Bylaw 13.1.3.1.4 (1999-00 NCAA Manual)]

In July of the years 2000, 2001, 2002, 2003 and 2004, members of the men's basketball coaching staff, including the former head coach and assistant coaches A, B and C engaged in impermissible telephone contact during the July evaluation period with multiple prospective student-athletes or their parents or legal guardians or both. Specifically:

1. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 21 impermissible telephone calls to prospect 1 either after the three permissible calls were made during the July evaluation period or after a permissible call was made during the same week during that period.
2. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 22 impermissible telephone calls to prospect 2 either after the three permissible calls were made during the July evaluation period or after a permissible call was made during the same week during that period.

3. Members of the men's basketball staff placed two impermissible telephone calls to a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 11") either after the three permissible calls were made during the July evaluation period or after a permissible call was made during the same week during that period.
4. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 19 impermissible telephone calls to prospect 4 either after the three permissible calls were made during the July evaluation period or after a permissible call was made during the same week during that period.
5. During July 2004, assistant coach C placed three impermissible telephone calls from his office or cell phone to the cell phone of prospect 7 during the July evaluation period after a permissible call was made during the same week.
6. During July 2004, the former head coach placed five impermissible telephone calls from his cell phone to the work phone of the guardian of prospect 8 after a permissible call was made during the same week during the July evaluation period.

Committee Rationale

The enforcement staff, the institution, the head coach and assistant coaches A, B and C were in substantial agreement with the facts of this finding and that violations of NCAA legislation occurred. The committee finds that the violations occurred.

This finding involved 72 impermissible calls made to six prospects, three of whom attended the institution. The former head coach made 33 of the calls; assistant coach A made 19 of the calls; assistant coach B made 13 calls and assistant coach C made three calls. Four calls were made from a phone in the basketball office. At the hearing, assistant coach B acknowledged that the violations were committed knowingly and that he rationalized the calls as attempts to "out-work" other institutions. He added that the men's basketball staff didn't take telephone contact rules seriously and that he lacked the courage and job security to question the systemic violations occurring in the program. Assistant coach B, in his interview with the enforcement staff, admitted that the staff didn't log all of its calls as required because "we were making too many calls." At the hearing, the former head coach said that he and the staff knew they were only supposed to make one call per week. He was aware it was a violation to make the additional calls.

D. MORE THAN ONE CALL PER WEEK. [NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1.2, 2004-05 NCAA Manual]

Between August 1, 2000, and September 29, 2004, members of the men's basketball coaching staff, including the former head coach and assistant coaches A, B and C engaged in impermissible telephone contacts by placing more than one call per week to multiple prospective student-athletes and/or their parents or legal guardians. Specifically:

1. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 38 impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation to prospect 1.
2. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 112 impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation to prospect 2.
3. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 10 impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation to prospect 11.
4. Members of the men's basketball staff placed three impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation to prospect 3.
5. On April 24 and 25, 2001, assistant coach A placed 12 impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation from his office or cell phone to a junior college prospective student-athlete.

6. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 101 impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time per week limitation to prospect 4.
7. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 12 impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation to a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 12").
8. On October 12 and 13, 2003, the former head coach placed four impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation from his office or cell phone to a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 13").
9. From September 19 to October 16, 2003, the former head coach placed five impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation from his cellular telephone to the cellular telephone of a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 14").
10. From October 25, 2003, to March 19, 2004, the former head coach placed 29 impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation from his cell or office phone to prospect 15.
11. From August 13 to September 11, 2003, assistant coach B placed eight impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation from his office phone to the home of junior college prospective student-athlete ("prospect 16").
12. Members of the men's basketball staff placed two impermissible telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation to prospect 5.
13. Members of the men's basketball staff placed 21 telephone calls in excess of the one-time-per-week limitation to prospect 7.

14. From August 13 to September 29, 2004, the former head coach placed 14 impermissible telephone calls from his cell or office phones to prospect 8's home, guardians' cell phones or guardians' work phones.

Committee Rationale

The enforcement staff, the institution, the former head coach and assistant coaches A, B and C were in substantial agreement with the facts of this finding and that violations of NCAA legislation occurred. The committee finds that the violations occurred.

This finding involves 371 impermissible calls made by the former head coach and assistant coaches A, B and C. The calls went to 14 prospects, five of whom enrolled at the institution. The former head coach, who made 137 of the impermissible calls, admitted that he considered the telephone contact rules to be insignificant and that he didn't consider himself and his staff to be gaining any kind of recruiting advantage by breaking them. The committee strongly disagrees.

E. IMPERMISSIBLE FACE-TO-FACE CONTACTS. [NCAA Bylaws 13.1.1.1 (2000-01 NCAA Manual) and 13.1.8.2-(b) (1999-00 NCAA Manual)]

Members of the men's basketball coaching staff, including the former head coach engaged in impermissible contacts with multiple prospective student-athletes. Specifically:

1. Between April and December 2000, members of the men's basketball coaching staff engaged in impermissible face-to-face contacts with prospective student-athletes during their junior year in high school.
 - a. In April 2000, during a prospective student-athlete's ("prospect 17") junior year, the former head coach engaged in conversation with prospect 17 at his high school after watching him play pick-up basketball.

