SEC CHAMPIONSHIP SEEDING DETERMINED

The seeding for the upcoming 2015 Southeastern Conference Equestrian Championship has been determined. The event will take place March 27-28 at the Thomas G. Hildebrand Equine Complex in College Station, Texas.

Seeding for the SEC Equestrian Championships is determined by conference winning percentage at the conclusion of a six-meet conference regular season schedule for each team, during which each squad faces every SEC foe home and away.

Georgia is the top seed for the 2015 SEC Equestrian Championship. South Carolina is the No. 2 seed, while Texas A&M is the No. 3 seed and Auburn is the No. 4 seed.

This will mark the first time that Texas A&M has hosted the SEC Equestrian Championship. The 2015 campaign is the first full season of competition in the Hildebrand Equine Complex.

2015 SEC Equestrian Championship Seeding

1. Georgia
2. South Carolina
3. Texas A&M
4. Auburn

SEC EQUESTRIAN QUICK NOTES

- The 2014-15 campaign marks the third season of Southeastern Conference sponsorship of the sport of equestrian. At the SEC Spring Meetings in Destin, Fla., in 2012, the decision was made for equestrian to become the conference's 21st sport.
- Four members of the SEC - Auburn, Georgia, South Carolina and Texas A&M - currently sponsor equestrian. The four current members of the SEC are the only teams in the history of the sport to win NCEA Overall Team National Championships.
- South Carolina became the first-ever SEC Equestrian Champion in 2013 and defended its title in 2014.
- The 2015 SEC Equestrian Championships are slated to take place March 27-28 at College Station, Texas.
- Each SEC team will face every conference foe home and away during the regular season.
- Georgia has tallied a league-leading six overall NCEA national championships, including three consecutive from 2008-10. Auburn has won three national titles, while South Carolina and Texas A&M each have two overall national titles to their credit.
- Georgia is the defending NCEA National Champion.