- b. In December 2000, during prospect 3's junior year, the former head coach engaged in conversation with prospect 3 at his high school after watching him play pick-up basketball.
2. In July 2000, members of the men's basketball coaching staff engaged in impermissible face-to-face contacts with prospective student-athletes during the day of competition.
 - a. In July 2000, during the Adidas Big Time Tournament held in Las Vegas, Nevada, a member of the men's basketball staff engaged in conversation with a prospective student-athlete ("prospect 18") between games.
 - b. In July 2000, during the Great American Shootout held in Denton, Texas, a member of the men's basketball staff engaged in conversation with prospect 18 and his mother between games. Further, after initiating impermissible face-to-face contact, the men's basketball staff member handed prospect 18 a cell telephone and facilitated impermissible telephone contact between prospect 18 and another member of the men's basketball coaching staff.

Committee Rationale

The enforcement staff, the institution and the former head coach were in substantial agreement with the facts of this allegation and that violations of NCAA legislation occurred. The committee finds that the violations occurred.

- F. IMPERMISSIBLE ATHLETICALLY RELATED ACTIVITIES. [NCAA Bylaws 17.1.5.2-(a) (2004-05 NCAA Manual), 17.1.5.2.2 (2003-04 NCAA Manual) and 17.13.6]

During the 2003-04 and 2004-05 academic years, the women's gymnastics team engaged in impermissible, countable athletically related activities outside of the institution's declared playing season. Specifically:

1. Between August 25 and October 6, 2003, which constituted the preseason for the 2003-04 academic year, the women's gymnastics team participated in mandatory skill instruction when only skill instruction requested by the student-athlete was permissible under NCAA legislation. In addition, as a result of the activities being deemed countable, the women's gymnastics team:
 - a. Exceeded the maximum weekly time limitation of eight hours per week for mandatory activities with not more than two hours per week spent for individual skill instruction. The mandatory activity limitation was exceeded by approximately 10 hours per week and the individual skill instruction was exceeded by approximately 15 hours per week.
 - b. Exceeded the maximum number of four student-athletes allowed to be involved in skill-related instruction with their coaches at any one time in any facility.

2. Between August 23 and October 25, 2004, which constituted the preseason for the 2004-05 academic year, the women's gymnastics team participated in mandatory skill instruction, which:
 - a. Exceeded the maximum weekly time limitation of eight hours per week for mandatory activities with not more than two hours per week spent for individual skill instruction.
 - b. Exceeded the maximum number of four student-athletes allowed to be involved in skill-related instruction with their coaches at any one time in any facility.

Committee Rationale

The enforcement staff and institution were in substantial agreement with the facts of this finding and that violations of NCAA legislation occurred. The committee finds that the violations occurred.

These violations, which were discovered by the institution and self-reported, involved mandatory weight training and individual workouts by members of the women's gymnastics team. The coaches claimed that the "safety exception" of Bylaw 17.13.7 applied; however, attendance at the workouts by the student-athletes was mandatory and the workouts were conducted by the coaches. Additionally, student-athletes who didn't attend the workouts were disciplined by the coaches. The coaches acted in more than a "safety" capacity.

G. FAILURE TO RECORD COUNTABLE HOURS. [NCAA Bylaw 17.1.5.3.4]

During the 2004-05 and 2003-04 academic years, the men's and women's gymnastic coaching staffs failed to record countable hours on a daily basis for each student-athlete who engaged in athletically related activity. Specifically, the men's and women's gymnastic coaching staffs failed to maintain records of countable athletically related activity during the preseason of each academic year until requested to do so by the institution's compliance staff in late September 2004.

Committee Rationale

The enforcement staff and the institution were in substantial agreement with the facts of this finding and that violations of NCAA legislation occurred. The committee finds that the violations occurred.

H. FAILURE TO MONITOR. [NCAA Constitution 2.8.1]

The scope and nature of the violations detailed in Finding II-A through II-D demonstrated that over a four-year period and through several staff changes the former head coach failed to monitor his and his staff's activities in the area of telephone contacts with prospective student-athletes in order to ensure compliance with NCAA telephone contact legislation, and thus also failed to maintain an atmosphere of compliance among his staff in that area. Specifically, between June 2000 and September 2004:

1. The former head coach and some members of his staff committed numerous violations relating to telephone contacts with multiple prospective student-athletes, including many impermissible early telephone contacts with junior prospects.
2. The former head coach had reason to know that violations relating to telephone contacts were occurring, but he failed to report the impermissible telephone contacts or take appropriate corrective measures to prevent them from continuing.

Committee Rationale

The enforcement staff, the institution and the former head coach were in substantial agreement with the facts of this finding and that violations of NCAA legislation occurred. The committee finds that the violations occurred.

As stated in the Section I of this report, the Introduction, the former head coach created an environment in which telephone contact rules were consciously ignored and repeatedly broken over a four-year period. Even when specifically told by an opposing coach that one of his assistants was violating telephone contact rules, the former head coach did nothing to change the pattern of behavior; to the contrary, he encouraged the behavior in the name of "hard work." He failed to ensure that his staff was recording all calls as required, he took no action to correct the violations and he never reported the violations.

I. FAILURE TO MONITOR. [NCAA Constitution 2.8.1]

The scope and nature of Findings II-A through II-D demonstrated a failure by the institution to monitor telephone contacts with prospective student-athletes by the institution's men's basketball program between June 2000 and September 2004, contributing to over 550 impermissible telephone contacts by four men's basketball coaching staff members with 17 prospective student-athletes going undetected over a four year period. Specifically, the institution failed to do the following:

1. Implement adequate systems to ensure that the men's basketball coaching staff was in compliance with NCAA rules relating to telephone contacts with prospective student-athletes. The institutional system in place for ensuring compliance relating to telephone calls to prospects included the following:
 - a. Regular rules education, including a written recruiting manual containing a sample telephone call log sheet.
 - b. The documentation of the telephone contacts with prospects, which was done on a form different than that supplied to coaches by the institution, was maintained only in the men's basketball office.
 - c. Infrequent spot checks by compliance personnel and institutional auditors to determine whether the coaches were in compliance with NCAA legislation.
 - (1) From June 2000 to spring 2003, institutional auditors and the compliance staff conducted infrequent spot checks of the telephone call logs prepared by the men's basketball staff to determine whether the logs were being maintained and whether the coaches recorded more than one call per week to prospective student-athletes.
 - (2) From spring 2003 to September 2004, the compliance staff conducted infrequent spot checks of telephone numbers that appeared on the men's basketball staff's cellular telephone billing records to determine whether more than one call per week was made to a number that appeared on the cellular bill.

2. The institutional systems in place to track and monitor the telephone contacts made by members of the men's basketball coaching staff with prospective student-athletes were deficient in that the institution failed to do the following:
 - a. Provide a standardized system to the men's basketball staff for the tracking or monitoring of telephone calls made to prospects.
 - b. Conduct spot checks comparing actual telephone billing records to the telephone logs sheets completed by the men's basketball coaching staff.

Committee Rationale

The enforcement staff took the position that the facts of this finding demonstrated a lack of institutional control. The institution asserted that the facts of this finding demonstrated a failure to monitor the telephone contacts with prospective student-athletes. The committee finds that the facts establish a failure to monitor by the institution.

As shown by over 500 impermissible calls made over four years going undetected, the system in place to monitor phone calls made by the men's basketball coaching staff was wholly inadequate. The coaching staff got together on Sunday nights, reviewed the calls they had made and recorded a countable call on forms different than those supplied by the compliance office. The completed forms weren't turned in to the compliance office but were instead stored in a filing cabinet in the basketball office.

However, review of the records by compliance personnel was sporadic at best, occurring approximately once per year. It wasn't possible to say with certainty when the reviews took place, as no records were maintained by the institution. Compounding the problem was that the reviews were conducted by interns rather than by trained and experienced compliance personnel. But perhaps the most glaring deficiency was that the logs produced by the basketball staff (which were incomplete since the coaches failed to record all calls made) were never cross-checked against institutional phone records; the coaches were taken at their word when even a cursory review of men's basketball office, cell phone and calling card bills would have revealed the myriad of impermissible calls being made by multiple coaches over a period of years.

Though seriously flawed, a system for monitoring the phone calls did exist. The coaches were regularly educated regarding phone contact rules, written policies were in place and forms to record the activities were supplied to the coaching staff. It was the monitoring of the calls that contributed to the problems; the phone logs compiled by the coaches were not checked on a regular basis and the reviews that took place did not involve cross-checking the logs with available institutional records. Finally, the violations involved only one aspect of one sport. For these reasons, the committee finds that the facts establish a failure to monitor the men's basketball program by the institution rather than a lack of institutional control.

SECONDARY VIOLATIONS:

A listing of 13 secondary violations is attached as Appendix 1 to this report.

III. PENALTIES.

For the reasons set forth in Parts I and II of this report, the Committee on Infractions finds that this case involved major violations of NCAA legislation. The violations occurred primarily in the sport of men's basketball and were caused by the former head coach's decision to consciously ignore certain recruiting rules which he "prioritized" as insignificant in the recruiting process. He also allowed his staff to violate the same rules and like him they knowingly did so.

The former head coach, who made 233 impermissible phone contacts with prospects over four years, fostered the environment of noncompliance. His assistants knowingly joined in, with assistant coaches A and B making 165 and 107 impermissible calls, respectively, over the same time frame. Assistant coach C did not join the staff until 2004 and made only 28 of the impermissible calls. These intentional violations of unambiguous rules conferred a significant recruiting advantage upon the institution.

The institution, which cooperated fully in the investigation, acknowledged its responsibility for the personal actions of its athletic department employees and self-imposed a number of meaningful institutional and individual penalties. Some of the penalties were imposed individually on the former head coach, who has since left the institution. However, the former head coach's present institution indicated in writing that it will impose some of the same penalties upon the former head coach for the same period of time. A full listing of all the institutional and individual penalties, including those imposed by the committee and those self-imposed by the institution and adopted by the committee, follow: Additional corrective actions developed by the institution are set forth in Appendix Three:

- A. Public reprimand and censure.
- B. The institution shall be placed on two years probation from May 25, 2006, through May 24, 2008.
- C. The number of men's basketball financial aid awards shall be reduced from 13 to 11 for the 2005-06 academic year and from 13 to 12 for the 2006-07 academic year. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)
- D. During July 2005, the institution reduced the number of permissible calls to prospects in July subsequent to the junior year in high school from three to one. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)
- E. The number of permissible calls to prospects on or after June 15 of the prospects' sophomore year in high school through July 31 of the prospects' junior year in high school shall be reduced from one call per month to one call every other month for a period of two years commencing August 1, 2005, and concluding July 31, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Calls Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment). This penalty will result in a minimum reduction of 240 calls over a two-year period of implementing the reduction and was imposed to directly address any recruiting advantage gained by the impermissible telephone calls. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)
- F. The institution shall reduce the number of permissible calls to prospects on or after August 1 of their senior year in high school from two calls per week to one call per week for a period of two years commencing August 1, 2005, and concluding July 31, 2007. Exceptions to this penalty will be permitted in accordance with the provisions of NCAA Bylaws 13.1.3.3.2 (Official Visit Exception), 13.1.3.3.3 (Letter of Intent Signing Date Exception) and 13.1.3.3.4 (Telephone Calls Subsequent to National Letter of Intent Signing or Other Written Commitment). This penalty will result in a reduction of from at least 780 calls up to possibly more than 1,600 calls over a period of two years. These numbers are based on a calling period from August to April, which is about 40 weeks, and recruiting 20 prospective student-athletes per year. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)

- G. The institution prohibited the former head coach from engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities during July 2005. In addition, the institution reduced the permissible number of recruiters at any one time from three to two during July 2005. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)
- H. The institution reduced the number of official paid visits in men's basketball from 12 to nine for the 2005-06 academic year. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)
- I. The institution shall reduce the number of permissible recruiting days from 130 to 98 for the 2005-06 and 2006-07 academic years. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)
- J. The former head coach was restricted to engaging in off-campus recruiting activities for a maximum of 19 days during a period commencing August 1, 2005, and concluding June 30, 2006. Further, this prohibition applies to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance including exceptions provided in Bylaw 13.1.9. (Self-imposed penalty adopted by the committee as its own.)
- K. The institution retroactively implemented a ban on the former head coach's eligibility for bonus compensation due under the former head coach's contract for the two year period of March 2, 2005, through March 1, 2007. During the same two year period, the former head coach's employment contract shall not be renegotiated, amended or extended and he shall not be eligible for any compensation increase. According to financial figures supplied by the institution, the cost to the former head coach over the two year period will be approximately $180,000. (Self-imposed by the university.)
- L. The former head coach's present institution adopted and transferred penalties E, F, J and K above. It noted that the former head coach had already used 15 of the 19 permissible off-campus recruiting days at Oklahoma and would therefore only be able to be off-campus four days from the date of his hiring through June 30, 2006. The present institution has also required weekly meetings between compliance personnel and the director of basketball operations to monitor men's basketball recruiting activities. While the committee recognizes the significance of the transferred penalties it determined that, because of the number and nature of the violations committed by the former head coach as well as the atmosphere of noncompliance he fostered and encouraged among his assistant coaches, further recruiting restrictions are warranted. Therefore, his current employing institution shall, pursuant to the provisions of NCAA Bylaw 19.5.2.2 (l), show cause why it should not be penalized if it does not prohibit the former head coach, for a period of one year from the date of the release of this report (May 25, 2006 through May 24, 2007), from 1) making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls; and 2) engaging in any off-campus recruiting activities. The prohibition on off-campus recruiting activities shall apply to all off-campus appearances at which prospects may be in attendance including banquets, booster functions and exceptions provided by Bylaw 13.1.9. The present institution shall submit a report to the committee by August 1, 2006, in which it details the institution's monitoring of, and rules education sessions for, the former head coach and his staff. The report should also include documentation of the institution's compliance with all other penalties adopted and transferred to the present institution.

- M. Assistant coach A, who made 165 impermissible calls while at the institution, is presently under a three-year show cause order stemming from his involvement in similar violations while he served as the head men's basketball coach at California State University-Fresno (see Case No. M238). The violations committed by assistant coach A in this case also warrant a show cause order. The show cause order in this case shall be identical to that in Case No. M238 and will run concurrently and independently, expiring on March 16, 2008. Assistant coach A is not presently employed at an NCAA member institution.

Therefore, assistant coach A will be informed in writing by the NCAA that, due to his involvement in the violations of NCAA legislation found in this case, if he seeks employment or affiliation in an athletically related position at an NCAA member institution during a three-year period (March 17, 2005, through March 16, 2008), he and the involved institution shall be requested to appear before the Committee on Infractions to consider whether the member institution should be subject to the show cause provisions of Bylaw 19.5.2.2(1), which could limit his athletically related duties at the new institution for a designated period.

- N. Assistant coach B made 107 impermissible calls during his tenure at the institution. He is presently employed at another NCAA member institution which has informed the committee that it has imposed the following sanctions on assistant coach B: 1) no recruiting activities (other than on-campus contacts) for the month of September 2005; 2) a letter of admonishment; 3) a ban on all phone contact by him and the entire institutional men's basketball staff from June 21-30, 2005; and 4) official paid visits in the sport of men's basketball reduced from 12 to 11 for 2005-06. Additionally, the men's basketball program was required to develop a new communication system and to undergo audits of its phone records.

At the hearing, assistant coach B stated that when he arrived at the institution he went along with the rest of the staff in the violations because he was a new, young coach without job security or the courage to challenge the way things were done. He pointed out that the majority of his impermissible calls were made early in his four-year tenure at the institution and that after he became an established member of the staff he tried to adhere to the rules. Records show that of his 107 impermissible calls, 91 were made during his first two years on staff and only 16 in his final two years. Noting that he will have a record in the office of the Committee on Infractions for committing major violations, the committee declines to impose further sanctions upon assistant coach B.

- O. Assistant coach C made 28 impermissible calls, beginning when he joined the staff in 2004. The bulk of his calls were to the family of a prospect whose father he had known for a number of years and at least some of his violations seem to have been truly inadvertent. Because of his minimal involvement in the violations and his small number of impermissible calls, assistant coach C will not have an individual record of his violations maintained in the office of the Committee on Infractions.
- P. Regarding the women's gymnastics program, the institution reduced practice activities by 192 hours over the 2004-05 and 2005-06 academic years. Specifically, the coaching staff reduced practice activities by one hour per day for the 2004-05 declared playing season equaling 144 hours. In addition, the coaching staff will be required to reduce practice hours during the 2005-06 playing season by one hour per day to satisfy the remaining 48 hours per the penalty schedule. Finally, the institution determined that the coaching staff will only be allowed to provide individual skill instruction every other week during the fall of 2005 out-of-season practice activities. (Self-imposed and adopted by the committee as its own.)
- Q. The institution issued a public letter of reprimand dated December 13, 2004, to the head women's gymnastics coach. The assistant coaches were also issued letters of reprimand. (University imposed and acknowledged by the committee.)
- R. The institution required the head women's gymnastics coach and the assistant coaches to serve a one-week suspension from practice and team-related activities. The head women's gymnastics coach was also required to attend a 2005 NCAA Regional Rules Seminar at his expense. (University imposed and acknowledged by the committee.)
- S. The institution imposed a one-year salary freeze on the head women's gymnastics coach's base salary. Moreover, the head coach did not have the opportunity to receive any bonuses contained in his contract for the 2004-05 season. (University imposed and acknowledged by the committee.)
- T. The institution reduced practice activities for the men's gymnastics team by 108 hours over the 2005-06 academic year. Practice activities were reduced by one hour per day for the 2005-06 declared playing season, equaling 108 hours. (Self-imposed by the university.)

- U. The institution only allowed the men's gymnastics coaching staff to provide individual skill instruction every other week during the fall of 2005 out-of-season practice activities. (Self-imposed by the university.)

 - V. During this period of probation, the institution shall:
 - 1. Continue to develop and implement a comprehensive system to effectively monitor the recruiting process for prospective student-athletes in all sports, particularly men's basketball and for tracking countable athletically related activities. In addition, the institution will continue to develop and implement a comprehensive NCAA rules-education program to educate all coaches, athletics department staff members and all university staff members with responsibility in the area of recruiting.

 - 2. Submit a preliminary report to the office of the NCAA Committees on Infractions by July 30 2006, setting forth a schedule for the continued development and implementation of this comprehensive system of monitoring recruiting.

 - 3. File with the office of the Committee on Infractions annual compliance reports indicating the progress made with this program by April 15 of each year during the probationary period. Particular emphasis should be placed on adherence to recruiting legislation, particularly telephone calls, contacts and evaluations and the monitoring of athletically related activities. The reports must also include documentation of the university's compliance with the penalties adopted and imposed by the committee.

 - W. At the conclusion of the probationary period, the institution's chancellor shall recertify in a letter to the committee that all of the university's current athletics policies and practices conform to all requirements of NCAA regulations.

As required by NCAA legislation for any institution involved in a major infractions case, the University of Oklahoma shall be subject to the provisions of NCAA Bylaw 19.5.2.3, concerning repeat violators, for a five-year period beginning on the effective date of the penalties in this case, May 25, 2006.

Should the University of Oklahoma or any involved individual appeal either the findings of violations or penalties in this case to the NCAA Infractions Appeals Committee, the Committee on Infractions will submit a response to the members of the appeals committee.

The Committee on Infractions wishes to advise the institution that it should take every precaution to ensure that the terms of the penalties are observed. The committee will monitor the penalties during their effective periods, and any action contrary to the terms of any of the penalties or any additional violations shall be considered grounds for extending the institution's probationary period, as well as imposing more severe sanctions in this case.

Should any portion of any of the penalties in this case be set aside for any reason other than by appropriate action of the Association, the penalties shall be reconsidered by the Committee on Infractions. Should any actions by NCAA legislative bodies directly or indirectly modify any provision of these penalties or the effect of the penalties, the committee reserves the right to review and reconsider the penalties.

APPENDIX ONE

SECONDARY VIOLATIONS:

1. In August 2005, the former head coach made an impermissible telephone call to a prospective student-athlete after a permissible call had already been placed for the month. The former head coach received a number of calls on his cell phone from a number he did not recognize. He returned the call, and after realizing the number belonged to the prospect, he immediately ended the call knowing that the staff had already placed the one permissible call for the month. The violation was immediately reported by the basketball staff to the compliance staff. [NCAA Bylaw 13.1.3.1]

2. In July 2005, the men's basketball staff sent recruiting correspondence to approximately five prospective student-athletes who were participating in a summer certified event (July). The e-mail was sent to a total of 25 men's basketball prospective student-athletes from the recruiting software, and the staff member sending the e-mail inadvertently forgot to delete the prospects participating in the summer certified event. Upon discovery, the violation was immediately reported to compliance by the coaching staff. [NCAA Bylaw 13.1.7.2.2]

3. In July 2005, a men's basketball student-athlete participated in a summer certified league prior to receiving approval from the institution's athletics director. The student-athlete was scheduled to compete in a summer foreign tour with an approved outside team; however, the dates of competition crossed into the institution's start of the academic year. When the student-athlete was told he could not participate in the summer foreign tour and subsequently joined a summer certified league without the knowledge of the coaching staff or the compliance office. [NCAA Bylaw 14.7.3.2]

4. In July 2005, a junior college men's basketball prospective student-athlete was provided an unofficial visit during the month of July. The former head coach contacted the compliance staff on a Sunday morning in July to inquire about the permissibility of an unofficial visit that afternoon with the involved prospective student-athlete. The compliance staff mistakenly allowed the former head coach to proceed with the visit, forgetting the restriction on unofficial visits for the sport of men's basketball in the month of July. [NCAA Bylaw 13.7.1.1]

5. During the men's basketball camps conducted in the summers of 2001 to 2005, an educational session detailing initial-eligibility standards and regulations related to gambling, agents and drug use had never been provided to all camp and/or clinic participants. The coaching staff was unaware of the requirement. [NCAA Bylaw 13.12.1.6]
6. In September 2004, the "godfather" of a men's basketball prospective student-athlete was provided meals during an official visit. The violation occurred because of the unique family relationship between the prospect, the prospect's mother and the mother's significant other (godfather). [NCAA Bylaw 13.6.6.7]
7. Between December 2004 and February 2005, a former student-athlete, who had exhausted his eligibility in the sport of men's basketball, used departmental phones to call long distance without the knowledge or permission of the coaching and/or support staff. The calls were discovered and reported by the coaching staff. [NCAA Bylaws 16.02.3 and 16.11.2.1]
8. In November 2004, a men's basketball student-athlete received an extra benefit ($105) when he was arrested following a game in Alaska, and an assistant coach paid part of his bail money to allow the student-athlete to be released in time to make the early morning flight back to campus. In addition, the coach thought he would (and subsequently did) receive his portion of the money back after the charges against the student-athlete were dropped. The student-athlete repaid the benefit. [NCAA Bylaws 16.02.3 and 16.11.2.1]
9. In December 2004, the men's gymnastics team participated in countable athletically related activities outside of the playing season during an institutional vacation period. [NCAA Bylaw 17.1.5.2.1.1]
10. In April 2004, the softball team was required to practice immediately following an away-from-home competition. [NCAA Bylaw 17.1.5.3.2.1]

11. During the 2003-04 and 2004-05 academic years, the men's gymnastics team engaged in impermissible countable athletically related activities outside of the institution's declared playing season. [NCAA Bylaws 17.1.5.2-(a) (2004-05 NCAA Manual) and 17.1.5.2.2 (2003-04 NCAA Manual)]

12. During the nonchampionship segment of the 2002-03, 2003-04, 2004-05 and 2005-06 academic years, the softball team engaged in countable athletically related activities that exceeded permissible time limitations of eight hours per week during the preseason and 20 hours per week during the season by an average of 37 hours each year. [NCAA Bylaws 17.1.5.1 and 17.1.5.2]

13. On two separate occasions, once in October 2000 and once in October 2001, the former head coach provided T-shirts to a prospective student-athlete and/or a family member of the prospect. [NCAA Bylaw 13.2.2]

APPENDIX TWO

CASE CHRONOLOGY.

2001

February 19 – The enforcement staff received information from an anonymous source that the men's basketball staff violated NCAA telephone and in-person contact rules.

2002

March 14 – The enforcement staff received additional information from a confidential source indicating that the men's basketball staff violated NCAA telephone and in-person contact rules.

April and May – The enforcement staff conducted interviews of numerous prospective student-athletes.

2003

January 9 – The enforcement staff received additional information from a confidential source indicating that the men's basketball staff violated NCAA telephone and in-person contact rules.

February and October – The enforcement staff conducted interviews of men's basketball prospective student-athletes.

December 18 – The basketball certification staff in enforcement services sent a request for information to the institution, including a request for all telephone records for the men's basketball staff from June 2000 to March 2001.

2004

May 28 – The enforcement staff issued a notice of inquiry to the institution.

December 21 – The secondary enforcement staff received a self-report from the institution indicating that the women's gymnastics team engaged in impermissible out-of-season activities, and exceeded permissible daily and weekly time limitations.

2005

April 4 – After reviewing telephone records and other information obtained through an open records request, the Daily Oklahoman published a story about the NCAA investigation and identified similar potential violations that occurred after those violations identified through the original NCAA inquiry.

September 27 – Submission of the summary disposition report by the parties.

November 29 – The NCAA Division I Committee on Infractions rejected the findings in the summary disposition report and directed that the case be set for hearing in April 2006.

December 15 – The enforcement staff issued a notice of allegations to the institution, the former head coach and assistant coach's A, B and C.

2006

March 2 – Deadline for filing of responses by the institution, the former head coach and assistant coaches A, B and C.

April 21 – The university appeared before the NCAA Division I Committee on Infractions.

May 25 – Infractions Report No. 250 was released.

APPENDIX THREE

CORRECTIVE ACTIONS AS REPORTED BY THE INSTITUTION ON MARCH 2, 2006.

Structural changes.

Oklahoma has taken steps to provide greater human resources and detailed reporting lines to the compliance department. Oklahoma acknowledges that this is a work in process, but believes that the changes that have taken place in the last 12 months demonstrate the institution's commitment to rules compliance. The institution has increased its compliance staff from three full-time members during the 2003-04 academic year to six as it begins the 2005-06 academic year.

Compliance staff

A former NCAA director of membership services staff and assistant athletics director at another NCAA Division I institution was hired to oversee Oklahoma's athletics compliance program in August 2004. At the time of his hire, the compliance staff consisted of another assistant athletics director and monitoring coordinator. Previously, the executive associate athletics director, provided oversight for the compliance program.

In August 2004, the monitoring coordinator was promoted to a director. In March 2005, the director assumed day-to-day oversight of the compliance operations. The assistant director of compliance was initially hired as the compliance director and was promoted to assistant director in March of 2005. The compliance coordinator was hired in April 2005. She previously worked for two years in the compliance department at another NCAA Division I institution. A compliance graduate assistant was retained in May 2005, she began her duties August 15, 2005. An administrative assistant became a full-time administrative assistant for the compliance program in August 2004.

Reporting changes and individual responsibilities.

In February 2005, the director of compliance became the sole compliance staff member to report to the associate athletics director/administration. The assistant director of compliance and the compliance coordinator began to report directly to the director of compliance.

In March 2005, the compliance office added a reporting relationship between the director of compliance and the financial aid and initial-eligibility coordinators. These additional communication lines have enhanced the coordination of duties among the groups with compliance responsibility and served to more fully integrate these important areas into the overall compliance structure.

In July 2005, the compliance office finalized the individual compliance-related assignments. Each compliance staff member began an extensive review and revision process of all the procedures related to the various components of rules compliance.

Rules education.

In January 2004, the compliance staff added to its education program small educational meetings with individual coaching staffs at least two times a semester. These informal meetings are conducted by the director of compliance. The agenda usually includes a review of hot topics, other items of a timely nature, monitoring requirements, and a question and answer session.

Beginning October 2004, the compliance staff expanded the rules education during the monthly "Coaches Roundtable." These meetings are mandatory for all head and assistant coaches and athletic administrators with oversight of a sport. Previously, assistant coaches were not required to attend these meetings. A compliance-rules quiz is used during these meetings to teach the proper application of NCAA rules. After each meeting, an outline of the rules-education section is provided to the coaches.

In August 2005, individual meetings with each head coach to review playing and practice season legislation (which included the declaration of each sport's official practice and playing season dates) was implemented.

Once a week the director of compliance e-mails timely educational items to the athletics department staff, coaching staff and/or relevant individuals outside the athletics department (e.g., certifying officer, faculty athletics representative).

In October 2004, the compliance staff developed a monthly recruiting calendar that is circulated to the coaching staff, administrators of each sport and other key staff members involved in the recruiting process. The calendar may also have educational items from the director of compliance, financial aid coordinator, and the initial-eligibility coordinator.

The compliance staff will develop and distribute a compliance newsletter to all staff members at least once a semester. It will cover new legislation, important e-mail education, and timely issues. A major focus will be to present the information in an easy-to-read format.

Beginning in the fall of the 2005-06 academic year, the compliance staff will broaden the scope of the rules education of its student-athletes by conducting meetings during the fall and spring semesters. Heavier emphasis will be placed on the playing and practice season legislation, and the rules governing voluntary practice activities, summer employment and workouts, booster education, and other relevant legislation.

Recruiting.

In August 2004, the compliance staff revised and updated the existing manual. These revisions included the creation of new forms, updating existing forms, incorporating amendments to the rules section to reflect recent changes to existing rules and inclusion of newly enacted legislation. The recruiting manual and newly proposed recruiting policy was reviewed and approved by three other on-campus groups or offices with athletics oversight responsibility: the Compliance Review Committee, the athletics department executive staff and the president. Revisions are made to the manual as needed on an annual basis prior to the beginning of the ensuing academic year.

During the fall semester of 2004, the compliance staff began impromptu spot checks of each sport's recruiting files to ensure proper and contemporaneous record keeping was maintained for each recruited prospect. The staff also provides guidance to the coaches regarding recruiting legislation and sends a follow-up e-mail where issues or areas of improvement were noted.

In October 2004, the compliance office began to distribute a monthly recruiting calendar for use by the coaches in each sport. It provides a quick reference as to what phase of the recruiting cycle is in effect. Educational items issued by the NCAA, Big 12 Conference, or on-campus source (initial eligibility coordinator) re also included on the calendar.

During the spring semester of 2005, the compliance staff continued the practice of visiting each sport's office to spot check recruiting files and provide guidance to the coaching staff regarding recruiting legislation. Some sports were visited twice during the semester while others other sports with less active spring recruiting activities were visited once.

In May of 2005, and in conjunction with the spot checks, the compliance staff developed a monitoring notebook that will be used as a tool to assist in the spot-checking process. It is an index of all the contemporaneous information that a sport must be tracking and have on hand for compliance purposes. The list of required information set forth in the notebook will facilitate the systematic review of telephone records by the compliance staff later in the year.

Beginning in the fall of 2005, the compliance staff will review each sport's telephone records two times a semester. All calls placed from either a land line or a cell phone will be tracked electronically and merged together in a master spreadsheet. The data from the spreadsheet will be cross-referenced with prospect telephone information (e.g., home or cell telephone numbers) recorded in the monitoring notebook and the telephone logs being maintained by each coach to verify that all calls are permissible, properly logged, and that each coach is properly recording his/her recruiting calls.

Beginning in the fall of 2005, the compliance staff will implement a new system requiring pre-approval for all coaches' recruiting travel. The system is designed to help ensure coaches are only recruiting off-campus during the appropriate periods and that they are not exceeding the applicable number of contacts or evaluations for any one prospect.

Playing and practice seasons.

New polices and procedures were implemented.

Miscellaneous items.

In January 2005, the compliance staff created a written interpretation log that documents all interpretive questions received and answered by a member of the compliance staff. The interpretation log ensures better tracking of in-house questions and answers of rule interpretations.

The compliance staff recently enhanced the compliance annual report that is provided to the Athletics Council and president. The report details all aspects of the compliance operations to ensure full disclosure and opportunity for review by the institution's governing bodies. This report is exemplary of the compliance culture and philosophy of involving individuals outside the compliance office in the review of compliance systems and operations.

In addition, as part of the ongoing efforts to communicate rules information, the compliance manual was updated in 2004 and is currently being reviewed again by the new compliance staff to identify areas for improvement, system overhauls and appropriate policy revisions.

Mr. Thomas E. Yeager
Acting Chair of the NCAA Division I
Committee on Infractions
Colonial Athletic Association

Dear Mr. Yeager,

Our administrative and compliance staffs met with the men's basketball staff yesterday (the first opportunity after Coach Sampson's return on Memorial Day from a 10 day trip to Kuwait) to discuss the additional penalties and our procedures for implementing those restrictions, as well as monitoring full compliance with all penalties assessed during this process.

We would like to get the committee's input on a number of questions or concerns that have come up during our discussions of the recruiting restrictions placed on our coaching staff as a result of the violations that occurred at Oklahoma. I have tried to number the questions, but there are several that are multi-faceted. As of my last count, I think there were 21 specific questions in the following 12 paragraphs (the highlighted questions in paragraph 1 are the only extremely time-sensitive questions as they involve a previous commitment regarding a speaking engagement scheduled for this weekend):

1. We would like clarification regarding the prohibition on outside speaking engagements. Specifically, what is the institution's obligation to monitor attendance at the few speaking engagements Coach Sampson may make during the next year on behalf of our institution.

For example, Coach Sampson was previously scheduled to speak at a local black tie fundraiser for the American Heart Association this weekend. What happens if an attendee brings his or her son or daughter in place of a business associate who cancels at the last minute?

Is the intent of this restriction aimed at recruiting only? If so, is it possible to look at the target audience and then not hold Coach Sampson or the institution responsible if they happen to be a few prospect-aged individuals in the audience (using perhaps a reasonable person standard for determining in advance who the target audience is)?

What about at our IU booster/donor events? We typically schedule the majority of these in the summer – around golf outings – they are aimed at the boosters/donors, but what happens if they bring along their children or grandchildren?

2. Coach Sampson has a long-standing speaking engagement at the 20 year reunion of the movie "Hoosiers" which is taking place in Knightstown, Indiana, where much of the movie was filmed. Is it okay for him to fulfill his obligation even though this event is open to the public and there may be prospect-aged individuals in the audience?

3. What about his local radio show during the season – it is broadcast from a local restaurant and he does take questions from the audience (actually, the host, Don Fisher, acts as the moderator and he is the one who takes the calls/questions)?

What happens if prospect-aged individuals are eating at the restaurant during the show?

4. What happens if there are prospect-aged females in attendance at a speaking engagement?
5. It doesn't appear that the COI limited the number of IU coaches who could be on the road at any one time except for the fact that Coach Sampson can not be out at all. Is this an accurate statement?
6. Exactly who can Coach Sampson call? He is restricted from "making any phone calls that relate in any way to recruiting or being present when members of his staff make such calls." The restriction certainly applies to prospects, their coaches, and their parents. We can't think of anyone whom he should be permitted to call that has a relationship to high school, JC, or AAU basketball. Is our interpretation too restrictive? Does it violate the spirit of the penalties if the assistants make a recruiting call and tell the person to call Sampson at some specific time that Sampson has arranged?
7. Can Coach Sampson text message a recruit and type: "Call me at 1-800-IUBBALL" (or whatever his phone number is)?
8. If an AAU or HS coach calls one of the IU assistant coaches and then adds a prospect in on a 3-way call, can the assistant coach add in Coach Sampson at that time (since the original call was initiated by the AAU or HS coach and not by anyone at IU)?
9. Once a prospect signs an NLI with IU, is it possible for Coach Sampson to call him and to have off-campus contact with him (can he make a home visit to a current NLI signee)?
10. What happens if Coach Sampson receives a call from a prospect (or coach or parent), but loses the connection (common problem with cell phones)? Can he call back or must he wait for the prospect (or coach or parent) to call him back?
11. Can Coach Sampson call high school and/or AAU coaches about basketball related issues, such as talking about our offense, defense, etc.?
12. If the institution determines we will not be appealing or contesting any findings made by the committee, do we need to notify you of that decision or is notification only necessary if we did decide to appeal or contest any findings?

Thank you for allowing us to seek clarification of these issues as we strive to follow the letter and intent of both the assessed and self-imposed penalties. I look forward to hearing from you.

Sincerely,

Jennifer Brinegar
